WASHINGTON, April 14.—Hon. William J. Bryan, Senator Hoar of Massachusetts and Governor Montague of Virginia and former Postmaster General Charles Emory Smith of Philadelphia were the principal speakers at a dinner given at the Hotel Barton last night under the auspices of the Thomas Jefferson Memorial association in celebration of the one hundred and sixtieth anniversary of the birth of the author of the Declaration of Independence. About 140 guests were present. A feature of the musical programme was the rendition of a march by Leader Santelman of the Marine band entitled, "The Thomas Jefferson March." H. B. F. MacFarland, president of the District commissioners, presided, and Thomas Nelson Page acted as toastmaster. The dinner was not of a political character.

Appointments by Governor Odell.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 14.—The session of the senate last night was comparatively brief, and but few bills were passed. The appropriation bill and others that would cause prolonged discussion were laid aside at the request of Senator Thomas F. Grady, who had an engagement. Governor Odell sent to the senate the appointment of Michael A. Tierney of Troy to be county judge of Rensselaer in place of the late Henry T. Nason, who committed suicide a week ago. These United States loan commissioners were also appointed: For Chenango county, W. H. Brown of Norwich and H. A. Truesdell of Mount Upton; for Ulster county, James E. Case of Ellenville and Victor Shultis of Bearsville.

Democratic Editors Banquet.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 14.—The State Democratic Editorial association celebrated the birthday of Thomas Jefferson with a banquet at the Ten Eyck. At least 100 representatives of the Democratic press of the state were in attendance. Hon. Daniel E. Frisbie of Schoharie, former Democratic leader in the assembly and president of the association, presided and made an address. Speeches were made by Hon. Andrew McLean, editor of the Brooklyn Citizen; Professor Duncan C. Lee of Cornell university and Senator Thomas F. Grady.

Rain Spoiled Egg Rolling.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—The Easter egg rolling in the White House grounds was a dismal failure because of rainy weather. The grounds were water soaked, and dripping rain from the trees made the inclosure cheerless. About 100 children, with their parents, came down during the afternoon, but soon departed. The proposed Marine band concert on the grounds was abandoned.

Hiring Negroes to Succeed Strikers.

CLEVELAND, O., April 14.—A. Ramsey of this city, shipping master for the Lake Carriers' association, is in Louisville, Ky., hiring negroes to take the place of the striking firemen and oilers on lake vessels. It is understood that he has already secured a number of men, who will be sent at once to Cleveland.

Half Sealing Fleet Home.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., April 14.—The steamer Neptune, with 24,000 seals, and the steamer Ranger, with 18,000 seals, arrived here yesterday from the seal fisheries off Labrador. Half the fleet is now home, with a total catch of 230,000 seals.

HANDSOME EMBROIDERIES.

They Figure In All the Modish Gowns This Season.

The very newest form of embroidery consists of medallions and lozenge shaped motifs surrounded by lace, and the more elaborate trimmings have very elaborate frames of lace. Clever girls with little pocket money might do worse than copy these embroidered galloons with floral silk or ribbons, as circles, diamonds and ovals can be cut of broche or pompadour designs in silk and then featherstitched or buttonholed with colored silk and laid on fine lace.

Take for instance some medallion lace with one large oval and a small circle or square alternately, then a pompadour silk with one very small spray or flower and one large one. These can be cut out slightly smaller than the lace medallions, lined with muslin, worked around and appliqued on the lace, and there is a charming trimming quite of the latest style.

Painted silk can be used in the same manner, or fancy ribbon, satin and gauze, and as embroidered galloon is by no means inexpensive the result is worth a little trouble, and the work is so fanciful that it is suited for a drawing room.

The cut shows an embroidered coffee jacket and one of the latest petticoats.

charming and admit of a fair amount of tucking and gauging at the top, falling full from the elbow to the wrist, but in cheap, wiry materials, however, an adherence to plainer styles is to be commended.

Blouse sleeves in silks, muslins and other such fine fabrics are either simply gauged at the top, tucked by hand or, more effective still, inserted with silk veining.

The cut shows a visiting dress of pastel blue cloth trimmed with silk fringe, collar, cuffs and waistband of black panne. JUDIC CHOLLET.

CHAPTER XV.

Monday morning about eleven o'clock Ratcliff bustled into the jail, making jovial remarks to the keeper's wife about her bad cooking killing the prisoners, and went up to Ronald.

"I couldn't git heer a minute earlier," he told our hero, as he came in. "All day yesterday I was on track of a feller that broke jail at Shubank. He give me the slip at the river, an' I had to give up. I couldn't afford to miss yore trial, besides it would a-killed my animal, an' she's wuth more than the ten dollars' reward."

Ronald asked him if the hour for the trial had been set.

"You bet it has," grinned Ratcliff, as he took a fresh chew of tobacco and thrust the remainder of the plug back into his coat pocket. "They tried their level best to stave it off, but I told 'em I wouldn't keep you in suspense any longer. It's a-goin' to be well attended. I see a lots o' big likes from out yore way already here. Col. Hasbrooke's in town, an' Capt. Winkle has deviled me mighty nigh to death with questions. By hookey, he talked like you was guilty of cold-blooded murder; he said he had heard Thad Williams' version of the affair."

Ronald fixed the sheriff with a keen glance.

"Don't you think that the trial will go against me?" he questioned.

Ratcliff seemed slightly taken aback by the pointed query. He hesitated for a moment, and then he answered evasively:

"Thad Williams' testimony is the biggest thing we have to contend with. Dr. Abe Sloan is summoned. After the corpse reached home the family called 'im in to make an examination; he probed for the ball, an' will show it in court."

The prisoner shuddered visibly.

"Did Col. Hasbrooke have anything to say about the case?" he asked.

"Not to me, he didn't, but when Capt. Winkle was talkin' so shore about yore conviction, he spoke up an' 'lowed that it was a shame to talk of a man's guilt before his trial. He said it sharp-like, as if he didn't have much use for Winkle, an I noticed that the captain shut up like a clam. I was surprised, for I kinder thought the captain was goin' to get one o' the old man's daughters."

Ronald had another question ready.

"What are my chances on getting bailed out?"

"To be perfectly candid with you," answered Ratcliff, "I am afraid you are goin' to have a big disappointment. You see, accordin' to the readin' o' the law, a justice o' the peace can't set bail in any case whar thar is a reasonable suspicion of murder, an' it wouldn't surprise me (as the land lies now) for you to have to lie in jail till the spring term o' court. I wouldn't say this," added the sheriff, his eyes averted, "if I didn't think it is always better to be prepared for the worst. I don't want to give the prosecution a chance to exult over yore looks. When I told my wife how the case stood this mornin', she actually cried. A body never can tell how Squire Richardson is gwine to act; he's a little wishy-washy; he tries to imagine he belongs to the aristocracy. Jest a minute ago I seed 'im in Smith's bar a-drinkin' with Capt. Winkle. I can't imagine why that little dude is so much concerned in this trial. I'd bet a hoss to an empty hen's nest that he was talkin' about this case."

"He's not a friend of mine," explained Ronald, despondently.

"Do you mean that he is a shore 'nough enemy?" questioned Ratcliff, with some concern.

"I think he would like to see me suffer as heavily as possible in this matter, Mr. Ratcliff."

"That accounts for it, then," the sheriff muttered an oath to himself. "I wish that Richardson was a broader man; he thinks men of Winkle's stamp are just the thing. However, we mustn't cross a bridge before we come to it; the truth is, you've got the best criminal lawyer in seven states; he hain't got much spellin', but he can speak like rips. He's been scourin' the country to catch up with Thad Williams; he wants to corner 'im 'fore the state solicitor does. You know Solicitor Webb would rather win a case'n to eat cake. If he gets hold of Williams fust, he'll [illegible] so as nobody alive could [illegible] him in cross-questionin'. By the way, Mr. Redding told me to say to you that he'd be too busy to see you 'fore the trial. I'll come up to fetch you down to the courtroom in plenty o' time."

A few minutes before two o'clock the sheriff came after our hero. He had little to say, and his very reticence confirmed Ronald's fear that no new thing in his favor had turned up since morning. The courtroom was crowded to the doors. The first face that fell under the notice of the dispirited prisoner was the sinister one of Capt. Winkle, who sat suspiciously near Squire Richardson's elbow; the next was the round, good-natured one of Col. Hasbrooke; but Ronald had never seen it look quite so pale and downcast. The thought ran through his mind that Winkle had reported the fact of his having been driven to Ratcliff's by Evelyn. Yes, he was sure of it now, for nothing but the discovery of his daughter's secret would have induced a man of Hasbrooke's stay-at-home habits to attend court. Ronald felt a thrill almost of horror pass over him as he thought that perhaps the colonel had come with the sole hope that the trial would permanently remove him from the path of his daughter. The next moment he felt his arm nervously clutched by Redding.

"Come inside the railin' an' set by me," the lawyer whispered, his breath on his client's cheek. "I'll want yore suggestions as the case proceeds. Damn it!" he added, as if to himself, "I'll want anything I can lay hold of; them fellers have got the best showin' they ever had ag'in an innocent man." As he spoke he waved his hand towards Mr. Webb, the state solicitor, a handsome man of 40, with a bushy mustache and massive hair, who sat only a few feet away with his head close to that of Thad Williams. They seemed to be talking of the case, for the solicitor was making notes with a pencil and nodding and smiling with evident satisfaction.

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires: we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods. If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

BROUGHT TO LIGHT.

Plainfield People Receiving the Full Benefit.

There have been many cases like the following in Plainfield. Everyone relates the experience of people we know. These plain straight-forward statements will do much toward relieving the suffering of thousands. Such testimony will be read with interest by many people.

Mrs. M. A. Hall, of 219 Prescott place, says: "For several years I had a dull aching pain across my back, at times extending to my hips. I was compelled to lie in just one position all night and stooping, lifting or bending forward aggravated the pain. Although I used different remedies that were recommended to me I obtained little if any relief. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills highly endorsed in our daily papers and procured a box at L. W. Randolph's drug store. It was not long before I felt great relief and I was surprised how quickly the pain in my back disappeared."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

SECRETARY MOODY RETURNS.

Got Prepared to State Views on Naval Staff Plan.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Secretary Moody has returned from his inspection tour. The secretary on his trip visited the sites for the American coaling stations at Bahia, Honda and Guantanamo and made a thorough inspection of the property. He regards both sites as having the possibilities for development into excellent stations which can be amply fortified. The secretary has collected detailed data concerning the sites, some of which he will incorporate in his next annual report along with recommendations for the improvement of the stations. The secretary's itinerary included visits to San Juan and other parts of Porto Rico and to the naval base at Culebra island and Samina bay, Santo Domingo.

Through the courtesy of the general board Secretary Moody was supplied while on his cruise with the details of the general staff proposition, to the consideration of which he and the members of his party gave careful study. The secretary is not yet prepared to commit himself regarding the project, though he intends taking it up at length in his next annual report. The secretary is now aware of the fact that there are men in congress of powerful position and influence and who at present express themselves as irrevocably opposed to the creation of a general staff, and this fact must be taken into consideration in any recommendations which may be submitted upon the subject.

Before leaving Washington the secretary was disposed to approve no general staff measure that was not severely modified. It is understood that he has in mind several modifications which he will insist upon should he finally determine to favor the scheme.

REINA CRISTINA FLOATED.

Eighty Skeletons Found In Hulk of Spanish War Ship.

MANILA, April 14.—The war ship Reina Cristina, flagship of Admiral Montijo, which was set on fire and sunk by Admiral Dewey in Manila bay May 1, 1898, has been floated and beached. The skeletons of about eighty of her crew were found in the hulk. One skeleton was evidently that of an officer, for he had a sword by his side.

There are fifteen shell holes in the hull of the Reina Cristina, one made by an 8 inch and the others small. The main injection valve is missing, showing the ship was scuttled when Admiral Montijo abandoned her. The hull is in fair condition.

Captain Albert R. Couden, commanding the naval station at Cavite, took charge of the remains of the Spanish sailors, expressing a desire to give them an American naval funeral. The Spanish residents, however, are anxious to ship the skeletons to Spain, and it is suggested that the United States transport Sumner convey them to Spain, by way of the Suez canal, in June.

A wrecking company is endeavoring to raise all the sunken Spanish war ships.

The Reina Cristina was one of the most powerful war ships which Spain had at Manila, her displacement being 3,090 tons. She was an iron cruiser, intended primarily for speed. She carried an armament of six 6.2 inch guns, two 2.7 inch guns, three 6 pound, two 4 pound and six 3 pound rapid fire guns, two machine guns and five torpedo tubes. She carried a crew of 370 men.

It means for you an easy mind if you have one of those guarantees covering the title to your premises.
The man, who does business the way it was done a generation ago, is surely on the road to failure. This is an age of progress. There has been progress in methods of conveyancing as well as in other lines. Out of the need for something less uncertain than a lawyer's certificate and a lawyer's responsibility, has grown up the system of policies of insurance, or guarantees of title by companies with large capital and a force, specially trained in the work.
There is none better in this line than

NEW UNIFORMS FOR THE NATIONAL GUARD

Dress Similar to That of Regular Army Will be Adopted at Meeting Today.

BY MILITARY BOARD

THAT MEANS CHANGE FOR COMPANY K OF THIS CITY.

Description of the New Uniform, and Some Idea of What It is Going to Cost—Complete Change in the Officers' Uniform.

It is now practically an assured fact that the National Guard of New Jersey, which includes Company K, of this city, will have new uniforms, as the military board is about to adopt dress similar to that of the Regular Army. At a recent conference of the State Military Board samples of the new attire were shown and considered at some length. There will be another meeting of the board today, when the selection of uniforms will be concluded.

Aside from the olive green mixed khaki, for field service, there will be little change in the blue blouses and trousers worn by the men now, except that the board may decide later to adopt the blue cords or aiguillettes, which, when attached to the shoulder of the blouse and trained across the breast, transforms the plain uniform into dress attire.

The board has practically decided on the adoption of the bell-top caps for the use of the entire guard, officers and men. The cap, which in shape much resembles those worn by the Salvation Army, is of dark blue and can be transformed into dress caps by placing about it a broad black band, with light blue edging. The cross guns and the regimental number and company letter will be continued on the front of the caps for the enlisted men.

The caps for commissioned officers are of the same shape and general appearance, except that they will have on the front the State coat of arms, instead of the United States coat of arms, as at present. The full dress caps for officers will have a broad gold band, but otherwise will be the same as the ordinary caps.

The new bill of dress will abolish the natty shoulderstraps of the officers and will substitute others with blue field instead of white. The white trousers stripes, too, are doomed and will be superseded by stripes of dark blue. For dress occasions the officers may remove the shoulderstraps and don heavy gold shoulderknots, extending from the collar to the shoulder seam.

The adoption of the new bill of dress will mean the abandonment of the present straight sword worn by the infantry officers and the substitution of a short sabre, with heavy-plated scabbard and wooden grip, mounted in nickel and protected in the same manner as the sabres carried by the cavalry. With the straight sword goes the belt worn at present by the infantry officers, who will wear instead a belt of dark brown leather, the two straps being affixed to a snap catch, which will permit of the straps being removed without disturbing the belt.

The board has practically decided to permit the use of the present blue overcoats worn by the officers, and also to require the use of the new olive green mixed coats for dress occasions.

For mounted officers the adoption of the new bill of dress will mean not only the same changes required for the infantry officers, but will also require a complete change of horse equipments. That means that the black saddles, the Jersey blue saddle cloths, the black bridle reins and all the present horse clothing must be abandoned, and the regulation brown saddles, bridles, brown leather leggings and other accoutrements be provided in their stead. The heavy gauntlets will be relegated to obscurity and short gloves used instead.

Military outfitters place the cost of the new dress for the officers of infantry at $7 for the ordinary caps, and $15 for the dress caps. The new sabres will cost $12 each, the brown leather belts $3.50 each, and the gold shoulder knots from $5 to $10 a pair. Then the blue field shoulder straps will cost anywhere from $3 a pair to $12, according to the purse of the purchaser and his desire for extra fine shoulder straps, while the trousers' stripes will add $2 more to the outlay.

Thus, without taking into consideration the dress caps or full dress coats, or the overcoats, the outlay for each infantry officer will sum up close to $35. To this the mounted officers will have to add the cost of their horse equipments, the new gloves and leggings. Under the existing rules of the guard the officers, foot and mounted, are required to equip themselves for service and the change of attire will prove a hardship to many of them.

PENNSY'S MONSTER STATION

PLANS FOR ITS DEPOT TO BE BUILT IN NEW YORK CITY.

Architect Mead Tells Something of the Structure Pennsylvania Intends to Rear.

The plans for the Pennsylvania tunnel station, which is to cover the territory bounded by Seventh and Eighth avenues, Thirty-first and Thirty-third streets, New York, have been made public by Architect William B. Mead, of McKee, Mead & White.

Architect Mead said that the structure would not be a terminal but a through station. Trains coming from under the North river would discharge their passengers there and then pass on to Long Island City, where they would be switched and returned. The blocks bounded by Eighth and Ninth avenues and Thirty-first and Thirty-third streets would be used to focus the tracks for entrance into the tunel beneath the North river. On this plot would be a large building for the express companies and the proposed uptown postoffice.

Speaking of the station proper, Mr. Mead said the station would have a total frontage on all streets of about 2,500 feet. On the avenues the width will be about 430 feet, and on the side streets the length will be approximately 800 feet.

"This structure will rise 60 feet above the level of the curb," said Mr. Mead. "It will be built of granite. The general effect of the outside will be elaborate. We thought the best treatment, in view of the possibility of other buildings being erected in the neighborhood with which the station would have to hold its own, would be to make the exterior plan, yet of the very best material. There will therefore be an unbroken cornice line and no elaborate decorations will be required, such as would be necessary were limestone or some other cheap material employed.

"The tracks themselves are 40 feet below the level of the street. Seventeen feet lower is the concourse floor, which covers the entire plot. Then there is the floor on the level with the sidewalk, where the passengers will enter.

"Passengers who go into the building at the Seventh avenue entrance," said Mr. Mead, "will get a good idea of the arrangement of the station. They first pass through an arcade, on either side of which are stores for the sale of fruit, flowers and such wares as travelers may reqiure. Behind are open spaces covered with glass roofs, in which trains go back and forth.

"The passenger next sees a waiting room, which will be the largest in the world. Its floor will be seventeen feet below the surface of the curb, and it is reached from the arcade and from the side entrances by means of stairs and escalators. No expense will be spared in the adornment of the interior. Marble and expensive stones will be freely used."

Religious Disturbances In Brest.

BREST, France, April 14.—Serious disturbances attended the congress of Catholic clubs held here. The clericals indulged in a series of manifestations in favor of the religious congregations, which led to street conflicts with the socialists. A number of arrests were made. In the evening the socialist workmen organized a counter demonstration, and 3,000 of them paraded in a body through the town singing the "Carmagnole" and other revolutionary airs and shouting, "Down with the priests!" The police dispersed the demonstrators several times. In the effort to disperse the mob several policemen, including a commissary of police, were hurt, and many arrests were made.

BOROUGH BOYS MUST NOT PLAY "HOOKEY"

North Plainfield School Board is Determined to Stamp Out Truancy in the Borough.

HAS BEEN LOTS OF IT

NEW BOARD WILL SEEK THE AID OF THE STATE LAW.

Believe That Few Examples Made Would Check Truancy—Will Consider It at Next Meeting of the School Board.

A determined effort is to be made by the Board of Education of North Plainfield to stamp out the great amount of truancy which exists among the pupils. For several years the practice has been going on and while efforts have been made to stop it by notifying the parents the law has not been called into force.

The new board has decided to seek the aid of the State school law in the matter. There is a law on the statute books which make it possible for the board, after notifying the parents of the pupils to bring them up before a magistrate or a city judge and have a fine imposed. It is believed that if a few cases were made an example of the large number of truancy cases would diminish. The law says that a fine not less than $1 and not more than $25 or imprisonment for not more than a year can be imposed upon parents who do not stop their children from truancy.

A meeting of the board was held a few days ago when this matter was brought up for discussion. It was decided that the letter of the law would be enforced as far as it was able.

One objection to the truancy among the pupils is that it takes off so much every year from the State appropriation. The appropriation is made according to the number of scholars in actual attendance and when there are a number of pupils absent many days out of the year the appropriation is necessarily decreased. This makes the appropriations every year much less than it should be. Besides when children are playing "hookey" from school it costs considerable to have a truant officer busy looking them up.

This matter will probably come up before the next meeting of the board when definite action will be taken.

GARWOOD'S FIRST ELECTION

FRANK W. MORSE ELECTED MAYOR WITHOUT OPPOSITION.

Only One Candidate on Ticket Was Defeated—Those Who Were Elected.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Garwood, April 15—Garwood held its first election yesterday and selected its first officials. There was only one ticket in the field and a contest developed but for one office, commissioner of appeal. Albert J. Beckley, the regular nominee, was scratched and George Pierson was elected in his place.

Frank W. Morse, founder of Garwood and manager of the Garwood Land and Improvement Company, was chosen mayor. There were 113 registered voters in the borough of which 92 voted and Mr. Morse received 87.

The rest of the ticket elected was as follows: Borough Council, Wallace Kaylor, Sr., Walter F. Sergeant, Phillip Mohr, Jr., John J. Miller, William Darrooh, John J. Kraus; assessor, Chas. S. Beadle; collector, Peter M. Eriksen; commissioners of appeal, Wm. J. Kelly, George Pierson, David Austin. Mayor-elect Morse and the other officials will be sworn in Monday night when they take office.

Mayor-elect Morse went to Elizabeth this morning to see County Superintendent W. J. Shearer regarding the establishment of the separate school district and the appointment of school trustees to take charge of it.

BIG G. O. P. CONVENTION

ONE OF THE EFFECTS OF NEW PRIMARY LAW JUST PASSED.

Will Greatly Increase the Representation—From 825 to 1,185 Delegates.

One of the efforts of the new primary law will be to increase the number of delegates in the next Republican State convention by over 350, and to change very materially the present relative strength of the various counties in such convention. The effect of the law will be very slight in these respects so far as Democratic State conventions are concerned, because the Democratic State Committee in apportioning delegates to the different counties in the past has allowed at least one delegate for each election district, even though the delegates may have been chosen by wards or townships. The number of delegates in the next Democratic State convention will show an increase of only fifty-eight and of these twenty-nine will go to Hudson county.

The Republican State convention of 1904 will be composed of 1,185 delegates, as compared with 825 in the convention that nominated Governor Murphy. Nearly all of the smaller counties will have large relative increases, but Hudson is the county that will have the greatest actual increase in the number of delegates. The jump will be from 111 votes in the 1901 convention to 191 in the next convention. The increase for Essex will be only thirty-five, or from 161 to 196. Camden will have the same increase in number as Essex, but that county will become a much more important factor in conventions than heretofore, as the raise is from fifty-five to ninety, an increase of nearly seventy per cent.

In Union county the increase is eighteen, or from forty-six to sixty-four. The effect as regards the Democratic representation for Union county to the Democratic State convention is an increase of only three or four, from fifty-seven to sixty delegates.

Aid for Hospital.

Mrs. Gilford Mayer and Mrs. T. S. Wheeler wish to thank most heartily the women who so generously contributed the sheets, pillow cases, towels and napkins for Muhlenberg Hospital, which were so greatly needed. YOUNG WOMEN GIVE PLAY AND TABLEAUX

Clever Entertainment Given by Cup Bearers' Circle of King's Daughters.

HELD AT THE CASINO

"The Trouble at Satterlee's" Was Farce Comedy Given—Sale of Home-Made Candy Followed the Excellent Entertainment.

The success attending the affair at the Casino yesterday afternoon, under the auspices of the Cup Bearers' Circle of King's Daughters, was indeed flattering to the enterprising and ambitious members of that worthy organization. The very inclement weather did not dampen the ardor of the large audience within, there being over three hundred people present, and the entertainment was given with a great deal of enthusiam and in a manner that delighted everyone. The Casino was prettily decorated for the occasion, spring flowers being used in profusion to brighten the cozy corners and the stage of the auditorium.

The first part of the programme was devoted to the presentation of that laughable farce-comedy, "The Trouble at Satterlee's," and from beginning to end the audience was convulsed wih laughtter. This farce is unusually bright and is filled with amusing incidents, all of which were enacted in the true spirit. Too much commendation cannot be given the participants for their excellent work. The honors were evenly divided between all who comprised the cast, yet special mention is due Miss Lucie Budlong, Miss Louise Saunders and Miss Gladys Biglow for their impersonation of very difficult parts.

The dramatis personae was as follows: "Miss Ophelia Satterlee," Miss Lucie Budlong; "Dorothy," "Alice," "Mildred," "Bertha," "Marian," and "Edith," who belong to Miss Satterlee's select seminary for young women, Miss Louise Saunders, Miss Norma Northrop, Miss Florence Stewart, Miss Marion Hall, Miss Anna Garrigues and Miss Alice Titus, ghosts, Miss Margaret Curtis, Miss Josephine LaTourette and Miss Antionette Hill; "Kathleen," a Celtic maiden employed in the seminary, Miss Gladys Biglow.

During an intermission Mrs. William L. Saunders favored the audience with two delightful soprano solos, "If No One Ever Marries Me," and "A Disappointment," and Miss Jean Griscom rendered "Swan Song," from Lohengrin, and another selection on the piano in a delightful manner.

In part second, the beautiful story of "Cinderella" was given in tableaux. Those taking part presented the various scenes in a clever manner. Mrs. William Fesmier read the story as the tableaux were given. In every case the hearty applause of the audience called for the drawing of the curtains several times after each scene, and at the close of this performance, as well as that of part first, each participant received a bouquet of cut flowers. Mrs. L. H. Biglow, Jr., who is the present of the Circle, also received a large bouquet of roses, as a slight evidence of the appreciation of her efforts.

The characters in Cinderella" and those impersonating them were as follows: "Cinderella," Miss Helen Ray Hooley; "Prince," Miss Katherine Titus; "King," Miss Elizabeth Flanders; "Queen," Miss Edith Griscom; "Stepmother," Miss Mai Faber; "Proud Sisters," Miss Helen Stephens and Miss Aurelie Aston; "Fairy Godmother," Miss Mabel Hooley; "Herald," Miss Katherine McCutcheon; "Officiating Clergyman," Miss Anna Garrigues; "Court Ladies," Miss Alice Haven; Miss Gladys Peck; Miss Ruth VanVleit, Miss Verna McCutcheon and Miss Marion Hall.

The proceeds from the entertainment will be devoted to missionary work among young girls in New York City, a room having been secured in Miss Curry's misston house, 93 East Eighth street, which will be furnished an supplied with games and suitable literature, a trained worker being in attendance under Miss Curry's supervision.

Following the entertainment, a sale of home-made candy was held in the parlors of the Casino, those in charge being Miss Margaret Curtis, Miss Marion Brown, Miss Fredericka

WATER IS STILL RISING

Tracks on Newark and Southern Branches of Jersey Central Are Blocked by Rising Water—The 'Port is Partly Fooded—Record Breaking High Tide.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, April 15—Never before in the history of this place has the tide on Newark bay been so high. The steady east wind has backed the water in towards the shore and many of the shore houses, some of which are workshops and residence, have been flooded.

Last evening the line of the Jersey Central Railroad connecting Elizabeth and Newark was flooded. This morning the last train which traveled the road went out at 10 o'clock but was not expected to return. Many of the business houses in the Port are flooded. The shore branch of the Jersey Central had its tracks submerged and traffic over it was entirely shspended.

The Elizabeth river is high and the water is still rising. At some places the banks have been overflowed and sometime during the night the lumber yard of Heidridger & Co. was washed away, doing about $20,000 worth of damage.

T. A. B.'S EFFORT TO ENLARGE ITS HALL

Big Bazaar Opens in T. A. B. Hall With Many Attractions and Big Crowd.

PRETTY DECORATIONS

THE FANCY TABLE AND REFRESHMENT BOOTH ARE PROMINENT FEATURES.

Many Book Contests Have Been Arranged—Dancing Was One of the Chief Attractions—Those in Charge of the Affair.

The bazaar, to raise funds for enlarging T. A. B. Hall on West Fourth street, opened last evening in the hall and, in spite of the inclement weather the attendance was large and the patronage generous. The rooms has been very tastefully decorated in red, white and blue bunting, while hung from the ceiling at points, where the long festoons of bunting are caught, are numerous Japanese lanterns. The effect is at once attractive and pretty.

The fair is being held under the auspices of the T. A. B. Society, whose members have generously donated almost all the articles displayed for chance or contest. It bids fair to be a most successful affair and judging from the numbers who attended the opening night the proceeds will be large. Dancing is a feature of the bazaar and the music is being rendered by Prof. O'Reilly's complete orchestra.

Two booths are arranged on each side of the hall. One is the fancy table and the other is the refreshment counter. Of the former, Miss Katherine Mack is chairman, assisted by Misses Theresa McGinley, Jeanette Somers, Julia Meaney, Margaret Meaney, Mary Hines, Susan Lynch, Maria Carty, Blanche Skinner, Margaret Harkins, O'Connor, Meade, Winnie Kane, Mamie Higgins, Helen O'Keefe, May Day and Elizabeth Day. Miss Mamie Carthy is the chairman of the other table and is assisted by Misses Margaret O'Connor, Margaret Connolly and Nellie Casey.

All those mentioned have donated something towards the fair. The articles thus donated will be chanced off on the closing night. Some of them are: a sideboard of oak, a Morris chair, and many fancy articles. Those who have books on which chances may be secured are: sideboard, the Misses Lizzie Crosby and Mamie Kane; parlor table, the Misses Carey; parlor rocker, Misses Elizabeth and May Day; hammock, the Misses Nora Doyle and Theresa McGinley; dress suit case, the Misses Winifred Kane and Mae Burke; barrel of flour, the Misses Burke and Julia Meaney; sofa pillow, the Misses Mamie O'Connor, Katherine Birmingham and Mamie Meade; silk umbrella, Miss Mamie Connolly; meerschaum pipe, John Flynn and John King; and a toilet set, the Misses Kate Gallagher, Margaret Whalen and Margaret Meaney.

The Misses Ethel Walsh and Julia Connolly are in a contest for a diamond ring or a gold watch. They are endeavoring to raise a sum of money and the one securing the most can select between the two prizes. The boys are in a contest which is known as the brick pile. Each contestant is supplied with cards on which are numbers and each number represents a brick. For a small sum a hole is punched into the card and the boy having the largest number of punched cards gets $10. The boy getting the next highest number gets $5 and the one coming third secures $2.50 in gold.

James Kane is the chairman of the entertainment committee. He has arranged events for each night. This evening there will be a musical programme rendered by Miss Anna Daly, Albert Squires and Albert Matthews. Tomorrow evening the fair will remain open all night and during the evening Albert Leanard and William Lawrence, of the West Side A. C., of New York, will entertain with some sparring. James Kelly, of Keith's New York circuit, has been secured and will entertain with popular songs and Harry Dilts will favor with bag punching. Friday evening the Misses Julia, Margaret and Elizabeth Day will entertain with some solos.

The general committee which has the arrangements in charge comprises: Miss Katherine Mack, Edward T. Lynch, Richard J. Birmingham and Clarence Waldron.

PARK CLUB EASTER DANCE

CLOSING FORMAL EVENT OF SEASON AT THAT CLUB.

Enlarging the Clubhouse Will Prevent Many More Events This Spring.

With the Easter dance given at the Park Club last evening, the large entertainments for the season are brought to a close. Several smaller entertainments are being arranged for next month, but as plans for enlarging the clubhouse are now well under way, no effort will be made to hold large affairs until next fall. The dance last evening was attended by a very large number of guests from both the city and borough and all pronounced it to be one of the most enjoyable yet held at the clubhouse. There were not only a number of young people present, but the attendance of the older married people was noticeable.

Music for the dance was furnished by Prof. Garland, of New Brunswick, and this was a feature. During the evening refreshments were served by Stephenson, the caterer, and this was not the least of the enjoyable features.

The regular entertainment committee of the club, of which Mrs. S. St. John McCutchen is the chairman, who was assisted in receiving by Mrs. B. A. Hegeman, Jr., Mrs. Francis DeLacy Hyde, Mrs. Edward A. Ladd, Jr., Mrs. Henry A. McGee, Mrs. Charles A. Reed, Mrs. Walter M. McGee, Mrs. Samuel Townsend, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Saunders and C. E. Murray, the last four named being members of the entertainment committee.

EVENING CHURCH WEDDING

MARRIAGE OF MISS CLEFFIE L. LUDLOW AND B. S. H. BAKER.

Ceremony Performed in Trinity Reformed Church—Reception Followed at Dunellen.

A very pretty church wedding was soleminized at Trinity Reformed church, last evening when Miss Cleffie Latourette Ludlow, of Dunellen, and Benjamin S. Haynard Baker, of Summit, were united in marriage, Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of the church, performing the ceremony.

Precisely at 7 o'clock the couple entered the church to the strains of the Lohengrin wedding march, played by Organist Arthur L. Titsworth. Miss Ludlow was attended by Miss Mabel B. Parkhurst, of Westfield, while the best man was Edmund R. Halsey, of Summit. Preceding the couple were the two little flower girls, Marietta J. Parkhurst and Louise Bannister, of Westfield. The ushers were Arthur D Reeve and Robert F. Reeve, of Newark, John J. Finnegan, and William Nichols, of Summit.

The bride was gowned becomingly in white silk peau de cygne, trimmed with medallions and chiffon applique and carried white bridal roses. The maid of honor was gowned in blue silk peau de cygne, trimmed with chiffon and ribbon and carried pink bridal roses. The flower girls looked very pretty in white point d'esprit over blue and carried baskets of pink and white sweet peas. The church was decorated with green and white.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Randolph Vail, of Dunellen. The happy couple then left for a wedding trip to an unknown destination. Upon their return they will reside in Summit where the groom is in business as a civil engineer.

Guests were present at the ceremony from Summit, New York, Westfield, Newark and other places. A large number of beautiful and costly presents showed the esteem in which the couple are held.

BELIEVE CARMAN WAS KILLED BY ACCIDENT

Suicide Theory Is Scouted After Investigation Into Death of Dunellen Resident.

FUNERAL IS ARRANGED

WAS FOND OF FIRE ARMS AND OFTEN SPENT HIS TIME EXAMINING THEM.

Theory is That He Was Examining Shot-Gun, and Either Dropped It or Snapped Hammer by Accident—The Funeral Friday.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, April 15—A careful investigation seems to disprove the theory of suicide in the death of William H. Carman, who was found dead at his home yesterday morning with the upper part of his head blown off and a discharged shot gun beside him. The theory of suicide was scouted by the family from the first and it now looks as if there was no question but he met his death accidentally.

Mr. Carman's duties as manager of the meat department of Scheuer's Plainfield grocery were exhausting and he had not been in the best of health for some time previous to his death. The day before he suffered from a fainting spell. Yesterday morning he had a cold and, the day being so stormy, his wife persuaded him to remain at home.

When Mrs. Carman last saw him alive, he was lying on the lounge in the parlor. He was very fond of hunting and shooting and while, of late, he had not had much opportunity to enjoy his favorite pastime, he was always fond of taking a rifle, shotgun or revolver and cleaning it or trying its action. It is supposed that he started to examine his shot-gun yesterday morning and that being rather weak, he either dropped the gun accidentally discharging it or else unintentionally snapped the hammer. He was ordinarily very careful in handling fire arms but his poor health may have made him a trifle careless on this occasion.

Further investigation has failed to reveal any possble reason for self-destruction. In a momen of temporary aberration, he might have performed such a rash act but the general belief is now that the death was an accident. The fact that a revolver would have been much more convenient and as easy to obtain would seem to support that theory.

Arrangements were completed last evening for the funeral which will be held from the Presbyterian church Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. A. I. Martine, of Marlboro, N. J., who was pastor of that church when Mr. Carman became a member, and Rev. N. J. Sproul, the present pastor, will officiate. The interment will be at Bound Brook.

Don't Know Him.

In this morning's Staats Zeitung, a German publication of New York, there appears an article narrating the troubles of Dr. Lawrence Gerold, of Lexington avenue, Plainfield. The doctor, it appears, was making a tour of the slums when he was set upon by robbers and was being relieved of his valuables when the police gathered him in for safe keeping. The directory gives no such name of any physician.

Great Preparations.

Great preparations are being made by the members of the Continental Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, for the reception and loan exhibit to be held Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Phillip VanWyck, of Stelle avenue. The object of the affair is to raise money with which to preserve an historic land-mark at Washington Rock.

San Juan Grand Jury Takes Up Smuggling Cases.

CONTRARY ORDER FROM WASHINGTON

Judge Holt Gives an Opinion That the Jury's Oath Requires It to Ignore Any Instructions.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, April 15.—The grand jury is investigating the so called smuggling cases in which officers of the United States navy and other prominent men are involved notwithstanding the instructions which, it is stated, District Attorney Pettingill has received from the department of justice at Washington not to present information to the grand jury this term. The press and the natives have practically demanded an investigation, inasmuch as last term a native merchant named Ricardo Amado was sentenced to a year's confinement in the penitentiary and a fine of $500 for having contraband liquor in his possession.

Yesterday the grand jury came into court and asked for information. The foreman said: "It has come to our knowledge that certain cases of smuggling have occurred. We have asked the district attorney about the matter, and he refused to bring up the matter, alleging that he had received certain instructions. We now ask the judge if we have a right to information in spite of the district attorney's refusal."

Judge Holt has prepared a written charge, the reading of which caused a sensation. He said in part:

"When you were impaneled at the beginning of the term, you swore that you would make a diligent inquiry into and a true presentment of such matters given to you or which might otherwise come to your knowledge touching violations of the statutes of the United States and that you would make no presentment through envy, hatred, favor, affection and reward or through hope thereof. You could not if you desired escape from the obligations of your oath by heeding the instructions of any one.

"The honored president of the United States could pardon, but he could not interfere. If you believe that any one had given instructions tending to prevent the fullest investigation into the commission of a crime in the United States and the returning of an indictment if the evidence so warrants, then you should be inspired by an additional determination to do your duty. The court has knowledge of the instructions to which the district attorney alludes. It is proper to say that it is my opinion that there has been no intention of encroaching upon your sworn duty or the judicial domain."

The testimony submitted last December regarding the smuggling cases pointed to a dozen prominent officials of the navy, army and insular government and citizens being implicated in the charges.

The Caroline Arrests.

BOSTON, April 15.—The American board has made public reports received from Rev. M. L. Stimson and Miss Jennie D. Baldwin concerning the arrest, recently announced, of native missionaries by the captain of a German war ship in the Caroline islands. The reports announce that those in custody number four and that they were taken by the captain of the German war ship Cormoran. They were accused by a German trader of impropriety toward Germany.

New Weather Service Cable.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—The landing and successful operation of a government cable connecting San Francisco and the Farallone islands, thirty miles outside the Golden Gate, is announced in an official message just received by Chief Willis L. Moore of the weather bureau. This important extension of the weather service was authorized by congress as the result of repeated representations from the maritime interests of San Francisco.

THE TROLLEY MERGER.

While the trolley merger has been practically effected, it still remains for the stockholders of the interested companies to confirm the action of the committees from the various boards of directors. There seems no doubt, however, that it will be duly approved.

With the successful culmination of this much talked of merger, the local trolley system, together with some 480 miles of other trolley lines will all pass into one control. It may be that the reason that the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Jersey Central Street Railway Company has paid so little attention to the demands for improvement of local traffic was that it did not desire to start any radical changes just previous to this probable consolidation of trolley interests. One of the provisions of the merger is the investment of a large sum in improvements of the service. This line ought to get some benefit, at least from that arrangement.

The history of the local trolley system has been constant absorption of the small companies by the greater. The original Plainfield Street Railway passed into the hands of the Elizabeth and Westfield Street Railway Company which was eventually swallowed up by the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Street Railway Company which is now about to become a part of a still greater corporation.

Plainfielders are taking considerable interest in the progress of the hearing in New York at which the much disputed question as to whether Charles L. Fair or his wife died first. On the final decision in the case, the future destiny of the Fair millions rests. Two witnesses have been heard who declare that Mr. Fair was dead and his wife still breathed when they left the scene of that fatal automobile accident. They were bicyclists who happened to be in the neighborhood. Should this evidence hold good it will mean great wealth for the family of Mrs. Fair, most of the members of which make their home at New Market.

Within a twelve month, the extreme West End has taken on a new appearance. The growth of the old industries there and the addition of several new ones has resulted in a healthy building boom which is very pleasing to note. A host of comfortable little homes are going up there and there is no indication that the boom will cease. For a city of its population, Plainfield covers a remarkably large area. It is largely because each home has its lawn or garden and they are not packed in close together as in so many cities. It is a desirable feature in a city of homes like Plainfield.

Basket ball has grown to be a very popular game in Plainfield this winter and some very exciting contests have resulted. While the playing of all the teams may not have been up to the standard in other cities where the game has been played a great deal, it must be remembered that, with the exception of the Y. M. C. A., all the teams were new at the game last fall and had to learn it beginning at the first principles. Even now with the spring well advanced, the basket ball teams are still playing, loath to give up their favorite game.

The Daily Press has received several communications regarding the application of the new telephone company for a franchise. The first of these is published today. This is a subject which cannot have too much consideration. The streets committee of the Common Council is anxious to learn how the public views the subject and any proper communications regarding it will be gladly published by The Daily Press.

It is expected that the State Legislature will manage to correct its mistake in the Passaic pollution bill Tuesday and that the extra session will only have to last a single evening. The opponents of the measure will attempt to defeat it again if possible but the men who carried it through before believe that they can hold their forces together once more.

A Newark advertiser has discovered that he can afford to take a good deal of newspaper space because his competitors who do not advertise pay the bills, comments the Philadelphia Record. That is to say, the business which they would get by advertising comes to him and contributes to his publicity appropriation.

March and April appear to have been rather mixed up on the calendar this year. Last month, we had real April weather and the exhibition this month would do honor to a really vigorous March.

WOULD DOUBLE EXPENSE

ANOTHER VIEW OF THE NEW 'PHONE COMPANY'S ADMISSION.

H. Says Double System of Government Isn't Success — Neither Would the 'Phone System Do.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—Just a few words regarding the proposed new telephone company in Plainfield. There are a few things in Plainfield good enough to be let alone, and the present telephone company is one.

We have two telegraph companies; has the rate of the older one decreased any because of opposition or is its service any better than before? We have Plainfield's two mayors, two Councils, two of all departments to run one city; is either city run any better because there are two governments? No, but it costs more to govern one city in two parts than one fine city under one government, and it will cost more to every merchant to run two telephones, and be twice the trouble, but will not add materially to his convenience nor business: to say nothing of the nuisance involved in installing another telephone and running another set of underground, and poles and wires in the streets.

Another telephone company means double printing, double room, double time finding telephone number, double cost, double trouble. But where is the double advantage and business to balance all these? I cannot discover it.

If we have found two city governments obsolete, we surely don't want to experiment with two telephone companies.

We all dread a rise in our tax rate. There is no promise the old company will reduce its rate, but it is sure the new company telephone will cost $18 or $20 a year. Any councilman who votes to tax each merchant $20 a year more for another telephone will have the whole city to reckon with. H.

PRISONER WAS LOST.

But He Found His Way Out When Judge Suspended Sentence.

With his garments water soaked and a holdover 'jags" till with him, John Vail was picked up at the corner of Madison avenue and Sixth street by Patrolman Saffron at 3 o'clock, this morning. He hadn't the slightest idea where he was and when arraigned in the city court, at 9 o'clock, he thought he was in the borough court. As he had not been guilty of any disorder he escaped with a suspension of sentence.

WHAT IS WORN.

Separate Waists—Bare Arms No Longer the Fashion.

Bare arms, except for very full dress occasions, are not seen so much. Even ball gowns boast some suggestion of a sleeve. The best frocks are a perfect harmony of color even to the trimmings.

The intelligent observer cannot but be struck by the improvement in shirt waists. The blouse is no longer a sloppy, untidy garment, but even those which are composed of the most inexpensive fabrics have a certain style of their own, are extremely well cut about the neck and shoulders and have plenty of fullness across the bust, which used to be the chief fault with the ready made waist.

Unless a woman wants something very exclusive and expensive she had better buy her waists ready made at one of the big stores.

Fancy wraps will be a feature of the summer season. Now that the tailor made is no longer considered dressy, gowns will be worn for all important occasions, and this makes it necessary to have some light, becoming wrap of lace or silk to protect the wearer's shoulders on cool days.

Many of the smartest new wraps are made entirely of all over lace trimmed with fringe and lined with mousseline de soie or silk.

The cut shows a smart silk waist made with a fancy embroidered collar and a soft frilling down the front. This would be well carried out in pale blue silk. JUDIC CHOLLET.

FOR THE SUMMER SEASON.

Costumes of Thin Cloth—Chiffon and Lace Boas.

The new floral hats and toques will certainly be fashionable during the entire season, as there is no possibility of confusing the exquisite copies of roses and orchids with the cheaper imitations. Red and pink fuchsias and begonias with waxy foliage are not likely to be copied in cotton, while the delicate roses in soft coloring, with dark green leaves, are quite unlike the commoner type of flower.

VEILING SUIT.

Stunning boas of chiffon are combined particularly in the brown shades with ecru lace or Russian galloon.

The woman who dresses smartly will enrich her wardrobe by a coatee and skirt of thin cloth with medallions of black guipure laid on black panne and with a deep belt of panne with little tabs of the cloth and panne intermixed and finished with steel buttons.

Suede gloves, both white and black, are taking the place of the glace kids in women's favor. They make the hand look smaller and are far easier to clean.

The cut shows a costume of blue veiling over deep red silk. The hat is of yellow straw and trimmed with a blue and white scarf.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

[Copyright, 1900, by A. N. Kellogg Newspaper Co.]

"It's but fair to you, my boy," Redding continued, as a bailiff gave them seats on the left of the judge's table, "to tell you at the outset that they have the advantage so far. Don't understand me to say that you will be found guilty in the supreme court, but my hope fur bail is gettin' awful slim. I mighty nigh run myself to death to ketch up with Williams, but Webb suspicioned what I was up to an' kept 'im hid out. Then," the speaker glanced towards the judge, "I'm powerful afraid Richardson is—well, unsympathetic, to say the least. I know men (dad drat 'em!) you don't have to belt me over the head with a stockin' o' sand to open my eyes. The truth is, Richardson is as cold towards our side as a wet rock. He didn't want to talk to me jest now. I tried to hint that Thad's oath wasn't wuth much more'n the ravelin's of a rotten wool sock, but he said that was a serious charge to bring ag'in any citizen unless I was ready to prove it. It wouldn't surprise me if a dozen o' Syd Hart's gang ain't ready to swear you've made threats ag'in 'im. Men o' the'r stripe will swear off a arm or a leg fur a dram o' rotgut, or to arenge a dead rascal. If they refuse you bail, my boy, you must try to put up with it."

"I am prepared for anything," said Ronald, quite calmly. As he spoke he caught Col. Hasbrooke's eye and held it for a minute. He noticed that the old man's glance was stern and unforgiving. Further back in the row of faces Ronald saw Dave's, full to his great staring eyes with tender awed concern. Some feature of Hasbrooke's reminded him of Evelyn, and he fell to pitying her with his whole heart. He told himself she would hear the adverse news on her father's return home—the news that he was to be a common prisoner in the county jail until the spring. He fancied he saw her white face full of despair.

Redding was turning the leaves of a big tome on his knees and as he took no notice of his client the latter sank so deep into his ooze of despondency that he did not hear the preliminary proceedings of the court. He came to himself only when Dr. Sloan had begun speaking. The physician was saying that, owing to the critical condition of a patient, he hoped that it would be admissible for him to testify without delay. After a little discussion his request was granted, and the doctor took the stand and kissed the edge of a worn Testament. It was his opinion, he said, briefly, that Hart's death had resulted from a wound in the lungs made by the ball for which he had probed and which he held in his hand.

Here the solicitor rose.

"Is that the ball you found in the wound, doctor?" he asked.

"It is, sir," responded the witness.

"Dr. Strong," pursued the solicitor, "state to the court if it is a fact that you found the dead man with a revolver tightly clutched in the fingers of his right hand."

"That is quite true, sir," said Dr. Sloan. "Thad Williams said that he died holding it, and that he—"

"Your honor," broke in Redding, on his feet in an instant, "we object to what Thad Williams said."

The judge nodded as he admitted the justice of the objection. The solicitor stepped to the table of the magistrate and took up Syd Hart's revolver, which lay beside Ronald's, in view of the entire room.

"Is this the revolver to which you refer?" he questioned, casting a calm look of satisfaction round the circle of lawyers within the railing.

"It is, sir."

"There is one more question," said the solicitor, with a smile, "and then we are through with you, Dr. Sloan. You are satisfied in your mind that Syd Hart's death was brought about by the ball you found in his body, and that the ball came from that other pistol lying on the table—the pistol we shall prove was carried by the prisoner."

"Yes, I am quite satisfied"—here the witness paused. "I am able to swear that the ball I found in him was the cause of his death, but I cannot, of course, swear that the ball came from that other revolver."

"Well, that will do," said the solicitor, and he turned to Redding. "The witness is with you," he added, with an easy smile, full of confidence.

Redding got to his feet slowly.

"I don't know, your honor," he said, "that I can think of anything just now to ask the witness," and he stood nervously pinching his nose as he leaned against his chair and rocked back and forth, a defeated look spreading over his face. However, he soon pulled himself together.

"You say, doctor," he asked, "that you are not ready to swear that ball came from the revolver of the prisoner?"

Before answering, the witness, who still fingered the bullet, took up Hart's revolver and fitted the ball into the muzzle of the barrel. Then Ronald, whose eyes were on his face, saw him start and turn pale, as he hastily put down Hart's revolver and picked up the other. He was nervously trying to place the bit of lead into its end when, with an exclamation of astonishment, Redding strode to his side and stood watching him with widening eyes. Ronald saw a broad smile spread over Redding's face, and then he came back to his place flushed with triumph. Ronald was nonplused. Redding seemed electrified as he bent down and put his lips to his ear.

"Thank God, my boy," he whispered, "I'm goin' to wipe up the ground with 'em. Damn 'em, I won't leave a whole rag on 'em!"

To the prisoner's surprise, he resumed his nonchalant attitude on the back of his chair, which he hitched about until he had secured his balance. The magistrate looked bored, as he smiled over at Winkle. The solicitor was engaged in conversation with Thad Williams and did not seem to note the bewildered attitude of the witness on the stand.

"You are sure that the bullet in your hand was the one that caused Sydney Hart's death?" questioned Redding.

"He's already sworn that," put in the squire, sharply; "we must not go over the same ground twice. It will take all day to get through."

"It's important enough for 'im to swear it twice, your honor," said Redding, calmly, and then, as he continued, his eyes began to flash and his voice rang out so clear and loud that the solicitor looked up in astonishment.

"Dr. Sloan, is it not your opinion that the ball in your hand could not possibly have come from the revolver belonging to my client?"

There was a profound stillness in the big room. It was broken by an impulsive guffaw from the solicitor, who shot an amused glance at Redding, as if he thought that lawyer had taken leave of his senses. And then the solicitor noted the white, rigid expression on the face of the witness and his smile died away.

"We are waiting on you, Dr. Sloan," said Redding, calmly.

"It is my opinion," answered the physician, "that this ball could not have been fired from Mr. Fanshaw's revolver. It is clear to me now that Sydney Hart accidentally shot himself with his own pistol. It carries a 38-caliber ball; the other only 32."

Not a sound broke the silence of the room for a brief space of time and then the people began to applaud.

"Order in court! I will have order!" thundered Squire Richardson, and the room became still again.

With a sheepish look the solicitor went to the table and picked up the two revolvers, and then a sickly smile of acknowledged defeat passed over his face as he threaded his way back to his seat.

DID NOT KILL A LION

The President Has Not Fired a Shot.

HE IS RETURNING TO HEADQUARTERS

Roosevelt, Taking Daily Horseback Rides and Long Walks Over Mountain Trails, Is In the Best of Health.

CINNABAR, Mont., April 15.—President Roosevelt has broken camp and is slowly working his way to Major Pitcher's headquarters at Fort Yellowstone. He is expected to arrive at Yancey's today and to reach the fort some time tomorrow. He will remain there one day and then will start for Norris, where the geysers are.

There is a good deal of snow between the fort and Norris, and the engineer corps is at work opening the road. Word received from the president is to the effect that he is in the best of health and thoroughly enjoying his outing. In addition to horseback riding, he takes long walks over the mountain trails.

Notwithstanding reports to the contrary, the president has not fired a shot at a mountain lion and has no intention of doing so. It is estimated that there are 500 of these animals in the park, and they are killing large quantities of deer and elk. A determined effort is being made to exterminate them, and "Buffalo" Jones, the game warden of the park, with his scouts, is slaying them on every possible occasion. Mr. Jones has offered to round up a lion or two for the president to shoot at, but the latter has declined the offer.

The weather continues to be all that could be desired.

The party left at Cinnabar are having a good time fishing and riding through the country.

Senor Pulido's Trip Successful.

NEW YORK, April 15.—Senor Augusto F. Pulido, Venezuelan charge d'affaires at Washington, who went to Venezuela about a month ago as special emissary from Minister Bowen to President Castro, has returned. Senor Pulido was visibly elated when he spoke of his hurried errand, and without divulging the nature of his mission he said, "My trip was entirely successful." He denied the story that he went to Venezuela with advice from Minister Bowen to President Castro not to negotiate the loan offered by an American syndicate. He also ridiculed the report that he raced to Caracas with a representative of J. & W. Seligman to head off negotiations.

Hibernians to Aid Ireland.

BOSTON, April 15.—The executive officers of the Ancient Order of Hibernians of Ireland, England and Scotland, commonly known in Great Britain as the board of Erin, have issued an appeal to the members of the order in this country to aid in the present struggle in Ireland for "land for the people" and to this end urge that the United Irish League be supported. The appeal to the country is made through national President James E. Dolan of Syracuse, N. Y., the head of the Ancient Order of Hibernians.

New Orleans Flood.

NEW ORLEANS, April 15.—Prompt and effective work arrested the threatened destruction of Waterloo levee, about seventy miles above the city, on the east bank of the river. A crawfish hole had developed near its base and widened to a diameter of eighteen to twenty inches, but after a day of hard work the levee was made reasonably secure. Considerable progress has been made at Hynelia in the construction of the new 500 feet of cribbing to inclose the break in the old line.

Probing Knight Murder.

OMAHA, Neb., April 15.—The police feel assured now that they are on the right track and have decided that beyond doubt Mrs. Knight was murdered and her body disposed of. Chief Donahue states that Mrs. Stiles and her son, Malvin Dusenberry, who were placed in the "sweat box" again, have made confessions which are sufficient to convict Knight should he be captured. The chief refused to make public the nature of the confessions.

Secretary Alles Leaves Treasury.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Milton E. Alles, assistant secretary of the treasury, severed his connection with the department today to accept the vice presidency of the Riggs National bank of Washington, one of the oldest and most prominent financial institutions in this section of the country. President Roosevelt's letter accepting Mr. Alles' resignation was highly complimentary, as was also that of Secretary Shaw.

Russia to Make Heavy Demands.

LONDON, April 15.—A dispatch from Vienna to the Central News agency asserts that it is authoritatively announced there that Russia will demand from the porte an indemnity of $250,000 for the family of M. Stcherbina, the Russian consul who was assassinated at Mitrowicz, that a chapel be built on the scene of the murder and also that the Turkish government shall send into old Servia 200,000 troops to maintain order.

New Jersey Laws.

TRENTON, N. J., April 15.—Governor Murphy has signed the primary election bill, the bill codifying railroad laws of the state, the bill prohibiting spitting in railroad cars and the general game revision law. The governor vetoed the bills permitting the erection of bridges across the Delaware at Carpentersville and Martin's creek.

REASONS FOR ADMITTING THE NEW TELEPHONE COMPANY.

Willard M. Miner Believes Plainfield Would be Gainer by Having Two Companies.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—In The Press of April 9 there appears an article relating to an independent telephone company in Plainfield. In an editorial of the same issue you invite expressions of opinion as to the feasibility of such a company.

It is a well-known fact among those in touch with telephone matters, that whenever an independent company opens an exchange under proper management, the old "Bell" companies prices have had to come down to retain their subscribers, in many cases the lower prices failing to hold them.

In Gloversville, N. Y., for instance the list of subscribers of the local "Bell" company, which was about 600, has fallen off to fifteen or less, while the independent company has about 1,200 subscribers while the services of the new independent companies are superior in most cases to the old. I wish to say right here that the people of Plainfield are blessed with a much better local service than a majority of towns having "Bell" exchanges only, due to the efficient management of Mr. Runyon.

There are several manufacturers of telephone apparatus, who cater to the "independent" trade, whose apparatus and exchange systems are fully as good, if not better than that furnished the "Bell" licenses, so there can be no trouble on that score.

As for getting into New York City, anyone who says it is impossible, would do well to study up on New York telephone history. An independent company did get into New York and had lines working with towns out of the city. This I know to be a fact, as I have talked from my office in New York, and over independent lines, with people in Mt. Vernon, New Rochelle and White Plains. What has been done, can generally be done again. This independent company did not lose all its money trying to get into New York City either. The people of New York have this same company to thank for their modern service, and present rate, for the independent company, cut the old rates of the New York Bell Company in half, and compelled them to come down. In the same way, an independent company in Plainfield would compel the present company to lower its rates or practically go out of business.

As for the necessity of two telephones in business houses being detrimental, I fail to see it. If a telephone connected with an exchange of, say 800 or 900 subscribers is a good investment at $80 or $90 per year, surely another telephone at $36 or $40 per year that would enable one to reach as many more people, could be a better one. And if by the installation of the new telephone the old company is compelled to meet the lower rates, it would bring the price for both lower than that paid for the one, and give one communication with over 1,500 or 2,000 people. I should call that a pretty good investment.

The independent companies in the middle west are stronger than the old "Bell" exchange. In the east they are growing stronger every day.

It is hardly probable that a New York independent company would try very hard to reach Plainfield, if Plainfield people do not show some inclination to meet them.

Willard M. Miner, E. E.

Results of High Winds.

SOMERSET CRIES FOR MORE MACADAM ROADS

But the Board of Freeholders Turns a Deaf Ear to Entreaties From All Hands.

AT MONTHLY MEETING

DEMANDS FOR HEAVIER SURFACE ON ROADS ALREADY CONTRACTED FOR.

Somerset County's Board of Freeholders Have All Sorts of Troubles Over the Road Question—Only Real Important Business.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, April 15—The Somerset County Board of Chosen Freeholders held its regular monthly meeting here yesterday in the Court House and the members were given very little peace on the question of road building.

F. C. Sutro, William Childs and other prominent residents of Bernards township were on hand to argue in favor of the building of two roads in that section of the county—the one from Blazure's corner to Millington and the other from Far Hills to Millington. These men were eloquent in their appeals for the improvement of those roads, but the board turned a deaf ear to their pleadings and merely tabled their petitions for the time being.

All the members were in attendance and the first matter taken up was that of the Mountain avenue road at Bound Brook. It seems it has been deemed wiser to change the plans for this highway and it was therefore decided to return the specifications to the State Commissioners at Trenton and reject all bids.

R. W. Hoagland, of Neshanic, introduced a resolution, regarding certain portions of the road from Woods Tavern to Neshanic Station, to the effect that since the committee on that thoroughfare do not believe an eight-inch macadam is of sufficient depth that the committee and County Engineer be authorized to make such additional contract with Richards & Gaston to construct a heavier road. It is understood that the State Road Commissioner is willing to appropriate the proportion of the State money sufficient to make this change. This resolution was unanimously adopted.

Messrs. Lutkins, Mobus, Codington and Whitenack were appointed as a committee to meet with the Union county committee at the Giraud avenue bridge, with the engineers, to arrange for specifications and advertise for bids.

The engineer and clerk were authorized to have printed a blank petition for the construction of roads under the present State road act.

The board then adjourned to meet at the bridge at Chimney Rock Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Troublesome Boys in Court.

Frank DeCamp, Harry Martin and a boy named Hurtt were arraigned before Recorder Doud last evening on charges of malicious mischief preferred by Wm. Coombs, a grocer of Linden avenue. He claimed the boys had been throwing stones and entered a vacant house. The boys, the police claim, are constantly causing them annoyance. They received a reprimand from the judge.

Two I. C. T. Events.

Arrangements for two more typical I. C. T. affairs were arranged at a meeting of the popular club last evening. One is a stag to be given April 29 and the other a dance May 14. At the former an entertainment will be presented in which local and out-of town talent will participate.

When You Cannot Read

your evening paper, when you cannot thread your needle without difficulty or annoyance, call on their specialist and they will tell you without charge whether glasses will correct the trouble. Stiles & Co., Philadelphia eye specialists, 107 East Front street, Thursday.

Ladies' Day.

This is "ladies' day" at the Y. M. C. A., and this afternoon a basket ball game will be played between the two teams of the Business Men's classess. The game will start at 5:30, but before that time an exhibition of the work being done in that department will be given.

Too Much Rain.

No meeting of the Tuesday Night Dancing Class was held last evening, owing to the inclemency of the weather. The next meeting will be held Tuesday, as usual.

LEAL'S SCHOOL BOYS PROMISE DECIDED HIT

Public Rehearsal of "Gloriana" at Casino Yesterday Afternoon Was Great Success.

PERFORMANCE TONIGHT

ENTIRE HOUSE SOLD OUT ALREADY FOR THIS EVENING'S PLAY.

Third Annual Attempt at School Dramatics Promises to be Even More Successful Than Previous Ones Given by Them.

"Gloriana," a comedy in three acts, adapted from the French of "Chivot and Duru" by James Mortimer, was produced by the members of Leal's School yesterday afternoon in a public dress rehearsal at the Casino. The boys did remarkably well in their various parts and the stamp of the amateur was in no way apparent, so well were the young men drilled in their respective parts by Edgar B. Smith, an instructor at the school.

There was a very large attendance at the production yesterday but for the regular play tonight every seat has been sold and standing room accommodations only can be had. The play is being given for the benefit of the school paper and the athletic association. Plays have been successful but, perhaps, none of them have been held with more promise of success than the one yesterday.

The play is portrayed in three acts and tells of a most peculiar series of complicated love affairs. The women in the play are portrayed by young men and those difficult parts are carried out admirably. "Gloriana," the title role, is played by Effingham A. Pinto, who so faithfully represents a dashing young widow that his voice is the only thing which betrays the part he takes.

J. Hartley Mellick, as "Jessie," Timothy Chadwick's daughter, carries the part excellently and gowned as a gushing bride attired in silks and satins his role is perfect.

Others carried out their respective roles with talent which reflects credit on their faithful rehearsing and the care and patience lent to the training of the students by Mr. Smith.

The entire cast of characters is as follows: "Leopold Fitz Jocelyn, of the foreign office," Gordon W. Abbott; "Timothy Chadwick, a retired tanner," Charles S. Roberts; "Count Evitoff, a Russian diplomat," Lesley W. Hallock; "Baron Kronfokoff and Major Stonideff, of the Russian Army," Lucius H. Biglow, 3rd, and Richard L. Lovell; "Spinks, Fitz Jocelyn's valet," Francis A. Martin; "Richard, Mrs. Lovering's servant," Percy A. Chapman; "Mrs. Lovering, (Gloriana) a widow," Effingham A. Pinto; "Jessie Chadwick, Chadwick's daughter," J. Hartley Mellick; "Kitty, Mrs. Lovering's maid," Dudley H. Barrows.

The property managers were Charles S. Roberts, '03, and W. Maxwell E. Perkins, P. G. The officers of the Athletic Association are: President, Gordon W. Abbott, '03; treasurer, Francis A. Martin, '03; and secretary, Robert T. Messler, '04. The editor-in-chief of the paper is Gordon W. Abbott, '03, and his assistants are: Dudley H. Barrows, '03; Robert T. Messler, '04; Charles C. Perkins, '04; Effingham A. Pinto, '03; John D. Haughey, '04; Percy A. Chapman, '05; W. Maxwell E. Perkins, P. G.; Richard L. Lovell, '04, and Frank L. Curtis, '05. Francis A. Martin, '03, is the business manager and J. Hartley Mellick, '04, assistant.

KNEW HOW TO FIGHT FIRE

FORMER CHIEF OF FIRE DEPARTMENT REMEMBERED HIS OLD DUTIES.

Directed Extinguishing of Fire Before the Apparatus Arrived at the Scene.

An old stove at the home of Daniel Cole, of 135 Netherwood avenue, started a fire in the surrounding woodwork, shortly after 7 o'clock last night. When discovered by the family it seemed beyond their control and Cole sent in an alarm from box No. 18.

Before the department arrived, Theodore F. French, who was the city's first elected fire chief, ran to the house and despite warnings forced his way into the kitchen and, with the help of boys carrying water, extinguished the flames. The chemical engine killed the last few sparks.

Chief Doane was loud in his praises of his early predecessor who seemed to have retained all his fire fighting instincts despite his long retirement.

The damage is estimated at $50, covered by insurance. The alarm system again failed to work properly, the box being sounded only on the gongs at No. 1 house, while the steam gong did not respond at all.

DANCE AT CLUBHOUSE.

Given by Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Howard for Their Daughter and Guests.

A charming affair of last evening was the dance at the Park Club given by Mr. and Mrs. George L. There were over seventy-five young people from the borough and city present and all enjoyed the excellent programme of dances arranged. During an intermission later in the evening refreshments were served, after which the dancing was continued until 2 o'clock this morning.

MILKMEN MUST CONFORM

IF THEY FAIL TO OBEY RULES, NO PERMIT WILL BE GRANTED.

Given Two Weeks in Which to Comply With Provisions of Sanitary Code.

An adjourned meeting of the Board of Health was held yesterday afternoon, when several matters needing attention were acted upon. As President C. J. Fisk is still detained at his home on West Seventh street, he was unable to be present at the meeting.

Regarding the applications for permits to sell milk, the various dealers selling milk in Plainfield will be given two weeks in which to clean up their dairies and conform to the new rules and regulations. At the end of that time those who have conformed to the new order of things will get permits and those who have not will be denied a permit and will be prosecuted if they continue to sell.

One very important matter acted upon was that relative to the abolishment of the vaults and cesspools in the vicinity of the Plainfield Water Supply Company's pumping station. The board adopted a resolution compelling residents in the vicinity of the pumping station to connect with the sewer within thirty days from the time notice is served on them. While there may be no danger now, it is considered a wise plan to take no chances and to take every precaution against any possible contamination of Plainfield's water supply.

HIS EXCITING STORY.

Roundsman Nesbitt Will Tell It at Y. M. C. A. Sunday Meeting.

Roundsman Nesbitt has for twenty years addressed meetings and during that time he has told his story almost a thousand times. He is eloquent and tells in an interesting manner of some of his experiences while assisting in routing out the "East River Jackals," "The Stable Gang Thugs" and numerous other bands of thieves and robbers which infested that part of New York years ago. His story is full of very exciting details and it is very probable that he will have a large audience. The musical programme is to be exceptionally fine.

COINS BETRAY THE BURGLAR

LeRoy Cuff Foiled in Attempt to Swallow the Tell-Tale Evidence.

WAS A QUICK CAPTURE

Vail & Gardner's Grocery Robbed Last Night—Cuff Arrested for the Crime Two Hours Later—Coins on His Person—Other Booty Found at Home.

One of the quickest criminal captures ever made by the local police was accomplished by Chief Kiely, this morning, when LeRoy Cuff, colored, of Arlington avenue, was arrested for robbing the store of Vail & Gardner on East Front street. The burglary was reported at 8 o'clock and less than two hours afterward Cuff had been "caught with the goods on" and was languishing in a cell at headquarters. He will be given a hearing this afternoon as a formality before Justice Huff.

From information furnished by the store proprietors and facts gleaned by a personal investigation, Chief Kiely at once concluded it was an "inside" job, which in police vernacular means that some one acquainted with the place was guilty. The articles taken were about $5 in silver, two boxes of cigars, a dozen packages of tobacco and numerous other trifles generally found in a grocery. Cuff had been working in an adjoining store until a few days ago and on several occasions has been arrested for just such petty thefts. Drawing his own conclusions, the chief ordered his men to pick Cuff up on suspicion. The latter was brought in a short time later by Patrolman McCarthy who had found him on the street.

The moment Cuff was taken to the chief's office he made a desperate attempt to swallow several coins and they were taken from him with difficulty. They proved to be some that had been taken from the grocery store drawer and were easily identified. He also had a large amount of silver on his person together with several packages of tobacco and when Patrolman McCarthy was sent to the boy's home, the remainder of the stuff was found in his room.

From notes and letters taken from his pocket, Chief Kiely has but little doubt but Cuff is guilty of several other robberies which have taken place lately, including Compton's candy factory in the rear of Warnock's bakery.

Cuff has served a term of four months in the Essex county penitentiary and his picture is in the local rogue's gallery. The present offense will in all probability result in his getting a prison term.

BIG CROWD.

Rain Didn't Affect Attendance at T. A. B. Fair.

DEMOCRATIC CLUB AT SMOKER LAST NIGHT

John H. Hillmann Presented With Silver-Mounted Cane on Eve of His Departure.

A PLEASANT EVENING

CLUB QUARTETTE RENDERED A NUMBER OF SELECTIONS.

Even the Rain Failed to Keep the Crowd Away—The Presentation Speech Was Made by James E. Martine—Refreshments Served.

The success of the smoker of the Democratic Club which was held last evening was in no way lessened by the fact that it had been postponed for a week. It was held in the rooms of the Democratic Club on East Second street and, considering the rain, the attendance was large.

A surprise for most of the members was sprung by James E. Martine when he stepped to the front of the assemblage and with one hand behind his back, began a speech which he addressed to John H. Hillmann, in which he told, on behalf of the members of the club, of the high esteem in which he was held and expressed the regret of the club at his departure from this city to go to Brooklyn. At the conclusion of his remarks, Mr. Martine presented Mr. Hillmann with a fine silver mounted cane as a remembrance of the club members.

The Democratic Club quartette, comprising Edward C. Searing, Fred. Bowden, Joseph Martin and William McConnell, rendered several selections and Harry Dilts gave an exhibition of fancy bag punching. A speech was made by Judge O. P. Mahan, of Elizabeth, and by John H. Hillmann who spoke of the work of the club and what it has done for Democracy in this city.

An impromptu boxing exhibition was given by Victor Troyce and William Conway. The evening's entertainment came to a close at about 11 o'clock.

LANDLORD WON.

In Suit Over Possession of Premises in Which Question Was Length of the Lease.

A landlord and tenant case was tried yesterday before Justice Nash and a jury of twelve men. The case was that of Robert A. Meeker against Wikoff & Stiglitz for possession of the premises. The principal question arising seemed to be whether the tenants were occupying the premises under a monthly or yearly lease. There was no written lease to prove this and the verbal say-so of the parties interested was used as evidence in the case. After the jury had been out for over an hour a verdict in favor of the landlord was returned.

The plaintiff was represented by Winfield S. Angleman, while the defendant's counsel was George Ball. The jury was composed of the following men: U. B. Crane, foreman; James Trimmer, Eugene Wood, Jerry Foss, William Willis, John Dorgan, John Sheenan, Samuel Winner, Fred Anderson, Asa D. Phillips, W. H. Sprague and Daniel Danbeck.

THEATRICAL.

So far as theatrical tradition goes last was presumed to be the dullest week of the amusement season, but "The Earl of Pawtucket," now playing with extraordinary success at the Manhattan Theatre, New York, opened Monday night, the first day of the religious week, to the largest Monday night audience of its career, taxing the capacity of the theatre, and turning people away. This is mentioned as an indication of the extraordinary hold this merry comedy has upon the public. "The Earl of Pawtucket" is the talk of all New York, and more than that, its fame has extended East, West, North and South until one of the first thoughts of the visitor to the metropolis who is fond of the theatre is to make preparations to spend an evening at the Manhattan Theatre.

The management of the "Prince of Pilsen," the Pixley and Luders musical comedy playing at the Broadway, selected a young woman during the past week to impersonate the typical New York society girl. She is Miss Harriet Burt, a handsome young woman of medium height, brown hair and blue eyes. There were about 400 applicants for the position. "The Prince of Pilsen" will begin its fifth week at the Broadway Monday night. "The Prince of Pilsen" broke its best record for receipts at the Broadway Theatre although it was Holy Week. With the exception of "The Sultan of Sulu," also under the management of Henry W. Savage, there have been no other musical plays in New York that have scored such an instantaneous and lasting hit. Mr. Luders' music is being whistled all over the country and before the "Prince" had been playing in New York a week every orchestra in the metropolis was playing its melodious strains. The most popular songs are "The Tale of a Sea Shell," "The Message of the Violet," "Fall In," and "He Didn't Know Exactly What to Do." The piece is booked to remain at the Broadway Theatre until November.

Miss Paula Edwards has been added to the list of stars who will be under the management of Sam. S. Shubert next season and for several seasons to follow. As the first vehicle in which to star the clever singing comedienne Manager Sam S. Shubert has accepted "Winsome Winnie," the book of which was specially written for Miss Edwards by Edward Paulton. In order to get the very best obtainable in the way of musical setting for the production both Mr. Paulton and Mr. Shubert labored long and hard to get Jakobowsky to furnish it. Messrs. Paulton and Jakobowsky have done nothing in collaboration in a number of years, but those who recall their "Erminie" at the Casino nearly a score of years ago must awaken to a sense of pleasureable anticipation by the knowledge that their splendid talents have been combined again for a big New York production. "Erminie" was the pioneer of all the record-breaking musical successes at the Casino. Its glory has not dimmed though it has not been played in many year. Good judges who have heard the music and read the book think "Winsome Winnie" will prove a most worthy successor to "Erminie."

Those who delight in sensational feats with a spice of danger, may get their moneys worth at Keith's next week, for without doubt the most daring, thrilling and hair-raising novelty ever offered in vaudeville is the Culver Bicycle Loop-the-Loop. There have been many cicycle acts done on the stage, but this one outclasses them all. Around this sensational act Mr. Keith has gathered an array of vaudeville artists seldom gotten together on one programme. Europe will furnish two new attractions in Conn and Conrad, the "Quiet Burglars," and Emma Rottrelly, the leading juggler and hoop roller of the world. Added to this array of novelties is Williams and Tucker, who will present for the last time in New York, their sketch "Driftwood." Comedy will find full sway in Hal. Godfrey & Co.'s sketch "A Very Bad Boy," and in Marion and Dean's "It's up to You." Miss Lillian Western will render her celebrated xylophone solos in conjunction with her other instrumental pieces. The three Mortons also have a comedy sketch, while Murphy and Slater will give all that is new in buck dancing. LeVine Cameron & Co., in acrobatic work, Favor and Sinclair, in "Caesar's Angel," Latima, the contortionist. Farnum Bros., in "The Sickly Golf Player," Hale and Francis, the premier club swingers, and John Healy in black-face monologue, will help to entertain.

—The Young Ladies' Missionary Society, of the First Baptist church, will meet in regular session tomorrow afternoon at the usual hour. A full attendance of the members is desired.

PORTO RICAN CASES

Settlement Is Arranged With Alleged Smugglers.

CRIMINAL PROSECUTION NOT NEEDED

Secretary of Navy and Postmaster General Investigated the Matter While in San Juan and Advised No Further Action.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The attention of the officials of the department of justice was called to the published dispatch from San Juan, Porto Rico, to the effect that the United States attorney there had declined to prosecute criminally a number of army and navy officers for alleged smuggling, explaining his action by the statement that he was acting under instructions from Washington. The following statement was made by the department:

"The facts are that the treasury department approved a settlement in one of the pending cases on the basis of relief from the criminal liability upon payment of a fine equal to double the amount of duties. Instruction to this effect was given to the United States attorney at San Juan by the solicitor of the treasury, and upon inquiry by the United States attorney of the department of justice for confirmation of this instruction the subject was brought before the cabinet, and it was directed by the president that Secretary Moody and Postmaster General Payne should investigate the entire subject upon their arrival at Porto Rico and that the cases should be dealt with in accordance with their recommendation.

The recommendation was that all criminal proceedings should be dismissed and discontinued upon the payment of the civil obligation, as above indicated. In accordance with this recommendation the attorney general directed the United States attorney for Porto Rico to dismiss pending cases and to present no more cases to the grand jury until he was otherwise instructed. The cases involve certain officers of the army and navy and certain civilian employees of the government of Porto Rico."

Porto Rican Jury After Smugglers.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, April 16.—The grand jury yesterday called many witnesses in the smuggling cases in which officers of the United States navy and other prominent men are involved and secured from the court commissioner who presided at the former hearings a copy of the testimony taken. The prisoners who are confined in the penitentiary for smuggling have presented a petition requesting that they be pardoned and released unless others guilty of the same offenses are punished.

Yale Students Safe.

NEW YORK, April 16.—Lester C. Barton of Chicago and William Mason Duncan of Russellville, Ky., the two Yale freshmen who were supposed to have lost their lives on the sound while on a sailing expedition, are in this city with relatives. The young men after getting outside the New Haven breakwater were unable to put about and return to shore, and they were driven before the wind until they were washed up on the beach at Riverhead on the Long Island shore. The heavy surf which was running destroyed the boat. The two students made their way to New York, where they immediately notified their relatives by telegraph that they were safe.

Fighting at Santo Domingo.

ST. THOMAS, Danish West Indies, April 16.—The French cruiser Troude, just arrived here from Santo Domingo city, reports that fighting took place there Sunday night and Monday morning between the revolutionists and the government forces, during which several men were killed and many were wounded, among the latter being a seaman of the German cruiser Vineta, who is supposed to have been fatally hurt. The Dominican government troops captured a fort, but were eventually repulsed, and the fort was retaken.

Meeting of Y. W. C. A. at Wilkesbarre

WILKESBARRE, Pa., April 16.—The ninth biennial convention of the American committee of the world's Young Women's Christian association has opened here, with over 300 delegates and visitors in attendance. The convention was called to order by Mrs. L. W. Messor of Chicago, recording secretary of the American committee and president of the convention which was held at Nashville, Tenn.

Stricken In Hongkong.

PRINCETON, N. J., April 16.—Professor S. S. Orris, formerly of the Greek department in Princeton university, who was making a tour around the world, was found recently stricken with paralysis in a Hongkong hospital by a returning missionary. Professor Orris had almost lost the power of speech, and his condition was unknown to his friends, as he was traveling alone.

Macedonian Insurrection Given Up.

Supposed Murderer Lynched.

JOPLIN, Mo., April 16.—A negro supposed to have murdered Policeman Leslie was lynched by a mob here. The negro was captured in a slaughter house, taken to jail and later taken from the jail by a mob.

OPENING AT AQUEDUCT.

Metropolitan Racing Season Has a Rainy Beginning.

NEW YORK, April 16.—The metropolitan racing season of 1903 was ushered in at Aqueduct under the most unfavorable conditions. A light drizzling rain fell throughout the day, and the cold northeast wind drove the rain far into the stand. However, there was a big crowd in attendance, fully 7,000 persons being present. The track was very heavy.

The feature of the Queen's County Jockey club's spring meeting was the Carter handicap at seven furlongs, won by John A. Kyle's Ahumada at 5 to 1. Thirteen horses started for this event, with W. L. Oliver's gelding, Lord Badge, favorite at 7 to 2. The Daly pair, Himself and Illyria, and Ahumada were equal second choices. Paul Clifford and Duelist were added starters.

Cassville, in the first race, backed from 20 to 1 down to 10 to 1, won in a gallop.

Rostand, from the M. F. Dwyer stable, was another good thing. He was played from 10 down to 4 to 1 and won easily.

Opening Day at Lakeside.

CHICAGO, April 16.—The opening at Lakeside marked the beginning of the local racing season. The fourth race, at five furlongs, the feature event of the card, was won by St. Minor. He easily defeated Scorpio, the odds on favorite. Burnie Bunton was third. The weather was cold and threatening, but the attendance was large. The track was a sea of mud.

St. Louis Races Begin.

ST. LOUIS, April 16.—The feature of the opening day at Kinloch was the Inaugural handicap at a mile for three-year-olds and up. The public made the Rice pair, Wax Taper and W. B. Gates, favorites, but Audiphone, at 10 to 1 and overlooked by all but his owner, John S. Bratton, who backed him liberally, won by a nose from W. B. Gates. Ben Chance was third.

Walthour Defeated Bald.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 16.—Bobby Walthour last night won two straight heats in the five mile motor paced race with Eddie Bald of Buffalo. Walthour took the first heat by three-quarters of a lap in 7m. 42 2-5s. and the second heat by a lap and a quarter in 7m. 35s.

West Point Defeated Williams.

WEST POINT, N. Y., April 16.—The baseball team of the Military academy defeated Williams college in a seven inning game by the score of 5 to 2.

Oakland Races.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 16.—Autolight was the only favorite to land at Oakland. Sterling Towers won the first race from Yo No Se, a 60 to 1 shot.

Floods In Maryland.

BALTIMORE, April 16.—Incessant heavy rains for the past four days have swollen Maryland streams until several rivers and creeks are out of their banks, and much damage has resulted. At Cumberland the Potomac is far out of its banks and is rising. The mountain streams are rushing down like torrents. Hagerstown reports the Potomac and tributary streams very much above their normal level. The Monocacy at Frederick is high, and those residing near its banks fear a general overflow. Fishing in the Susquehanna has been suspended because of the high water and rough weather.

Paper Mill Workers Win.

APPLETON, Wis., April 16.—The threatened strike of Wisconsin paper mill employees has been partially settled. The Kimberly & Clark company of Neenah, operating nine mills, gave in to the union, having granted short hours in Bear Brook paper plants. The print and fiber mills are still on long hours, and the men say they will walk out Saturday night.

Hitch Over Chinese-American Treaty

LONDON, April 16.—The Morning Post correspondent at Shanghai telegraphs that the treaty negotiations with the United States are at a deadlock through China's refusal to abolish all the internal customs houses in accordance with the American demand. China admits, adds the correspondent, that over a thousand such customs houses are still open.

A Revolt Against Ito.

TOKYO, April 16.—A revolt against Marquis Ito and the Moderate party has occurred. Eighty members of the diet have seceded from him, denouncing the blind obedience to leaders who pursue a policy of endless waiting upon events and demanding that all the officials of the party shall henceforth be elected and the party consulted on grave questions.

Weather Probabilities.

Fair and warmer.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

A terrific gale on Long Island sound drove vessels into near by ports for safety.

The Northern Pacific trouble has been settled. The men get wage increase.

Rabbi Gustav Gottheil died at his home in New York city, aged seventy-six years.

A mob of strikers boarded a steamer at Cleveland and badly injured three nonunion firemen.

The Hawaiian legislature has passed an act giving to counties management of their own affairs.

A negro killed at Shreveport, La., by a mob for murder of a young woman has been found innocent of the crime.

The White Star line steamer Celtic was damaged in a collision at Liverpool and her sailing for New York delayed.

LABOR BILLS SIGNED

Measures Affecting Children and New York Laws.

LIMIT OF FIFTY-FOUR HOURS A WEEK

A Child Under Sixteen Years May Be Employed Only on Certificate of Health Board Showing Age and School Attendance.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 16.—Governor Odell has signed the second of the important child labor bills passed by the present legislature. The first was the bill providing for the licensing of newsboys in cities of the first class. The second bill signed was the Hill-Finch bill regulating the labor of women and children in factories.

The bill forbids the employment in or in connection with any factory in this state of any child under sixteen (the present law forbids their employment at all under fourteen) without a certificate issued by the health authorities of the city or town showing his age and that he has attended school the equivalent of 130 days in the school year.

It limits the hours of employment of such children to fifty-four hours in any week and eight hours in any day and to the hours between 6 a. m. and 9 p. m. The presence of children in the factory in prohibited hours is to be prima facie evidence of violation of the law.

The hours of women are limited to the same hours of the day, but may be sixty hours in a week or ten hours in a day and longer only under special arrangement in order to shorten some other workday in the week.

The Rogers bill appropriating $50,000 to pay the expenses of Governor Odell, the members of his staff and a representation from the national guard attending the dedication of the Louisiana Purchase exposition buildings at St. Louis on April 30 and May 1 and 2 is before Governor Odell for approval and will undoubtedly be signed.

The heat which has characterized the battle over the so called fire insurance trust, the attack upon which has been lead during the last fortnight or so by Senator Brackett, reached a climax yesterday in the closing struggle of this year's campaign upon the subject, which ended with a defeat of the same character and dimensions as the previous ones, from each of which Senator Brackett arose, phœnixlike, to a new assault. It is unlikely that there will be a renewal of the question at this session.

A bill passed by the senate changes the close season for deer from Nov. 16 to Nov. 10 and extending to Aug. 31, both inclusive, and also provides that no person shall take more than one deer in an open season. The law formerly permitted the taking of two deer.

A caucus of the Republicans of the senate and assembly will be held in the assembly chamber tonight to select a candidate for regent of the university to succeed the late Martin I. Townsend of Troy. Charles S. Francis of Troy, former United States minister to Greece, will be the choice of the caucus.

Lowell Inquiry Closed.

LOWELL, Mass., April 16.—The taking of verbal testimony by the state board of arbitration and conciliation, which is investigating the textile situation here and the cause of the great strike, has been completed. Each side will submit statistics, arguments of counsel will be made, and the members of the board will inspect Lowell mills and a so called "model" mill in New Bedford or elsewhere. It is the claim of Lowell manufacturers that the "model" mill can afford to pay higher wages than the old style plants here. The operatives have put no verbal testimony, the "burden of proof" being placed on the mill agents who sought to show they could not afford a 10 per cent advance.

To Merge Railway Companies.

PHILADELPHIA, April 16.—The board of directors of the Lehigh Valley Railroad company has authorized President Thomas to proceed at once with the consolidation of the various lines owned and controlled by the company in New York and New Jersey. This action is to be taken for the purposes of concentration and economy in management and of obviating the necessity for separate boards of directors. One company in each state will manage the lines to be merged.

Whip Manufacturer Dead.

WESTFIELD, Mass., April 16.—Lewis Parker, aged sixty-two, one of the best known whip manufacturers in the country, is dead here of malaria. Mr. Parker had long been identified with the whip interests of the town and was treasurer of the United States Whip company, the largest concern of its kind in the world. His native town was Hopewell, N. Y.

Servian Conspirators Arrested.

VIENNA, April 16.—Colonel Ilic, commanding the Sixth regiment at Belgrade, with six other officers, have been arrested at Semlin, a Hungarian frontier town in Croatia-Slavonia, six miles from Belgrade, on the charge of conspiring against King Alexander of Servia, who submitted the arrested officers to a personal examination.

New Building For Virginia College.

LEXINGTON, Va., April 16.—Through the generosity of a Chicago philanthropist, whose name is withheld, Washington and Lee university is to have a science building estimated to cost nearly $40,000. Theodore C. Link, the St. Louis architect, was sent here by the donor and has selected the site and arranged other details.

VETOES 'PHONE FRANCHISE.

Shortly before the Central Jersey Telephone Company made an application for a franchise in this city, the same corporation applied for one in New Brunswick. The telephone war which followed the application in New Brunswick was a lively one. Finally the franchise was passed by the Common Council there by a vote of 7 to 6. The measure was rushed through at an unusual pace and there was considerable criticism of the Council for failing to advertise it properly. Now the Mayor has added a new complication to the fight by vetoing the franchise.

The veto is a lengthy document, covering ten typewritten pages. It takes the franchise ordinance section by section and analyses its scope. The veto is based on the ground that the franchise is too liberal to the company; that it does not provide for any remuneration to the city for the rights transferred to the company, and that it does not provide for sufficient restrictions as to opening streets and replacing the pavements disturbed to permit of the laying of underground conduits. Under the rules of the board the veto was laid over until the next regular meeting.

Just what will be the fate of the measure now is not known. If its friends hold together, they have a vote large enough to pass it over the Mayor's veto if they so desire. The Mayor seems to be in favor of a new telephone exchange if the franchise is granted under what he considers proper restrictions. The new company wants the same kind of a franchise as the New York and New Jersey Company possesses and objects to the provisions which the Mayor demands. New Brunswick's troubles with the new company will be watched with particular interest by Plainfield as a similar application is now before the local Common Council.

Despite the fact that there is now a State law which fixes the rates of speed and thereby wipes out the variety of local ordinances on the subject, no less a person than the worthy Attorney-General of this State was arrested in Madison last Sunday for violating the Madison ordinance. Even after Mr. McCarter explained who he was and pointed out the effect of the new State law, the local justice was firm and insisted that there had been a violation of the law and that a fine of $25 must be forthcoming. It so happened that Attorney-General McCarter didn't have $25 in his possession at the time and the justice, taking into consideration his official position, allowed him to go on the promise that the money should be sent over next day. It is said that Mr. McCarter is not going to contest the case on account of the notoriety it would bring. One would think that Mr. McCarter of all people should insist that the laws should be obeyed even if it did result in his name appearing in the newspapers several times.

Asbury Park now owns its own beach and a commission is ready to begin the work of putting it in condition for the summer season. It is generally expected that Asbury Park will now come to the fore with a number of new attractions although it may be another year before all the plans made can be carried to a successful culmination. When these plans are well under way, we may expect to see the Park come to the fore as a winter resort as well as a summer. Its inhabitants believe that it can successfully compete with Atlantic City and Lakewood when the winter comes round. With some needed improvements, Asbury Park ought to become the greatest shore resort in the neighborhood of New York.

Whatever may be said of his music, there isn't any doubt that Bandmaster Duss has excelled all his rivals for introducing novel features in connection with his band. Now he is planning to convert New York's greatest place of amusement, Madison Square Garden, into a summer home for his band. As a proper setting, the Garden is to be transformed into a representation of Venice and there will be a carnival of music there every afternoon and evening. It took Duss to think of such a scheme.

The Philadelphia Record tells of an advertiser, who has abandoned the use of booklets in favor of newspaper advertising exclusively and gives as his reason the fact that virtually everybody reads the newspapers, "but you cannot hire man, woman or child to read anything which is given away. People don't throw away a beautiful book or booklet, but they don't read it, either, unless they pay for it."

The season must have been similar to this one when the poet wrote "winter still lingers in the lap of spring." This year, however, the lingering is so long and persistent that it looks as if winter had sat down with intent to stay. Such a week with leaden skies, harsh winds and falling rain can properly be called North Easter week.

For the first time in years, the water was so high that the Newark line of the Jersey Central Railroad had to suspend operations. Occasionally the tides are so high as to flood the meadows but the railroad embankment usually escapes damage.

DUNELLEN.

The marriage of two well-known local young people took place last evening when Miss Virginia Belle Tunison and John Fenner were made man and wife. Miss Tunison is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Tunisen, of Glen Gardner, but has resided here part of her life. Mr. Fenner is a partner in the firm of Dealaman & Fenner, grocers. The ceremony was performed by Rev. N. J. Sproul, of the Presbyterian church, at the home of the bridegroom's aunt, Mrs. Van-Artsdale, where they will reside upon their return from a wedding trip to Washington, D. C. The bride was attended by Miss Bird, of Plainfield, and the best man was Clifford Fenner, a brother of the groom. The bride was simply, but becomingly attired in a traveling gown. The affair was a quiet one, only the relatives and intimate friends of the pair being present. The left on their wedding tour immediately after the ceremony.

The marriage took place last evening of Miss Esther Fleming, of Stevensburg, and Arthur J. Hamley, of this place, station master of the Central. CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning April 19—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—The sacred Sabbath.—Matt. xii, 1 and 13.

The Lord's day is one of the great facts of Christendom. Account for it; explain it. It is an effect; give us the cause. To do this brings us face to face with Jesus Christ and the resurrection. On that day all Christendom is at rest. Mills, factories and stores are closed. Why so different from other days? This is a twentieth century fact worthy of meditation.

The Sabbath is one of the oldest institutions. When the Decalogue was written, it simply referred to and confirmed an established institution, "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy."

Why was the day of rest and worship changed from the seventh day of the week to the first?

The seventh day Sabbath shared the sepulcher of Christ, but not His resurrection. One was the Sabbath of nature, the other the Sabbath of grace; one was the Sabbath of a rejected, crucified and buried Christ, the other the Sabbath of a risen and exalted Lord; one was the Creator's Sabbath, the other the Redeemer's Sabbath. The first day of the week Sabbath is one of the strongest proofs of Christ's resurrection. The disciples of Jesus had been bigoted Sabbatarians. They would have died to defend the seventh day Sabbath. Suddenly they change and by a silent revolution accept the Christian or first day of the week Sabbath. Some mighty influence must have been exerted. Why did they change? They tell us that it was because Christ rose from the dead on the first day of the week. He appeared to them again and again on the first day of the week and breathed on them the Spirit. The ascension and Pentecost occurred on the first day of the week. They must have understood Christ to teach by all this that the first day of the week was to be henceforth their holy day. Intuitively they abrogated the seventh day of the week and accepted the first day as the Christian Sabbath. The Sabbath we use is a witness of Christ's resurrection and will remain the day of worship until the end of the world.

The day is to be kept holy and free from secular employment.

1. Because God commands it. This day "was not smuggled into our calendar by a crafty church," as some other holy days have been, "nor is it sustained by designing priests." God made the Sabbath for man.

2. Because Christianity demands it. If you remove the Sabbath or secularize it, then the Bible becomes a sealed book, the gospel ceases to be proclaimed, churches are closed, mission doors shut, the people cease to worship, and the world returns to heathenism.

3. Because man's constitution demands one day in seven for rest. Aside from the gift of God's beloved Son, heaven never bestowed a greater blessing on a race of toilers than a Sabbath of rest. People who can rest when they please may not appreciate it, but the great mass of humanity are in the ceaseless grind of toil. Remove this day of rest, and life becomes a desert without an oasis. The Sabbath of rest is the workingman's inalienable, heaven born right, and no human institution has a right to take it from him.

In America secularism is threatening the holy day. If saloons and candy and cigar shops are permitted to remain open on the Sabbath, why have not all stores the same right? If newspapers, steamships, electric and steam cars are allowed to operate on the Sabbath, why not the mills and factories, the mines and farms? If secularism continues, as it likely will, man will be forced to labor seven days in the week, with no day of rest, and the nation will surely deteriorate. Continental Europe has no Sabbath, and look at her mental and moral degradation. All Christians should sustain the sacredness of the Sabbath by word and by life.

Endeavor.

Though the difficulties throng,
And the struggle may be long,
And the power of evil strong,
Hope on.
For to patient, brave endeavor
Cometh utter failure never,
And the crown at last forever
Shall be won.

The Pastors' Verdict.

The verdict of an army of pastors at a recent international convention was that where there are Christian Endeavor societies there is intense loyalty to the Sunday and midweek church meetings.

A Big Convention.

The last New York state convention at Troy had a registration of more than 3,000 delegates.

AN ORDINANCE

to Appropriate and Borrow Money, and to Secure the Re-payment Thereof by the Issue of School Bonds, for the Purchase of Lands and Erecting a School House in the City of Plainfield.

WHEREAS, The Board of Education of the City of Plainfield has decided by resolution that it is necessary to raise money for the purchase of lands for school purposes and for erecting a school house in the City of Plainfield, and has prepared and delivered to each member of the Board of School Estimate of said City a statement of the amount of money estimated to be necessary for said purposes, which it has estimated to be One Hundred and Twenty-Five Thousand Dollars; and

WHEREAS, The said Board of School Estimate of the City of Plainfield has fixed and determined the said sum of One Hundred and Twenty-Five Thousand Dollars as the amount necessary for said purposes, and has made two certificates for such amount, one of which has been delivered to the said Board of Education, and the other to the Common Council of said City; and

WHEREAS, Said Common Council has, by resolution, appropriated the sum of One Hundred and Twenty-Five Thousand Dollars for such purposes, and has directed that the said sum shall be raised and borrowed for the purposes aforesaid, by the issuing of bonds in the corporate name of the said City, bearing interest at the rate of four per centum per annum, which resolution was duly approved by the Mayor of said City; and

WHEREAS, The total amount of bonds for school purposes, including bonds heretofore issued for such purposes, and not redeemed, do not exceed an amount or sum equal to three per centum of the taxable valuation of the real and personal property in said City; now, therefore,

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That for the purpose of purchasing necessary land for school purposes and erecting a school house in said City, in conformity with the resolution of the Board of Education of the City of Plainfield, and the estimate of the Board of School Estimate of said City, in accordance with the certificate of the said Board of School Estimate, which has been delivered to the Common Council as required by law, the said sum of One Hundred and Twenty-Five Thousand Dollars be, and is, hereby appropriated for the purposes aforesaid, and that the said sum shall be raised and borrowed for said purposes by the issuing of bonds in the corporate name of the said City, which bonds shall be each of the denomination of One Thousand Dollars, and in the form annexed to, and approved by resolution of the Common Council before referred to, which form is now on file in the office of the City Clerk of the said City of Plainfield, the first sixty of which bonds shall bear date the first day of June, one thousand nine hundred and three, and the others the first day of March, one thousand nine hundred and four, all payable in gold coin of the United States of the present standard of weight and fineness, and which bonds shall bear interest at the rate of four per centum per annum. In order to equalize as nearly as may be, the annual assessment of taxes for payment of the principal of school bonds, regard being had to school bonds now outstanding, as well as those hereby authorized, the bonds hereby authorized shall be made to mature as follows: On September first, one thousand nine hundred and twelve, three bonds; on the first days of March of each year from one thousand nine hundred and thirteen to one thousand nine hundred and sixteen, both inclusive, five bonds; and the remaining bonds necessary to be issued to raise the balance of the sum of One Hundred and Twenty-Five Thousand Dollars, shall be made payable in such manner that an equal number, as nearly as may be, shall mature on the first days of March of each and every year from one thousand nine hundred and seventeen to one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three, both inclusive.

Sec. 2. That the proceeds of the sale of said bonds shall be deposited with the custodian of school moneys of said school district, and shall be paid out only on the warrants or orders of the Board of Education of the City of Plainfield, as provided by law.

Sec. 3. That for the purpose of meeting the principal and interest on the bonds hereby authorized, as the same may mature, there shall be assessed and collected each year by taxation, as other taxes are assessed and collected, a sum sufficient to meet the principal and interest maturing during each year.

J., at a meeting held April 6, 1903, notice is hereby given that the Board of Education will meet on Monday evening, May 4, 1903, at 7:45, at the Board room in the Stillman School corner of West Fifth street and Arlington avenue, in the City of Plainfield, at which time and place said Board of Education will receive sealed proposals for furnishing five hundred tons, more or less, of coal for steam and hot air heating, in pea, No. 1 chestnut, stove and egg sizes, all coal to be thoroughly screened, trimmed and placed in the bins within the public school buildings without any extra expense to the Board for such handling, and to be delivered at such times as the Board may direct. Topic For the Week Beginning April 19, "Four Red Flags"—Text, Rom. xii, 16; Prov. vi, 34; Phil. ii, 3.

The chief difference between an egotist and a wise man is that one thinks he knows a great deal, and the other thinks there is a great deal which he does not know.

The dangers in self conceit are various. If one thinks he knows much, he will be apt to close his eyes to what he does not know and think it of little account when, in fact, it may be far more important than all he has learned. Again, he will be quite likely to look contemptuously on those whom he rates as less learned than himself and in despising them fail to gain friendships of great value. His conceit will lead him to make false estimates of himself and his knowledge and so lead him into embarrassments and perhaps dangers which a juster view of matters would have led him to avoid. Self conceit makes one ridiculous, uncompanionable and unreliable.

2. Prejudice. "Be of the same mind one toward another." John Wesley rendered this, "Agree to the same affection toward each other."

This danger signal follows close after the previous one of self conceit. That danger lies in misjudging oneself; this lies in misjudging others. It is fatal to all fraternity and destroys the base of unity and is utterly un-Christian. "Judge not that ye be not judged" is the Master's way of stating the warning. What skill it needs to rightly estimate others at their true value! Rather let us say what love it needs to esteem others as they deserve! The common lack is in ourselves and not in others. They are more worthy than we think. Prejudice jaundices the judgment. The disease is in us. Beware of prejudice!

3. Jealousy. "Jealousy is the rage of a man. He will not spare in the day of vengeance; he will not regard any ransom."

This lies the next station beyond prejudice. Dislike has risen to anger and hatred. The vision is not now distorted, but resentment has blinded sight. This is a torment of hell. The soul that feels jealousy has reached the antithesis of love. "Jealousy is cruel as sheol; the flashes thereof are flashes of fire." Who passes this danger flag rushes to ruin. Yet what liability the common affairs of life give for jealousy unless the warning is heeded in time! A little self conceit switches us from the main track, some petty prejudice throws us still farther over, and the first thing any one knows we are on the track of jealousy and far from the road of righteousness and love.

4. Reckless handling of another's name. "Speak not evil one of another." Is not this caution often neglected? With what carelessness are incidents related to the injury of the absent one! The itching tongue is responsible for much of it. We must talk to be sociable and be thought witty, and "in the multitude of words there wanteth not sin." Let a watch upon thy lips. Better still, let thy heart be pure and right with God. Then shall these signals guide to safety.

Cheerfulness and Success.

The world is beginning to see that people who can radiate sunshine and carry gladness and good cheer wherever they go, although they may be poor, are of infinitely greater value to society than the millionaire of money who pauperizes everybody who comes in contact with him by his close, oppressive methods. Largeness of heart and generosity of soul make millionaires of character, who are worth more to the world than mere moneyed millionaires. The time will yet come when we shall not have to depend on rich furnishings. Character will become so enriched in the upward growth of the world that the surroundings, however costly, will be considered but a cheap setting of a precious life stone. Cheerfulness is a potent factor of success.—Friend.

The Only Enduring Grandeur.

Moral power is the only enduring grandeur. It is the power that grows in the dark, in the years of unpaid labor and unrequited pain, and that, unobserved, indefatigable, survives the fret and storm of life. God searches through the years, carefully picks out and burnishes the heroic. All else He brushes into oblivion. Into the tissue of this mighty, august humanity enters the long tried patience that cries not that meekly endures, and, unseen, unrequited, does its brave work.—Rev. C. F. Bradley.

For Good or Evil.

On trifles that seem light as air deep and farreaching issues are hung. A word, a smile, a frown, a moment's hesitation, a thoughtless step—who can tell what destinies shall turn on them? For this reason God has determined that men shall give account in the day of judgment for every idle word they shall speak. An idle word may be a potent word for good or evil.—Lutheran.

One Value of Work.

Thank God every morning when you get up that you have something to do that day which must be done whether you like it or not. Being forced to work and forced to do your best will breed in you temperance and self control, diligence and strength of will, cheerfulness and content and a hundred virtues which the idle will never know.—Charles Kingsley.

Salvation.

Salvation is as great as is the distance between the eternal and the perishable, the omnipotent and the feeble, immortality and death.—Religious Telescope.

[Copyright, 1900, by A. N. Kellogg Newspaper Co.]

"Now, your honor," said Redding, "I want to have the state's witness, Mr. Thad Williams, called to the stand. I understand he is prepared to swear that Syd Hart told 'im jest before he expired that my client not only shot 'im, but that he attacked 'im first. I want to help 'im consign himself to the penitentiary for perjury."

The solicitor, after all, took defeat gracefully. He shrugged his broad shoulders at this and broke into a laugh.

"You are welcome to Thad as a witness, Brother Redding," he said. "We don't want to hear from him any more."

Thad Williams looked like a moving corpse as he stood up.

"I hain't swore a thing yet, as I know of," he faltered, amid laughter all over the room. "I reckon I can talk as much as I want to when I hain't kissed the Book."

"What I want you to do," said Redding, his sharp eyes bent on the gaunt, coatless witness, "is to clear my client's reputation of all the lies you have told to-day."

"You'd better tell a straight story, Thad," smiled the solicitor. "If you will, I'll forgive you for the way you took me in."

"I'm willin' to tell all I know," consented Williams. "I don't want no trouble. I've got a wife and six children to support."

Williams was then put under oath, and confessed that Syd had said that he had shot himself while trying to hold his horse in check, the animal being thoroughly frightened by the firing. Thad showed the court how his friend had evidently tried to hold the reins and revolver in the same hand, and how it had been discharged by striking its hammer against the pummel of the saddle.

"I wouldn't a-tried to testify ag'in Fanshaw," he added, "if Syd hadn't axed me to revenge his death."

When the witness had sat down amid a storm of hisses from the rear of the room and in the crowded hallway adjoining, the solicitor rose.

"Your honor," he began, "the state has not a shadow of a case, and I want to ask you to dismiss it. When I think how near I came to using my efforts towards the conviction of one of the most prominent young men in this state—when I think how near I came to being the tool of the unprincipled scamp on my right, I feel, I say, like thanking God for my escape. I want to be the first to congratulate Mr. Fanshaw, to beg his pardon with all my heart and to wish him all success in the legal profession, to which, I understand, he is a brilliant candidate."

The house bellowed with applause as the solicitor crossed over and grasped Ronald's hand. A look of dissatisfaction clouded Capt. Winkle's face, and Col. Hasbrooke, with an inexplicable expression, was seen worming his way towards the door through the now standing crowd.

The sheriff, when the case had been formally thrown out of court, sprang upon a bench and pounded another with his walking stick.

"Boys," he bellowed, "I driv' Mr. Fanshaw into town in my turnout, an' I want the honor o' takin' 'im back the same way."

Ronald, in the midst of a surging throng eager to grasp his hand, looked over their heads and nodded to Ratcliff. When the crowd was thinning somewhat he found Dave at his elbow. Dust had accumulated on the rough fellow's cheeks, and through it were the damp tracks of tears. The hand he gave his brother was cold and quivered.

"I don't want to do anything 'thout consultin' you, Ron," he began, "so I thought I would ax you about Thad Williams."

"What about him?" questioned Ronald, mystified.

Dave drew him out of earshot of the others.

"I don't think I can ever respect myself," he said, with a gulp, "if I don't call 'im to account for the way he's done you. Ron, I have got to fight 'im—thar hain't no two ways about it. I'm armed, an' so is he. If I don't turn up home to-night, tell 'em—"

His brother laid both of his hands on his shoulders.

"I'd rather you would not, Dave," he said. "This must end the whole thing. You must not put yourself into the jail from which I have escaped."

"Ron, I'd ruther die than let that triflin' skunk—"

But Ronald would not listen to him, and in a few minutes persuaded him to drop his desire for revenge.

CHAPTER XVI.

It was about six o'clock that afternoon when the sheriff put Ronald down at home. Dave had ridden close behind the buggy all the way. Now and then, when passing some acquaintance on the road or in a distant field, he would wave his slouched hat and give a yell that would have done credit to the lungs of a savage. When they arrived at home he fastened the bridle reins to a post and sprang over the fence into the yard. Old Fanshaw sat nodding, half asleep, on the porch in a spot where the last rays of the slanting sunlight were falling; he was well wrapped up in a ragged greatcoat and wore a cap, the flaps of which covered his ears.

"Here's come cleer!" Dave shouted to Mammy and seeing his sister at the small-paned window, he yelled the same words to her.

"I know better," grunted Fanshaw, who, being short-sighted, had not noted the arrival of the buggy. "Come cleer the devil!"

"Well, thar he is out thar with Ratcliff," Dave assured him. "Ax the sheriff, if you think I'm a-lyin'."

With a hand on either side of his chair, the old man got to his feet. His legs shook at the knees, and he put his hand on the railing. Then he saw Ronald approaching, and he stood still, his features working strangely.

"What's this I heer?" he stammered, his few remaining teeth showing between his tobacco-stained lips.

"It was proved that he killed himself accidentally with his own revolver," our hero informed him.

"Huh, it is jest some lawyer's trick!" growled the man, who had not felt enough interest in the matter to attend the trial, and he tottered down the steps calling in a sort of human bark to Ratcliff, who was driving away. He was bent on getting a confirmation of the story from some one outside of his family.

Ronald passed into the house and went up to his room. His heart, despite his recent triumph, was beginning to feel heavy again. No sooner was he assured of freedom than dire thoughts of Evelyn came flocking to his wearied brain. He was free, it was true, but she had, no doubt, brought her father's wrath down upon her head. He stood at a window watching the sunlight climb up the side of a rugged cliff a mile toward the east. He heard the shrill voice of Ann Josephine out near the corn house.

Plainfield People Receiving the Full Benefit.

There have been many cases like the following in Plainfield. Everyone relates the experience of people we know. These plain straight-forward statements will do much toward relieving the suffering of thousands. Such testimony will be read with interest by many people.

Mrs. M. A. Hall, of 219 Prescott place, says: "For several years I had a dull aching pain across my back, at times extending to my hips. I was compelled to lie in just one position all night and stooping, lifting or bending forward aggravated the pain. Although I used different remedies that were recommended to me I obtained little if any relief. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills highly endorsed in our daily papers and procured a box at L. W. Randolph's drug store. It was not long before I felt great relief and I was surprised how quickly the pain in my back disappeared."

BANDITS SHUN BATTLE.

Albay Campaign a Failure—Cholera Attacks Pershing's Men.

MANILA, April 16.—The campaign against the bandits in the province of Albay has proved unsuccessful, the leader of the ladrones, named Toledo, evading a fight with the American forces. The government is preparing to organize another movement. Three hundred and fifty scouts and constabulary are now following Toledo's band, and it is intended to increase this force. The concentration system in central Albay is still effective.

Cholera has attacked Captain Pershing's troops, who are operating against the Moros in the island of Mindanao. Five cases and many suspected cases are reported. It is supposed the disease was contracted near Bacolod, which Captain Pershing's force captured April 8. The sick have been sent to the hospital at Camp Vicars.

The government will award a contract to furnish 10,000 carabous to restock the plantations. It intends to sell these animals to the planters at cost price and to expend half the gift of $3,000,000 voted by congress in restocking the farms.

Aguinaldo Ordered Killing of Otis.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—While examining an immense quantity of papers captured from the Filipino insurgents Captain John R. M. Taylor of the Fourteenth infantry, acting under the direction of Colonel Edwards of the department of insular affairs, a few days ago discovered a remarkable document indorsed on the back with a direction to kill General Otis. That indorsement, Captain Taylor insists, is in the handwriting of Aguinaldo, the insurgent chief. Captain Taylor called the attention of the chief of the bureau of insular affairs to this document in an explanatory letter.

PENNSYLVANIA LEGISLATURE.

Final Adjournment Taken at Noon. Quiet Closing Scenes.

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 16.—The legislative session of 1903 closed for all practical purposes at midnight. The calendars of the senate and house were cleared, and there was very little business transacted at today's session. The chambers of the two houses were crowded with spectators to witness the closing scenes of the session. The feature of today's session of the house was the customary presentation of gifts to the speaker and the other officers.

The general appropriation bill, which carries items aggregating $19,500,000 for the payment of the current expenses of the state government for the next two years, was disposed of and sent to the governor.

In the closing hours of the house the bill creating a state department of labor was killed, and a bill was passed for the retirement of invalided judges on full pay.

In both houses the reports of conference committees on a large number of appropriation bills were adopted and the amendments made by the two houses concurred in. The closing hours were marked by a general good feeling among the members of both bodies and the horseplay characteristic of the last moments of previous sessions. Both bodies adjourned finally at noon.

Sunday School Lessons For 1905.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The Sunday school lesson committee in session here has settled the complete lesson course for the year 1905. For six months of the year the lessons are to be from the gospels and the remaining six months from the Old Testament. A topically arranged two years' course for beginners for children from four to six years was also determined on. It will be a permanent institution and will apply to the Sunday schools for the United States and Canada. The next annual meeting of the committee will be held in Buffalo the last week in June, 1904.

President Palma's Reception.

HAVANA, April 16.—The palace presented a brilliant scene last night on the occasion of the second presidential reception since the inauguration of the government. The issuance of invitations, amounting to nearly 2,000, brought a great throng. All the legations and consulates were represented by the ministers, consuls, secretaries and their families. The chief officers of the United States artillery corps were among the guests. Practically the whole of Havana's best society, Cuban, Spanish and American, was present.

The Pope's Health Perfect.

ROME, April 16.—Dr. Lapponi says that he has not vetoed any celebration on April 28, when his holiness will reach the age of St. Peter, as no celebration was ever proposed for that date, the pope thinking that the jubilee festivities just finished were quite enough. Dr. Lapponi added that the health of the pontiff was now perfect, considering his age, and if nothing unforeseen happens he thinks that Pope Leo will live to be at least a centenarian.

A Centenarian Dead.

BALTIMORE, April 16.—Mrs. Susannah Knause is dead here of pneumonia, aged 101 years. She came to Baltimore from Germany with her parents more than eighty years ago. Until within the past few years Mrs. Knause enjoyed all her faculties. A peculiar incident of her declining years was that she forgot the English language and was compelled to use her native German tongue in conversation.

BUSINESS MEN PLAY OTHER BUSINESS MEN

Thrilling Basket Ball Game Held in Y. M. C. A. Gymnasium in Afternoon.

WAS FIRST OF A SERIES

REGULAR TEAM SUCCEEDS IN DEFEATING THE "INVINCIBLES."

Superior Team Play Does the Trick After a Hotly Contested Game—Score Stands 30 to 12 for the Regular Team.

Rivalry among the members of the business men's class at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium resulted in a thrilling basket ball game yesterday afternoon. The regular Business Men's team played a five, called the "Invincibles," arranged for the occasion, and defeated it by a score of 30 to 12. While the score sounds rather one-sided, the game was one of the most hotly contested ever played in the gym.

It was by superior team play that the regular Business Men won. At the start the play was very close and the Invincibles managed to get a lead by two points. The regulars settled down to work, however, and steadily carried the ball up to their goal. After a half full of excitement, the first one closed with the score 10 to 5, in favor of the Business Men.

Both sides scored oftener in the second half but the clever team play gave the regulars more frequent opportunities. The goal throwing on both sides was not very accurate. Paul Whitford played the fastest game for the Business Men and did some very clever work. Egan, who is one of the best centres in the city, was a tower of strength for the Invincibles. Everybody was surprised by the aggressive game of Rev. Geo. B. Shaw at guard. But for his clever work, the regulars would have doubled their score. In the second half he collided with somebody's elbow and had to retire. His departure was felt by the Invincibles.

This was supposed to be the first of a series of three games. While it is not certain that the series will be completed, both sides are rather anxious for another meeting.

The teams lined up as follows:

Business Men.		Invincibles.
Whitford, P.	right forward	Dr. Whitford
Spicer	center	Egan
Clark	right guard	Emmons, Whitraub
Browning	left guard	Shaw, Whitraub

Score — Business Men, 30; Invincibles, 12. Goals from the field—Paul Whitford (4), Doane (3), Spicer (5), Clark, Janes, Egan (3). Goals on fouls — Doane (4), Janes (3). Egan. Fouls — Business Men, 10; Invincibles, 9. Referee—Charles B. Morse. Umpires—E. P. T. Smith and C. H. A. Heywood. Timekeepers—H. Cathers and Geo. Pope. Scorer—Bert Brokaw.

On Saengerbund Alley.

Bowling was enjoyed last evening at the Saengerbund Hall by the members of the Gesang and Turn Verein and some good scores were made. This afternoon the members of the women's section will bowl when a general social time will be enjoyed.

Spoke at Anniversary.

Assemblyman William Newcorn was one of the speakers at the anniversary meeting of Opechee Tribe, Improved Order Red Men, of Elizabeth, held last evening. He spoke before a large audience on the subject of the orphans' fund.

GUARANTEED.

That word means something, when it is backed by the $5,000,000 capital and surplus of the

FIDELITY TRUST COMPANY.

It means for you an easy mind if you have one of those guarantees covering the title to your premises.
The man, who does business the way it was done a generation ago, is surely on the road to failure. This is an age of progress. There has been progress in methods of conveyancing as well as in other lines. Out of the need for something less uncertain than a lawyer's certificate and a lawyer's responsibility, has grown up the system of policies of insurance, or guarantees of title by companies with large capital and a force, specially trained in the work.
There is none better in this line than

THE FIDELITY TRUST COMPANY OF NEWARK, N. J.

It has an agency at Elizabeth for conducting Union County business. Rates will be given on application at its office, No. 215 Broad Street, and an investigation of its resources and methods is invited.

PARKS STILL HOLD THE WHIST TROPHY

Defeated Elizabeth Chess and Whist Club for Metropolitan Trophy Last Evening.

PLAYED A STRONG GAME

NEXT CHALLENGERS ARE FROM THE COSMOPOLITAN WHIST CLUB.

Last Night's Match Was Won by a Score of 13 to 5, in Favor of the Parks—Is Seventh Consecutive Win for the Local Club.

The Metropolitan challenge whist trophy will remain in Plainfield awhile longer. Last evening the veteran Park Club four won its seventh consecutive match from the challengers, the Elizabeth Chess and Whist Club team. It was one of the best games yet played by the holders this season. The final score was 13 to 6 in favor of the Parks. It is safe to say that if the holders had put up such a game a few weeks ago with the Brooklyn Whist Club there would not have been a tie score and the necessity of playing another round. The Parks played their same strong conservative game and very few tricks were dropped by them.

The holders took the first round 5 to 1 and the second 6 to 0, while the challengers won the last round 5 to 2, making the total score 13 to 6. At no time during the progress of the match were the visitors able to overcome the strong playing of their opponents.

The famous Cosmopolitan Whist Club is next on the list as challenger and this match will be played at the Park Club Thursday evening, April 23. If the holders win this match, they will then again have the pleasure of meeting the Camera Club players from whom they took the cup seven weeks ago. With next Thursday's game the Parks will have completed the circuit of the clubs.

The original four, Samuel Townsend, captain; S. St. John McCutchen, George T. Rogers and Joseph H. Howell, represented the Parks, last evening, while Mahlon Morey, W. F. B. Walker, Hugh Nelson and W. J. Lane represented the Elizabeth Chess and Whist Club.

LIVELY WEEK AT CASINO.

This Has Been the Busiest in a Long Time.

The months of March and April have been to the Casino the busiest it has had in a long time. Hardly a night has passed in that time without some sort of affair taking place within its walls and many applications for rental have had to be refused. As an example, on Monday night of this week the society cotillion took place; Tuesday evening, the Leal's School amateur dramatics held the boards for the final rehearsal of "Gloriana;" Wednesday evening Company K had its final military dance; last evening "Gloriana" was presented and two other affairs are scheduled for this and tomorrow evenings. Manager Edwards has other bookings which will continue the season well into the summer.

"Gospel Nightingale."

Miss Grace Hildebrand, who is known as the "Gospel Nightingale," will sing at the Y. M. C. A. men's meeting at Association Hall, Sunday afternoon. Miss Hildebrand needs no introduction to Plainfield people as she sang several selections at the Y. M. C. A. anniversary exercises at the First Presbyterian church last fall.

Gun Club Dance.

The dance committee of the Independent Gun Club will meet Monday evening when the final arrangements will be made for the dance which is to be held on the evening of May 4. At the meeting the scores made at the recent shoot of the club will be scheduled. The next shoot of the club will be held on Decoration Day.

Masons to Return to Old Quarters.

The various Masonic societies in the city are making great preparations for the return to their new headquarters in the Babcock building. According to the plans the banquet room will be on the fourth floor and will be more convenient than the old arrangement before the fire.

Attractive Dwelling.

Charles L. Moffett's new house on Park avenue south of Randolph road is nearing completion. It is an attractive dwelling and it is understood that others of a similar style will be erected in the vicinity during the summer.

NOW OBSERVING PASSOVER

MOST SACRED OF JEWISH FEASTS IS NOW IN PROGRESS.

Began Last Saturday Evening and Continues Until Sunday Night at Sundown.

The official observance of the Feast of the Passover among the Jews in every part of the world began last Saturday evening, at sundown, and in Plainfield, as elsewhere, special services were held in the synagogue and homes of the people of that faith. For seven days this feast continues, until sundown Sunday, and during that time the faithful of Israel, whether orthodox or reformed, are bound by special regulations their religion has prescribed for the Passover week.

Among feasts held by the Jews the Passover is the most distinctively characteristic of the race and its history. It is commemorative of the first Passover, which marked their beginning as an independent people. Up to that time they were scattered and disorganized slaves of Egypt. Recalling as it does their deliverance under Moses and Aaron, through the direct agency of the Almighty, the Passover is held as one of the most sacred among Jewish feasts.

Although the Passover lasts for a week, the strict observance falls on the first and last days. The services in the synagogue Saturday night were in the nature of a welcoming of the feast and a hearty voicing of thanks that the worshipers had been spared to take part in another Passover observance. Each loyal Jew feels that he has a personal interest in the Passover, as commemorative of what God did for his forefathers in the land of bondage, and as a symbol of gratitude for the blessings he himself has received from the Almighty hand.

An unusual coincidence this year, and one which happens contrary to a pre-arranged plan, is the fact that Easter and the first day of the Passover week fall on the same date, the first time in 78 years.

GREAT SUCCESS MADE BY SCHOOL DRAMATICS

Leal's School Boys' Presented Comedy "Gloriana" at the Casino Last Evening.

THE HALL WAS PACKED

SOME CLEVER ACTING BY THOSE WHO PLAYED PARTS OF WOMEN.

Some Funny Situations Were Well Brought Out by the School Boys—Showed Talent and Careful Training—The Entire Cast.

Before a crowded house the members of Leal's School of this city again produced the clever farce-comedy "Gloriana" last evening at the Casino which was filled to its greatest capacity. The boys gave the play even better than they did on the day before. With the careful training which they received from Mr. Smith, one of the instructors at the school, and the rehearsal of Wednesday, they were able to carry out their parts cleverly.

The play is adapted from the French of "Chivot and Duru" by James Mortimer, and is a story embracing several fascinating love stories with bright situations throughout. The entire play was portrayed by the boys. Even the roles of the women in the play were carried by members of the school and so well did they take their parts that their deep voices were only the fault in their acting.

"Gloriana," the title role was carried by Effingham A. Pinto. He appeared in a dazzling white gown with a large feather boa thrown carelessly across his shoulders. His carriage and manner on the stage corresponded admirably with the part he took and he was loudly applauded. "Jessie Chadwick," the daughter of Timothy Chadwick, a wealthy tanner, was represented by J. Hartley Mellick. His part was to be loved by "Fitz Jocelyn," of the Foreign office. This most difficult role was admirably carried out, especially in the part where he appears in a magnificent white satin bridal gown with a long streaming veil. "Kitty," Mrs. Lovering's maid, was one of the best played roles on the stage. That part was taken admirably by Dudley H. Barrows.

"Leopold Fitz Jocelyn," of the Foreign office, who loves "Jessie Chadwick," the tanner's daughter, was played by Gordon W. Abbott. He kept the house in an uproar of laughter from beginning to end by his ready schemes which he put into play to avoid "Gloriana" who loved him but whose love was not requited. He scored one of the hits of the evening.

Charles S. Robert, attired in a wig of white hair with side whiskers and dignified bearing, represented "Timothy Chadwick." The difficult task of impersonating an elderly gentleman of rather pompus bearing was carried out with skill which gave the part naturalness and life. He was loudly encored throughout. "Count Evitoff," the Russian diplomat with his bows and handshakes for his colleague, was represented by Lesley W. Hallock with rare skill. This was, without doubt one of the most difficult roles of the play but it was carried with a care for detail which is uncommon in amateur players. Two soldiers of the Russian arm, "Baron Kronikoff" and "Major Stonidoff," who were called in to serve as seconds in a duel which "Count Evitoff" wished to fight with "Fitz Jocelyn's" valet, were represented by Lucius H. Biglow 3d, and Richard L. Lowell. Perfectly trained in military bearing and discipline caricatured, they brought forth much laughter and took their parts very cleverly.

"Spinks," the general Irish valet of "Fitz Jocelyn," was the soul of wit throughout the entire performance. Francis A. Martin, in this role, was exceptionally clever while "Richard," Mrs. Lovering's servant, in his neat little costume of green livery and brass buttons, which part was carried by Percy A. Chapman, won loud applause and was the cause of much laughter for his bright and witty manner.

During the performance ushers passed hugh bouquets of flowers over the footlights to the performers. The gifts were from friends in the audience. Every one who took part in the performance received a bouquet, which consisted of American beauty roses.

The audience was seated without any confusion by a corps of ushers under the supervision of R. A.

COLLEGE BOYS DID WELL

WESLEYAN'S GLEE AND MANDOLIN CLUBS GAVE CONCERT.

At Monroe Avenue M. E. Church Under the Auspices of the Young Men's Association.

Vocal and instrumental music of a high order were furnished to a large audience at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, last evening, when the Wesleyan University Glee and Mandolin Clubs made their initial bow to Plainfielders. Each organization is composed of young men highly talented and the concert they furnished was equal to, if not superior to anything of a like nature given in the city.

The clubs alternated in occupying the platform and the result was a most pleasing programme. College songs predominated in the number from the vocalists while the mandolin players rendered many selections from present New York musical successes.

The affair was given under the auspices of the Young Men's Association and the following committee had immediate charge: Adam Neuman, Ernest Brouard, Harry Pound, Jerome Kline and William Ackerman.

LOTS OF SMOKE.

Borough Fire Department Called Out to Extinguish a Supposed Blaze.

Box No. 142 of the borough fire alarm system was rung in this morning and called out the entire borough department for a fire in the cellar of the house occupied by Frank B. Berry at 40 Grove street at the corner of Craig place.

Mrs. Berry discovered the cellar full of smoke but could not discover from whence it came. She telephoned to the store of William Debele on Somerset street and John Doud, the sub-station postmaster turned in an alarm from box 142 at the corner of Somerset street and Manning avenue. The fire was out before the apparatus arrived. It was discovered by Fireman Harry Bennett, who went to the house with an extinguisher, that the smoke was caused by hot coal in a barrel of papers. No damage was done.

STAFF BAND EXPECTED.

A. afternoon meeting and will again be in evidence at the Sunday evening meeting in the Army hall. Colonel and Mrs. Gifford, of New York, will be in charge of the musicians.

TO HIGHEST COURT.

State Council of Juniors Has Appealed the VanAlsytyne Case.

In the case of the relatives of the late Harry B. VanAlstyne against Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., for the payment of death benefits, which it was supposed had been settled by the last decision of the Supreme Court, has been taken up to the Court of Errors and Appeal. It is the purpose of the State Council, of the Jr. O. U. A. M., which in reality is defending the suit, to determine beyond all future question, whether the bylaws and constitution of the order will hold good. If they will not the Council wants to know it so that there may be changes. For this purpose the case will be taken to the highest court.

Mayor Fagan will be invited to open the convention and attend the banquet.

Adam Dorber, of East Fifth street, returned home this morning, after a two weeks' business trip to Boston and New England towns.

AN OLD-FASHIONED SCHOOL

WAS THE CHIEF FEATURE OF A KING'S DAUGHTERS SOCIAL.

Held Last Evening at Home of Miss Adelia Runyon, of West Fourth Street.

A silver offering social under the auspices of Whatsoever Circle, of King's Daughters, of the Park Avenue Baptist church, was held last evening at the home of Miss Adelia Runyon, 411 West Fourth street. A unique part of the affair was an old-fashioned school in which thirty persons took part as scholars. They dressed in the costumes of long ago, which added greatly to the interest of the occasion. The scholars sat on plank boards which rested on soap boxes.

The dining room of the house was used as a school room and here were placed on the walls large maps, blackboards, etc. The sitting room was used as a cloakroom, while the parlors were turned into a play-ground. Before school opened, the scholars spent the time playing "Little Sally Waters," "Oat and Beans and Barley Grows," etc. Lunches were put up in true school-child-fashion and this caused no end of fun. Morning and afternoon sessions of the school were held, the morning session being devoted to spelling, reading, geography and drawing classes. In the afternoon session there were recitations and it being "Friday afternoon" lessons were suspended and visitors came to the school to hear the scholars recite. The playing of games in the playground concluded the afternoon session. Miss Florence G. Hawkins acted as teacher of the school and she, as well as the others taking part, assisted largely in making an evening of great pleasure for all.

DOCKED AT LAST.

Patrolman Saunders Had His Troubles in Landing Prisoner in City Jail.

Mrs. Annie Marando, of Scotch Plains, corpulent and liquor saturated, ran afoul of Patrolman Saunders while tacking along Front street, last evening. The latter took her in tow but despite his own massive tonnage was unable to make any headway with the dead weight astern. It was only under the pretext of getting her to safe port that Annie was finally coaxed to police headquarters and docked for the night.

This morning she related a hard luck story, interspersed with a lachrymal exhibition that resembled a miniature Niagara and secured discharge papers from City Judge Runyon.

J., was taken suddenly ill a few days ago and died yesterday afternoon at his son's home at 963 West Fourth street. The cause of death is ascribed to general debility and old age. He is survived by one son, George, a motor man, at whose home he was visiting. He has lived for years at Lebanon and was a prosperous farmer.

The remains will be shipped to Lebanon and the funeral will be held from his home there at 3 o'clock, Monday afternoon. The interment will be in the Lebanon cemetery.

ENTERTAIN TO HELP THE KITCHEN FUND

Ladies' Aid Society of First Presbyterian Church Gives Entertainment and Sale.

LARGE CROWD PRESENT

MUSIC AND RECITATIONS MADE UP THE EVENING'S PROGRAMME.

Sale Follows the Entertainment—Those in Charge of the Different Tables—Goodly Sum of Money Is Realized From the Affair.

Under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the First Presbyterian church, a sale and entertainment was held in the chapel last evening, the proceeds of which were placed in the kitchen fund. The affair attracted a large number of people, the chapel being filled to overflowing with members of the church and congregation. As a result a goodly sum of money was realized.

The programme was opened with a number of popular selections by Miss Alberta E. Waterbury, piano; Rev. C. E. Herring and Dyckman Winckler, violins, after which Miss Waterbury rendered a piano solo. This was followed with an amusing pantomime, "Courting Under Difficulties," by Miss Ethel Boice, Miss Mary Wilson and Newell Karner. After a contralto solo by Mrs. Stephen H. Tugwell, Miss Ursula Krewson recited "Black Nance," in a clever manner. Another pantomime, "Nearer My God to Thee," was given by Miss Dewey, while the verses of the hymn were sung by Mrs. Tugwell.

Interspersing these numbers were illustrated songs by Elmer D. Cutting, accompanied on the piano by Clifford A. Braider. Mr. Cutting gave four selections in his usual acceptable manner. This concluded the entertainment, and those present then turned their attention to the booths where various things were sold.

Mrs. Russell Bond was the general chairman of the affair. Those in charge of the ice cream were Mrs. Joseph Allen, Mrs. VanWinkle, Mrs. Kelley, Miss Kendall. Miss Mildred Ulrich was in charge of the plants, while the cake table was presided over by Mrs. Howard A. Pope, and the Misses Lounsbury the candy table. Mrs. Charles Hazeltine and Miss Dietrich was in charge of the fancy articles. The decorating committee consisted of F. O. VENICE IN NEW YORK.

Bandmaster Duss Will Transform Madison Square Garden.

The recently crumbled Campanile of Venice has been rebuilt and will be on view at the Madison Square Garden, New York, on the evening of Sunday, May 31, when J. S. Duss and his augmented Metropolitan Opera House Orchestra will inaugurate his New York season.

The Campanile will be but one of the details of the Venetian setting. The entire Garden is to be transformed into a Venetian fairyland, with gondolas on the grand canal, the piazetta of St. Mark's serving for the music stand, backed with the walls of the surrounding palaces for a sounding board. Spanning the canal will be the Ponte de Rialto, and possibly one or more of the 378 other bridges of the city. On one side will be erected the Giant's Staircase of the Ducal Palace: on the other will be a reproduction of the fountain in the courtyard of the palace. The group of the Four Emperors will stand in one corner, and at the Molo, in front of the piazetta, will be the boat station, where can be hired the gondolas of genuine "Poppes."

The east end of the Garden will be hidden behind a drop curtain, picturing the view from St. Mark's, and on the other side walls and on the ceiling will be genuine Venetian decorations. Even the old heraldic posts, painted with the armorial designs of the Venetian aristocrats of centuries ago, will be stationed at intervals along the banks of the canal, and the gondolas, very clever reproductions of the modern barca seen on the canals today, will be manned by veritable Venetian rowers.

THEATRICAL.

Never was a theatrical policy more clearly defined or more decisive in its originality, refinement and novel aspect than is that of the regime now in vogue at the various houses controlled by Mr. Proctor. Each playhouse is run absolutely by itself, the whole being controlled from the main headquarters at Proctor's Fifth Avenue. At the various stock houses complete changes are made; one week a high-class comedy, the next a drama, each and every play being produced under the supervision of skilled stage managers, well versed in the art of modern stagecraft. Next week, for instance, instead of the heavy melodrama being presented this week at Proctor's Fifth Avenue, a romantic drama, "A Social Highwayman," will be given a superb production. Vaudeville of the proper sort will hold forth at Proctor's Twenty-third Street next week, a bill of even excellence in quality and quantity having been secured. For the leading feature Mr. Proctor has secured the services of two well known factors of the comedy world in James A. Kiernan and Jessie Mae Hall, who will present the one act comedy skit entitled "The Opening Night" and written especially for them by Al. Trahern. Proctor's 125th Street playhouse will open the week with the complete production of "A Modern Crusoe," which has just played so successfully Proctor's Fifth Avenue. John and Emma Ray, late stars of "A Hot Old Time" company, will be the stellar feature at Proctor's cozy playhouse in Newark next week. The bill will include many headline acts, namely: Mosher, Houghton and Mosher, acrobatic comedy cyclists; LeRoy and Woodford, conversational comedy duo; Eldora and Norine, English musical comedians; Musical Thor; Smirl and Kessner, "the acrobatic bellboy and the dancing maid," and fifteen other laughable acts complete the programme.

In addition to announcing the last two weeks of "A Chinese Honeymoon" at the Casino it is stated that the 400th consecutive performance of the musical triumph at that pretty and popular playhouse will be celebrated Wednesday evening. So successful have been the several souvenir performances of "A Chinese Honeymoon" that Managers Sam. S. Shubert and Nixon and Zimmerman have resolved to make the last one of special significance and value to patrons. They will in consonance with this object give souvenirs both at the 399th and the 400th performances. The 399th comes on Wednesday afternoon and the 400th that evening, so there will be very handsome gold souvenirs of different designs at both performances. At the matinee will be given a cut glass perfume bottle with heavily gold-plated and hand burnished rococo work. In the evening the souvenir will be a very handsome ink stand, also heavily gold-plated and hand burnished. It is declared the prettiest of all the valuable souvenir gifts which have been given to Casino patrons.

MILITARY SHOW.

Soldiers Coming to Madison Square Garden April 27.

The soldiers are again coming to Madison Square Garden, for the seventh annual military tournament, given by the Military Athletic League. The week beginning Monday, April 27, and closing Saturday, May 2, will be one of dash, brilliancy and excitement, as the rough riders of the United States Cavalry and the expert horsemen of Troop C will strive hard to out-do each other. There will be daring feats of horsemanship, beautiful musical rides, and what may be called equestrian gymnastics by both.

The Field Artillery, from Washington Barracks, will give a finer show than even that given last year; the Infantry will show how the soldiers are in parade and in action; the Signal Corps and the Engineers will both take part in the battle scenes, and there will be a hearty welcome to the Forty-third Regiment from Canada, known as "The Duke of Cornwall's Own Rifles," under command of Major Rogers, who saw service with them in South Africa. Their bugle and drum band will accompany them. The West Point Cadets, with their band, from the United States Military Academy at West Point, will also be in the show.

There will be grand reviews each night, and a fine athletic programme, with the National Guard favorites in competition for the League prizes. The athletic progamme will precede the reviews. There will also be matinees on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons, with an entire military programme.

Our "CONCAVE" Shoulder and "CLOSEFITTING" Collar

Our "CONCAVE" Shoulder is a new and better way of making the shoulder of a coat. It does away with the superfluous wadding and padding—it gets its breadth and grace of line from the way it is cut, and from the skilful modelling and shaping by hand. It looks wider than the ordinary shoulder and sets better, and will retain its shape—always.

The "Closefitting" Collar is hand made, and worked in so that it always sets perfectly.

All of our $15 Spring Suits and Overcoats are made with our "CONCAVE" Shoulder and "Closefitting" Collar.

Our showing of Spring Suits and Overcoats at $15 is larger than that of any other house in New York. Among the materials you'll find everything that is usual, and much that is unusual.

THE BASEBALL SITUATION.

While several of the local baseball teams have already opened the season tomorrow will see a number of them play their first games. It will require two weeks more, however, to see all the local teams on an active footing. And there is a crowd of them, more nines than Plainfield ever saw before at one time.

The future of baseball this season is somewhat problematical. There wasn't any doubt about the popularity of the game last year and the season was undoubtedly the most successful Plainfield has ever witnessed. The remarkable success of last year has resulted in this decided abundance of teams this spring. The question which comes to the fore is as to the ability of Plainfield's love for the National game to support so many nines. There are a great many baseball cranks in town, probably more than ever before. Are there enough to make a success of so many teams? That is the important question today and only time will bring the answer.

There is the old league, which proved so successful last year. Most of its success was undoubtedly due to the fact that its teams were very evenly matched. Will it be so this year? Then there's the new league, composed of teams which were refused membership in the original one and which have now formed an organization of their own and are going forward with prospects as bright as any. Fortunately the wiser heads have prevailed and there will be no attempt made to compete with the old league. The games in the new organization's schedule will be played early each Saturday afternoon so that the cranks will have a chance to see both contests. In addition, there is one powerful team and several minor ones which are being conducted on independent lines and will play out-of-town clubs.

This is the situation which Plainfield faces this spring. Every lover of clean outdoor sport would be only too glad to see a successful season. If all the teams can be successfully conducted, it will be a subject for general satisfaction. This will depend largely on the managers themselves. If there is bickering and quarrelling and hard feeling among the different teams, baseball is going to have a serious setback this year. If, however, the sport can be conducted cleanly and with a proper friendly rivalry, it is within the possibilities to make the season of 1903 one that will long be remembered in the annals of the National game in this part of the State.

There is in progress this afternoon an entertainment of unusual importance. The local chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution is holding a reception and loan exhibit in honor of the anniversary of the battle of Lexington. Among its members are a number of Plainfield's prominent society and club women and they have arranged an affair of unusual interest. The collection of loans is one rarely seen even in the larger cities. Some remarkable old curios have been gathered together while the reception is a charming event in local society circles.

The course of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club was opened last Saturday. Rain has prevented very much happening since that time. Tomorrow the links of the Park Golf Club will be opened. Both clubs have arranged interesting schedules for the season and there is every prospect of a lively summer for the golf-players.

These are the days when the wise advertiser is talking to the public through the columns of The Daily Press. There is much to be said and the business man who lets the public into his confidence is the one who is going to profit.

It looks now as if the repassing of the Passaic pollution bill at the special session of the Legislature is not going to be as easy as was first supposed. The enemies of the measure claim to be growing in strength.

Company K is very fortunate in having a man like Captain Martin in command. With Captain Martin there, there should be no doubt about Company K taking first place at the targets this year.

Miss Alice F. Callahan, daughter of William L. Callahan, of Woodland avenue, was united in marriage to William J. Doyle, of East Fifth street, yesterday afternoon at St. Mary's R. THE LONG SHOULDER.

Cape and Sleeve Effects Which Accentuate This.

One of the leading fashion notes of the season is the return of the pelerine, or cape. Lovers of the old masters are chiefly responsible for this revival of the long shoulder and the cape collar. The leading dressmakers today can adapt any fashion to the wearer; consequently there is no suggestion of dowdiness about the pelerine of the hour.

From an economical point of view this is an excellent way of renovating a last year's coat or blouse and of using sale remnants of lace or embroidery.

Irish crochet lace is being made in ecru and cream, as the all white was found very trying. For mixing with cloth linen—and, indeed, velvets and satin—there is nothing smarter than this heavy make of lace.

COFFEE COAT.

The picture frock can adapt itself to many occasions by the addition of fichu or long or short coat of lace.

The loose little coats known last year as "Frocks and Frills" are to be revived with more elaborate effects. The difference is felt mainly in the sleeves, which are draped and caught up in becoming manner. Capes which in no way resemble the unbecoming affairs which were formerly known by that name are made with shawl effects and long, pendent ends.

In the picture is shown a smart little coffee coat of ecru lace over pink chiffon. A scarf of black tulle is threaded through the lace and falls in uneven ends. JUDIC CHOLLET.

FASHION NOTES.

The New Figure—The Sack Coat Ever Popular.

For some long time we have fitted our hips even more closely and carefully than our waists, and the wasplike figure is no longer modish. Straight front corsets have made a small waist impossible, and the fashionable figure is more nearly a natural one than it has been for many years.

The straight front corset has not only altered the shape of the gown, but it has seriously affected the style and trimming of underwear. For instance, the sack shape chemise is most desirable, as it gives a straight front, but the yoke and trimming must be arranged quite deep, or there is a big expanse of untrimmed cambric between the very low corset and the small old fashioned square or yoke.

The sack coatee will be the model for spring wear, and plaits, tucks or folds will be seen on all coats, whether long or short. The tailor delights in flat plaits, and this season he has full scope for elaboration in this form. All folds must be sharp and clear and thoroughly pressed, and pressing in tailor fashion is quite an art, as the folds are practically indestructible.

There is a possibility that accordion plaited skirts will return and a certainty that tucks will stay in style. On the new cloth gowns there is a trimming running up and down between the tucks, and very often this trimming is handsome and elaborate, though very narrow.

The picture shows a child's gown of brown granite cloth.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

[Copyright, 1900, by A. N. Kellogg Newspaper Co.]

—"Oh, ma!" she was calling, "Ron's come cleer—Ron's come cleer!"

Our hero could see his mother's rotund figure as she emerged from the corn house and waddled towards the hog-pen, her apron filled with apples.

"Ain't you jokin', Josie?" she asked, and her son wondered at her expressionless face.

"No, the sheriff has jest now fetched 'im home."

"Well, I feel easier," sighed the old woman. "I'm glad thar ain't goin' to be no hangin' amongst us. The Lord knows we've had mighty nigh ever'thing else to happen to us. Ever since yore gran'pa was put in jail, I have looked for yore pa or one o' the boys, to—"

Ronald turned from the window; his heart was very heavy. He was thinking of Evelyn again, and the gulf between him and her. Ah, how he loved her! He crossed the room and stood at another window from which he could see the roof of Carnleigh.

"I am to blame," he sighed, "sadly to blame; what right had I to allow her first to pity, then to love me, when I have nothing to offer—nothing, absolutely nothing, and she everything to give?"

The colonel reached home later than Ronald. Night was beginning to fall, and the big lamp at the top of the carriage-drive threw its rays far down the tree-bordered avenue as he drove through the big wrought-iron gate. The lamps in the hall and drawing-room, under their vari-colored shades, cast a beautiful glow on the veranda. As he entered the hall he fancied he saw Evelyn flit out at the door at the end, which opened into the conservatory. He was assured of this when he had gone into the library, where there was no other light than was made by the huge wood fire, which flamed and crackled on the brazen dog-irons, for she came from the conservatory by another door, bringing his smoking-jacket and slippers; he knew that she had had them ready, for she had not had time to go to his room for them. His heart sorely smote him as he kissed her white face and noted the dark hollows under her eyes—eyes which absorbed the red firelight like diamonds. At any rate he had good news for her, but the thought pierced him like a dagger to think of it as such. Despite himself, a frown gathered on his brow. She misunderstood it, and he saw her catch her breath as she held his coat for him. Neither of them spoke, though when she had knelt at his feet and her white tapering fingers trembled over their task of unlacing his shoes he felt an almost uncontrollable impulse to snatch her to his breast and sob out the awful rebellion within him. When she had taken off his shoes she smoothed out the wrinkles in his stockings and put on his slippers, finishing her task with a little sad pat as she rose to her feet.

"Ah, you vixen," he said, tremulously—"Evelyn, you are my baby!" He looked towards the door. "I have always given you more of my heart than I have to your sister, perhaps because you have given me more of yours, poor dear child!"

The tears sprang into her eyes, and she turned away quickly to a table where she had put a cigar and a match for him.

"I have rolled it and cut the end." There was a catch in her voice as she scratched the match and held it to the cigar.

"Thank you, baby," he said, as he puffed.

For a moment she stood searching his face and then, as he did not speak, she said:

"I have waited as long as I can, papa. It seems to me that I shall die if I do not know the news. Is there any hope?"

He pushed out his knee and drew her down on it. He felt that her body was rigid with expectancy.

"Evelyn, you are my most helpless child. I must do my duty towards you in spite of what you feel to be right."

She slid her arm round his neck, but he knew that it did not clasp him with her usual tenderness.

"We can talk about that later," she said, "but I must know now what they did to him. Tell me, papa!"

He averted his eyes; a scowl was on his face.

"Don't torture me, papa; remember I am only a woman."

He raised his hand till it touched her head; he essayed to draw it down against his own, but she held herself firmly erect.

"Don't torture me," she repeated, almost threateningly.

"Well, I will not," he said. "Of course I know what you want. The case was thrown out of court. It was proved that Syd Hart accidentally shot himself with his own pistol. Fanshaw was in no way responsible. He is at home by this time, a free man."

He felt her gasp, and then her head fell on his shoulder, all the rigidness of suspense was gone from her body; she was like one dead. He thought she had fainted, but a moment later she stirred; the color ran into her face, and she stood up before him.

"Oh, papa! oh, papa!" was all she could say, but a world of unutterable joy lay in her tone. His cigar had gone out; he took a taper from a vase on the mantelpiece and lighted it at the fire, and as he applied it to his cigar he felt his anger returning to him. The outlook seemed so hopeless. She could never be happy without Fanshaw—she would be worse than miserable with him, after she learned the folly of her step. No, there must be some escape. He would think it over again. He had thought it over till it had become a sort of monomania with him. Perhaps some way of escape would present itself. He led her to the door and bowed silently as she turned from him to go up to her room. He went into his study and lighted a lamp on his desk, then he sat down and began to fumble some papers which one of his agents had left for his inspection, but his mind was clinging to Evelyn—Evelyn—Evelyn!

He opened a drawer in his desk and took out a miniature framed in gold. It held a face strongly resembling the daughter who had just quitted the room, and as he looked at it a flood of tender recollections rushed over him.

"If you had only lived, dear Evelyn," he murmured; "if you were here you'd know what to do. It may be that Fanshaw could love her as I loved you, and in that case, I may be wronging him; but oh, my angel wife, I do not know what is best!" He gazed at the face in the little frame for another minute and then he restored it to its place and closed the drawer.

CHAPTER XVII.

The colonel began to walk back and forth in the room. Now and then he would stray across the hall and pause in the doorway to give half an ear to Caroline, who was listlessly playing the piano. Her music had never touched him as had Evelyn's. Evelyn's songs—her lightest touch—seemed to invite the sweetest memories to his heart. Caroline looked up and saw him standing in the doorway.

"Father," she turned on the stool. "Mr. Hardy has written asking me to marry him; he says he will write to you if I encourage him to do so."

Hasbrooke advanced till he stood behind her. Somehow he had little inclination to touch this one of his daughters. "Well," he asked, "have you thought it over?"

Caroline turned a page of her music-book leisurely.

"I like him as well as I ever liked anybody," she said, slowly. "You know he is well off; he has a nice home—the Hardys are good people. I have always wanted to live in Charleston."

"Then write him it is all right," returned Hasbrooke, wearily, and they went in to supper. Evelyn came down a moment later. Her father wondered at the transformation in her. In her evening dress, she looked like a flower which had never been touched by storm.

After they had left the table she followed him to the door of his study, but he coldly begged to be left alone, and asked her to send James to him. The servant found him at his desk.

ACCEPT LAND BILL.

Irish Nationalists Agree to Wyndham's Measure.

DISCONTENT WITH SOME FEATURES

Irishmen Gather From All Points and Greet O'Brien and Davitt as the Heroes of the Hour.

DUBLIN, April 17.—By a unanimous vote the Irish national convention which met here has accepted in principle the Irish land bill introduced in the house of commons by Mr. Wyndham, chief secretary for Ireland, and intrusted to John Redmond and his party the task of securing in the house of commons that "serious amendment in various points of vital importance" which the national convention may consider essential. The convention before it adjourns will outline the shape that the amendments should take, and Lord Dunraven, Lord Mayo, Captain

JOHN REDMOND.

Shawe-Taylor, John Redmond, William O'Brien and T. W. Russell are likely to meet to discuss the landlords' and tenants' opinions on the land bill and try to arrive at a common basis of parliamentary action.

The proceedings at the convention revealed passionate discontent with various features of the bill, but nothing so serious as to indicate a danger of its ultimate rejection.

Every available seat in the round room of the Mansion House was taken by the delegates, who surged up the aisles in a solid mass and overflowed the surrounding rooms. For six hours without a break the delegates sat or stood listening to the speeches of their leaders, spiritual and political. Not for many a day has such a representative gathering been seen in Dublin. Irish wit and eloquence lived up to its reputation. Speaker after speaker brought the audience to that pitch of enthusiasm where hats were thrown up and men stood yelling with delight upon the chairs.

Throughout the day this gathering of Irish tenants, so picturesque, so terribly earnest, so swayed by the eloquence of the Irish leaders, never ceased to make a fit setting for the heroic epithets in which the speakers decribed the convention and the issues depending on its decision. Through all the various waves of emotion John Redmond sat in the chair, impassive and keeping order "like Parnell," as an old Nationalist said. His head was constantly endangered by the swinging hands and arms of the speakers.

William O'Brien and Michael Davitt were the heroes of the hour. After the convention all the leaders expressed their complete satisfaction at the proceedings and the practical unanimity of so many representative bodies throughout Ireland.

"Eager for peace, but ready for war in case the English wish to continue," was, to quote one speaker, the keynote of the convention.

Antarctic Explorers Return.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., April 17.—Four members of the German antarctic expedition have arrived here from Kerguelen island, where during eighteen months this detached party pursued its investigations. The members suffered from the severe cold and privations. One doctor succumbed, and another, Dr. Werth, who was the leader of the party, is not likely to recover. The German antarctic expedition, the leader of which is Professor Ehrich von Drygalski of Berlin, sailed on the German steamer Gauss from Kiel on August 11, 1901.

Recommend Arbitration.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—The International Hod Carriers and Building Laborers' Union of North America has adopted a resolution indorsing arbitration for the adjustment of all labor disputes and urging labor unions throughout the country to include in their constitutions a provision calling for the establishment of an international arbitration board.

D. A. R. HOLD LOAN EXHIBIT

Reception and Loan Exhibit at Residence of P. V. R. VanWyck is Great Success.

THOSE WHO ASSISTED

On Anniversary of Battle of Lexington—Object to Raise Funds for Monument at Washington Rock—Members of the Continental Chapter in Colonial Costume.

Of the events of Easter week none has been more delightful or successful than the reception and loan exhibition given yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the Continental Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip V. R. VanWyck, of Stelle avenue, for the purpose of raising funds with which to erect a monument to appropriately mark Washington Rock as a historic place. It marked the anniversary of the Battle of Lexington. The affair from the very start was a great success and the members of the chapter were ably assisted by their many friends, who not only loaned valuable articles for the exhibit, but by their presence, helped to make it a decided triumph.

This is the first event of a similar character held in Plainfield and it is quite likely that others will be held. The hours were from 3 to 6 and during that time the handsome home of Mr. and Mrs. VanWyck was thronged with members and was one of great interest as regards the loan exhibit, the social features were none the less interesting and enjoyable.

Mrs. David Prescott Hall, who is the regent of the Continental Chapter, received the guests in the parlor, assisted by Mrs. J. K. Myers, Mrs. Lawrence Myers, Mrs. John Gray Foster, Miss Sarah Manning, Mrs. Charles W. McCutchen, Mrs. David H. Rowland, Mrs. Henry A. McGee, Mrs. Phillip V. R. VanWyck, Mrs. Isaac N. Field, Miss S. E. Negus, Mrs. F. G. Mead and Mrs. Mason W. Tyler.

The dining room was also an attractive place. This room was tastily decorated with flowers and potted plants, while the table was handsomely garnished with choice cut flowers. Miss Harriet Manning poured tea, while Mrs. John F. Harman served sherbet. Assisting in the dining room were Mrs. Samuel Hall, Mrs. Charles D. Sperry, Miss Mary Wells, Miss Edith Clapp, Miss Maude Van Boskerck and Miss Elsie Harman. During the social part of the affair the refreshments were served. Miss Priscilla VanWyck, gowned as a Colonial dame, assisted in showing the guests about the rooms.

A most attractive feature of the affair was the fact that the members of the Continental Chapter were all attired in the old-fashioned style of dress, with the powdered hair and peculiar cut gowns. They presented a charming appearance and were the recipient of many flattering comments.

A pleasant feature of the afternoon was an informal musical programme, which included a recitation, "Paul Revere's Ride," by Mrs. Charles D. Sperry. There were selections on the pianola by Mr. VanWyck, while Mrs. J. Kirtland Myers and Mrs. William L. Saunders favored with soprano solos. Still another feature was a short talk by Mrs. E. G. Putnam, of Elizabeth, State Regent of the D. A. R.

Possibly the most interesting part of the event was the loan exhibit. Considerable time was spent by nearly everyone in looking over this historic collection of relics of great value so kindly loaned for the affair. It would be impossible to give a list of all the articles exhibited, but some of the most prominent ones included a Bible loaned by Mrs. Charles P. Leggett. This book is 287 years old. A watch and chain owned by Angelica Schuyler Church, a sister-in-law of Alexander Hamilton, was loaned by Mrs. Church, of this city. A marriage register, bearing date of 1771 and owned by Rev. Michael Kern, as well as a wedding dress belonging to Mrs. Kern, were loaned by Mrs. Charles Jenkins. Some Royal Dresden china loaned by Mrs. John F. Harman and a blue plate used by Washington, loaned by Mrs. L. V. F. Randolph, as well as a watch owned by Samuel Howell, who gave his silver for the first coin-

SPELLING BEE WAS SUCCESS

GIVEN BY THE EPWORTH LEAGUERS OF THE FIRST M. E. CHURCH.

Two Sides Were Captained by S. H. Tugwell and Miss Ida Angleman—J. R. Joy Was Master.

Spelling bees of the kind that delighted young and old a few generations ago, evidently have lost none of their fun-making proclivities if the one given in Vincent chapel, last evening, can be taken as a criterion. It was arranged by the young men and women composing the Epworth League literary committee of the First M. E. church and the general bearing of all taking part was in keeping with the occasion.

Two sides were chosen, headed by S. H. Tugwell and Miss Ida Angleman while James R. Joy aptly played the part of "master" and gave out the words to be "spelt." From the moment the contest started mirth reigned supreme and the actions of some of the participants coupled with a few examples of orthography was responsible for more than one failure. Afterward everybody tried to spell each other down and succeeded with the exception of Mrs. Frank W. French who remained victorious.

The affair closed with the serving of refreshments and a social hour.

COMES TO DRINK.

Mrs. Mary Bradley Pays Another Visit to Somerville.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, April 18—Mrs. Mary Bradly, a well-dressed, respectable looking woman who makes periodical visits to this place and seems to be "flush" with money, is again in the county jail here, serving a few days' sentence for being drunk and disorderly. This is the usual end to her visits in this town. None of the police officers can get any particulars out of her about herself. Her one answer to all queries is invariably: "Ask me no questions and I will tell you no lies." Justice Sutphen committed her.

MANY AT MASQUERADE.

Plainfielders Attend Dance Given at Bound Brook.

The Original Florodoras, an organization composed of young men from this city, conducted a masquerade dance at Bound Brook, last evening, that drew a large crowd from Plainfield, Somerville and New Brunswick. Suhr's Imperial Orchestra furnished the music and rendered a programme that was replete with the latest instrumental successes. The committee which had charge comprised Spencer Clickner, Edward Sutton, Ernest Jones and Franklin Terry.

Y. M. C. A. ENTERTAINMENT.

Miss Norton Will Make Her Fourth Appearance Here.

Miss Edith M. Norton, humorist and dramatic reader, will make her fourth appearance on the local Y. M. C. A. platform Thursday evening in the Y. M. C. A. supplemental course. Her work as a reader embraces a wide range of selections and she will then sustain her reputation as a pleasing entertainer of much ability. The Swedish Ladies' Quartette will furnish the musical portion of the evening's programme.

Starts Sixteenth Year.

The annual meeting of the Home Building and Loan Association will be held Monday evening, when the association will begin its sixteenth year. Polls will be open from 7:15 to 9 o'clock for the election of officers for the succeeding year and there will also be an amendment to the constitution. Payments of the eighth series will be completed and the 73rd series will be opened.

Willing Workers' Meet.

The Willing Workers put business before pleasure Thursday evening when the regular meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Ambrose Campbell, of Grandview avenue. Only matters of routine business were transacted and after that a social time was held. Refreshments were served at a late hour. There were thirty present.

Mr. Vincent's Last Lecture.

Leon H. Vincent will give the last lecture in his course before the Monday Afternoon Club at the Casino Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. His subject will be "Tennyson's Idyls of the King." An admission will be charged.

Miss Hildebrand to Sing.

Miss Grace D. Hildebrand, the "Gospel Nightingale," will sing at the Epworth League service at the First M. E. church, tomorrow evening and also at the regular church services which follows.

PUBLIC HEARING ON SEWERS

THE BOROUGH SEWAGE COMMISSION ARRANGES FOR ONE APRIL 30.

It Will be Held at Saengerbund Hall—All Will Have Chance to Express Opinions.

The property owners of the borough will have an opportunity of expressing their opinions as to whether or not they want sewers over the brook at a public hearing which will be given at Saengerbund Hall, April 30. This was decided upon at a meeting of the Sewer Commission, held last evening, when arrangements were completed for the hearing.

There are many sides to the project and the commission is anxious to learn what is the public opinion on the subject. At that time those who have objections will have an opportunity of expressing their views, as will those who are in favor of the idea. Experts will be present to tell how the sewers will be laid and what the cost, approximately, will be. He will also tell how the borough can be sewered so as to give the best results.

There are three ways of sewering North Plainfield. One way is to run the pipes to tidewater, to erect disposal beds or make arrangements with Plainfield to use the disposal beds of this city.

The members of the commission are B. A. Hegeman, Jr., W. C. Smith, D. T. Kenney and Elston M. French.

TO INVESTIGATE MURDER.

Bound Brook Homicide Will be Considered at Court Next Week.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, April 18—In the Orphans' Court here yesterday Judge Connet, of Hunterdon county, presided, owing to the absence of Judge Schenck, who was obliged to be busy with some very important matters in Middlesex county. Just a little business was done, such as signing orders, etc.

Next Tuesday the regular county courts will open at 10 o'clock with Justice Garretson on the bench. The Grand Jury drawn for that day will investigate the Driff murder mystery for which Joseph Erner, of Bound Brook, has been in custody for the past three months, charged with the crime.

MISS WHITNEY'S RECITAL.

Those Who Will Assist Her at the Casino May 12.

Under the direction of Miss May Vincent Whitney, a teacher and pianist of high repute, a musicale will be given at the Casino Tuesday, May 12. Miss Whintey will have the valuable assistance of the noted boy soprano, Erskine Porter, nine years old, pupil of Francis Fisher Powers, the most prominent of all vocal instructors in New York, and her sister, Miss Bertha Hurst Whitney, elocutionist and reader. PASTOR IS WELCOMED FOR ANOTHER YEAR

Reception to Rev. Dr. E. L. Earp by Congregation of Grace M. E. Church.

MANY IN ATTENDANCE

ARRANGED BY LADIES' AID SOCIETY AND EPWORTH LEAGUE.

All Glad to See Him Return to Pastorate for Another Year—Musical Programme Given During the Evening.

Rev. Dr. Edwin L. Earp was welcomed back by his congregation last evening when members of the Ladies' Aid Society and the Epworth League of Grace M. E. church, tendered him a reception in honor of his reappointment as pastor of the church for another year. The appointment was made recently at the Newark Conference held at that city.

The attendance at the reception was large. John Valiant was the chairman of the evening and introduced Rev. Dr. H. K. Carroll and Rev. Dr. J. E. Bryan, of this city, who made the welcoming addresses on behalf of the congregation. The pastor responded feelingly and said that he was glad to be among the people of that church for another year. He took occasion to thank all the members for the support they have extended to him and hoped that that same good feeling would continue to exist.

A programme was rendered which was one of the pleasantest features of the evening. DyckmanWinkler favored with several violin selections accompanied upon the piano by Vincent Sokol and a piano duet was rendered in a pleasant manner by Miss May Conroy and Miss May Gaddis. Vocal selections were rendered by Miss Winifred Carroll, accompanied upon the piano by Miss Alice Carrol.

After the programme had been rendered a social time was enjoyed in an informal manner and refreshments were served. The committee which arranged the programme comprised: Miss Della Voehl and Miss Mary G. Steiner, of the Epworth League and Mrs. John Valiant, Mrs. Anna Most, Mrs. Andrew Vanderbeek, Mrs. Dyckman Winkler and Mrs. Andrew Wilson, of the Ladies' Aid Society.

MANY RUNAWAYS.

Followed in Wake of Apparatus This Morning—But None of Them Were Serious.

A chapter of runaways followed the wake of the fire apparatus in responding to the alarm this morning. Two started at the corner of Park avenue and Second street but were caught before making any headway.

Opposite No. 1 house on West Second street one of Hand & Son's big teams attached to a truck attempted to follow a hose wagon. They were caught by William Conger after he had been dragged a hundred feet.

But for the presence of mind on the part of Driver Bush, the chemical engine would have crashed into a wagon at Second street and Central avenue. The vehicle turned directly into the path of the apparatus and to avoid a collision, Bush threw his team on the sidewalk within a few feet of the Ballentine building. No damage resulted and he was able to go on to the fire.

HE SWORE.

Let Loose So Vigorously in City Court, That He Was Given Sixty Days Straight.

James Lynch, a diminutive hotel porter with an immense vocabulary of swear words, will spend sixty days in jail as a result of his utterances at police headquarters, this morning. He was originally charged with drunkenness but it was changed when the amount of profanity he let loose staggered everybody within hearing.

Nobody in sight was spared, with City Judge Runyon, Chief Kiely and Patrolman Myers getting the preference. The sentence imposed was thirty days and when he was removed to a cell the tirade continued worse than before. Nothing could make him stop and toward noon Doorman McCue called City Judge Runyon on the telephone in the hope of obtaining relief. The latter put an additional thirty days on Lynch's sentence and he was taken to Elizabeth, still making the air sulphorous.

A. basketball team didnt do a thing to the Reform Club team, at the Hope gymnasium last evening, in the final game between these two teams in the Plainfield Amateur Basketball League series. The home team won the game by a final score of 40 to 9. The game was an interesting one in many respects and at times the play was sharp and exciting. A LARGE BARN IN FLAMES

THE UPPER HALF DESTROYED—LOSS AMOUNTS TO $2,000.

Fire Started From a Blazing Brushheap in a Neighboring Dooryard.

Sparks from a burning brush heap set fire to a large unoccupied barn belonging to John W. Murray, Sr., situated on West Eighth street, shortly before 11 o'clock this morning. The structure was rapped in flames before discovered and when the department arrived in response to an alarm from box No. 32, the upper half was already destroyed. The damage will amount to $2.000, covered by insurance.

The brush heap was on the premises of J. C. Kirkner and had been left unattended. It is presumed the sparks lodged in the roof in several places which accounts for the headway made by the flames. There were no horses or wagons in the structure but the upper lofts were filled with screen doors and windows, all of which were destroyed.

TO MERGE LINES.

Lehigh Valley Will Consolidate All Its Lines in Jersey.

The directors of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, at a regular meeting this week, authorized President Thomas to proceed at once with the consolidation of the various lines owned and controlled by the company in New York and New Jersey. The step is being taken with the view of concentration and economy of management and doing away with separate boards of directors.

The plan of consolidation will be the formation in each of those States of a corporation in which the lines or the respective States may be merged or one of the present companies may be utilized for the new company. The corporations to be merged are:

In New Jersey — Lehigh Valley Terminal Railway Company, Greenville and Hudson Railway Company, Middlesex Railway Company, Perth Amboy and Raritan Railway Company Pittstown Branch Railway Company and Easton and Amboy Railroad Company. In New York—The Depew & Tonawanda Railroad Company, Rochester & Southern Railroad Company, Seneca County Railway, Waverly & State Line Railway Company and Lehigh Valley Railway Company, with possibly one or two others.

SCHEDULE FOR PARK GOLFERS

Events for Summer at the Park Golf Club Course Are Just Announced.

A FEW CHANGES MADE

The Weekly Handicap Competitions for President's Cup Are Chief Features — Club Championship Arranged—Three Cups for the Women—Course Open Today.

This season's schedule for the Park Golf Club has just been made public by the golf committee of that organization, which comprises Samuel Townsend, chairman; S. St. John McCutchen, Wallace M. Brown and Charles B. Morse. The same general features of last season's schedule are retained.

Most important is the weekly handicap for the President's cup. Instead of having to be won two consecutive seasons, permanent ownership will come with three wins. The present wins have been Edgar I. Serrell, 1900, S. St. J. McCutchen, 1901; Charles B. Morse, 1902. A club championship is also made a regular feature. For the women, there will be three cups, each to be competed for for two months. In additions to the events announced, the golf committee has under consideration a number of minor competitions to be arranged as the season progresses.

While the course is opened for play today, the events do not begin until a week later. The schedule is as follows:

Saturday, April 25, President's cup, men's handicap tournament, continuing every Saturday morning and afternoon through the season. Six players must compete in the afternoon for any scores to count. Eighteen holes, medal play. The lowest three scores in each day's play to qualify, viz: First lowest scoring three points. Second lowest scoring two points. Third lowest scoring one point. Competitors must play together, and names must be registered with time upon entry book before starting, in order to qualify. The player having the greatest number of points to his credit at the close of the season shall become the holder of the cup for one year. This cup must be won three times by the same player to become his permanent property. Handicaps will be adjusted every week based on a net score of ninety. Players making a net score of more than this number will have one-third of the excess added to their handicap for the next contest, and those making a net score of less than ninety, will have one-third of the difference deducted from their handicap; provided that not more than three strokes shall be added to any player's handicap between one contest and the next one. Winners of points will also have deducted from their handicap for the next contest as many strokes as they have scored points in last competition. No more than thirty strokes for eighteen holes will be allowed to any competitor.

Tuesday, May 5, Women's handicap tournament, starting at 2:30 o'clock and continuing every Tuesday afternoon through May and June. Four players must compete in order to score points for this cup. Nine holes, medal play. The lowest three scores in each day's play to qualify, viz: First lowest scoring three points. Second lowest scoring two points. Third lowest scoring one point. Competitors must play together, and names must be registered with time upon entry book before starting, in order to qualify. The player having the greatest number of points to her credit at the close of the tournament, shall become the owner of a trophy. Handicaps will be adjusted every week, based on a net score of fifty-five under same conditions as President's cup.

Saturday, May 30—Decoration Day, Morning. Men's handicap ball sweepstakes, starting at 9 o'clock. Entrance fee one standard golf ball. Eighteen holes, medal play. Player making lowest net score to take fifty per cent., second thirty per cent., and third twenty per cent. of total number of balls contributed. Afternoon, Men's handicap holiday cup, starting at 2 o'clock. Eighteen holes, medal play. Winner to have permanent possession. 4:30, driving contest. 4:30, approaching and putting scratch contest, mixed couples.

Gray hairs often stand in the way of advancement for men and women, socially and in business. SHAMROCK WRECKED

New Cup Challenger Meets Serious Misfortune.

A SAILOR DROWNED; LIPTON HURT

Sir Thomas, With Hand Badly Crushed, Makes Plans For Repairing Damage In Time For Races In New York.

WEYMOUTH, April 18.—Misfortune, which seems to have pursued Shamrock III., culminated yesterday in a gust of wind which dismasted her and left the beautiful challenger lying a helpless wreck in Portland harbor.

The accident will necessitate a delay certainly of a month and probably of six weeks in the challenger's sailing for America, but Sir Thomas Lipton said that the accident would not be allowed to interfere with her presence at New York in time for the cup races.

"My injuries," added Sir Thomas, "are painful. I was badly shaken by the fall and have a severely smashed hand, but everything is insignificant compared with the loss of poor Collier (a brother-in-law of Captain Wringe, who was killed in the accident), who has been continuously in my service since the time of the first Shamrock. You can rebuild a yacht, but you can't replace a man."

The loss of the seaman, Collier, cast a gloom over those on board Sir Thomas Lipton's steam yacht Erin, but the sentiment of the crew was unanimous in expressing relief that it was not "the governor."

Sir Thomas Lipton is the recipient of over 200 telegrams of sympathy. King Edward wired his regret at the injury to Sir Thomas Lipton and his grief at the loss of life.

Sir Thomas Lipton says that he has already wired orders for new sails, and they are now under way. Everything, however, will depend upon Designer Fife's verdict. He will decide what is to be done and what alterations, if any, are necessary.

"I do not think," said Sir Thomas, "that there is anything structurally wrong with the challenger or that it will be necessary to change anything or alter the trim of the boat. The accident was due to a weakness in the minor rigging which wrecked everything."

The yachts were maneuvering in the roadstead under mainsails, jibs, foresails and gaff topsails prior to the start. A strong northeast breeze was blowing, but there was nothing in the nature of a gale.

So suddenly did the squall appear that the yacht lay wrecked and helpless before those in board of her well realized what had happened. Fortunately most of the tremendous weight of the gear fell clear of the deck, as otherwise the disaster must have been multiplied tenfold.

The lull which followed was broken by a sharp order from Captain Wringe to get away a boat. Boats were also dropped from the Shamrock I. and Erin, and in a couple of minutes these were all heading for the scene of the accident. Seaman Collier, however, never reappeared.

Several persons were bruised or otherwise injured. Sir Thomas had a narrow escape. He was shot down the hatchway with a sailor and fell with such force as to break the board flooring covering the tank.

No News From the President.

CINNABAR, Mont., April 18.—No news has been received from the president since he left early yesterday morning for Norris, in the Yellowstone, to view the geysers. As the trail had been made passable in the worst places, it is supposed that he reached his destination safely. During the last two or three days of his stay in the park the president will be joined by Secretary Loeb and the other members of the party. The plan for the president to spend a day in the Black Hills has been abandoned owing to the impossibility of disarranging the programme as already arranged. An hour will be spent at Edgemont, where the president will be given an old fashioned cowboy reception.

"Turf Commissioner" O'Hara Guilty.

CINCINNATI, April 18.—W. W. O'Hara, the "turf commissioner," who has been on trial here all this week, charged with using the mails for fraudulent purposes, was found guilty and will be sentenced to eighteen months in the penitentiary. O'Hara conducted an extensive business in placing bets all over the country, and it was charged that he collected several hundred thousand dollars which was not returned and which was promised in dividends.

CHARGE FAVORITISM

Organized Labor Takes Hand In Postal Investigation.

MAIL EQUIPMENT OFFICIALS BLAMED

All Sorts of Complaints Being Formulated—A "Promotion Ring" in Brooklyn the Latest Report to the Department.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—The indications are that organized labor will become a party to the investigation of affairs of the postoffice department. A special committee of the Central Labor union of this city, which has been secretly considering the matter, has formulated charges of favoritism, incompetency, etc., against certain of the officials of the mail equipment division of the department. The charges, which probably will be filed with the postmaster general, allege that mail bags that do not conform to the specifications have been accepted by the chief of the division, Colonel Thomas P. Graham.

Other charges allege, among other things, that a worthy and needy white woman is discriminated against in favor of a negro woman employed there; that the forewoman of the sewing room used offensive language toward her subordinates; that when the machine operators were reduced from $2 per diem to $1.75 per diem the salaries of the superintendent and some of the other officers were raised from $150 to $200 per annum; that the suspension of one clerk was illegal and another unjust; that engineers are worked overtime without compensation; that the foreman of the lock shop is not a lock maker, and that recommendations for promotions are not based on merit.

Reports that a "promotion ring" existed to control promotions in the Brooklyn postoffice similar to that which is now being investigated in New York city have been brought to the attention of the postoffice department. It is stated at the department, however, that as yet there is no evidence of such a ring in its possession. Postmaster General Payne said that he was not contemplating the suspension of any official pending the close of the investigation, but added that if Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow, who is directing the investigation, were to recommend suspension the recommendation would be considered very carefully and with a disposition to follow the recommendation, though he (Mr. Payne) would exercise his independent judgment as to what the circumstances warranted.

Fair Skull Story Denied.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 18.—Attorney Charles Heggerty, who is identified with the litigation connected with the Fair estate, stamps as absurd and untrue the grewsome story to the effect that the skulls of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fair, who met death in an automobile accident in France, were removed by decapitation to be used as evidence against the claims of the Nelson family. Mr. Heggerty says that the accounts given of the alleged decapitations are canards and that the operation mentioned was never undertaken or even contemplated.

Monetary Conference.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Messrs. Hanna, Jenks and Conant, constituting the United States representation to the monetary conference, have had a long conference with Secretary Hay regarding their work. The Mexican ambassador, Senor Aspiroz, is greatly interested in this project, and the fact is that they in a manner will look after Mexican interests in the solution of the problem of adjusting the rates of exchange between silver using and gold using countries.

Reliance's Rigging Complete.

BRISTOL, R. I., April 18.—The setting up of the standing rigging has been practically completed. The topmast has been placed on end, and the topmast stays are set up. The height of the mast from the deck to the topmast truck is said to be 159 feet, which is five feet higher than that of the Constitution. The double bobstays give indication of great power and strength. On the whole the rigging of Reliance does not look any heavier than that of the Constitution, which is anchored a few hundred yards away, but it is of greater tensile strength.

WITH BRITISH EYES

Commission of English Workmen on American Methods.

TRUSTS CONSIDERED BAD FOR LABOR

Visitors Are of Opinion That Workmen In United Kingdom Are the Equals of Any, but Have Poor Machinery.

LONDON, April 18.—The report of the commission of British workingmen who were taken to the United States at the end of last year by Alfred Moseley, a wealthy Englishman, to study conditions of labor there has just been issued. It presents the views of twenty-three delegates, who separately synopsize their deductions resulting from the American trip. The report shows a lack of unanimity, except that all agree that the British workman has nothing to learn from the American workman, while British employers are not so far advanced as the Americans in the treatment of their employees.

Mr. Moseley says that the British workman has a far better education, "is infinitely better paid, housed, fed and clothed and, moreover, much more sober." Mr. Moseley says in conclusion:

"If we are to hold our own in the commerce of the world, the old methods must be dropped and the old machinery abandoned."

He believes that some form of profit sharing is the true solution of the capital and labor question. He welcomes the trusts as the best able to compete on the most economical lines. He says that the organization of capital on the one hand and of labor on the other will solve the industrial problem.

James Cox, the delegate for the iron and steel workers, pays his respects to Chicago, where, he says, "the almighty dollar is the unquestioned king." Of the new postoffice he says: "Any third rate corporation in Great Britain would have accomplished the work in four years instead of eight. This is illustrative of government work in general."

D. C. Cummings of the iron and steel shipbuilders quotes Shipbuilder Cramp as saying that "Great Britain's position as the leading shipbuilder is unassailable and unlikely to be seriously menaced for the next quarter of a century." Mr. Cummings concludes with a severe criticism of the social and moral life in America, where, he says, "gambling and pleasure seeking appear to be characteristics. The disregard for human life, the corruption in politics and other immoralities tend to the moral and physical deterioration of the people and must be arrested if disaster is to be avoided."

Mr. Dellar, representing the National Plasterers' union, found the plastering bad "even in the room in the White House where the delegates were received by President Roosevelt." Mr. Dellar, referring to Homestead, says: "The principal shareholder might here find a good place to expend his millions in improving the conditions of the working people. I would for this purpose forego the pleasure of donating libraries in towns in Great Britain."

W. C. Steadman, representing the parliamentary committee of the trades union congress, says the British workman cannot be beaten in the world for solid and well finished work. He concludes, "Unless something is done to conciliate labor in America the trust system will bring such an uprising as has not been witnessed for forty years."

The delegates unite in extolling the hospitable reception they met with everywhere from all classes, which was so marked that it interfered somewhat with their investigations.

In conclusion the report says:

"The workmen who have built up American industries are largely Britishers. Most of the inventions in American workshops come from men hailing from the old country. Let us adopt modern methods, and England will hold her own in the commercial rivalry of the world."

Boston Gas Hearing Closed.

BOSTON, April 18.—After hearing testimony almost continuously for more than two weeks on the bill for the consolidation of the gas companies of Boston the legislative committee on public lighting has closed the hearings. It will now consider the draft that was submitted by the gas and electric light commissioners, the changes that have been suggested by different parties and decide whether to report a bill and, if so, just how the measure shall be presented.

The Pretender Marching on Fez.

TANGIER, April 18.—The pretender is marching from Taza on Fez. The sultan is vainly attempting to obtain recruits among the Kabyle tribes. Three thousand Moors have arrived at Melilla, seeking refuge from the pretender's troops. It is again stated that the sultan has offered the crown to his brother Muley, who has refused it. The sultan, with his brother, according to a dispatch from Melilla, has started for Taza.

OBJECT TO MR. RIKER.

An attempt is being made by Newark citizens to have a special attorney appointed to represent the county in the criminal actions against the officials of the North Jersey Traction Company, who were indicted as being responsible for the Clifton avenue trolley disaster. The reason for this is that Chandler W. Riker is the prosecuting attorney of Essex county and it is well-known that Mr. Riker is deeply interested in trolley companies, if not in this particular one. It has been the general impression that he is a stockholder in the North Jersey although it is now said that he denies it.

The North Jersey is a great power in Newark and the rest of Essex county but the whole community was up in arms when the horrible details of the Clifton avenue disaster became known and even the influence of that great corporation failed to prevent the indictment of its general officers and the officials, whose alleged negligence, was directly responsible. The name of Riker has so long been connected with trolley interests that there was a pronounced objection to Prosecutor C. W. Riker representing the county in the trials of the trolley officials. Mr. Riker claims that he is in no way connected with the North Jersey Company and will bitterly oppose any attempts to place his duties the hands of anyone else.

The Easter vacation in the city and borough schools is almost over. Monday will see a resumption of activity in both. This ends the vacations until the term is over and the long vacation is here. Memorial Day falls on Saturday this year and so will not interfere with the school work.

The concert given by the Wesleyan University Glee and Mandolin Clubs was above the usual standard set by college clubs. All of their music was new and while there were humorous selections, of course, the bulk of the numbers were above the usual standard heard at such concerts.

DUNELLEN.

The last rites over the remains of William H. Carman, who was killed by the discharge of a gun Wednesday, were administered yesterday afternoon in the Presbyterian church. The services were in charge of Rev. N. J. Sproul, pastor of the church, and Rev. A. I. Martine, a former pastor, who took the deceased into the church and married him. The services were quite simple. Rev. Mr. Martine delivered the sermon over the deceased. During the services several selections were sung by a quartette consisting of Miss Edith Boice, Mrs. Apgar, Lester Meserole and Rev. N. J. Sproul. A number of beautiful floral offerings were decked over the coffin. One was from Mr. Carman's fellow employes in Scheuer & Company's store. It was a large wreath with the words "At Rest," on it. The four nephews of the deceased, Walter and William Brokaw and Frederick and W. E. Coriell, acted as bearers. The remains were interred in the Presbyterian cemetery at Bound Brook.

Dr. P. W. Brakeley received a letter yesterday, from Lewis S. Thomas, formerly of this place but now a teacher in the Phillipines. IRELAND WILL BE HAPPY.

End of the Land War, Says Nationalist Leader.

DUBLIN, April 18.—The Irish national convention concluded last evening. In two days it got through a large amount of controversial work and emerged, to quote T. P. O'Connor, "scathless and honored from a test which the whole world was watching. It was not only shaping the destinies of Ireland, but it held in its hand the fate of the powerful British ministry."

John Redmond, replying to an enthusiastic vote of thanks for his chairmanship, declared that the convention was a credit in every particular to Ireland. In a statement Mr. Redmond makes the important announcement that the amendments adopted by the convention will be accepted at the joint conference at which Lord Dunraven, Lord Mayo, Captain Shawe-Taylor, John Redmond, William O'Brien and T. W. Russell will meet. This practically insures the passage of the Irish land bill. The delegates returned to their homes last night in a happy frame of mind echoing John Redmond's parting words, "May the God of our fathers once again visit this land with the peace and plenty that are her due!"

John Redmond made the following statement regarding the convention's work:

"The convention was the most important Nationalist assembly held in Ireland during the last hundred years. If its recommendations be substantially carried out by the government, the land question will be settled, and the whole future of Ireland will be full of hope. The convention's recommendations will be supported by the members of the land conference, and they will be presented to the government as the demands of both landlords and tenants.

"I have the strongest possible hope that the government will have the wisdom to accept them. If all goes well, the result will be the absolute end of the land war in Ireland, the union of all classes and creeds in this country, with the inevitable result of the concession almost immediately, certainly within the lifetime of the present generation, of a system of national self government.

"I congratulate the whole Irish race at home and abroad on this most magnificent result of the labors, sacrifices and sufferings of the men who have conducted the Irish national movement in the past few years and who, I hope, will live to see the triumph of their principles. This blessed situation is largely due to the magnificent support we have received from the Irish in America and American public opinion generally."

SULTAN'S ENVOYS HELD.

Men Sent Out to Pacify the Albanians Are Prisoners.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 18.—The members of the special mission sent by the sultan to pacify the Albanians, it is now announced, are practically imprisoned at Ipek, Albania, where they are surrounded by several hundred Albanians, whose chiefs refuse to accept the proposed reforms and demand the appointment of an Albanian governor, adding that otherwise they will continue the revolt.

The Austrian and Russian ambassadors are urging the sultan to adopt energetic measures to suppress the Albanians, but his majesty is averse to coercion, as he relies on the Albanians to help him in the event of further complications.

Mystery Cleared Up.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—A mysterious absence of nearly a year and a half has been solved by the police when a body found floating in the Potomac river near Marshall Hall, a summer resort about sixteen miles from Washington, was identified as that of Captain T. W. Lord, retired, who disappeared on Dec. 20, 1901. Considering the long time the body had been in the water, it was in a remarkable state of preservation. Captain Lord wore an artificial leg, and this was found anchored between two of the piles forming the sea wall a short distance from where the body was found.

Metropolitan Had a Surplus.

NEW YORK, April 18.—Max Tiechman, the expert upon whose report, in part at least, the sensational attack made upon the financial management of the Metropolitan Street Railway company was based, has before Magistrate Barlow admitted that his findings were merely tentative and based only upon the data submitted to him. If he had credited up the assets of the Metropolitan's lesser companies, as stated by De Lancey Nicoll, Mr. Tiechman admitted he would have found a surplus instead of the enormous deficit he had reported.

To Stop Pool Selling.

HAMMOND, Ind., April 18.—The Hammond police, acting under orders of the sheriff, who was directed by the governor, will make an effort to stop pool selling at the Lakeside race track. Governor Durbin issued an order Wednesday for the Lake county sheriff to call out the militia if necessary to stop pool selling. The races have been running three days, and $2,400 in licenses have been paid.

Macedonia Ready to Rise.

ROME, April 18.—Private advices from the revolutionary committee in the Balkans state that preparations for an insurrection are ready. The revolutionary committee asserts that the whole of Macedonia will rise and asks for the sympathy of Italy. It further expresses the hope that moral and material aid will be given to the movement.

Marine Firemen's Strike Settled.

BUFFALO, April 18.—The strike of the marine firemen has been settled, and the men will return to work.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

Railway Earnings Increase—Wheat Shows Much Strength.

NEW YORK, April 18.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Cold and wet weather during the past week in many sections of the country retarded retail trade in spring and summer wearing apparel. Jobbers also felt the effects in a lessened activity, and agricultural operations made irregular progress. Production of farm staples may not be curtailed by the later planting, although in some cases there will be greater danger of loss at the end of the season through early frost. Traffic conditions are steadily improving, yet some complaints are still heard, and further additions to motive power and terminal facilities must be made if another season of congestion is to be averted at the next time of pressure. Railway earnings thus far in April exceed last year's by 12.5 per cent and those of 1901 by 24.1 per cent. No definite improvement is seen in the labor situation, but neither is the outlook any more disturbing, and many settlements are expected before the end of the month.

An output of over 330,000 tons of coke weekly and sufficient traffic facilities to keep furnaces supplied remove the alarm regarding future scarcity, and the situation has become more normal, which makes it possible to ascertain to what extent prices have been inflated by special conditions.

Textile mills have not received any material increase in amount of new business, and there is evidence that the exceptionally heavy transactions of January and February provided sufficient supplies for present needs.

Wheat has exhibited much strength, the bright prospect for winter wheat failing to check the upward tendency. According to the estimate of condition on April 1 and subsequent reports, there seems reason to anticipate a new high record of production. Planting of spring wheat is proceeding fairly well, although excessive moisture still retards work.

Failures for this week numbered 212 in the United States against 261 a year ago and 16 in Canada compared with 24 last year.

Recent New Jersey Laws.

TRENTON, N. J., April 18.—Governor Murphy has signed the following bills: The supplemental appropriation bill, the Trenton new city hall bill, authorizing an appropriation of $125,000 for the enlargement of the state normal school in this city (no appropriation was made this year) and the bills authorizing the construction of bridges across the Delaware at Carpentersville and Martin's creek. The two latter bills the governor last week decided to disapprove on the ground that the bills were unconstitutional, but this week changed his mind on the subject.

Game Fish For American Waters.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—In consequence of the unusual demand for fish for stocking rivers and small streams, the United States fish commission is preparing to make a greater distribution this year than ever before. Two cars now lying in the commission yards are being stocked with millions of fry and finglings of shad, pike, perch, Atlantic salmon, landlocked salmon, trout and black bass. The distribution will be made at various points throughout the United States.

Forty Vessels Foundered In Gale.

MARSEILLES, April 18.—As a result of a storm here, which has not been equaled for years, forty craft foundered. No vessel has put to sea, and a number of large steamships are taking shelter in this harbor. The damage is incalculable.

ECONOMICAL HINTS.

Slips Which Can Be Worn Under More Than One Gown.

The newest slip skirt is made with a tightly gored top and a godet flounce of graduated length in order to give fullness at the edge. One or two narrow gathered frills may edge the slip, or a single one will do if the skirt is fussily trimmed. The slip bodice may be sleeveless, or there can be a tight sleeve to the elbow only. The neck can be cut square or high. These details depend entirely upon the make of the gown to be worn over them.

The woman who is able to make some of her clothes at home would do well to invest in some of these slips. With three slips much variety may be obtained, and one of black, one of white and one of some pale color will be found very effective worn under cream or lace robes. A pretty sateen slip can be used under muslin gowns.

The number of robes all ready to be made up in lace, veilings, crepe de chine or other materials is increasing all the time. There is a great demand for fine embroidery and also for gowns which can be run up at home by an inexpensive dressmaker. By means of the robes dresses can be obtained at one-third their actual cost when made by a good dressmaker.

A gown of pale rose veiling is here shown. The skirt has the fashionable triple effect and the latest sleeve, having a wide, tight cuff. The wide belt and rosette are of oriental satin.

SMART MILLINERY.

Becoming Shapes For Dressy and Ordinary Wear.

The new hat shapes are decidedly becoming and artistic. The chief characteristic consists in a clinging effect in the back and a shovel effect in front.

Hats entirely composed of flowers have upturned brims and for sole trimming a big bow of velvet.

The flat aigret is one of the most popular trimmings. It is placed at the left side of a rough straw turban in such a manner that it projects slightly in advance of the hat.

Double faced hats, the upper part being white and the under black, are very becoming and smart.

Shapes of black chiffon trimmed with a single ostrich feather are both becoming and useful.

Hydrangeas and jonquils are among the novelties in artificial flowers.

In general the trimmings may be said to be, if anything, flatter than ever, but the outlines of the hat are more raised.

The tailor made hat of the season is much more becoming than formerly, for instead of the universal sailor shape an unusual variety of modes are shown, all of them with rolling or irregular brims and flat or round crowns. With an aigret or a smart bow of ribbon, the trimming is complete, and this can easily be contrived by the woman with a little skill in her fingers.

Nearly all the hat shapes this year have flat tops and very rolling brims.

The illustration shows a smart hat of coarse black straw trimmed with two black ostrich feathers.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

[Copyright, 1900, by A. N. Kellogg Newspaper Co.]

"I want you to bear a message for me, James," he said. "I want to have a private talk with Mr. Ronald Fanshaw. Go over to his house and present my compliments, and ask him if he will do me the honor of calling on me this evening if he has no previous engagement. You remember my exact words, James?"

The servant repeated them.

"That will do, and when he comes show him into this room, and see that we are not disturbed."

"Thank you, sub."

About eight o'clock Ronald rode up to Carnleigh and turned his horse over to a waiting groom. At the foot of the steps he was met by James, who, in a low, guarded voice, invited him into his master's study. As he passed the window of the drawing-room the young man had a flashlight view of Evelyn as she sat reading at the center table under a tall lamp with a pink shade. He had never seen her countenance so radiantly aglow. The thought took possession of his brain that it was due to his release from prison, and that idea was infinitely sweet to him after what he had been forced to endure.

As he entered the colonel's study, from the walls of which family portraits leaned downward in deep, old-fashioned gilt frames, a casual observer would have taken him for a man of the world rather than a man whose life experiences were bounded by the limits of a single county.

"First of all," said the colonel, as he extended his hand, stiffly, "I must congratulate you upon your escape from that disagreeable affair. I was rejoiced at the outcome."

Ronald thanked him, surprised at his own calmness; the warm memory of Evelyn's face, as he had just seen it, inspired him with strange, unexpected confidence in himself. The chair he had been given was quite near Hasbrooke's, and as the colonel continued to speak he leaned his head on his hand, his elbow resting on his desk. This posture threw his face somewhat into the shadow.

"I may as well come directly to the point, Mr. Fanshaw," in a forced, tense tone. "To be frank, I find myself completely in your power, and, since it must be so, it is a comfort to be in the power of a fearless man, and one who would, I am confident, despise to take unfair advantage of me."

"I am sure I do not understand," faltered the visitor, in surprise.

The old man twisted himself round in his chair; the lamplight brought his strong features out in minute lineality against the wall behind him.

"You have me, Mr. Fanshaw, as completely in your power as if I lay at your feet and you held a saber against my heart. My daughter has withheld nothing from me. He her judgment good or ill, she loves you as she loves her life. She believed you have been greatly wronged—always misunderstood—and that has intensified her love. At first I was inclined to blame you for taking unfair advantage of her experience in worldly matters, but I am now forced to admit that you have done nothing I should not have done had the woman been as attractive personally as my daughter. I know you must care for her, Fanshaw, and that is why I have sent for you to unbosom myself."

The speaker's words had been growing more and more indistinct, until they finally died in the still room. Ronald knew that he was expected to reply, but he could gather nothing befitting the moment from the mass of thoughts and emotions that seethed in his heart. At this point a bar of soft, rippling notes came from the piano, and they were caught up by a sweet, well-trained voice singing a happy song. The old man held up his hand.

"You see how she feels, Fanshaw," he said, huskily; "since your arrest she has looked more dead than alive. I was seriously afraid she would not survive. But you see how she is now; I told her the news just before supper, and she almost fainted with joy. That is why I sent for you; I am unable alone to fight a love like hers. You and I must decide on what to do—between us!"

"Between us," repeated Ronald, still in the dark as to what was expected of him.

Hasbrooke's face under the ordeal before him took on the color of ashes, and as he began to speak again he picked the nap from the sleeve of his coat with the mechanical action of a dying man. "Perhaps, Mr. Fanshaw, it may be as well to begin by our admitting that my social training has been different from yours. In my cradle I imbibed certain conventional ideas of the duty of a man of my name to his stock. From your standpoint, doubtless, I am wrong—from mine, right. I am coming to the point, and I trust you will pardon me for being painfully plain. Fanshaw, as far back as my family records run—and we have volumes of them, sir—we have never found the line tainted with dishonor."

Hasbrooke paused, taking a full breath. It was evident to Ronald that the climax was near, but he made no comment. The room was very still; outside of it could be heard only Evelyn's sweet, ringing notes. A vague, unaccountable despair had seized on the young man's heart. He knew not what was coming, but whatever it was would not be pleasant.

"You see, Fanshaw," the colonel seemed to pull himself up to his task with extra effort, "if my daughter must marry and bring children into the world, I should naturally desire the alliance to be with a man against whose family there had never been a charge of—dishonesty!"

Ronald breathed hard. The last word had fallen like a powerful weight which crushed out the last bit of hope he had ever had of fighting the world's difficulties.

"I think I understand, Col. Hasbrooke," he heard his words jarring against the sweet floating sounds of Evelyn's voice, which was rising like a happy prayer to heaven.

The colonel leaned forward almost in an attitude of pity.

"Don't understand me to say, Mr. Fanshaw," he said, "that I should demand a pedigree with my daughter's husband, for I think there are good people who have not kept up their family records, but if I knew—actually knew of dishonesty in a family, that, sir, I should try to save my child from as I would from hereditary consumption or insanity. I had a dear friend, Mr. Fanshaw, in Virginia, who belonged to one of the best families—distantly related to the Carnleighs. He had a beautiful daughter who fell in love with a self-made man, whose grandfather had been accused of dishonest dealings. My friend reluctantly gave his consent, but the only issue of that marriage, Mr. Fanshaw, was a son who became an outlaw and broke the hearts of both his parents. Pardon me, sir, but I started out to be plain, and remember, we are consulting about the welfare of one we both love. Mr. Fanshaw, my father's brother, who lived in East Tennessee, was the judge who sentenced your grandfather, Abraham Fanshaw to prison for 20 years for theft. I know nothing of your father's life in Tennessee, but it pains me to say that I detected him five years ago loading a wagon with wheat from one of my barns. He confessed his guilt and threw himself on my mercy, and I did not, thinking of his family and his old age, prosecute him."

Hasbrooke paused; he was not looking at Ronald, who had covered his face with both his hands and sat as still as a statue.

"God forgive me if I have given you needless pain," said the colonel. "I would not have spoken if I could have seen any other way of making my awful fears clear to you. Fanshaw, if these things were not true of your people and you had not a dollar to your name, I should, seeing how my daughter loves you, turn over to you and her all the property which is to go to her at my death. As God is my judge, I wish I could end it all by giving her to you, but I cannot! I simply cannot!"

Ronald rose to his feet; he reeled a little as he reached for his hat, which lay on the desk.

"I have really never hoped to win her," he said, unsteadily. "You are right. It ought never to be. Children of mine shall never live to curse the world! I see my duty to her—to you. May God have mercy on me!"

The music had ceased; there was a light step outside and Evelyn suddenly opened the door, pausing on the threshold with an exclamation of surprise.

"I did not know—" here she broke off as her eyes fell to studying her lover's agonized face. "Papa," she asked, coming forward and standing between the two men, "what does this mean?"

The old man collected his senses slowly.

"Daughter," he said, after an awkward pause, "I have sent for Mr. Fanshaw to consult with him in regard to the welfare of you both, and together—after talking it all over—we have come to a mutual agreement that the idea of marriage between you—ever, at any time—would be unwise—is not to be thought of."

Evelyn fastened a questioning, half distrustful gaze on her lover.

PAINTED HIM GREEN.

Farmer Beers Roughly Treated Because He Objected to Wife's and Son's Roistering.

Because he objected to roystering, in which his wife, his son and Frank Gordon engaged, John Beers, an old farmer of Good Springs, Franklin township, N. J., is said to have been beaten by them, chained in a dilapidated barn and held there a prisoner for several days. He was bound in such a manner, it is alleged, that he had to get on his hands and knees to eat the little food put on the floor of the barn for him. He was famished and nearly dead when rescued by neighbors. Mrs. Beers, her son Elijah and their friend Gordon were arraigned before Judge Shipman on a charge of inhuman cruelty.

The complaint was made by neighbors. Beers is 60 years old. His wife is more than 20 years his junior. It is alleged that for the last three months Mrs. Beers practiced extreme cruelty on her husband. At present he is in the care of two sons living in Pennsylvania, who, on being advised of his condition, took him to their home. Gordon, after being arrested, admitted some of the cruelties practiced on the old man, but said it was all done in a "joke." He and certain characters from villages and towns in this section have made it a practice for years to visit the Beers house, and it is said they would immediately chase the old man out of the house in order that their roystering, to which he objected, would not be disturbed.

Complaint was finally made by neighbors to Overseer of the Poor Huff, of Franklin township. He found the old man bruised from head to foot, the result of a beating he received, it is said, at the hands of Gordon. The barn in which Beers was chained had only half a roof and he might almost as well have been out in the open. The chain was fastened around Beers' body and neck in such a manner that he was compelled to crawl along the floor to reach the food left for him. Some farmers living near the Beers place found him in the barn and released him. Then there was talk of forming a whitecap party, but calmer counsel prevailed and the case was left for the authorities.

When Beers was chained in the barn Gordon is alleged to have painted the farmer's face green. Gordon is said to have admitted this and considered it a joke.

Kentucky Drug Clerk Five Dollars Ahead in Deal with a Short-Change Artist.

One of those peculiar reversions in human affairs happened in Lexington, Ky., when an unknown short change artist was beaten at his own game by a drug clerk, and was himself short changed to the tune of a five dollar bill. About dusk the stranger walked into the drug store of Rudolph Harting and approached one of the clerks, Will Harting, brother of the proprietor, and wanted to make a ten-cent purchase, offering a ten-dollar bill.

The correct change was given him, but in the manipulations that followed, wherein he asked for a ten-dollar bill in exchange for five dollars in silver which belonged to him and five dollars in currency which belonged to the proprietor of the store, the clerk agreed to make him the required change, but when the latter got possession of the money he immediately asked his brother to call up the police.

The stranger argued for a minute on a suggested compromise, which, being ineffectual, he darted out of the door and has not been seen since. The drug store is five dollars to the good and has had the benefit of the experience.

SPORTING NEWS

ON THE DIAMOND.

Captain Dennis Bagley, of the West End Hose Company of the borough, is getting his baseball team in fine shape for the coming season. He expects to have his team out for practice Saturday.

There are two baseball teams in the borough under the name of the Park A. C. The original one is captained by Wm. Nischwitz and it is probable that games will be played on the home grounds next Saturday.

The Plainfield High School baseball team met and defeated the Newark Academy nine on Stillman Field, this morning. The score was 8 to 4. Not at any time did the visitors have any show of winning as the locals put up a snappy game. Monro pitched and struck out thirteen men. He received excellent support from every part of the field.

A writer in the Philadelphia North American declares the "quick return," introduced in this city by Pitcher Montross, is a gross violation of the rules and that its practice is likely to result in serious injury if not death to batsmen. The matter has been brought to the attention of the American League officials and it is declared they will make a determined effort to stop it in all games played under its management. The "quick return" is when the pitcher delivers the ball immediately after receiving it from the catcher and the batsmen has not yet recoverd his equilibrium after striking. The rule declares there should be a pause before the second delivery.

GOLF.

This afternoon there will be a continuation of play for the Golf Committee cup at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club.

Howard deP. Wright, of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, who secured a place in the first round interscholastic golf tournament this week at the Westbrook Golf Club course, was put out Thursday in the semi-final play.

Those in Charge.

The committee which had charge of the Wesleyan Glee and Mandolin Clubs' concert at the Monroe Avenue church, Thursday night, was composed of Adam Neuman, chairman, Edwin H. Beekman, Walter F. Manning, Clarence Brouard and N. Mansfield Smith.

GUARANTEED.

That word means something, when it is backed by the $5,000,000 capital and surplus of the

FIDELITY TRUST COMPANY.

It means for you an easy mind if you have one of those guarantees covering the title to your premises.
The man, who does business the way it was done a generation ago, is surely on the road to failure. This is an age of progress. There has been progress in methods of conveyancing as well as in other lines. Out of the need for something less uncertain than a lawyer's certificate and a lawyer's responsibility, has grown up the system of policies of insurance, or guarantees of title by companies with large capital and a force, specially trained in the work.
There is none better in this line than

THE FIDELITY TRUST COMPANY OF NEWARK, N. J.

It has an agency at Elizabeth for conducting Union County business. Rates will be given on application at its office, No. 215 Broad Street, and an investigation of its resources and methods is invited.

State Board of Health's Last Case Against Abram W. TenEyck, of North Branch.

After numerous postponements the milk case of the State Board of Health against Abram W. TenEyck, of North Branch, was tried yesterday in Justice Smalley's court. Codington & Swackhamer represented the defendant and Reed & Coddington the plaintiffs. The verdict of the jury was for acquittal. There were several other cases but all the rest were settled out of court.

The jurors were Edward Francis, J. H. Smalley, Thomas Finney, Francis Whitlet, Edward Merceir, John Smalley, August Sutterlein, James Baglin, Martin Duffey, Walter Smalley and Joseph Humble. The trial lasted from 10 o'clock in the morning until 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Sixty Friends Gathered to Remember Their Wedding Anniversary.

In honor of the fifth anniversary of their wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barton, of West Fourth street, entertained sixty friends at their home, last evening. Dancing was a feature of the gathering, the music being furnished by Professor Sam Frazee's orchestra. Supper was served at midnight and the fun lasted until an early hour this morning. Both host and hostess were generously remembered with appropriate gifts.

Salvation Army Meeting.

Lieutenant-Colonel Gifford will have charge of the Salvation Army National Staff Band when it appears in this city today and tomorrow. Meetings will be conducted in the Army Hall on East Front street tonight and tomorrow afternoon and in the Y. M. C. A. Hall tomorrow night. At the latter a silver offering will be taken.

THEATRICAL.

Grace George's engagement in "Pretty Peggy" continues to be one of the most successful on Broadway, the young actress attracting large audiences to the Herald Square Theatre, New York. Miss George, who did charming work in "Her Majesty" and "Under Southern Skies," quite surpasses herself in the present production, giving to the role of Peg Woffington an insousiance and naivete impossible to an actress of more mature years. She presents a charming picture as she appears, her radiant girlish beauty enhanced by some of the most tasteful gowns as yet seen on the New York stage. "Pretty Peggy" is an absorbing drama of the life of Peg Woffington and David Garrick. It is full of color and action and contains almost as many laughs and tears as it does appeals to the optic sense.

age, were other interesting exhibits.

Mrs. Lawrence Myers loaned an original George Washington plate. A commission by Governor Caleb Strong to Thomas Cobb as captain of the militia in Massachussets in 1785, together with pictures of Washington, and old-fashioned eye-glasses and a watch owned by Lieut. Nehemiah Cobb, of the First Massachussets militia, bearing date of 1776, all attracted much attention. They were loaned by E. T. Barrows. Miss Sarah T. Manning loaned a china tea cup which was brought from Holland in 1661. A portion of a letter written by Gen. Palfrey, an aide-de-camp to Washington, to his daughter, was loaned by Mrs. Mary E. Lee Mann. Miss Negus loaned a carved ivory fan over one hundred years old. It came from Canton, China. Mrs. George P. Mellick loaned old-fashioned candlesticks, an old German box, containing a pair of spectacles, which were brought to this country in 1735. Mrs. Mellick also loaned a book, "The Arcadia of the Countess of Pembroke," dated 1625. An interesting article was a toy wooden stage coach, painted in fancy colors. This was loaned by Mrs. LaTourette, of Bound Brook. A very valuable exhibit was a set of small silver spoons made from buttons worn by a Revolutionary soldier. These were loaned by Mrs. W. T. Negus, of Bound Brook.

A silk gown worn by the great grandmother of Mrs. A H. Atterbury at the inauguration ball given to Washington at Annapolis, was loaned by Mrs. Atterbury. A number of women's old-fashioned stays were also exhibited. Mrs. Mellick's loan also included a copy of the New Jersey Journal, bearing date of August 8, 1781, while Mrs. C. W. McCutchen loaned a copy of the Ulster County Gazette containing a poem on the death of Washington. Old-fashioned books containing the Psalms and a discourse on fasting were also loaned by Mrs. McCutchen. An old cheese rack was one of the unique articles exhibited. It was owned by Mrs. Isaac L. Miller. A copy of Brown's family Bible, printed in large type, was included in the articles loaned by Mrs. Charles P. Leggett. Part of a tea set made in France for Thomas Powell, of Schnectady, in 1795, and a Wedgewood stand for eggs which stood on a table when Washington had dinner in Princeton, and a map of the City of New York in 1728, were included in Mrs. C. W. McCutchen's exhibit. Mrs. John F. Harman loaned an old-fashioned pewter plate and a copper kettle, the latter being brought from England in 1700. There were a fine display of ancient chinaware, very valuable, including the Lowestof and Spode ware. These loans were by Miss Storrs, Mrs. Croft, Mrs. J. F. Harman, Miss Clapp and Mrs. Isaac N. Field.

A commission from George II to Col. Andrew Burr to command a Continental Regiment at the seige and capture of Louisburg, was loaned by Miss Tweedy. A velvet bodice worn by the grandmother of Miss Negus, of Bound Brook, at a ball given for Lafayette in Philadelphia, was loaned by Miss Negus.

There was also an exhibit of colonial jewelry by Mrs. Charles Addison Mann, a chain owned by a Revolutionary soldier, by Mrs. I. N. Field, with a number of old-fashioned chairs, muskets, flags and trinkets of all sorts. No end of entertainment was afforded the guests who spent some time in closely examining these exhibits.

Mrs. D. H. Rowland, of the Board of Management, took charge of the contributions, about $90 being the gross receipts. Mrs. J. Kirtland Myers was chairman of the music committee, while Mrs. David P. Hall acted as committee on press. The loan committee consisted of Mrs. Isaac N. Field, Mrs David H. Rowland, Mrs. Charles W. McCutchen, Miss Harriet Manning, Miss Virginia Negus.

As the Chapter has $175 in the Savings Bank, the proceeds of the entertainment yesterday, will when added to this, make a nucleus for the funds necessary for the monument and doubtless more contributions will be received. Mrs. Warren Ackerman, of Scotch Plains, sent $5 as she was unable to be present. Mrs. W. L. Saunders has kindly offered to present a Revolutionary play in the autumn for the benefit of the Chapter. Mrs. Saunders and Mrs. L. W. Serrell will both take part in it.

Among those present from out of town were Mrs. E. G. Putnam, State Regent D. A. R.; Mrs. W. B. R. Mason, of Camp Middlebrook Chapter, Bound Brook; Mrs. Townsend and Mrs. Negus, of Bound Brook; Mrs. King, of Elizabeth; Mrs. B. L. Dodd, of the New York City Chapter, and Mrs. Staunton, of Newark. Mrs. George Bartlett Prescott, of New York City Chapter. Mrs. Prescott is the mother of Mrs. Phillip V. R. VanWyck. Mrs. Daboll, of the Groton, Conn., Chapter and a number of other women from Somerville and Bound Brook Chapters.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Ewart, of 44 Fairview avenue, yesterday.

The arrival of a young daughter in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Green, 1111 Putnam avenue, Wednesday, is the cause of much happiness. The young woman weiged eight and a-half pounds. Both mother and daughter are doing well.

"UNCLE SAM" LOSES A FAITHFUL SERVANT

Frank A. VanAuken, Chief Clerk in Inspector-General's Office, Passes Away.

AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

BLOOD POISONING SETS IN AFTER AN ULCERATED TOOTH.

Mr. VanAuken Made Home in This City for Twelve Years—Prominent in Local Masonic Circles—He Was Popular With All.

Frank A. VanAuken, aged forty-four years, a well-known resident, died Saturday afternoon at his home on East Sixth street, following a comparatively short illness. About a month ago Mr. VanAuken was considerably troubled with an ulcerated tooth. It finally became so painful that he decided to have it extracted. This did not bring relief and instead the face remained swollen and exceedingly painful. About two weeks ago Mr. VanAuken was obliged to give up work and stay at home for treatment. Everything possible was done by his physician, Dr. Adams, but all efforts seemed of no avail. It was learned that blood poisoning had set in and Mr. VanAuken was rapidly growing worse.

Friday night a specialist from New York was called and after doing all in his power to afford relief, decided that there was practically no hope for the patient. From that time until the end Mr. VanAuken was in an unconscious condition.

Mr. VanAuken had been a resident of Plainfield about twelve years. During that time he made a host of friends and was exceedingly popular with all who knew him. He was born in Utica, N. Y., and for some years was engaged in the Signal Service at Washington with his father. He was a very strong Republican and during President Cleveland's first term, Mr. VanAuken was removed from his position for political reasons. Afterward he secured the position of chief clerk in the Inspector-General's office with headquarters at Governor's Island. This position he held for fifteen years and up to the time of his death. He was a very efficient accountant and a fine penman and through years of service became a valued employe of the Government. He was very popular with Government officials with whom he came in contact and he was highly esteemed.

Mr. VanAuken was high in Masonic circles in this city, being a member of Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. and A. M., Jerusalem Chapter, No. 24, R. A. M., and Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T. In the Commandery he was the present recorder. He always took a deep interest in Masonic affairs and was one of faithful attendants at the various meetings. He was a delightful person to meet socially, being of a genial and happy disposition and his friends always enjoyed being in his company. His death has caused deep sorrow among his Masonic friends as well as all who knew him and the fact that everyone speaks well of Mr. VanAuken, is evidence of the esteem in which he was held.

Mr. VanAuken is survived by a wife, a daughter and a son. The latter was one of two to receive appointment to a cadetship at West Point, he being given second place as an alternative. It has not yet been determined whether he will have the chance to go to the Military Academy, as N. P. Rogers, Jr., still has the preference, unless he fails in his examinations at West Point.

An informal meeting of Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., was held yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, which was attended by many officers and fraters of the Commandery, and arrangements were made in reference to the wishes of their deceased frater and his family to perform a full Templar service tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock at the late residence, 310 East Sixth street. More formal action will be taken at the regular conclave of the Commandery this evening and an escort arranged to accompany the remains to the place of interment at Dover Plains, N. Y., Wednesday morning.

Sir Knight VanAuken was an active worker and recorder of Trinity Commandery for over six years and his untimely demise will be a serious loss to the Commandery. It is earnestly hoped that every Sir Knight will arrange to be present at the funeral services in full Templar uniform. An emergent conclave of the Commandery will be held tomorrow evening at the Asylum at 7:30 o'clock and the Knights will proceed to the late residence of Sir Knight VanAuken to participate in the services.

IS FOR LOCAL TEAMS ONLY

ASSOCIATION BASEBALL LEAGUE REFUSES ADMISSION TO DUNELLEN.

Will Open Schedule May 16 With Two Games—Three Clubs Have Own Grounds.

Membership in the Plainfield Association Baseball League will be limited to local teams. This was decided upon at a meeting of interested clubs held Saturday evening, when the application of the Dunellen A. C. for admittance was refused. The organization will accordingly consist of the Orange Field Club, the Reform A. C., the Clinton Avenue A. C. and the Cuban Giants.

These teams will battle for a pennant offered by E. B. Ryder and the representatives of each voted to remain in the league for the entire season. The schedule includes eighteen games and the first two will be played on Saturday, May 16. All the clubs have individual grounds with the exception of the O. F. C.

President R. L. Lee was in the chair and the clubs were represented as follows: Reform, E. P. T. Smith; Cuban Giants, W. F. Walters; Clinton Avenue, John Krinery; O. F. C., Harris Egan. D. S. Smith, of the Dunellens, was also present. The matter of umpires and other details will be considered at a meeting to be held Saturday evening.

RAGGED WORK ON DIAMOND

HOPES DEFEAT CLINTON AVENUE IN A POOR GAME.

Both Sides Made Fumbles and Errors Galore—Score Was 20 to 4.

In a game abounding with fumbles, bungles and errors, the Clinton Avenue aggregation of baseballists was practically "snowed under" by the Hope Y. M. A. team, Saturday afternoon. It was the first contest of the season of any magnitude but it seemed as if the players were trying to outdo each other in getting in everybody else's way. Runs continued to be piled up by the Hopes and the final score was 20 to 4 against the veterans from Clinton Avenue way.

Hewitt, known as "Silent Tune," was in the box for the Hopes and succeeded in holding the opposing batsmen down to five hits and struck out eight. Dwyer, the other twirler, was not so fortunate as he was landed on for twelve good hits, several of them two and three baggers. The Hope men got used to his delivery in a moment and he struck out but three men. Hardfelder caught a good game and showed up well but the rest of the work on both sides was ragged.

The batting order of the teams was as follows: Hope, Roseberry, lf; Dalley, 1b; Martin, 2b; Shortman, ss; Maher, 3b; Feiring, rf; Gordon, cf; Hewitt, p; Hartfelder, c; Clinton Avenue, Baker, c; Dodd, ss; Starbuck, 3b; Goodwin, rf; Saums, 1b; Pangborn, 2b; Bolmer, 2b; Dwyer, p; Magne, lf; VanArsdale, cf. The score by innings was:

Hope....3 5 0 0 0 4 0 8 x—20
C. Ave..0 0 3 0 1 0 0 0 0—4

Y. M. C. A. BOYS VISIT THE NATIONAL CAPITAL

What the Boys Saw During Their Trip to Washington, D. C., Last Week.

MET PROMINENT MEN

VISITED SOME OF THE MOST IMPORTANT INSTITUTIONS THERE.

Y. M. C. A. Boys From All Over the State Attended, But Plainfield Had the Largest Representation, Fourteen in All.

The educational tour to Washington which was enjoyed by Boys' Secretary Kenneth Robbie, of the local Y. M. C. A., and a party of fourteen boys of this city closed Thursday morning when the return trip was begun. Arriving in the Capital at noon the boys began to lay out their plans for sightseeing and from all accounts it is probable that they had one of the biggest times of their lives. They saw everything, met prominent men, visited the houses of government, journeyed to places which are dear to the heart of every American man and boy, climbed the great Washington monument, and breathed some of the diplomatic air of Washington. Now they are delighted in telling their friends all about the trip.

Young Men's Christian Associations were represented from all parts of the State but it remained for Plainfield to have the largest number of representatives. The next largest number was Newark, which sent seven, while fourteen represented this city.

Monday afternoon they visited the Capitol and the Botanical gardens, and had their pictures taken. In the evening they visited the Young Men's Christian Association and had a swim in the Natatorium. Tuesday they went up to the top of Washington monument; went through the bureau of printing and engraving; visited the Smithsonian Institution and National Museum. A delightful trip was made to Mount Vernon in the afternoon and also to Alexandria and Arlington where they were very much impressed with the magnitude of the National cemetery and the graves of the victims of the Maine wreck. That evening they visited the Congressional library.

Wednesday the White House and the White House stables were visited. The boys were very much interested in Archie Roosevelt's little pony which they saw. The Treasury Department and the War, State and Navy Departments were visited and there they met Secretary Root, of the War Department; Secretary Shaw, of the Treasury Department; Secretary Moody, of the Navy Department, and United States Treasurer Ellis H. Roberts.

Wednesday evening they took a trip through Washington and Thursday morning they paid a visit to the Corcoran Art Gallery and took a stroll about the city. They left for home shortly after noon.

Meetings were held every evening and at those times the boys told of their impressions of the day.

Injured in Ball Game.

HOODOO HANGS OVER "HOTEL" NEAR FANWOOD

A Question As to Who Owns Ground—Ownership of the Building Also in Dispute.

ALL SORTS OF TROUBLE

ARMED GUARDS SURROUND PROPERTY TO PREVENT A SURPRISE.

All Interested Parties Have Engaged Engineers and Lawyers in Effort to Solve the Vexatious Problem That Troubles Them.

At the last term of court, Frank Nichols, of Pittsburg, Pa., made application for a hotel license for a building that was in course of erection on Morse avenue in Fanwood township, opposite the trolley park. Judge Vail refused to grant the license on the grounds that as the place was not completed and in shape to house guests, it could not be licensed. Since then the place seems to be 'hoodooed," and everybody that has had anything to do with it has got into all kinds of trouble.

The most vital question at present is, whose ground is the hotel standing on. Apparently the ground can be claimed by three parties. According to deeds dating back to 1821, it is on property now belonging to the Jackman estate, according to another deed, it belongs to the Inter-Urban Realty Company, and to yet another, it was a part of the Osborn estate and by them sold to Clark Perrine, who sold it to Nichols. However, if Morse avenue was laid out as a sixty-six foot road, twelve feet of one corner of the building is on the public highway.

Aside from the ownership of the land, there is trouble over the ownership of the building. Liens and claims have been filed against it to the extent of over $1,000. Nichols claims to have sold his interest in the building to a third party, and is trying to make his title to the building good, at the same time looking to Clark Perrine, to make good the title to the land. J. A. Galvin, who runs the Trolley Park during the summer, is living in the house, and as he claims some sort of an interest in the building, he refuses to vacate and defies anyone to put him out until the courts have settled who owns the land it is on. In the mean time the man who bought from Nichols is circulating a petition for signers for a hotel license for the place which is to be presented to the next term of court. In order to avoid a surprise by any of the parties who want to gain possession of the "hotel," armed guards stalk through the bush in order to repel boarders and the south side of Morse avenue is rapidly taking on the appearance of a military camp during an active campaign.

Each of the parties interested have engaged engineers to find out where the house is located, and lawyers to ascertain who is the owner after it is located.

DESERTED BABY ON STREET

HOUR-OLD INFANT FOUND ON WEST SECOND STREET LAST NIGHT.

Young Colored Woman Gave Birth to Child There, and Becoming Confused, Left It.

Crying piteously for the mother that had deserted her, a colored baby girl was found at the corner of Second street and Madison avenue by Harry DeMeza and Edward Bellis at 12:15 this morning. It was devoid of clothing. The young men informed police headquarters at once.

Patrolman Quass was sent to the scene and reached there as the infant was picked up by Dr. Hughes. The physician declared the child was less than an hour old and while he took it into the electric light station engine room to give it warmth, Quass sent out to find the maternal parent. He succeeded within a short time, Elizabeth Butts, a young colored girl who rooms on Madison avenue back of the old Alert house, admitting it was her offspring. She declared she had given birth to the child on the street and becoming confused had unwittingly left it.

The infant was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital and the nurses say it will live despite its exposure on the cold flagstones. The girl's explanation was accepted by the police and no charge of abandonment will be preferred.

LOCAL KNIGHTS AT PYTHIAN THANKSGIVING

Service for Local Lodges Held at Hope Memorial Chapel Last Evening.

MEMBERS TURNED OUT

REV. L. R. HOWARD PREACHED A SERMON TO FELLOW KNIGHTS.

Pythian Thanksgiving Day, Set by Grand Chancellor Shanley, Observed Here—Spoke on "Three Qualities of True Friendship."

Acting jointly with Pythian Lodges throughout the State, Perseverance Lodge, No. 74; Unity Lodge, No. 102, K. of P., and Crescent Company, No. 13, U. R. K. of P., gathered in Hope Memorial chapel, last evening, for divine worship. The occasion was in accordance with a proclamation issued by Grand Chancellor P. Frank Shanley, of Jersey City, setting it aside as Pythian Thanksgiving Day, when all members of the order might express gratitude for the year's prosperity. Rev. L. R. Howard, pastor of the chapel and who is himself a member of Perseverance Lodge, delivered a discourse fraught with encouragement and good counsel for the fraternal brothers who avow friendship, charity and benevolence.

In the introduction of his remarks, Mr. Howard referred to the members who had died during the year, especially to Harvey Patterson who was killed in the Westfield wreck and expressed the hope that the memory of that simple faithful life might be an inspiration to all connected with the order. This led up to the theme, "Three Qualities of True Friendship" based on St. Paul's characterization of one of his friends as, "My brother and fellow worker and fellow soldier." In substance the speaker said:

"Brotherhood is one of the best and noblest of human relations and the brother element in friendship is one that should be most highly cherished. Brother has about it the feelings that are associated with a common home and childhood. The play days of life are passed with our brothers; but there is a sort of fellowship with the man you have worked with that can be gained no other way. This work fellowship is one of the best elements in the companionship of many a man and wife. It is also what is found when men labor together anywhere on an unselfish work.

"Paul's friend was not only 'brother and fellow-worker,' however, but was 'fellow-soldier' as well. Ask any old veteran of the Civil War if there is anyone quite the same to him as the man who fought by his side. Forty years of the separation of death does not suffice to lessen the tenderness of that feeling. These three qualities of friendship, the fellowship of a common blood, a common work and a common cause of battle, all expressed in service even unto death are then to be striven for by us. The fraternity of the Knights of Pythias, by its name and its principles, professes to exemplify these qualities."

On this ground, Mr. Howard made an appeal for greater loyalty to the principles of the order, and then concluded by broadening the appeal and urging brotherhood, and fellowship in labor, and in conflict, with Christ as leader and guide, declaring that no work could be more worthy and no conflict more noble.

The singing was a feature of the gathering, the leaders being Fred. H. Andrews and City Judge William N. Runyon. In addition to the usual hymns, the opening and closing Pythian odes were sung.

For Children Too.

—The goodly proportions of Mayor Smalley's new brick residence on Mercer avenue are apparent now that the structure has reached the second story. It will be an ornament to that part of Washington Park.

A Sweet Breath

is a never failing sign of a healthy stomach. When the breath is bad the stomach is out of order. There is no remedy in the world equal to Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for curing indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach disorders. Mrs. Mary S. Crick, of White Plains, Ky., writes: "I have been a dyspeptic for years—tried all kinds of remedies but continued to grow worse. By the use of Kodel I began to improve at once, and after taking a few bottles am fully restored in weight, health and strength and can eat whatever I like. Kodol digests what you eat and makes the stomach sweet. L. W. Randolph.

Shamrock III. at Southampton to Undergo Repairs.

SOUTHAMPTON, April 20.—The Shamrock III. has arrived here for repairs. The two Shamrocks left Weymouth at noon. The challenger was towed by the Erin.

Mr. Ward, Designer Fife and Captain Wringe have had a conference and have promised to put the challenger in racing trim again in three weeks. It will be a big job, and the cost is estimated at $25,000. Designer Fife has condemned the boom, gaff mast and topsail spars of the yacht and they will all be removed, as will the sails.

The decision against a postponement of the races was reached after a long consultation, and Sir Thomas sent a cablegram announcing the fact to G. A. Cormack, secretary of the New York Yacht club.

The body of Collier has not been recovered. Sir Thomas Lipton has offered a reward for its recovery and has made provision for Collier's widow and child.

It is believed that the next trial races will take place on the Clyde in three weeks' time.

He was noted for his charity and liberality in the cause of education.

OUTLAW SHOT DEAD

Deputy Sheriff Killed and Constable Wounded.

CALIFORNIA RID OF MULTIMURDERER

McKinney, For Whom Officers Had Long Searched, Surrounded In a Chinese House—Fights Desperately to the Last.

BAKERSFIELD, Cal., April 20.—James McKinney, the outlaw, was shot and killed here. Deputy Sheriff Tibbetts was also killed, and Constable Packard was fatally shot.

Sheriffs Kelly of Kern, Collins of Tulare and Leovin of Arizona counties, with Officers Will and Burt Tibbetts, Gus Tower and City Marshal Packard, surrounded McKinney shortly before 11 o'clock yesterday morning in a Chinese house. Will Tibbitts and Packard approached McKinney in the house and ordered him to surrender. McKinney answered by shooting. Will Tibbitts was shot through the stomach and died soon after, and Packard was shot through the neck and shoulders and dangerously wounded. Burt Tibbitts, a brother of the dead deputy sheriff, shot McKinney through the mouth and neck, killing him.

McKinney had been in Bakersfield two days and was harbored by friends in a Chinese joss house. The house was a regular fort.

McKinney was accused of having committed several murders. He was a native of California and was first sent to the penitentiary from Tulare county for assault to murder and after his release went to Randsburg, Cal., where he figured in some further shooting trouble. He escaped trial, coming to Bakersfield soon afterward, where in the latter part of 1900 he shot and killed Tom Sears, a gambler, as the result of a dispute over a game of cards. No one saw the fight, and McKinney was acquitted.

Last July in Porterville he killed Billy Lynn and wounded Constable John Willis and another man in a drunken row and made a sensational escape from capture. Nothing more was heard of him until April 5, when news came from Kingman, Ariz., that McKinney had murdered Charles Blakely, known as the "cowboy pianist," and Roy Winchester, a young miner. Nothing definite is known of the cause of the murder, but it is thought that McKinney took the men for officers and laid in wait for them on the trail.

After the shooting he went to a ranch and compelled the rancher to shoe two horses for him and then rode away.

Posses started in pursuit of McKinney, but he eluded them and succeeded in reaching Bakersfield, where his two brothers live.

Fatally Stricken While Preaching.

PHILADELPHIA, April 20.—The Rev. Dr. Francis A. Horton, well known in the Presbyterian church and pastor of Temple Presbyterian church, this city, was stricken with apoplexy while preaching last night and died shortly after being removed from the pulpit. Dr. Horton was delivering a special sermon to young men and had been speaking about ten minutes when his words became incoherent and he tottered. Several worshipers went to his assistance, and he was removed to his home, where he died without regaining consciousness. Dr. Horton was fifty-eight years of age and before coming to this city held charges at Oakland, Cal.; Cleveland, O., and Providence, R. I.

Paper Workers' Strike Off.

APPLETON, Wis., April 20.—As the result of an unexpected development at the meeting of the Neenah and Appleton brotherhoods of paper makers the paper mills strike is called off. A truce has been declared for one week, and the men returned to work in the eight Kimberly & Clark company mills today. A joint committee from the Appleton and Neenah brotherhoods of paper makers will meet the Kimberly & Clark company at Neenah. The state board of arbitration also will be a party to the negotiations, and there seems to be a good prospect that an understanding can be reached whereby the strike will be declared off permanently.

Mitchell to Help Mine Workers.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., April 20.—President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers has arrived here to meet the executive boards of the three anthracite districts and assist in settling the disputed points regarding the award of the strike commission. The miners and local coal companies interpret the award in several instances from different points of view, and a conciliation board will be appointed by both sides to reach a definite understanding. Mr. Mitchell will assist the local mine workers' officials in selecting the members of this board.

A Pittsburg Strike Settled.

PITTSBURG, April 20.—The strike of the painters and decorators, which has been on in the Pittsburg district for nearly two months, was practically settled at a mass meeting of the brotherhood. The men agreed to accept $3.40 for a day's work of eight hours and pay their own car fare to and from work. Last year they received $3.20 and had their car fare paid. This year they demanded $3.60 and car fare.

Miss Roosevelt at Horse Show.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., April 20.—A special from Asheville to the Observer says that 3,000 people witnessed the horse show. Mrs. George W. Vanderbilt drove a pair in one of the double harness events and was given the blue ribbon. Miss Alice Roosevelt delivered the prizes to the winners.

SESSION'S LAST DAYS

Much Business Yet Before New York Legislature.

LIVELY TIMES IN ANTICIPATION.

Appropriation Bills Not Yet Reported—Many Important Measures Pending, and Spirited Contests Are Certain.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 20.—Only a very wise man would undertake to prophesy in detail the doings of the last week of the state legislature which opens tonight upon a combination of circumstances out of which unexpected results might emerge. There is no present reason to doubt that adjournment will take place according to the official programme on Thursday, April 23, or with the clock turned back on Friday, but the four legislative days ensuing between now and then have the prospect of being full to overflowing with both work and controversy. The developments of Thursday and Friday in the senate over the confirmation of the governor's appointments of railroad commissioner and superintendent of elections imply the possibility of tense situations which may push actual legislation into long sessions and late hours.

The most direct interest of both houses centers upon the appropriation bills. The supply bill is expected from the senate finance committee tonight. A conference committee will be appointed as usual to compromise with the assembly over the items upon which the two houses may differ. The appropriation bills will probably be acted upon tomorrow and, with the special appropriation bills, will probably be in the governor's hands by Wednesday, so that he may then send for the various interested members for conference and explanation. Governor Odell has announced in unmistakable terms that there will be no direct tax for state purposes while he is governor, and it is certain that he will cut the appropriation bills to suit the cloth of the money in hand or actually in sight. The only direct state tax which will be imposed this year for state purposes will be that required by the state constitution, thirteen-hundredths mills, for the interest upon the canal debt.

The effect of the governor's determination upon the still pending mortgage tax proposition cannot be stated.

The water storage commission bill of Senator Lewis, over which there has been much controversy and criticism, having passed the senate, will come up for action in the assembly and is expected to pass. It is understood that all of the so called "grab" street railroad bills have been abandoned.

The New York city police force increase bill, amended so as to include the three platoon system, is now in the hands of Mayor Low. It is understood that it will be returned with his veto, and the vote upon the measure indicates there will not be sufficient votes to pass it over his veto. In case it is so passed, however, the attitude of Governor Odell in recognizing the wish of the city authorities is believed to indicate that he would not approve it in the face of the mayor's opposition.

A number of important measures are still pending and promise some spirited contests.

Postoffice Supplies.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Postmaster General Payne has appointed a committee to consider proposals for supplies for the postoffice department and the postal service during the fiscal year beginning July 1 next. The bids will be opened at the supply division of the department May 4. The committee consists of Chief Clerk E. E. Kimball of the money order system, Superintendent J. H. Reeve of the bureau of postage stamp supplies and postmasters' accounts and J. A. Moyer, a clerk in the office of the second assistant postmaster general.

Turned Out of His Home.

WORCESTER, Mass., April 20.—James Keyes, who lives alone on the Grafton road, was turned out of house and home at 2 o'clock in the morning by three men and left in freezing weather to shift for himself. Patrick Cahill, David Fleming and Edward Cosgrove were arrested by mounted police and held for examination. They were found in the house. They demanded entrance and when Keyes refused broke in, turned him out, ate what food there was and laid down to sleep, kicking Keyes out of his own home.

Death of Sir Oliver Mowat.

TORONTO, April 20.—Sir Oliver Mowat, lieutenant governor of Ontario, is dead. He was eighty-three years old. Sir Oliver had been in feeble health for some time, but the accident in which he broke his leg hastened the end. He was premier of Ontario from 1872 to 1896, twenty-four years, thus earning the distinction of having had the longest continuous term of office as premier ever accorded to any man by the people of any province or colony in the British empire.

Sousa In Paris.

PARIS, April 20.—Sousa and his band opened at the Nouveau theater and scored a marked success, most of the numbers receiving encores. Sousa responded to these with plantation songs and dance music of his own composition, to the great delight of the many Americans present.

Burned Herself Fatally.

TIFFIN, O., April 20.—Mrs. Samuel Schriver, who resided near Tiffin, while mentally unbalanced poured coal oil over her clothing and set fire to herself. She was terribly burned and died four hours later.

TOTAL ABSTINENCE.

Was the Verdict of Science at the Antialcohol Congress.

SPIRITUOUS LIQUORS NOT A FOOD.

Delegates From Fifteen Nations, Many Notable In the Service of Humanity, Testify Against Moderate Drinking.

NEW YORK, April 20.—Mrs. Mary H. Hunt of Boston, representing the Women's Christian Temperance union at the international antialcohol congress at Bremen, has sent the following communication regarding the work of the assembly, which closed its ninth session yesterday:

"The international antialcohol congress that meets biennially on the continent has closed its ninth session. It has been in the matter of attendance and well known persons present the most remarkable of any session of the congress. This body of 1,400 delegates, notable in science and in the service of humanity as university professors or for their hereditary rank, have come here from fifteen different nations on two hemispheres.

"Questions of religion and politics were wisely ruled out of such a varied assemblage. The subjects discussed were the teachings of science concerning a moderate use of alcohol and the effect of its use on every phase of human progress. Two schools of thought were represented—the moderates, who call themselves the 'temperate school,' and the total abstainers, who are called the 'abstinence school.' By common consent the congress passed no resolutions, but the applause for the testimony of science and experience on behalf of total abstinence showed the moderates to be in the minority.

"The statement of Dr. August Forel, one of the foremost authorities in the world on brain and nerve diseases, that neither science nor experience furnishes evidence to justify calling alcohol a food called out prolonged acclamations. The papers read by notable members of the congress during these six days will fill two or three volumes and soon will be printed for wide distribution."

In compliment to the United States Mrs. Hunt presided at Saturday's session of the congress. After the sightseeing excursions today the delegates to the congress will separate.

Sultan Urged to Act.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 20.—The Italian, German, Russian and Austrian ambassadors to Turkey have had audiences of the sultan in which they urged the imperative necessity of checking the Albanian disorders. Much comment has been raised by the significant fact that the Austrian and Russian ambassadors saw the sultan jointly, as this is almost unprecedented. It is reported that the representatives of both these countries took a very serious tone in speaking with the sultan and that his majesty promised acquiescence to their demands. The Albanians at Ipek still detain the sultan's commissioners as hostage.

Fighting In Venezuela.

RIO CHICO, Venezuela, April 20.—Four thousand one hundred government troops, under command of First Vice President Gomez, on Saturday and Sunday attacked the newly erected and formidable rebel entrenchments at El Guapo, near Rio Chico, which had been occupied during the night of Friday by revolutionists under the command of General Rolando. The government forces executed a concentric movement, and the revolutionists are surrounded. General Rolando has received numerous re-enforcements.

Colombian Assembly Ends.

PANAMA, April 20.—The assembly of the department of Panama has ended its session. Among other important matters which were settled is the placing of a duty of 25 per cent on all merchandise imported to the isthmus and the approval of a contract for the lighting of Colon made with the Colon Electric Illuminating company. This company was organized in West Virginia. The contract with it was made in 1898, but was suspended a year later by the governor of the department when the revolution broke out.

Winter Weather In Germany.

BERLIN, April 20.—The wintry weather in Germany continues. Reports from southern Germany speak of a heavy snow fall in various sections. Fruit trees that had already blossomed have been ruined. A hurricanelike snowstorm swept over eastern Prussia. A terrific gale is blowing over Berlin, and there have been driving flurries of snow. The temperature here is 32 degrees F.

Wrecked by a Broken Rail.

MANSFIELD, O., April 20.—An east bound Pennsylvania passenger train was wrecked at Loudonville by a broken rail. The engine and baggage car went over on their sides, and three Pullmans were derailed. No passengers are reported seriously hurt.

Arson Charged In $85,000 Fire.

OWENSBORO, Ky., April 20.—E. O. Thomas, who was recently discharged from the penitentiary, was arrested here, charged with arson for the burning of the Owensboro Trousers Manufacturing company's plant. The loss by fire was $85,000. There was $70,000 insurance on the stock and $15,000 on the building.

Chinese Appointments.

PEKING, April 20.—Chen Chuen Hsuan has been appointed viceroy of Kwangtung and Kwangsi provinces, and Hsi Liang has been made viceroy of Szechuan province. Both are strong men and probably will suppress the rebellion.

STILL ALARMS.

Every year, the report of the Chief Engineer of the Plainfield fire department showsan increasing number of telephone and still alarms sent in during the year. Indirectly a decided compliment is paid to the local department by that same fact It shows that the people of Plainfield are getting over their fear of calling in the department when a blaze first starts. In the good old days, before the times of the chemical engine, a visit from the department meant a flood of water. Now, however, the hand extinguishers are used first and then the chemical engine while the regular streams are not utilized except in cases of necessity. With only trained men on hand, the citizens are glad to open their doors to the firemen knowing that they will do their work as quickly as possible and with as little damage as possible.

There is another reason for an increase in the number of still and 'phone alarms. People have learned that an alarm sent in from a box and sounded on the whistle, when it happens to be working right, always brings a crowd of sight seers who frequently get in the way of the regular firemen and do more or less damage in their attempts to help the fire fighters. The day is not far distant when the fire alarm whistle will be abolished and it will be an excellent thing. When the fire department is enlarged sufficiently to have enough regular men on duty at each house so that there will be no necessity for "call-men," the whistle will be no longer needed. Then the department will be able to go to a fire without finding a wild crowd rushing directly in it spath and there will be comparatively few to interfere with the men in the performance of their duties.

Of late, the fire alarm whistle has been out of order. The trouble was that the house gongs have also failed to work properly in some cases. If only the whistle was out of order, it might really be a gain instead of a detriment to the city.

While there is no epidemic of disease sweeping over North Plainfield because that community does not possess a system of sewers, it is nevertheless imperative that such a system should be provided in the near future. The time to act is before the trouble comes. There is already a recognized obstacle to the progress of the borough in the lack of sewers. Other up-to-date communities smaller than North Plainfield have them and North Plainfield must have them to be able to compete with its rivals. The Borough Sewage Commission has properly called a public meeting to consides the matter. Then every citizen of the borough should be on hand and, if possessed of any opinion, express it. There is no attempt to railroad any scheme through. Discussion is courted by the Commission.

With so many baseball teams in the field this year, one is compelled to wonder where they are all going to play. Either the city is going to develop a whole lot of new baseball cranks or else some of the contests will see a rather slim attendance.

The Somerville papers are beginning to believe that silence is the best policy to pursue regarding the future of the Greater Plainfield movement. Polite little dabs on their part have brought out that the movement is by no means dead or even sleeping.

The golf players have begun to prepare for the summer's attractions. There is hardly a town in the Eastern States that does not boast of a golf course now.

Again is the public impressed that the Common Council made a great mistake when it set the time for the street sprinkling by the trolley at May 15.

The opening game of professional baseball in New York gave undisputable evidence that the National game is high in general favor.

ORGAN RECITAL.

Given at Grace Episcopal Church by Paul Martin, of New York.

Paul Martin, the well-known organist of New York, gave the first of a series of organ recitals, at Grace P. E. church, last evening, from 7:30 to 8 o'clock, during which time he rendered several selections including Grand Offertoire (St. Cecile) Baptiste; Spinleid (arranged by Martin) Littolf; Pastorale and Final (Sonata in D Minor) Guilmant. The rendition was fine and everyone seemed well pleased. After the organ recital the regular church service was held.

Mr. and Mrs. Dexter O. Tiffany, of New York, spent Sunday in Plainfield with relatives.

For liver troubles and constipation
There's nothing better in creation
Than Little Early Risers, the famous little pills
They always effect a cure and save doctor bills.
Little Early Risers are different from all other pills. They do not weaken the system, but act as a tonic to the tissues by arousing the secretions and restoring the liver to the full performance of its functions naturally.

OUTLOOK AT CORNELL.

No Change in Summer Session—Few Students to Quit.

ITHACA, N. Y., April 20.—It is announced that at a meeting of the board of trustees of Cornell university President Schurman presented a report on the present condition of the university showing that since April 1 inquiries had been addressed to 2,677 students registered this year at Ithaca with a view to ascertaining how many would return to the university in September next and that replies have been received from nine-tenths of the students, indicating that, excluding the graduating class, there are only thirty-two undergraduates out of the whole number who do not intend to return to the university in September.

After an exhaustive consideration of the subject the trustees unanimously decided that there was no reason for making any change in the schedule work announced in the register, and the summer session will accordingly be held as usual. The university made an appropriation to pay a special sanitary officer to be appointed by the board of health of the city of Ithaca to inspect all boarding and lodging houses offering accommodations to students of the university.

The board unanimously adopted the following resolution offered by President Schurman:

"Resolved, That the university pledge itself and it hereby pledges itself to duplicate out of its own funds all residential halls received as unrestricted gifts up to the aggregate limit of $500,000, it being understood that such halls shall be of plain, substantial character, fireproof and as beautiful as is compatible with simplicity and economy."

Conger Tells of Boxer Movement.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Minister Conger reports to the state department from Peking under date of March 12 that an attempt has been made in the district of Yutien, about a hundred miles west of Peking, to reorganize the Boxer movement, but was promptly suppressed by the energetic action of the viceroy, the famous Yuan Shih Hi, who stood like a rock against the Boxers in 1900. Several soldiers lost their lives in their attempt to arrest the criminals. Several of the criminals were killed, and ten others were arrested, who are to be beheaded and their heads exposed where the organization started. Mr. Conger says only such prompt and severe measures will prevent similar organizations in other localities and that it is hoped and believed Yuan Shih Hi will continue as he has begun.

Brewers For Sunday Closing.

COLUMBUS, O., April 20.—As a result of the temperance agitation throughout the state and numerous elections under the Beal local option law the brewers have decided to aid the enforcement of the Sunday closing laws in the smaller municipalities. Secretary Joe Miller of the State Association of Brewers said: "The brewers of the state are in favor of a strict enforcement of the Sunday closing law in the smaller municipalities of Ohio. I have telephoned to more than fifty mayors in the past week, telling them that if they desire to enforce the Sunday closing law in their towns the brewers will stand behind them and assume all responsibility for any action they may take. If they want to enforce the law we will help them do it."

Loubet Not Allowed to Rest.

TLEMCEN, Algeria, April 20.—Although it was intended that Sunday would be a day of rest, President Loubet worked hard in receiving various delegations and a number of native chiefs, including several from tribes on the Moroccan frontier, among whom he distributed decorations and presents. The president inspected the native schools, but the neighborhood excursions which had been planned were prevented by a heavy fall of rain. As the surrounding region has suffered long from drought, many natives attributed the rainfall to the presence of the ruler of the French republic.

College Christian Association.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 20.—The final session of the eighteenth annual meeting of the International College Christian association was held in the Phillips Brooks House last evening, and the Rev. Dr. McKenzie of the Cambridge Congregational church addressed the members in an informal talk. Other speakers were Mr. Richards of Columbia, Mr. Edwards of Yale, intercollegiate secretary for New York of the New York association; Mr. Beaver, general secretary for New York state, and Mr. Williams, who was chairman of the day, secretary of the international committee.

A Colorado Blizzard.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., April 20.—The worst windstorm since that of Nov. 19, 1901, has been raging at Colorado Springs. At times the wind had a velocity of fifty miles an hour. Trains were delayed, and the cog road to the summit of Pike's peak was blocked by snowdrifts. A train at Windy Point, not far from the summit, was almost blown from the track and found it impossible to proceed.

Father of Twenty-eight.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—James Furman, colored, has become the father of a son and has registered its birth in the family Bible and numbered it twenty-eight. Furman has been twice married, and each wife has given him fourteen children. Among them were triplets and two sets of twins.

Tooth Pulling Causes Death.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., April 20.—F. A. Vanauken, for fifteen years chief clerk in the office of the inspector general at Governors Island, died at his home in this city from blood poisoning, following the extraction of a tooth.

SIX NEW CRUISERS.

Launching of the West Virginia to Be Followed by Others Soon.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., April 20.—The successful launching here on Saturday of the new 15,000 ton armored cruiser West Virginia, calls to mind the fact that five other heavy war ships are in process of construction at various shipyards to complete the number authorized by the Fifty-fifth congress. The West Virginia will be followed the latter part of this month by the Colorado, a sister, building at Cramps' shipyard at Philadelphia, and the latter will be followed in short order by the Maryland, another sister, which is building here alongside of the West Virginia. The other three armored cruisers, the California, the South Dakota and the Nebraska, building at other shipyards, are not so far advanced.

Not since March 24, 1898, has Newport News entertained such a large concourse of people as was here to witness Saturday's event. On that occasion the twin battle ships Kearsarge and Kentucky were launched at the shipyard within an hour of each other. Two governors, many senators and congressmen, as well as state legislators, a large party of naval officers and other government officials and a large number of men prominent in state affairs from Virginia, West Virginia and elsewhere, were among the spectators.

The sponsor for the West Virginia, the largest war ship put overboard for the United States government, was Miss Katharine Vaughan White, eldest daughter of Governor Albert B. White, chief executive of the Coal Mountain State.

A TROLLEY CAR RUNAWAY.

Two Score Passengers Hurt In Pittsburg Accident.

PITTSBURG, April 20.—Because an electric brake refused to work a crowded Western avenue car of the Pittsburg Railways company ran away on Federal street, Allegheny, wrecked a carriage, broke through the safety gates of the Fort Wayne railroad, derailed a fast moving freight train and then went to pieces. Almost all of the forty-five passengers aboard the car were hurt, though only one fatally.

When the motorman tried to make the safety stop on the steep grade at Stockton avenue he found the power brake was useless and the car beyond control. It had about 125 yards to go before reaching the gates of the railroad, which were down to let a freight train pass. The big car gained momentum every second and dashed through the safety gates, struck an empty refrigerator car in the moving freight train, turned it over and derailed several other cars. By this time the trolley was a wreck itself, and its passengers were strewn in all directions, the wonder being that there were not many fatalities.

Death Unmasked Supposed Pauper.

OMAHA, Neb., April 20.—The lifeless body of John Bohn, a retired saloon keeper, was found in his room in the Klondike hotel last night. A search of the room revealed $44,000 in railroad, bank stock and cash. Bohn had been ill for a number of days, but had been able to be about. When he was called, there was no answer, and the door was forced, and the body of Bohn was found lying upon the bed. A revolver with one of the chambers empty was grasped in his right hand, and there was a gaping wound in his breast just over the heart. Bohn had been regarded as almost a pauper, and no one knew of the wealth that he had secreted. So far as is known he had no relatives.

Presented to Francis Joseph.

VIENNA, April 20.—The Duchess of Marlborough (Consuelo Vanderbilt) was presented to Emperor Francis Joseph at a soiree given at the Hofburg in honor of the marriage of the Archduchess Elizabeth Amalia, daughter of the late Archduke Karl Ludwig, brother of Emperor Francis Joseph, to Prince Aloyse von Lichtenstein. The wife of the British ambassador at Vienna, Sir F. R. Plunkett, who was a Miss Morgan of Philadelphia, made the presentation. The Duchess of Marlborough was strikingly clad in a magnificent white gown and wore pearls and diamonds.

Chicago Greeks In a Riot.

CHICAGO, April 20.—Because one of their number had been arrested for creating a disturbance a crowd of Greeks who were celebrating their Easter Sunday here created a riot, and before the mob could be dispersed three of them had been shot by Policeman Cohen and Henry Oppenheimer, a bystander, who came to the assistance of Cohen. The three wounded men, who are said to have been the leaders of the attack on the officer, were arrested. None of them was seriously injured. The disturbance occurred near the Greek Catholic church in Johnson street.

Well Known Author Dead.

XENIA, O., April 20.—Dr. David McDill, widely known as an author of theological works, has just died here from heart trouble. He was formerly president of philosophy at Monmouth college and retired last year from a professorship in the Xenia Theological seminary, where he had taught since 1885. He was a trustee of Miami university, having been appointed by Governor McKinley.

Revolution Grows Stronger.

ST. THOMAS, Danish West Indies, April 20.—A steamer which left Monte Christi, Santo Domingo, April 17, has just arrived here. She reports that the rebels are besieging Monte Christi by land and sea. The rebel gunboat Independencia was anchored in the harbor. The revolution is gathering strength and has many adherents throughout the country.

THE NEW SHIRT WAISTS.

Fashion Never Devised Anything Daintier or More Enticing.

Surely fashion never devised anything daintier or more enticing than the materials now offered for and in the shirt waists for the season. Linen is produced in styles of weave and degrees of coarseness, roughness and also delicate fineness never before thought of. The linen knickerbocker effect is entirely new and makes up into suits with the blouse instead of shirt waist. This comes in several shades and colors and looks exactly like wool knickerbocker suiting. Linen is so well liked that one finds it in every quality and every degree of shade from the natural flax to the bleached batiste, which is so fine that it is a wonder it is ever woven. Many beautiful and dressy house frocks are made of pure white linen in such weave as best pleases the wearer. They are trimmed with rather heavy lace in cream and sometimes even in butter color. The linens are shown in all the season's best colors, and they are fast, so that the wearer need not fear to put as much trimming as she will on them. The tints are blue, pink, heliotrope and sulphur yellow. These are all beautiful when trimmed with lace.

NEW WAISTS FOR WARM DAYS.

Lace in small separate figures called medallions is set along the front fold on yokes and among tucks wherever they seem called for. They are very dainty and are used on so many of the waists and skirts that it would be unprofitable to mention them in detail.

A long list of materials especially adapted for waists for summer are shown, and it seems that nearly everything is mercerized. This means that the fabric has been made frosty and lustrous by some treatment with silica ground to an impalpable powder. It is certainly handsome, but so far as my experience goes will not survive the laundry. So let whoever buys it be careful and keep it out of the water. Everything, even the stiff swiss muslins, is mercerized. The new silk and linen batistes are exquisite. They show lacy lines and lines where there are swivel woven blossoms in natural colors on a natural grass tint. Silk and cotton woven together make another very delicate and dainty fabric, for the most part in tints with Pompadour figures.

Quite a number of the light materials have a border of embroidery woven along the edge so that it can be utilized as trimming. Some materials are shown with quite wide stripes of openwork like lace or embroidery, and between them the plain linen.

Shirt waists are made of all of these and many more, but the shirt waists of this season are marked by neater effects than they were—that is, they are built more compactly. Few of them have that ugly and obstreperous extension to go under the belt. These have the finish of a belt, and very many waists have a snug lining stiffened with featherbone, which washes like cord.

Almost every waist has the bishop sleeves, with cuffs narrow or deep, as suits the wearer best. Many have yoke effects and are trimmed as fancy dictates, but in a close and neat manner. All have high collars more or less ornamental. Quite a new fancy is to have a yoke in a sort of bertha shape, with long, pointed ends which reach down like the front of the bodices in the pictures of Queen Elizabeth. The blouse shape is modified somewhat and the point in front is accentuated. One made in this style was of soft pale blue louisine silk. The yoke was tucked across and the bertha had two rows of fine insertion and a narrow edging to match. Medallions of lace were set all around the bertha and on the stock. The sleeves to this came but to the elbow. It is intended for a dressy occasion. The belt and bands around the sleeves were of dark green velvet. Another pretty waist of chiffon foulard was open in front, like a vest, and the front was closely tucked and of a shade lighter than the silks in the embroidery which ran down each side. The waist had sleeve caps; so did another made of figured silk. This had a simulated yoke outlined by a skillful application of lace and medallions. One pleasing style has tucks along the shoulders and down the outside of the sleeves, while three embroidered straps add to its finish.

HENRIETTE ROUSSEAU.

[Copyright, 1900, by A. N. Kellogg Newspaper Co.]

"Do you think it would be better for you to give me up?" were her words, each delivered after a little incredulous halt. "You see, Ronald, I have never known whether I could be a help to you. If you should want me, I would be ready to stand by you through trouble, adversity—everything that might come; but you are the man; you know best, and if" (her eyes went darting from one rigid face to the other) "if—" she made an other beginning, but broke down and put her handkerchief to her eyes. Her breast heaved high.

Hasbrooke nodded despairingly to Ronald and the latter took the hint.

"Circumstances beyond our control make it advisable that we should separate," he said, automatically.

She uncovered her face, disclosing no trace of tears. "Am I to be told about the—the circumstances?"

"They concern only myself," answered Ronald, with another glance at her father. "I would rather not speak of them."

"Very well, then," she drew herself up erect. "I may as well say good-by." As she gave him her hand the eyes of her father flashed with subtle pride, but the next moment he had another glimpse of her inmost soul. "Remember, Ronald," she said, "that I shall never kneel down without praying for you. Remember that I shall never love another man as long as I live!"

He bowed low; he tried to say something, but the ball in his throat rose and choked him. He heard the door close and knew she was gone.

Like an automaton, Hasbrooke moved forward and laid his two hands on the shoulders of the crushed young man.

"It has ended better than I could have hoped," he declared. "Bear up. Many things are within your grasp, but my child was not for you. She's not for me, either, Fanshaw" (sighing) "she'll never be the same again—never!"

CHAPTER XVIII.

The next month was December. Christmas day was made known to the Fanshaws chiefly by the fireworks which were discharged by the negroes on the Hasbrooke estate. The dawn came in with a great tooting of horns, beating of old pans, the discharge of guns, the bursting of inflated hog bladders. There was to be a cake-walk in the barn, a dance, a barbecued ox, a glorious feast, a Christmas tree.

The Fanshaws were not going to indulge even in an extra dinner. Ronald had remembered his hands by presents of money, but they were going to spend it in town. Something, however, did happen to mark the day as an eventful one. Old Jade Fanshaw was brought home in Bud Tarbell's dump cart, on a pile of wheat straw, covered by an old quilt. This occurred about 12 o'clock in the day. Ronald remembered that it took place just as the dinner bell rang at Carnleigh. Bud Tarbell told the little group in the front yard that Jade "wasn't dead an' they needn't be skeerd." He explained that he was driving along a mountain road looking for sticks of lightwood when he saw Fanshaw walking ahead of him as sound as a dollar as far as he was able to see. He looked away for a minute and then he saw Fanshaw down on his all-fours, crawling along with head down like a grazing cow.

"At fust I was afeerd of 'im, fur he was actin' mighty curis," observed Tarbell, "but terrectly his knee j'ints seemed to flicker an' he come down kerplunk in the mud on his stomach. Then I drive up an' put 'im in my cart."

Mrs. Fanshaw was always a calm woman; she went out at the gate, waddled up to the cart, and shook the human heap on the straw.

"Lucky heer, what's a-ailin' of you, Jade?" she asked, seeing his eyes open.

Fanshaw sat up slowly, but he looked like a man with only a shadow of a soul in him; his eyes glared in ghastly sockets and their whites had turned red. As he looked round at the group he seemed to recognize them, but a shifting look of terror was in his glance. He began to work his lips, to the edge of which his stubble beard grew, but only unintelligible sounds issued.

"His tongue is paralyzed," commented his wife; "look how that side is drawed down to his neck. I declare he's got a wad o' tobacco betwixt his jaws clamped thar as tight as a cider press. Jade, spit that thar truck out! Spit it out, I tell you!" And as he paid no heed to her commands, she thrust her forefinger between his almost toothless gums as if he were a child and pried out the brown mass. "Well!" she said, resignedly, "we'll have to git 'im in the house, Bud will want his cart. Come, you boys" (to Ronald and David) "help lift 'im out."

Dave sprang into the cart, and Ronald was about to do the same, when Fanshaw's distended eyes fell on him. The old man raised his hands as if to ward off a blow and cried in words now easily understood: "Take 'im away; he wants to kill me!"

Ronald paused, but Fanshaw's terror did not abate. He got to his feet quickly and springing from the cart he ran, his knees knocking together, across the road towards the woods. "Stop 'im, he's tryin' to kill me! He wants me to tell 'im who he is, an' whar t'other is buried!"

A remarkable change came over Mrs. Fanshaw; she turned quickly to Ronald, and with an uneasy smirk, said: "Don't you go nigh 'im, Ron; he's clean out'n his senses, an' thar ain't no tellin' what quar notion might strike 'im."

Ronald stood wondering, as Tarbell and Dave ran after the old man. They caught him by his arms and began to half carry, half drag him towards the house. But Fanshaw's distended eyes were still fixed on Ronald in affright and he struggled and fought his captors like a wild man.

"I'm not agoin' to have 'im put me in jail," he snorted. "He's done reported it to Reddin', an' together they are agoin' to have me swing for what I never done!"

Again Mrs. Fanshaw faced Ronald; this time she stood between him and his father. A frightened look of cunning lay in her heavy-browed eyes. "If I was you, Ron," she said, hurriedly, "I'd go upstairs; he's tuck a quar notion somehow that you are ag'in 'im, an' I wouldn't aggravate 'im."

Glad of an excuse to get away from the harrowing scene our hero went up to his room. Presently he heard the clatter of hob-nailed boots on the porch. The old man, now pacified, was being led like a dumb animal to his room. Then all was quiet below. The silence lasted till he heard Dave's voice outside speaking through a broken window-pane to his mother.

"I'm a-goin' to ride fur a doctor," he was saying.

The floor complained of its burden as Mrs. Fanshaw went out on the porch. "Well," she replied, "you might as well, I reckon; but I wouldn't git Sloan; he'll charge two prices, an' dun us to death. It hain't nothin' but a stroke o'how, an' his drugs nor nobody else's an reach it. It's jest a question o' time. Dr. Wade will do as well as anybody."

Later in the afternoon Ronald had come down and was sitting before the fire in the living room. The man had fallen asleep, watched by Bud Tarbell who had sent his cart home and offered his services according to the custom among neighbors in that vicinity. Mrs. Fanshaw came in and began to look for a bottle of liniment on the mantelpiece.

"Dr. Wade's jest gone off," she told Ronald, "he says it's the second stroke he's had, an' that the next one will carry 'im off as sure as preachin'. If I was you I wouldn't go nigh 'im, Ron, it's best to humor pussons like he is."

Our hero made no reply. Dave came from the sick room and stood on the stone hearth warming his toes at the flames. Mrs. Fanshaw had found the bottle for which she was searching, and turned to go.

WORK OF JEFFERSON.

It Certainly Entitles Him to the Nation's Gratitude.

Memorial to the Author of the Declaration of Independence to Be Erected at Washington by Public Subscription.

It ought to be easy for the Thomas Jefferson Memorial association to accomplish its purpose. The association, which has a branch in each state, and which has Admiral Dewey at its head, has issued an appeal to the American people for funds to erect a tablet, monument or other memorial to Jefferson at the national capital. The intention is not to ask anything from congress, but to rely solely on the voluntary contributions of the people. The admiral says that "the character and cost of the proposed memorial cannot now be stated, but it will be appropriate to the greatness of the man and the importance of the document from which his name is inseparable. Rigid economy will be observed in carrying on the work."

"Here was buried Thomas Jefferson, author of the Declaration of American Independence, of the Statue of Virginia for Religious Freedom, and Father of the University of Virginia." This inscription on his grave in Monticello, written by Jefferson himself, omits one very important claim which its author had on the remembrance of his countrymen. It made no reference to the Louisiana expansion, which is the act of Jefferson's that is uppermost in the minds of his countrymen at this time. Oddly, too, Admiral Dewey, who has just issued his appeal for funds for the memorial, seems not to have had this act in mind. Jefferson's and Dewey's countrymen, however, will supply the omission. The statute of religious freedom for Virginia and the creation of the great university of that state, though important events, were hardly as great as the act by which their author doubled the area of the United States and started the country on its career of expansion. That act averted the possibility of the erection of a Canada on our western border, decreed that the United States should diffuse itself across the continent between the two oceans, and rendered it inevitable that this country should be paramount in the western hemisphere and be one of the great forces in the world's progress.

THOMAS JEFFERSON.
(Monument to His Memory Soon to Be Erected at Washington.)

The lack of a Jefferson memorial in Washington, which has monuments and statues to many smaller personages, is one of the surprises of the age. Jefferson was the first president to be inaugurated in the present seat of American's government. The man for whom the capital city was named was dead at the time the seat of national authority was transferred to its present location. Washington's first inauguration was in New York and Adams' was in Philadelphia, but Jefferson and all his successors have been inducted into office in Washington. For many reasons it is eminently proper that the third president should have a memorial in that city. The vast Louisiana province, which had 17,000,000 of the country's 76,000,000 of people in 1900, and which forms one of the richest portions of the United States, will always be a monument to Jefferson, but the remembrancer which is sought to be put up in the national capital is so eminently fitting that it is strange its erection should have been delayed to our day. Here in the vast region which Jefferson's foresight and courage added to the domain of the American people the appeal for funds for a memorial to him should, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, meet an especially prompt and hearty response.

Mr. Reporter Was Wily.

A Washington reporter, in describing the decorations of one of the white house rooms, pleasantly stated that it was a "nightmare in yellow and blue." To get even with him for this rude comment, an attendant gave him a "loaded" cigar on his next visit. The wily reporter generously passed it to a tramp.

No Elopements in Papua.

Girls in Papua, or New Guinea, an island in the Pacific, have little chance to elope. Their dads force them to sleep in a little house on the topmost branches of a tall tree; then the ladder is removed, and the slumber of the parents is not disturbed with fears of an elopement.

SPORTING NEWS

ON THE DIAMOND.

Arthur Lederer has signed a contract to play baseball this season with the Alis Club.

The members of the Alis Club baseball team were on Crescent Oval Saturday afternoon for practice.

The management of the City High School baseball team has cancelled the two games scheduled for this week out of respect for Captain VanAuken, whose father died Saturday. The games were with the Khiana Club, of Princeton, and with the Princeton "Preps."

The Scotch Plains High School team defeated the Netherwood Field Club in a one-sided game of ball played on the Scotch Plains diamond, Saturday afternoon. The visitors could do nothing with Johnston's delivery, netting only two runs in the nine innings, these being made on errors, while the High School team found Montross' an easy mark. The score at the end of the game stood 24 to 2 in favor of the 'Plains team.

Saturday's baseball game between the Watchung A. C., of Dunellen and the Tower Club, of Princeton University, played at Dunellen Saturday afternoon proved to be full of excitement. Although the article of ball played was not of the best, the excitement was always at a fever heat. Errors were frequent, as were base hits. The visitors started off well, getting nine runs in the first two innings. After that the home players slowly cut down their lead and beat them out in the ninth inning, the final score being 15 to 14. The Dunellen team played well in the outfield but some bad errors were made in the infield. Both pitchers were batted hard, but Ayres was a trifle more effective. A number of two base hits were made by both sides. The batteries were, for the Watchung's, Ayres and McMann, and for the Tower Club, Duffy and Thomas.

GOLF.

Howard deP. Wright, of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, has decided to enter the championship golf tournament to be held in the near future at Baltusrol.

The course of the Park Golf Club on the side of the mountain was informally opened Saturday afternoon. A good turnout of members took advantage of the delightful weather to play at their favorite sport. There were no regular events, but the opening contest for the President's cup will be held Saturday.

BASKET BALL.

There will be a basketball game Wednesday evening between Hope Y. M. A. and I. C. T. teams at I. C. T. rooms. Arrangements have been made for dancing after the game.

FOUGHT FOR BOY.

Grandmother Resisted Efforts of a Patrolman to Land Boy in Jail.

While arresting three boys from the West End this morning at 9 o'clock Patrolman McCarthy had a sharp scrimmage with the grandmother of one of the boys, who tried to prevent the officer from arresting her grandson. She tried to claw the officer but he soon had her safely in the house and then marched the lads to headquarters where they gave their names of Lawrence Mitchell, William Rider and Clarence Horner.

They had been annoying a small shop keeper who has a place of business near Muhlenberg Hospital and the proprietor decided to have them arrested on charges of robbery as he has known, he says, for some time that the boys have been making petty thefts at his store.

FIRST SERVICE.

Opening of Colored Mission at Grace Church Parish House.

The first service in the parish house of Grace P. E. church for colored people was held yesterday afternoon and was well attended. Rev. E. V. Stevenson, rector of the church, conducted the service and made a short address. There seems to be evidences of a well-established colored mission and an increase in attendance is looked for each succeeding Sunday. There are a number of colored people identified with Grace church and they seem well pleased with the present arrangement of a service for them.

To Conduct Funeral.

BOROUGH BOYS DEFEATED

OPENED SEASON AGAINST PENNINGTON SEMINARY NINE.

Pennington Won 4 to 0—Good Game Played by North Plainfield High School—The Score.

The North Plainfield High School baseball team played the first game of the season Saturday afternoon with the Pennington Seminary at Pennington. The local players were defeated by a score of 4 to 0 although they played a brisk game and in the face of odds. The noteworthy incidents of the game were some clever catches by Steven McLaughlin, who twirled the ball for the North Plainfielders, and an accident which happened to Herbert Conover. He was struck in the face with a ball which came directly from the bat. His injuries are slight, however.

The pitching of Manager George, of the local team, while he filled the box, was especially worthy of mention. His work was the means of saving the boroughites from a greater defeat.

After the game the local players were dined by their opponents and a tour was taken through the seminary grounds and buildings. The batting order of the North Plainfield team was as follows: Mundy, 3b; McLaughlin, 1b and pitcher; Conover, ss, Humble, 2b; Owens, c; Newmiller, lf; Kipsey, cf; Shuck, rf and 1b; Brose, rf; George, p; Nischwitz, rf.

The score:

P. S.	1	2	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	—4
N. P. H. S.	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	—0

DEATH OF MRS. WOOD.

Strong Friend of Children's Home Passed Away This Morning.

Mrs. Mary Anna Esterbrook Wood, wife of Francis Wood, died at her home on Franklin place at an early hour this morning. She had been in poor health for several years with a nervous trouble which resulted in complications but her death was not expected.

Mrs. Wood was the daughter of the late Richard Esterbrook, founder of the great steeel pen house. She was born in Cornwall, England, but had lived in this city for the past twenty five years. In disposition she was most charitable and loving and devoted a great deal of time and effort to the Children's Home. For many years she had worked for its interests. She was a member of the Society of Orthodox Friends. Two daughters survive her, the Misses Mary Anna and Katharine Wood, both of whom reside in this city.

The funeral will be held from her late residence, Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Interment will be made at Hillside.

Horse Threatened Window.

A horse belonging to a man who lives on the upper end of Somerset street, near the Notch, had the blind staggers in front of the drug store of John P. Powers, on Somerset street, yesterday afternoon and for a time threatened to dash into the large plate glass show window. The horse was caught before it could do any damage. The driver would not give the name of the owner of the rig.

Repeated Easter Music.

The choir of the First Baptist church, last evening, repeated the programme of music rendered on Easter Sunday and the church was filled with an appreciative audience. The various anthems, part songs and solo parts were well given and greatly enjoyed. During the service there was a short discourse by Rev. G. M. Shott, of Scotch Plains, who also preached at the morning service.

Sentence Suspended on Three.

Suspensions of sentence were in order at today's session of the city court. Of three prisoners arraigned on charged of drunkenness and disorderly conduct all were sent on their way rejoicing without first having to put up any coin of the realm. The defendants were John Reagan, Winfield S. Chase and Edward Calloway.

Gun Club Meeting.

The postponed meeting of the Independent Gun Club will be held this evening at the Arlington Hotel on Somerset street when the recent scores will be scheduled and reports of the year's work will be read.

For Baseball Team.

Simmons Octoroons, a colored organization of singers and dancers, will give performances in Reform Hall for the next three nights. The proceeds will be for the benefit of the Reform A. A. baseball team.

Due Notice is Served.

Due notice is hereby served on the public generally that DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is the only salve on the market that is made from the pure, unadulterated witch hazel. PEACH CROP NOT INJURED

THE RESULT OF INVESTIGATION MADE IN HUNTERDON COUNTY.

The Freeze of Two Weeks Ago Did Not Do the Damage That Was Expected.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Flemington, April 20—Ninety-five replies out of 100 inquiries sent out to the largest peach growers in Hunterdon county regarding the prospects for this year's crop of peaches state that the buds were not injured by the freeze of two weeks ago, and that the usual number of baskets will be marketed this year.

Following the cold snap, the alarming news was sent out from the peach growing districts to the effect that the crop had probably been ruined. To get a more satisfactory view of the situation as to what might be expected from the extensive groves of Hunterdon county, a correspondent sent out 100 inquiries, with the result above stated.

There are hundreds of thousands of dollars invested in the culture of peaches in this county, and it is not only important to those who grow the peaches, but to thousands of others who are interested in them either through their pocketbook or palate, for it is from the groves of Hunterdon, Warren, Sussex and Somerset counties that come the round, rosy, juicy peaches under their soft white down, of the most luscious varieties.

The blackberry, raspberry, strawberry, apple, pear and plum crops are also reported to be uninjured The cherry crop, it is thought, will be seriously affected by the freeze.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

Complaints are frequently heard about the lack of trolley facilities on Arlington avenue. The present schedule calls for the running of one car every half hour and, has often been said before, a person can walk from one end of the line to the other in that time, rather than wait for a car. It has been said that the switches on that line were arranged for the operation of three cars, in the hopes that some day the line would be extended beyond the present terminus at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club grounds. However, during the summer months two cars should be operated on the line, especially when the baseball season opens up on Crescent Oval.

An amusing story is being related among the friends of a well-known Plainfielder, who is somewhat of a politician. Several days ago this Plainfielder went to Elizabeth to visit some co-political friends and late in the evening while on his way to catch a trolley car for home by mistake he entered the all-night lunch wagon and asked the proprietor how soon that car would start for Plainfield. The man was slightly bewildered for a few minutes, until the proprietor of the lunch-wagon explained that he did not run a trolley car. In a few minutes the Plainfielder found himself on a trolley car homeward bound. His friends are now having a good laugh at his expense.

'PLAINS PLANS FOR STRONG BALL NINE

Manager Johnston Outlines His Team and Schedule for the Coming Season.

THE FIRST GAME MAY 2

AFTER THAT WILL COME SOME FINE GAMES WITH STRONG TEAMS.

Games to be Played With Plainfield's and Westfield's Best—Several Changes on the Nine—Probable Line Up of Team.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, April 21—After two months of preparation, Manager Johnston, of the Scotch Plains baseball team, is prepared to say that he has one of the best and strongest amateur nines in this section of the State. By dint of hard work he has gathered together some of the finest material in the Metropolitan district and once team work is established Scotch Plains need fear no rival. All the men are expert throwers, hitters and the quickest of the quick in using judgment at critical points. This has been learned from practice and close observance in other games.

The season is scheduled to start May 2 and from then on until fall only the best aggregations of ball tossers will be taken on. During May and June some of the teams with which the 'Plains nine will cross bats are the Roselle F. C., the Elizabeth Y. M. C. A., The Alis, Y. M. C. A., Safe Works, St. Marys and Hopes, of Plainfield, and others equally well known. On the morning of July 4, the team is scheduled to journey to Westfield and cross bats with Manager Denman's colts. It will no doubt draw a large crowd as it is the first time arrangements could be made to get the teams together.

As prepared at present, the Scotch Plains line-up will be: Brogan, catcher; Davis and Harvey, pitchers; Hand, first base; Bolsterli or Baldwin, first base; Crusius, short stop; Gasmeyer, third base; Harvey or Davis, right field; Flannery, center field; Baldwin or Bolsterli, left field. With the exception of Bolsterli and Gasmeyer, the players need no introduction to 'Plains' cranks. The later comes recommended as one of the best third baseman in Greater New York and able to hold up his end with anybody. Bolsterli is a Plainfield man and wore the Y. M. C. A. uniform last year. He is an all round man, being able to cover any position in the team with second, short and catcher as specialties.

Of course, this aggregation costs money to maintain and the management is depending upon baseball lovers to help along the good cause. There is a financial end to be taken into consideration and if the games are patronized, good, clean sport will be furnished.

TENNYSON'S HEROINES.

Discussed in Leon Vincent's Lecture Before Monday Afternoon Club.

An interesting lecture on "The Idyls of the King" was given yesterday afternoon at the Casino by Leon Vincent, this being the third in the series given by him on the poems of Alfred Tennyson before the Monday Afternoon Club. The lecture prefaced his analysis of the poems by attributing the affection and esteem in which they are held to the love for the story telling art in all ages.

The three heroines, Elaine, Vivian and Guinevere, with their widely different characteristics and varied types of womanhood, formed the grouping in Mr. Vincent's analysis and treatment of the poems.

Correction Concerning Funeral.

Through an error on the part of the informant, it was stated yesterday that Rev. E. V. Stevenson, of Grace P. E. church, conducted the services at the funeral of Mary Bond Calkins, the young daughter of Leighton and Nella Bond Whiton Calkins, held Saturday from the home of the parents. Rev. Henry Washburn, of Worcester, Mass., a cousin of Mrs. Calkins and a nephew of John M. Whiton, officiated.

An important meeting of the Hope Y. M. A. is to be held this evening, beginning at 8 o'clock. All members are asked to be present.

REPORTS AND ELECTION.

At Annual Parish Meeting Held at First Baptist Church Last Evening.

The annual parish meeting of the First Baptist church was held last evening. O. B. Leonard, the church clerk, also acted as chairman of the meeting, and after the reading of the minutes of the previous meetings the report of the treasurer, Alex. Gilbert, was read by himself. This showed a gratifying condition of affairs. The total receipts for the year were $7,424.56 and the disbursements $6,979.38, leaving a net balance, with all bills paid of $445.18.

Following the reading of the report two trustees were elected for three years. Alex. Gilbert and F. E. Kinsman were chosen to succeed themselves. This concluded the business of the evening and the meeting adjourned.

GUN CLUB'S MANY PLANS

ARRANGING A SHOOT, A DANCE AND A MAY WALK.

Committee Appointed to Arrange for a May Walk Sometime Next Month.

Reports and schedules were read last evening at the Independent Gun Club meeting at its club rooms in the Arlington Hotel. Most of the members were present and a social time followed the meeting. The reports read were merely those of the shoots which have been held during the year just closed and plans for the shoot which will be held at the home grounds were submitted. It is probable that the next shoot will be held on May 30, Decoration Day.

Henry Haurand, William Mills, Charles Jensen, Frank Keller, Charles Keller, and Louis VanDyke, were appointed a committee on the dance which will be given by the club on May 4 at Saengerbund Hall.

A committee was also appointed to arrange for a May walk which will be held some time next month. Those who will have the affair in charge are Charles Keller, chairman; Dennis M. Baglin and William Mills.

Music and a general social time was enjoyed after the meeting and at a late hour refreshments were served.

COMPLETED DOUBLE TRACK.

Lackawanna Finished Last Stretch Between Morristown and Denville.

The Lackawanna Railroad Company has completed the double track of its line between Morristown and Denville. This makes the entire road one of double tracks. As a result of this several changes will be made in the running of trains, which will improve the suburban service on this road. Trains that have heretofore run between New York and Boonton and New York and Morristown will be sent through Dover. This will give Morris Plains, Mt. Tabor and Rockaway several additional trains.

Getting More Members.

At the meeting of Benevolent Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., Friday evening last three propositions were received. At the meeting this week Friday evening eleven candidates will be initiated. A delegation of the members is expected to visit Geo. H. Adams Council at Newark this evening.

Started Double House.

Ground has been broken at the corner of West Fifth street and Stanley place for the erection of a large modern house for H. P. Seader, of Lincoln place. It will accommodate two families and will cost in the neighborhood of $2,800. W. H. Kirch has the contract for the carpentering.

Crossing for Trolley Passengers.

A crossing of flag stones is being laid on Watchung avenue near the Central Railroad station. This place in rainy weather is muddy and passengers alighting from the trolley cars to get to the depot on the New York side have found it very disagreeable walking.

Now With the Army.

George Polhemus, formerly an electrician residing in the borough, is now associated with the Salvation Army at the headquarters in New York. He came to Plainfield last Sunday with the staff-band of the Army and took part in the services held in this city.

Meet Sunday Evenings.

Commencing Sunday evening, the Christian Endeavor Society, of the First Baptist church, will hold its weekly meetings at 6:45 o'clock that evening instead of on Friday evening as heretofore.

Miss Elizabeth Frank, of West Second street, has recovered from a severe illness. She has been under the treatment of Dr. Clawson.

BOARDWALK AND BEACH BELONG TO ASBURY

That City Has Paid Price to Founder Bradley and Now Owns Its Beach.

IS BARE OF EQUIPMENT

BEACH COMMISSION HAS FUNDS ON WHICH TO START.

Hard Task Before the Beach Commission—Plans for Improvement Will be Submitted Immediately—Transferred Last Week.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Asbury Park, April 21—Founder James A. Bradley's boardwalk and beach front has passed into the possession of the city. The bonds were taken up by Pennsylvania banks, and the sum of $150,000 was paid to Isaac Kennedy, Mr. Bradley's lawyer, last week. The deed, a very handsomely engraved document, was then delivered. The sewer system also goes to the city, and the bonds for this were also taken up by Philadelphia banks. No ceremonies attended the formal transfer of the beach and sewer system, which was consummated in the office of Mr. Kennedy.

The beach comes to the city practically bare of equipment. Founder Bradley's bathing suits are reserved from the sale. The lessee of Asbury's bathing privilege must buy new suits, not to speak of a long coil of rope for bathers, new poles and all the little nick-nacks so necessary for a thoroughly equipped bathing service.

Whether Founder Bradley can be induced to part with his wagon loads of bathing attire, or whether he intends to reserve them as souvenirs of a past proprietorship, cannot be ascertained.

The city, on the other hand, will realize immediately the value of its new holding. About $4,500 in sewer rents due for this year and collected by Mr. Bradley, will be paid over to the Council as the pro rata share of Asbury Park of the sewer revenues up to April 1.

The beach commission will also obtain possession of $25,000, the proceeds of beach bonds over and above the sum paid to Mr. Bradley for his properties. With this little nucleus work can begin at once and additional bonds of the remaining issue of $125,000 will be sold from time to time, as the money is required.

Mr. Bradley, who has parted with his most valuable holding from a revenue standpoint, still retains large interests in Asbury Park, Bradley Beach, Neptune City, West Asbury Park and Como. It is estimated that $2,000,000 will not cover the value of his interests still remaining on the coast.

There is reason to believe that the founder of Asbury Park intends now to devote his energies to the development of Bradley Beach and that he will build a boardwalk of modern style on the beach front of this rapidly growing suburb, which will eclipse all former efforts in the boardwalk line.

It is conceded on all sides that the Asbury Park beach commission has a herculean task before it and a thankless one.

Asbury Park wants the money for beach improvements to be expended freely, and any evidence of narrow conservatism, it is pointed out, is certain to bring down a storm of criticism.

HERALD'S PRAISE.

For the Swedish Ladies' Quartette Which Appears at Y. M. C. A.

The Swedish Ladies' Quartette and Miss Edith M. Norton will furnish the evening's programme in the next of the Y. M. C. A. supplemental course of entertainments, Thursday evening.

The New York Herald in speaking of the quartette says: "Their singing was delightful and the audience, among whom were some of the best judges of excellent singing, showed their pleasure by frequent and loud applause. The harmonious blending of the voices produced a sweet melody that will not soon be forgotten by those who were fortunate enough to hear them."

See Y. M. C. A. ad in another column.

Welcome Change.

It is expected that within a short time the contractors will be able to remove the wooden shed from in front of the Babcock building. The change will be a welcome one for all who have any business in that vicinity.

HIGH SCHOOL SITE SELECTED

Board of Education Buys the Abandoned Seventh - Day Baptist Burying Ground.

THE PRICE WAS $12,000

Does Not Include Cost of Removing Bodies To Hillside Cemetery—Work of Clearing Property To Begin at Once And Must Be Finished In June.

Plainfield's proposed new High School will be located on the abandoned Seventh-Day Baptist burying ground, situated at the corner of West Ninth street and Arlington avenue. This site was selected at a special meeting of the Board of Education, last evening, at the suggestion of the building committee which was instructed to make a report. In the past few weeks the members have inspected a score of properties but all were rejected for various reasons with the exception of the old cemetery on which an agreement was reached for a purchase price of $12,000. The board is to bear the cost of transferring the bodies to Hillside to the amount of $1,000.

Work is to be commenced at once clearing the ground and it must be in readiness for building by June. Twelve hundred dollars of the purchase price is to be paid then and the remainder at a time to be agreed upon later. In the meantime plans are to be pushed for the erection of the building which is to cost at least $100,000.

In suggesting the cemetery as the most available site for the purpose, the committee submitted the following report, making known its reasons for so doing:

"Your committee would recommend the purchase of the Seventh-Day Baptist burying ground on Ninth street as a site for the new High School building, for the following reasons:

"1. It is practically the geographical centre of the city; this is shown by an inspection of the map and also by inspection of the residences of the pupils now in the school, a large portion of whom are within half a mile of the lot.

"2. It is the only lot of that size that can be found near the centre of the city.

"3. Its situation, fronting upon the city park, is such that the building can never be shut in closely by other buildings, and the open space of the park will add much to the convenience and also to the beauty of the building.

"4. While it is easily accessible by the trolley, it is in a location that will never be encroached upon by the business and traffic of the main streets of the city.

"5. The nearness to the library will add much to the convenience of the school work, since the High School of today makes a large use of the Public Library.

"6. The price at which the lot can be bought is very low. No other lot approaching this in size has been offered to us at anywhere near so low a cost.

"7. The lot is large enough to permit of future additions if they become necessary, and if still more room shall be needed, at some future time, the property in the rear of the lot is of such a nature that it will never be expensive.

"8. The soil has been examined and found to be clean gravel to a depth of at least ten feet.

"Appended hereto is a contract of sale offered by the trustees of the church.

"Respectfully submitted,
"C. F. Abbott,
"J. B. Probasco,
"L. N. Lovell."

The only other business transacted at the meeting was the awarding of two contracts for the painting of the Bryant and Franklin buildings. Cleaves & Ayers secured the latter for $344 and Woolston & Buckle the Bryant for $1,215, which includes interior as well.

Osteopaths Incorporate.

Articles of incorporation were filed at Trenton yesterday by the New Jersey Osteopathic Society, of this city. Dr. George Herring is named as secretary and treasurer and Dr. G. R. Boston as a member of the executive committee. The office of the organization is at 212 West Front street.

Mrs. Utter, of West Fifth street, is detained at home by illness.

THE D. OF L. GATHER AT THE SEA SHORE

Annual State Convention Convened at Atlantic City Today—Continues Tomorrow.

ITS PRINCIPAL BUSINESS

ELECTION OF OFFICERS AND ROUTINE BUSINESS WILL BE TRANSACTED.

Some Changes to Constitution of Daughters of Liberty Are Proposed—Organization is Conservative About Changing It.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Atlantic City, April 21—Representatives of the various branches of the Daughters of Liberty throughout the State are gathered here today to attend the annual State convention. There are about 300 visiting delegates and friends in the city and more are expected to arrive by tomorrow, which will be the last day of the session.

Routine business and the election of officers will be the principal items of business to come up before the meeting. It is probable that a number of amendments will be introduced but as a rule the D. of L. are slow about adopting amendments as they believe that their laws are good and many amendments tend to weaken the whole fabric.

One change to be submitted to the meeting will no doubt cause considerable discussion. It will be introduced to facilitate the election of officers and to shorten the session. The present law makes it necessary for the candidate to have a majority of the votes cast to be elected. This often necessitates five of six ballots to decide an election. The proposed amendment will provide for only one ballot and the candidate receiving the greatest number of votes will be declared elected. The proposed change will shorten the session by about five hours.

Another proposed amendment will provide for the payment of the expenses of the deputy State councilors in attending the annual sessions of the State Council while they hold commissions as deputies. There is opposition to this amendment on the ground that it will increase the expenses of the body by $400 and that it would have a tendency towards making the annual sessions more of an officers convention instead of a representative one of all the members. There is some talk of offering a substitute providing that only one deputy be appointed from each county, the representative to be a member of the body and that his expenses be paid while he or she is attending the session. In case this is adopted the State will be divided into five jurisdictions, four deputies being given four counties each, and one to have five counties.

State Councilor Mrs. Mary L. Siefert, of Jersey City, has, it is said, just finished a most successful year and many of her friend are urging her to accept a re-elecion to the office. If this is done it will be the first time in the history of the State Council that its presiding officer has been given two consecutive terms.

Plainfield is represented on the standing committees by Mrs. Lottie C. Walker, with two other women on the finance committee.

In the reports by counties submitted by the State secretary shows that Union has a membership of 515 members, which is a gain of seventeen over last year, that its total worth of councils is $3,487.61, a gain of $283 76, with benefits of $1,426 08. Somerset county has but two councils with eighty-two members and a loss of three. The total worth of councils is $557.04, with a loss of $33.39, and benefits amounting to $284 50.

Industrial Questions.

Beginning with Sunday evening, Rev. L. R. Howard, of Hope chapel, will deliver a series of four sermons dealing with industrial questions in relation to Chritianity. The first will be "Jesus Christ and the Wage Earner," and will be handled in Mr. Howard's terse and convincing way.

Postal Examination.

Announcement is made by the postal authorities that a special examination for the grade of clerk and carrier will be held at the local postoffice Wednesday afternoon, April 29, commencing at 1 o'clock. All applications must be properly filed before that time.

Plainfield to be Launched.

The new fast double-screw ferryboat for the New Jersey Central will be launched next Saturday from the Crescent yards at Elizabethport. The boat will be named the "Plainfield."

FOR BASEBALL TEAM.

Simmon's Octoroons Gave Entertainment at Reform Hall Last Night—To be Repeated.

In order to raise funds for the Reform Club baseball team an entertainment was given last evening at Reform Hall by Simmon's Octoroons Four Hundred Combination from Boston. It is composed of about twenty colored people, some of whom have more than usual vaudeville ability. The entertainment will be rendered tonight and tomorrow evening at the hall.

The committee which has the arrangements in charge for the entertainments are Edward P. T. Smith, chairman; James Scott and James Higgins, all members of the team. The money raised will be used in putting the home grounds in shape for team work this season and for uniforms.

MUST LEAVE POLICE ALONE

TWO OFFENDERS PUNISHED FOR INTERFERING WITH BLUECOATS.

Mrs. Mitchell Scratched One Officer and John Slover Bit Another One.

City Judge Runyon evidently intends teaching Plainfielders who come in contact with minions of the law that they must not be interfered with in the discharge of their duty. Of two defendants arraigned before him, this morning, both were fined for resisting policemen and were warned that a repetition meant a much heavier sentence.

Mrs. Hattie Mitchell, who started to scratch her name on Patrolman McCarthy's countenance when he arrested her son, yesterday, admitted assaulting the officer and was fined $10. It was paid.

John Slover, who has a habit of biting his captors, was arraigned on complaint of Patrolman Saunders. When arrested for drunkenness by the officer, last night, Slover siezed one of the latter's digits between his teeth and attempted to sever it from the rest of his body. It was only by a liberal use of his club that Saunders made him let go but not before the flesh had been badly torn. He will spend the next twenty days at Elizabeth, not having $5 for the fine.

AT NEW HOSPITAL.

Dr. Buchanan is First Physician Summoned There to Attend Case.

David Bodine, of Almont place, while at work on the new hospital building yesterday afternoon, slipped on a block, as he was reaching up near a window for the purpose of nailing on a piece of wood and severely cut his wrist. The wound was a dangerous one and as he was liable to bleed to death a telephone call was sent to the office of Dr. Buchanan. He went to the scene of the accident and bandaged the wound. This is believed to be the first case to which a physician has been called to the new hospital. Mr. Bodine was taken to his home where he is still suffering from loss of blood.

BOYS' EXHIBITION.

Given at Y. M. C. A. Gymnasium by Juniors of Y. M. C. A.

Very interesting were the events in the boys' contests at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday when many of the members of the junior department took part in an exhibition in the gymnasium. The events were the potato race, rope climb, standing broad jump, running broad jump, running high jump and chin climb. The first place was taken by Webster, with 463 points, second place by Steiner, with 412 points and third place by Gilmore, with 386 points. Others who entered in the contest were Stutsman, Manning, Pound, Freeman, Gavett, Wilcox and Taylor.

ADMITTED STEALING.

Three West End Boys Placed in the Hands of Probation Officer.

Lawrence Mitchell, William Ryder and Clarence Horner, the three West End boys arrested yesterday for stealing $15 from the cash drawer of Louis Moginski's Muhlenberg place store, were arraigned before Justice Huff, this morning. They admitted the theft but on account of their youth they were placed in the hands of the county probation officer instead of being sent to jail.

VALUABLE CURIOS AT CITY ART GALLERY

The Collections Include a Number of Paintings of Much Interest.

SOME OF JULIAN SCOTT'S

COLLECTIONS OF PORCELAIN, BUTTERFLIES AND COINS INCLUDED.

A Fine Collection of Local Birds, Loaned by Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett—Few Plainfielders Know of Value of Collections.

While the Public Library is daily visited by many, there are comparatively few of that number who get to the art gallery which occupies the floor above the principal room of the library. The art gallery contains some really valuable articles which are well worth a visit.

The art gallery contains a number of pictures of interest, especially noteworthy among which are as follows: "Puritan's Daughter," by Emanuel Leutze; "Marius at the ruins of Carthage," by John Vanderlyn, and several of the works of Julian Scott, among them being his "Battle of Cedar Creek," "Death of General Sedgewick" and "Returning Troops." On of the staircase landing is a very beautiful bust of Washington, by Hiram Powers.

One room of the gallery is given up to the excellent collection of cloisonne and Chinese porcelain, one of the largest and most valuable in this country. In this collection are rare temple ornaments, equisite cloisonne enamel placques, incense burners, idols, vases of rare and beautiful coloring, others with the design under the glaze. Many of these pieces date back to the Ming dynasty (1368 1649.) Of this period are a pair of vases of perfect condition which have been pronounced by experts in Oriental art as "unquestionably the finest old Chinese cloisonne vases in America." Very beautiful also is an enamel jardiniere which has probably no less than 1,000 different objects outlined in copper fences; this piece though not large, contains 5,000 enclosures, and was mounted in ormolu by Barbedienne of Paris.

A valuable recent gift to the gallery is the Gilbert butterfly collection presented by former Mayor Alexander Gilbert, valued at about $10,000. It contains in all about 5,000 butterflies and moths, at least 2,000 being distinct specimens. The classification and arrangements were made by Prof. Franck, of the Entomological Company, each specimen being labeled. The rarest part of the collection is that comprising the North American specimens. The New Jersey specimens are exceptionally complete. The collection is kept in six large open glass cases and forms one of the most attractive features of the gallery. It is also a collection of the greatest importance to students of lepidoptera.

Still another collection of popular interest is that of the coins given by the children of the late John Taylor Johnston. This collection is divided into ancient, mediaeval and modern, and United States coins. In the first are many silver and some gold coins, both of Greece and Rome, dating back to the time of Alexander III, some gold Byzantine coins dating from 409 to 1081, and a large number of Roman colonial coins from the time of the Emperor Claudius to that of Diocletian. Of the modern, all the European nations are represented together with some excellent specimens of coins of the Papal state. Of much interest are the pennies marked with a cross in circulation during the Crusades. Of the United States coins, there are some of the early colonial period, a nearly complete set of pennies from 1793-1872, and a number of medals and Jacksonian or hard times tokens.

The collection of birds loaned by Street Commissioner Gavett is one of especial value. The collection is entirely local, and the careful classification and labeling done by Mr. Gavett, make identification easy. The gallery is open Tuesdays and Saturdays from 2 until 5 o'clock.

With spring generally comes birds, mud and the hey day for the household furniture mover. This year all three seem to have descended upon Plainfield in proportions far greater than in previous years. The birds have been unusually numerous, the mud on the streets has been very much in evidence and the numbers of vans of furniture coming and going, at all hours of the day and not infrequently of the night, too are indications only too plain that spring, glorious spring is here.

THEATRICAL.

Everything is in readiness for "The Runaways," the next big Casino show which will get its initial showing on Broadway Monday, May 4. The company of 160 will make their first bow in the play at the Academy of Music in Baltimore Monday, April 27, and after a week there will come direct to the Casino for an indefinite stay.

Successes of all kinds have been achieved by the many novelties introduced on the Keith Circuit, but none has scored as strongly, as has Culver's Sensational Cycle Loop-the-Loop, which was shown at Union Square Theatre last week, and which has been held over at the urgent request of thousands. Mr. Keith has surrounded it with a bill of exceptionable strength. Prominent among the other headliners may be mentioned Eddie Girard, of "Natural Gas" fame, and Jessie Gardner, in their farcical hit "The Soubrette and the Cop." The youngest phychological puzzle in the world, Lola Cotton, will give her puzzling exhibition of mind reading, while Ed. F. Reynard, the incomparable ventriloquist, will give his clever performance with his celebrated mechanical figures. The Empire Comedy Four will do a sketch introducing their vocal specialties, and the Whirlwind De Forests will do their wonderful dancing. The Three Livingstones, acrobats; Ross and Lewis, in their laughable satire "The Duke and American Heiress;" the Two Rackettes; Allen Wightman, clay molder; Dorothy Walters, the whistler; Gillihan and Murray, in "Dinah's Wash Day;" Leo and his wonderful dog Foxey; and Fred. F. Stone the "Coon" shouter, with many others, complete a bill, the equal of which will not be seen again for a long time.

Mrs. Kessler, of Springfield, N. J., is visiting Mrs. M. W. Beekman, of East Second street.

Albert Cook and A. D. Soper, of East Second street, spent Sunday with Trenton friends. They made the trip both ways by trolley.

Geo. W. VanCamp, of Somerset place, left today for an extended business trip through the eastern States. He will be absent several months.

ERIE COLLISION; EIGHT DEATHS.

Burning of Wreck Prevents Identification of Many Bodies.

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., April 21.—Eight persons are dead and ten injured, three of them seriously, as the result of a collision between a passenger train and a freight train on the Erie railroad near Red House, N. Y.

Of the dead only one, Robert H. Hotchkiss of Meadville, a brakeman, has been identified. Seven bodies, apparently those of three men, three women and a child, were burned beyond recognition in the fierce fire which followed the wreck. The women are said to have boarded the train at Youngstown and to have come from Pittsburg.

The wrecked passenger train was known as No. 4, running from Chicago to New York, and was made up of engine No. 545, in charge of Engineer Samuel Cook and Fireman Fred Bell of Meadville. It was derailed by striking a freight train which was entering a siding at Red House. The wreck at once took fire, and the combination car, two day coaches and two sleepers, together with several freight cars, were consumed.

The freight was drawn by two engines. Some trouble was experienced in entering the siding, and the foremost engine of the freight was sent in along the siding with a flagman to hold the express. It is alleged that the cause of the accident was that the operator in the tower, Lawrence Vale, a boy seventeen years old, saw the light engine of the freight, which was bringing up the flag, and supposed the freight was on the siding behind it. With this mistaken idea Vale displayed a white signal toward the passenger train, indicating to the engineer that he had a clear track. The engineer on the passenger train failed to see the flagman sent out from the forward engine of the freight train and saw only the clearance signal from the tower.

MAY PAY DIVIDENDS.

Northern Securities Company Wins a Slight Point.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 21.—Judge Walter H. Sanborn of the United States circuit court has granted an order suspending the decree of the circuit court of appeals in the case of the United States versus the Northern Securities company to the extent of permitting the Northern Pacific and Great Northern companies to pay their dividends to the Securities company pending the result of its appeal to the supreme court.

After the application for modification of the federal court decision in the merger case the attorneys for the Northern Securities company filed an appeal from the original decision, and the case now goes to the United States supreme court.

Previous to the decision a telegram was received from Attorney General Knox by District Attorney Haupt at St. Paul calling his attention to the fact that in case the Northern Securities company had not yet filed its notice of appeal the application of the company for a modification of the decree could not be entertained under the ninety-third rule of equity. The attorney general was uncompromising in his opposition to the proposed modification of the court's judgment.

Accused of Smuggling Herrings.

BANGOR, Me., April 21.—Wilford S. Alexander, assistant cashier of the Frontier National bank at Eastport, has been arrested by government officers on the charge of smuggling 3,000 boxes of smoked herrings into Eastport from Campobello, N. B., on July 31 last. He was before United States Commissioner Hamlen here and held for a hearing at a later date.

AERONAUT A PAUPER

Count von Zeppelin Has Sunk a Million Marks.

AERIAL NAVIGATION STILL UNSOLVED

After Twelve Years of Expensive Experiments German Cavalry Officer Finds Himself Baffled and a Bankrupt.

BERLIN, April 21.—Count von Zeppelin, pauperized, has abandoned his attempt to solve the aerial navigation problem, in which he has sunk more than 1,000,000 marks.

His air ship shed on Lake Constance, together with all the material connected with his experiments, will be sold at auction.

Count von Zeppelin is a cavalry officer, who became famous at the beginning of the Franco-Prussian war. Twelve years ago he began his experiments in aerial navigation.

COUNT VON ZEPPELIN.

In 1896 he had constructed an air ship which the Russian military authorities highly praised. In 1899 General Baden-Powell, then a major in the British army, spoke of Count Zeppelin's ship in highest terms and said that through the invention the wars of the future would be transferred to the air.

Americans are peculiarly interested in the misfortunes of Count von Zeppelin, as he is connected by marriage with the F. G. S. d'Hautevilles of Newport.

The count believed that in the very near future he would sail across the seas. He had hoped to make the first trip in twenty-two days and thought that four days would eventually be the time consumed.

President Among the Geysers.

CINNABAR, Mont., April 21.—President Roosevelt has about completed his tour of the Yellowstone park. Yesterday he was at Fire Hole geyser basin. Today he returned to the Norris geyser basin and will go from there to the Grand canyon, where the Upper and Lower falls are situated. He expects to return to the post headquarters tomorrow and will remain in that vicinity until Friday afternoon, when he will resume his trip. The members of the president's party, who have been living on the train at Cinnabar since April 8, will probably join the president in the park Thursday morning.

Fishing Vessels Free From the Ice.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., April 21.—The American herring vessels that have been imprisoned in the ice floes in Bay of Islands since Jan. 18 escaped from the ice last Saturday. Dispatches received here from Port au Port, St. George, Cod Roy river and Cape Race declare that the ice has been driven away from the land by a heavy easterly gale. This enabled the herring fishers to obtain egress from the gulf of St. Lawrence into the Atlantic. The vessels will sail for home.

Government Forces Repulsed.

EIGHT ARE INDICTED

Leaders In St. Louis Investigation Join Hands.

LEE SENDS PROPOSALS FOR RETURN

Offers to Appear if Questioning Be Confined to the Alum Deal—Three Senators Each Received the Sum of $1,000 For a Vote.

ST. LOUIS, April 21.—Reliable data point to eight indictments as having been found by the Cole county grand jury in the legislative boodle investigation.

Two leaders in the boodle investigation, Attorney General Edward C. Crow and Circuit Attorney Joseph W. Folk, joined forces on Monday to conduct the inquiry before the local grand jury. The tandem team of prosecutors will pursue the investigation vigorously for two days. Then Circuit Attorney Folk will have to devote his attention to some of the local boodle cases.

During the day an emissary from Lieutenant Governor Lee called upon Circuit Attorney Folk with the proposition that if the district attorney in pushing the boodle investigation would agree to question Mr. Lee only about the alum deal Lee would appear before the grand jury immediately. Mr. Folk informed his visitor that he would not promise to restrict himself in any part of the inquiry, and the conference was fruitless.

Robert E. Lee, brother of the absent official, received another letter from him which was mailed in Chicago. In further explanation of the lieutenant governor's absence Mr. Lee said:

"He will remain away until I think it advisable for him to come back. One reason that he is away is that he does not want to assist the St. Louis grand jury in indicting for perjury certain members of the legislature who have testified before it. My brother is not vindictive, and, though these men have proved themselves his bitter enemies, he does not want to assist in indicting them."

Senators Frank Harris of Crawford county, Buel Mathews of St. Louis county and Charles A. Smith of St. Louis each received $1,000 for voting against the bill to repeal the antialum baking powder statute, according to the indictments returned by the Cole county grand jury and made public since the arrest of Mathews and Smith.

Senators Give Bonds.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., April 21.—Senators B. L. Matthews and Charles A. Smith, who were indicted by the grand jury for accepting bribes in connection with the baking powder legislation, gave bonds in $3,000 each for appearance before the United States circuit court in the July term. They each say they are innocent of the charges.

JUDGE DIES OF CHOLERA.

Carluck, a Native of Illinois, Stricken in Philippines.

MANILA, April 21.—Judge Carluck of the court of first instance is dead at Cebu of cholera. He contracted the disease in Bohol. The deceased was a native of Illinois and a valued member of the judiciary.

The epidemic of cholera is practically over, there being but a few cases in the southern islands. Six men in the command of Captain Pershing died of cholera during the Bacolod operations.

An armed band of ladrones has reappeared in Rizal province, Luzon, near the scene of the recent fight with the ladrone force of General San Miguel. Detachments of scouts have been dispatched to Rizal with orders to disperse the band.

W. K. Vanderbilt May Wed.

NEW YORK, April 21.—William K. Vanderbilt in the supreme court, through his counsel, Henry B. Anderson, obtained a modification of the decree of divorce granted to his wife, Alma E. Vanderbilt, in 1895, which permits him to remarry. The modification, which was granted by Judge Giegerich, applies to the section of the decree which forbids him to marry during the lifetime of his former wife, now Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont. According to a report from Paris, Mr. Vanderbilt is engaged in marriage to Mrs. Ingraham, an American widow residing abroad.

Warrants For United States Officers.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, April 21.—Chief Hood of the internal revenue department has sworn out warrants before a justice of the peace for the arrest of Captain Andrew Dunlap, U. S. N., commandant of the naval station here; Commander G. W. Mentz, U. S. N.; P. V. Mohun, paymaster, U. S. N., and Robert Giles for bringing in liquors from the island of St. Thomas on the lighthouse tender Laurel on Dec. 4, 1902, without paying the duty thereon. Giles has appeared and was held under $1,000 bond for trial before the insular district court.

Germany Deep In Snow.

BERLIN, April 21.—The thirty-six hours' snowstorm over middle Europe ceased at daylight. The snow is two inches deep in Berlin, increasing to a yard deep in the Harz highlands. Snow lies deep in east Prussia and Poland, where the wires are down and trains are delayed.

Greeks Ratified the Treaty.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—News has reached here that last Wednesday the Greek congress ratified the treaty of commerce and amity and also regulating consular affairs between the United States and Greece, negotiated by Mr. Charles F. Francis, then minister to Greece.

THE ART GALLERY.

There are so many Plainfielders who really know nothing of the art gallery which the city possesses at the Job Male Public Library. While there is not a large number of valuable works of art, many of the pictures are of interest and the gallery also contains a number of collections, including porcelain, butterflies, coins and birds, which are of unusual value.

All these things are on exhibition for the benefit of the public. While there are a number who do inspect them occasionally, the number is much smaller than it should be. Some of the articles are very interesting and a visit to the place is well worth the time. The collection of butterflies is one of the most elaborate in existence while the collection of local birds is the largest of any in the city or anywhere else.

The library itself is an excellent one and there are thousands of people who yearly take advantage of it. The Babcock Scientific Library is said to be the finest of its kind in the State, except for the library at Stevens Institute, Hoboken. There are many men in this city who would find much of use to them in the volumes at the library and it is really too bad that they neglect to take advantage of them, particularly as the library is a public institution and its advantages can be used without charge.

The resignation of Attorney-General McCarter will be in the hands of Governor Murphy today. Mr. McCarter resigns this office to accept the presidency of the new company which is to be formed by the merger of the trolley lines and other electrical companies of this part of the State. A number of names have been mentioned as Mr. McCarter's successor but there does not seem to be any certainty yet as to who will get this pleasant berth.

Asbury Park has possession of its boardwalk and beach and that flourishing resort is losing no time in preparing its new possessions for the summer crowd that will assemble there before many weeks have gone by. There is probably no one resort that is frequented by so many Plainfielders as this one and so there are many residents here who are particularly interested in all the progress which is being made by that city.

It was really to be regretted that Attorney-General McCarter allowed that Justice of the Peace in Summit to fine him $25 for violating the Summit local automobile ordinance without contesting it under the provisions of the State law, just passed. The man who is supposed to be the legal adviser of the State ought certainly not to allow any ignorant justice to directly violate the provisions of the State laws in that fashion.

Two important improvements have been made in the vicinity of the North Avenue station. The crosswalk over Watchung avenue to connect with the east-bound station, as advocated by The Daily Press sometime ago, is being laid, and the steps to the track platform from the walk on the south side of the track are ready for use. The credit for one is due the city and for the other the railroad company.

In addition to a new system of block signals, the Long Branch division of the Jersey Central Railroad is going to place fences between the tracks at stations and erect a number of new station buildings. All of which is welcome news to the thousands who travel shoreward every summer.

In the month which will elapse between Council meetings, the finance committee ought to have plenty of time to thoroughly look over the report of the city auditor so it can be made public at the May meeting.

According to the report of the State Board of Health, consumption is on the decrease in New Jersey. There is still enough of it, however, to cause the most deaths of any one disease.

SUBURBAN NEWS

A Department Devoted to the Minor Events in Greater Plainfield's Suburbs by Our Own Correspondents.

DUNELLEN.

A couple of well known citizens of this place had a rough and tumble fight over a trifling matter last evening that put all Jeffies-Sharkey scraps in the shade. The fun started with a dispute between two children. The fathers then took a hand and in a moment were involved in a red hot row. The scrap went on until one of the disputants was laid out with an upper cut on the chin.

Although the Dunellen A. C. has been refused admittance to the Plainfield Association League the action will not in any way affect the putting of a team in the field. A schedule of games will be played fully as interesting as the contests in the league would have been.

STRIKERS AWED BY PISTOL

THREATEN VIOLENCE AT THE DUKE ESTATE NEAR SOMERVILLE.

Masons and Laborers Struck For More Pay—Request Refused—Men Still Out.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, April 21 — The stone masons and laborers employed on the 1,600 acre estate of James B. Duke, the American tobacco king, at this place, went on strike yesterday for an increase in wages. The men want from twenty-five to fifty cents a day more, but so far their request has been refused and they have been told they can quit if they are not satisfied.

Most of them spent the greater part of their time in saloons yesterday and last night they assembled on the Raritan river bridge, leading to the Duke estate, for the purpose of intimidating men brought to take their places. They were armed with clubs and stones but the moment Manager Lawson heard of it, he sallied out in a wagon and when they attempted to stop him, covered the crowd with a revolver. He was allowed to pass unmolested.

This morning the strikers were still on the bridge and four wagons from the estate got through with difficulty.

Lordan Won Marathon Race.

BOSTON, April 21.—Of fifty-five sturdy runners who started from Ashland at noon in the Boston Athletic association's annual twenty-five mile run to this city, known as the Marathon race, forty crossed the finish line, the majority in good condition, with John C. Lordan of the Cambridgeport gymnasium in the lead and a winner of the coveted gold medal. While Lordan ran a grand race, overhauling man after man until he finally strode into the lead a mile from the finish, the feature was the great struggle between John P. Caffrey of Hamilton, Ont., who holds the record, and Samuel A. Mellor, Jr., of the Mohawk Athletic club of New York and the winner of last year's contest.

Bicycle Track Racing.

BOSTON, April 21.—Bicycling as a track sport opened with great promise at the Charles River park and Revere tracks yesterday afternoon, with a good attendance. The feature in each was a twenty mile motor paced race. At the Revere track James F. Moran of Chelsea defeated Hugh McLean and Will C. Stinson, the last named dropping out in the eighth mile and Moran beating McLean by about half a mile in 30m. 6 2-5s. At Charles River park Harry Elkes defeated Basil de Guichard, Bennie Munro and Otto Maya, the winner's time being just one-fifth of a second faster than Moran's time at the other track.

Keene's Horse Won.

NEW YORK, April 21.—Foxhall P. Keene's Palmbearer, carrying 107 pounds, won the Canarsie stakes for two-year-olds at Aqueduct. He also equaled the track record by covering the four and a half furlongs in fifty-five seconds. Palmbearer jumped away in front and, making all the running, won driving by a head from the heavily played Nameoki. Ninepin was third. Bombino was the only winning favorite. The weather was clear and cool and the track fast.

Cornell Athletics.

ITHACA, N. Y., April 21.—Graduate Manager Senior has submitted his semiannual statement of finances of Cornell's athletics. The total income from all branches of athletics from Sept. 1 to March 1 was $31,901.31 and the expenditures $19,622.83, leaving a surplus of $12,278.48, which will be applied to the expenses of the crews at Poughkeepsie. The income from football constituted more than half of the total income, being $21,202.

Race Track Gamblers Arrested.

CHICAGO, April 21.—Kid Weller, who has charge of the betting at Lakeside, and Herbert Myers, a sheet writer, were arrested by Chief of Police Cox of Hammond, Ind., just as the horses were going to the post in the fourth race. There was little excitement over the arrest. All the bookmakers were working under the English system and were anticipating some such action.

A Mile In Fifty Seconds.

NEW YORK, April 21.—Harry S. Harkness, who built a racing car to enter in the international automobile cup race which takes place in Ireland July 2, announces that he went a mile in fifty seconds flat on the Coney Island boulevard. McGovern to Fight Attel.

NEW YORK, April 21.—Terry McGovern and Abe Attel, the Chicago little fighter, have been matched to meet before the International Athletic club of Fort Erie on Memorial day afternoon. The match was arranged by Sam Harris, Terry's manager, and Ike Bloomer, acting for Attel.

Witful Had Her Jaw Broken.

Letters from Women

Cured by the use of Kodol are received daily Their troubles nearly all begin with indigestion or other stomach disorder.

If the food you eat fails to give strength to your body, it is because the juices secreted by the stomach and digestive organs are inadequate to transform the nutrient properties of the food into blood. That is indigestion. The system is deprived of the amount of nourishment required to keep up the strength, and the result is that one or more of the delicate organs gradually grows weak, and then weaker, until finally it is diseased. Here a great mistake is made. That of treating the diseased organ. The best doctors in the land make this very mistake. Why should they? It is so easy to see that the trouble is not there.

Kodol Cures

This famous remedy puts the stomach and digestive organs in a healthy condition so that rich, red blood is sent coursing through the veins and arteries of every muscle, tissue and fiber throughout every organ of the entire body, and by Nature's law of health, full strength and vigor is soon restored to each.

Kodol cures indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach disorders.

I have taken Kodol for nearly two months after each meal and it is the only remedy that gave relief from the terrible pains I endured. After a time I would take it but once a day, and now, while I keep a bottle handy, I seldom need it, as it has cured me. Mrs. J. W. COOLBAUGH, Milo Center, N. Y.

Many Women Earn Money At Home

IN every country neighborhood, in any town small or large, women who are in earnest and set their heads to it may originate ways of bringing in money while at the same time they attend to their daily household duties. At a meeting of the Minnesota Dairymen's association several ladies reported their success in cow keeping. One woman, Mrs. Holmes, was fond of cows and had money to buy one. That was some years ago. Mrs. Holmes now has a farm of 240 acres in small grains and pasture. The grain lands gave a phenomenal yield to the acre, the men farmers said when they heard the average was nearly fifty bushels. Mrs. Holmes has now twenty-six cows, which gave her nearly $1,500 worth of butter last year. For a farmer that is not a bad income. Mrs. Holmes wisely uses all the product of her land to feed her stock on.

A Maine woman, Mrs. Florence Cummings, who likewise plays the piano, devotes her farm to poultry, hay and dairying. She does all her own housework and sells twenty pounds of butter a week. Country women around Boston have taken up market gardening with enthusiasm, and several of them are in receipt of incomes from this source that many professional men and women might envy. In New England it is becoming common to employ Italian women to do the work in market gardening, and they make excellent help. They do not get drunk or quarrel. In the west and southwest, of course, however, it is left for women to conduct farms on a grand scale. In California Mrs. Buckingham of Vacaville long since showed what woman can do in the agricultural field; so did the ingenious woman who raised pampas plumes and created a demand for them. In the Panhandle of Texas Mrs. Pauline Whitman owns and operates a ranch of 200,000 acres, on which she raises 15,000 cattle a year.

In another field of home industry may be mentioned Mrs. Kidd, the lady who began making delicious pickles according to a recipe that had been in her family for generations. Year after year she took premiums for her wares at southern state fairs before she ever thought of pickle making as a remunerative industry. Finally it occurred to her that, since her pickles were so very good, she might get some spending money by selling them. She offered some of them at a famous southern hotel. At once they met with favor. Then another and another hotel manager wanted them till a trade began that was widened out to include railway dining cars and great ocean steamer lines. Like Mrs. Macready of Buffalo, Mrs. Kidd first made her delicacies in her own kitchen. As was the case with Mrs. Macready's husband also, ere long Mrs. Kidd's husband had to give up his own work and help his wife with the industry she had founded. A large factory has been built in the rear of the old southern home in which Mrs. Kidd lived, and scores of helpers are now employed regularly.

Among the most interesting and lucrative home industries for women is one which became popular so suddenly that it amounts to a fad. The fad will die a natural death by and by, but while it lasts hundreds of quiet domestic women are getting good money out of the homemade rug business. There are braided and sewed rugs, crocheted rugs, knitted ones and those woven by hand in a way similar to that whereby the most expensive Persian and oriental rugs are manufactured. All over the Union women are catering to the popular fad, learning from aged mothers and grandmothers how these made rugs half a century ago, except that the grandmothers made the rugs for sturdy farm boots to tread upon, and that right heavily, while the granddaughters make theirs for dainty ladies to show off in parlors and even in some cases to hang up for draperies. The rug foundation can be painted or stained with the outline of a colored figure or scene and the rag or wool filling be worked in to correspond, so that the outer surface represents a sort of tapestry picture. To produce the thing quite perfect all the dyes used must also be the unfading homemade ones used by the grandmothers. A young lady in New York city is actually making a fortune from the manufacture and sale of these rugs. She occupies all the floors of one house.

ALICE WHITTAKER.

[Copyright, 1900, by A. N. Kellogg Newspaper Co.]

"He won't last long," she said to Dave; "seems to me I heerd yore pa say he left off payin' on his life insurance."

"Two yeer ago he did," said David, despondently. "I had put good money of my own into that, thinkin' if he died the insurance would help us buy a farm of our own out west, whar Uncle Joe says they are so cheap, but in that hard-time season when all the crops was burnt pa let it lapse, an' it's gone to the devil."

"It's jest our usual luck," grumbled the old woman; "some 'n would 'a' happened to n-kept all that money from reachin' us anyhow. We never was born under a good star."

Ronald looked up. "You needn't let that bother you, mother," he said, softly. "The insurance policy is all right; I attended to it."

The sudden change in Mrs. Fanshaw was not alone due to gratified surprise. Ronald thought he had never seen her look at him quite so strangely. She started to say something, which seemed to have rushed impulsively to her tongue, and then she shook her shoulders, closed her lips tightly and left the room.

Dave laughed. "She certainly acts peculiar to-day," he said. "Dang it, pa does, too, as for that matter. I wish you could a heerd 'im rant about you jest now. He thinks you've got old Reddin' an' twenty other lawyers on his track about some'n."

To this observation our hero made no response.

CHAPTER XIX.

The next stroke, two days later, silenced Jade Fanshaw's tongue forever. It fell at dawn, just as a big red rooster under the house crowed and flapped his wings. Dave came upstairs and shook his brother, who had fallen asleep only about an hour before.

"Well," he said, "the old man has handed in his checks. Geewhilikins, Ron, I'm beginnin' to think I've run my blasted head into a secret of ma an' pa's that they've kept from us fur over a quarter of a century. All night long, an' up to the time he tuck his last suck of air the old man talked of nothin' else but you—you—you, an' some dead soldier."

"He seems to imagine—" Ronald began, but Dave interrupted him.

"Imagine a dog's hind foot!" he blurted out. "Thar's some'n behind all them hints an' threats that have been passin' betwixt ma an' pa sence I was knee high to a bow-legged duck, an' I have, at this late day, jest got my fust whiff of a dead mouse. You don't have to knock me down with a load o' mill rocks as a general thing; I can see a inch 'fore my eyes, ef I am cross-eyed. The old man kept runnin' on last night about a baby an' its dead daddy; an' ma kept tryin' to keep me from understandin' till she fell asleep out o' pure weariness of the brain an' then the truth begun to creep into my noggin. Ron, I never did think you was a bit like the rest of us, an' now I'm sure you don't belong to this litter."

Ronald sat up on the edge of his bed, as white as death could have made him.

"Are you in earnest, Dave?" he questioned.

"If ever I was in my life."

"Did you find out anything—positive?" the last word came out with a jerk.

"No, but you can, Ron; ma is all broke up. She knows you saved the insurance, an' she would answer any question you ask. I'd go to 'er, after the buryin', an' demand to know it all. She'll tell you."

At this juncture the voice of Mrs. Fanshaw came up to them as she shook the latch of Ann Josephine's door: "Wake up, Josie," she said, "yore pa's been dead a good half hour, an' thar ain't nobody to cook breakfast!"

Ronald began to dress himself.

"Dave," he said, "your suspicion has taken me completely by surprise; I have suspected for a good many years that they did not feel towards me as they did to the rest, but I cannot yet believe I am not really—a Fanshaw."

"Wait till you talk to ma," counseled David. "Be shore you come at 'er exactly right. Make 'er feel shore you won't give 'er a speck o' trouble an' she'll let the cat out the bag."

The next day when Jade Fanshaw's unpainted box was lowered into the grave near the meeting house, half a mile over the hills, the snow was falling so fast that the faces of the few mourners and neighbors who stood around could hardly be recognized. The mound had scarcely received its shape when it was robed in white. It was as if Nature had spread an emblem of forgiveness over Jade Fanshaw's last resting place.

Ronald rode home in the wagon containing Mrs. Fanshaw, Dave, the two girls and Bud Tarbell. Arriving at home the girls went into the house and Mrs. Fanshaw bustled about on the back porch, opening the window blinds which she had closed that no one might gain access to her house during the absence of the family. There Ronald found her, still in her bonnet and heavy shawl. Her eyes fell before the hungry stare of his own.

"I want to see you in private," he said, excited in spite of a strong effort at calmness. She moved as if to pass him and go into the house, and then she paused before him, a dogged expression in her unsteady glance.

"Dave's been blabbin' to you, Ron," she said; "I wouldn't pay no attention to that boy."

"You've been keeping something from me—something concerning myself, all my life," he heard himself saying in deliberate tones.

She caught her breath, and then looked through the hall at Bud Tarbell, who was turning his wagon away from the gate.

"Dave tol' me back thar at the grave jest now," she faltered, "that you said you never would give me no trouble about anything. If I knowed that you would not bring me to court, an' that you would let us have the insurance money to buy land in Texas, Ron, I'd not keep back a thing."

"Your name shall never be mentioned," he promised, now chilled to the center of his heart by what might be revealed. "I have a right to know it, if I am not your son, and not his. You know you are welcome to the insurance money."

"Can't you put it off till after supper, when all the rest is asleep? I am so excited—"

"No, I'd rather know now," he said.

The wind blew the fine flakes of snow under the roof of the porch, and they fell and melted on her iron-gray locks. She did not look at him when she began, nor did she give him her eyes steadily once through the whole recital.

"You've heerd 'bout yore pa's bushwhackin' days up in Tennessee endurin' of the war," she began. "He was a sort of a head man against 'em all. They made a good deal by it, fust an' last. He used to tell me all about it 'fore we got married an' I was sech a foolish young thing that I thought his conduct was smart, an' that Jade Fanshaw was about the finest ketch in them mountains. They did their biggest business an' made their biggest hauls by capturin' folks that was travelin' heer an' yan through the mountains to git away from the war, as most of sech folks had money about 'em. They didn't kill often, unless it was through lack of proper jedgment, like, for instance, in threatenin' a man to give up his treasure by drawin' 'im up on a rope an' lettin' 'im hang a mite too long. Whar you come in was this away." Mrs. Fanshaw cautiously closed the door leading into the hall and then went on: "A man and his wife an' a baby about four months old come 'long in a carriage driv' by a nigger man, an' yore pa's crowd was lyin' in wait fur 'em an' helt 'em up in a lonely mountain pass. The man was a young confederate officer, an' the woman was mighty good-lookin' an' dressed as fine as a fiddle. That's one reason the gang thought they had money. They ordered all of 'em to git out on the ground, an' the officer did so at once, an' tuck the baby from its mother so she could git out.

"Well, they say he had no sooner put foot to the ground' fore the negro driver whipped up the hosses like mad an' managed to dodge the shots an' git away. The tale Jake always told me was that the officer started off at full speed after the carriage an' got shot accidentally, fallin' with you in his arms. The wust part of it fur the gang was that the man had no money about him, an' they had a live squallin' baby on hands. Then they drawed lots as to who was to put the baby out o' pain, an' it fell to Jade, an' he fetched you to put the job off on me. I'd been married two yeer an' never had no child, an' as I was by myself in a lone cabin from morning till night an' often all night I begged Jade to let me have you fur company an' as he didn't seem to want to bother more about it, he give in. Nobody but the gang ever knowed you wasn't my child an' they scattered to all parts of the world after the surrender. After that Dave an' the gals was born an' nobody ever suspicioned that you wasn't a Fanshaw."

Ronald, pale and excited, leaned against the water-shelf.

CAN'T BE SEPARATED.

Some Plainfield People Have Learned How to Get Rid of Both.

Backache and kidney ache are twin brothers.

You can't separate them,

And you can't get rid of the backache until you cure the kidney ache.

If the kidneys are well and strong, the rest of the system is pretty sure to be in vigorous health.

Doan's Kidney Pills make strong healthy kidneys.

Mr. S. J. Conklin, traveling salesman for a New York confectionery house, 134 West Front street, says: "I was subject to pain in the back and hips, which at times I felt in my side. I tried different kinds of kidney cures but received little or no relief. I read a great deal about Doan's Kidney Pills and I went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. I took three boxes altogether and was wonderfully improved. Doan's Kidney Pills are a good remedy and accomplish all that is claimed for them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Miners' Union Boards Meet to Settle Differences.

NINE HOUR WORKDAY IN DISPUTE.

Matters Have Reached an Acute Stage in Three Districts—Thirty Thousand Men Are Idle Because of a Lockout.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., April 21.—The executive boards of districts Nos. 1, 7 and 9 of the United Mine Workers of America, which districts embrace the entire anthracite coal region, held their first joint conference at the Hotel Hart here last night since the strike commission made its award. The purpose of the conference is to interpret, so far as the miners' organization have the authority to do so, the various features of the award. There was a full attendance of officers, and President Mitchell presided at the meeting. George Hartlein, secretary of district No. 9, which takes in the Schuylkill region, acted as secretary.

The session was a brief one. There was an informal discussion of several matters to be taken up by the three boards, and then an adjournment was taken.

The principal point in dispute is the interpretation of the nine hour workday for all mine workers who are employed by the day, week or month. There has been much friction in the three districts over this question, and the matter reached an acute stage yesterday, when the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company shut down nearly all its collieries in the Schuylkill region because the men would not accept the interpretation of the company relative to the nine hour day. About 30,000 men were rendered idle in the Schuylkill region by the company's action.

Another grievance made known here is the alleged refusal of Coxe Bros. & Co., in the middle coal field, to permit the miners to employ a check weighman. The award of the commission makes it compulsory for operators to employ at the expense of the miners a check weighman whenever required by a majority of the men at the colliery.

The joint conference will appoint three persons, one from each of the three districts, to represent the miners on the board of conciliation, as provided by the strike commission.

THOUSANDS LOCKED OUT.

Many Collieries Closed by the Reading Company.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., April 21.—Of the forty-three collieries of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company all but eleven are shut down owing to the employees being locked out by an order of the company.

At the thirty-two idle operations many of the employees on Saturday refused to work nine hours, as demanded by the management of the company. The mines at work are the Eagle Hill and Wadesville, Good Spring and Lincoln in the Pottsville district; Alaska and Reliance at Mount Carmel, and the collieries generally in the Shamokin region.

In the Shenandoah and Mahanoy regions, the storm center, all of the Reading operations are closed. Upward of 30,000 mine workers are locked out by this company alone.

Many Ready to Help Macedonia.

ROME, April 21.—Ricciotti Garibaldi, leader of the Italian volunteers in Greece during the war with Turkey, has received letters from almost every country in the world from men who volunteer to join his expedition to free Macedonia from Turkey. These offers include the formation of a battalion of yeomanry and cavalry in South Africa. Many offers to volunteer have been received from the United States. Proposals of assistance have also been received. The latter include an enthusiastic letter from Countess Hortense de Nicolai, vice president of the Pennsylvania Women's International Alliance For Peace.

American Missions In Africa.

LONDON, April 21.—The Congregational union held a mass meeting in Memorial hall to welcome the Revs. E. L. Strong of Boston, J. A. Wilder and C. N. Ranson, the members of the delegation to South Africa from the American board of missions, who sail next Saturday. All the speakers expressed confidence in the future of the natives of South Africa under British rule and paid tributes to the work of the American missions.

Andrew Carnegie's Generosity.

ITHACA, N. Y., April 21.—Another gift from Andrew Carnegie in connection with the typhoid fever epidemic is announced, his draft for $500 having been received by M. M. Dayton of the Ithaca Daily News. The amount is to be used for the aid of needy convalescents among the townspeople and will be added to the physicians' fund, which local charity workers have raised.

SPORTING NEWS

ON THE DIAMOND.

John Conroy, of "lily" fame, has been released from the policeman's team. He would like to secure a berth with one of the League organizations.

A game of baseball will be played between the North Plainfield High School team and the team from Westfield High School, on the home grounds tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock sharp.

It is practically certain that "Shiner" Dodge will not be able to play with the Hopes after all. He is employed by the Aeolian Company at Garwood, and it is said, has been forced to play with its team or else resign his position.

Richard Higgins, one of the city's authorities on baseball matters, has been appointed assistant manager of the Safe Works team. With him as a co-worker with Manager Muir the iron workers may be expected to turn out a crackerjack aggregation of players.

The first member of one of the City or Association League teams making a home run in the League series, will be given a box of cigars by Thomas Timbo, the North avenue restaurant man. The only specification is that the winner be designated by the official scorer of the game.

All of the League teams and many of the minor organizations have made arrangements for games, Saturday. Most of them will be in the nature of practice work as none of the big clubs have really gotten all positions determined. The League teams will have a go at each other while a few outside teams will also be brought in.

Not a winter season passes by but what the property and grounds of the Hope Y. M. A. suffers at the hands of destructive boys sadly in need of parental restraint. This year has been no exception and the back-stop and bleachers have had to be re-built from just this trouble. The matter has been brought to the attention of the Y. M. A. officials and they have offered a reward for information leading to the arrest of the culprits.

The North Plainfield High School baseball team was defeated by Pennington Seminary at Pennington Saturday afternoon by a score of 40 to 0. The account of the game, as published in yesterday's Daily Press, gave the score as 4 to 0. The management of the team should not be blamed for the error as it made no attempt to give out any false statement. The information came from a North Plainfield High School boy who is a great baseball enthusiast accompanying the team and who was supposed to be reliable authority. The greatest agony came in the eighth inning when Pennington made twenty-one runs. The Borough High School boys had great difficulty fielding the ball on account of the high wind.

GUARANTEED.

That word means something, when it is backed by the $5,000,000 capital and surplus of the

FIDELITY TRUST COMPANY.

It means for you an easy mind if you have one of those guarantees covering the title to your premises.
The man, who does business the way it was done a generation ago, is surely on the road to failure. This is an age of progress. There has been progress in methods of conveyancing as well as in other lines. Out of the need for something less uncertain than a lawyer's certificate and a lawyer's responsibility, has grown up the system of policies of insurance, or guarantees of title by companies with large capital and a force, specially trained in the work.
There is none better in this line than

THE FIDELITY TRUST COMPANY OF NEWARK, N. J.

It has an agency at Elizabeth for conducting Union County business. Rates will be given on application at its office, No. 215 Broad Street, and an investigation of its resources and methods is invited.

'PORT'S TEAM BEATEN AT ITS OWN GAME

Hope Y. M. A. Won Worst Exhibition of "Rough House" in Which It Has Taken Part.

PLAYED AT ELIZABETH

LOOKED AT TIMES AS IF GAME WOULD NEVER BE FINISHED.

Hope's Fast Team Play Swamped Home Team in the First Half—Several Times 'Port Five Withdrew From Field in Argument.

Hope Y. M. A.'s basket ball team had a new experience last evening when it defeated the five of the Y. M. C. L., of Elizabethport, in the latter's hall. While the game was supposed to be played under the 1902-03 rules, the home team positively refused to play under certain of its provisions and the game wound up in the hottest exhibition of "rough house" that the local boys had ever been called upon to participate in. The final score was 23 to 19 in favor of the Hopes.

For a while it looked as if the game would never be finished. The home team seriously objected to having fouls called and several times withdrew from the field. The play was rough in the extreme, particularly in the second half when Lane, once of the Greenpoint "Rubber Five," went in. It was fast team work that won the game as the 'Port boys could not overcome the speedy offensive game of their opponents.

The first half was a surprise, the Plainfielders leading 14 to 5. The other team was played right off its feet. In the second half there were constant delays and bickerings by the Y. M. C. L. players while they emphasized their rough tactics. Humphries played a great game for them and landed three goals from the middle of the field on single-handed throws. He and Lane were responsible for Elizabethport's more frequent scoring in the second half.

The teams lined up as follows:

E. Y. M. C. L.		Hope Y. M. A.
Humphries	right forward	Dilks, Duckworth
Bradley	left forward	Porter
Canah	center	Whitley
O'Brien	right guard	McCombe
McGovern, Lane.	left guard	Chamberlain

Score—Hope Y. M. A., 23; E. Y. M. C. L., 19. Goals from the field—Humphries (3), Bradley (2), O'Brien, Lane (2), Dilks, Duckworth, Porter (2), Whitley (4), McCombe. Goals on fouls—Humphries (2) Lane, Whitley (4), McCombe. Fouls—Hope Y. M. A., 4; E. Y. M. C. L., 8. Referee—H. J. Kuffield, of E. Y. M. C. L. Umpire—Charles B. Morse, of Hope Y. M. A. Timekeepers—Wm. Lane, of E. Y. M. C. L., and J. F. Wharton, of Hope Y. M. A. Scorer—V. W. Nash, Jr., of Hope Y. M. A.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

The city of Plainfield is just now being well advertised by the New York Herald. That paper prints on the first page in a conspicuous place the location of the local Postal Telegraph and Cable office on North avenue. That distinction is not even accorded much larger cities.

LITERARY.

The April Cosmopolitan is a carefully balanced magazine. It appeals to the individual tastes of the many, and the many tastes of the individual. There are seventeen stories and articles—101 pictures. Chief place is given to a striking article, on "The Americanization of the Canadian Northwest," written by William R. Stewart. A personal sketch of Bjornsterne Bjornson, the prophet-poet of Norway, is most entertainingly written, and is illustrated with a number of beautiful photographs of the poet's home. "To Love or To Be Loved," is a philosophical essay, by Lavini Hart, in the course of which she shows that to love means increase of physical exercise, as is shown in the same number of Bernarr MacFadden, in an article entitled "Health Made and Preserved by Daily Exercise." Dr. Geo. F. Shears writes on "Medicine," as part of the series, "Making a Choice of a Profession." "Famous Cures and Humbugs of Europe," is by the late Julian Ralph, "Romances of the World's Great Mines" (Calumet and Hecla), by S. E. Moffett. There are also two sketches—one on the great financier, Jacob H. Schiff; and the other on the sugar-king, H. O. Havemeyer. Field Marshal Viscount Wolseley, K. P.; H. G. Wells, Henry Seton Merriman, Seemus MacManus, and several other well-known writers contribute to this number of The Cosmopolitan, which is particularly remarkable for the variety of its fiction.

—The attendance on Sunday afternoon at the Whosoever Mission on Whitehead avenue, was large and the lesson was very interesting. This evening the regular services will be held there, at which all are invited.

"CELLAR GANG" WON'T DIG

GOING TO HIRE A CONTRACTOR TO DO THE WORK INSTEAD.

Then "Cellar Gang" Will Foot The Bills—Decided at The Meeting Held Last Evening.

Work on the cellar for the new engine house in the borough will probably be started next week in earnest. Some earth has been removed already but it has not been done by the firemen. It has been sold to private parties for top dressing for gardens. There was a meeting last evening of the "cellar gang" when it was decided to let out a contract for the digging of the cellar to a local contractor and pay the bill from funds in the treasury of Warren Engine Company and by subscriptions.

Each member of that famous organization which is known as the "cellar gang," all of whom are members of Warren Engine Company, were expected to dig five cart loads of earth from the field. They would have been held to their contract but for the fact that many of those who signed the paper are now obliged to be at work at nights and can not afford to give the time to the work. It has been thought cheaper to have a contractor undertake the work and pay the bill through the company funds or by private subscription. The contract will probably be let Friday evening when the bids will be opened.

The committee which has been appointed to receive bids and to award the contract is composed of Chief Engineer J. J. Stahl, George H. Fairchild and Harry Coddington.

PARK A. C. PLANS.

Among some of the other members are Fawcett, Pond, Barlow, Owens and Fisher. The club will conduct a fair on or about May 2 for the benefit of the treasury.

COURT WEEK IN SOMERSET

Grand Jury Investigates Murder of John Driff at Bound Brook Christmas Day.

LICENSES ARE GRANTED

Former Senator C. A. Reed and Other Prominent Men on Grand Jury—Twenty-Six Inns and Taverns Licensed—Several in North Plainfield—Other Business.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, April 22—This is what is known as "court week" at Somerville and many comparative strangers are seen in town. The Grand Jury that began its labors yesterday is quite a remarkable one. Charles J. Fury, formerly proprietor of the Somerset Hotel and at present manager of the New Jersey Bottling Association, is its foreman. Among the others are Wm. O. Worth, Former Senator Charles A. Reed, David J. Carney and Abram E. Hegeman, of North Plainfield, former Assemblyman Edward E. Cooper, of Warren, and Former Sheriff W. H. H. Wyckoff, of Raritan. These jurors are now investigating the charge of murder against Joseph Erner, of Bound Brook, who, it is alleged, killed John Driff on Christmas morning.

Justice Garretson charged the Grand Jury as follows:

"The court understands there is one charge of homicide to be investigated by the Grand Jury. A man was killed at Bound Brook—struck by a club in the hands of someone lying in wait for him. A person is in jail charged with the crime. It is your duty to give careful consideration to the matter and if the evidence satisfies you that there is cause you should indict him for murder."

James B. Duke, president of the American Tobacco Company, who was drawn as a Grand Juror, did not appear until the others were sworn. It is said he expressed disappointment, but it is believed he was only bluffing.

There were more licenses granted yesterday that at one term before in years. In all twenty-six inns and taverns, seven saloons and four wholesale places were licensed. Among those of interest to North Plainfielders were: Inns and taverns, Henry Pedeflous, Smalleytown; Charles Jensen, North Plainfield; Fred A. Nelson, Watchung; wholesale, New Jersey Bottling and Rectifying Company, and Adolph Behren, North Plainfield.

The license of Thomas Howard for a hotel at Peapack, which has never known such a luxury, was deferred for a hearing on May 1.

Judge Schenck announced that he would take up the trial of indictments on May 11, the Justice appeals on May 13 and the Court appeals on May 22.

In the Circuit Court yesterday there were objections by a number of people to the assessments made by the commissioners on the Pluckamin and Skillman roads and the matter was laid over for a hearing Monday. There being no one opposing the benefits assessed on the Hillsborough road the court confirmed the report.

The Somerset County Bar Association had its annual meeting after court had adjourned for the day. Officers were elected as follows: President, A. A. Clark; vice president, Louis H. Schenck; secretary, Miss Mary M. Steele; treasurer, Nelson Y. Dungan.

GIVEN A DIAMOND.

Fred Shepherd Receives Valuable Remembrance for Saving Lives.

Fred Shepherd, of Park avenue, who is a brakeman on a New Jersey Central local between New York and Somerville, has just received a handsome diamond pin from two women, residents of Dunellen, whose lives he saved last winter. They were passengers on his train and stepped off the rear car into a snow bank which so confused them, they walked directly in front of a Blue Line express. At the risk of his life Shepherd sprang to their rescue and dragged them to safety as the train sped by. The generous gift came entirely unexpected as the incident had left his mind.

PARKS SECOND FOR TROPHY

BROOKLYN WHIST CLUB IN LEAD FOR METROPOLITAN WHIST TROPHY.

Standing for That Cup—Parks and Cosmopolitans Tied for Second Place—Play Tomorrow.

As there has been a revival of interest in the game of whist in Plainfield this past winter and spring, it will be interesting to many to know about the standing of the various clubs for the Metropolitan challenge trophy. The Brooklyn Whist Club holds the lead with eleven wins, while the Cosmopolitan Club and the Park Club teams are tie for second place with eight wins each. Seven of the eight wins by the Park Club were consecutive victories. Next comes the Knickerbocker Club with seven wins, the Newark Bay Boat Club with six, the Camera Club with five, the Elizabeth Chess and Whist Club with four, while the Forest Hill and Jersey City Clubs each have one win for the trophy.

The challengers next in line are: Cosmopolitan, Camera Club, Forest Hill, Knickerbocker and Brooklyn Whist Club. The Parks will play the Cosmopolitan Club team on Thursday evening at the Park Club and as both teams have the same number of wins the match is sure to be of more than ordinary interest to those who have followed the whist play this season. The Parks' old team scored one victory last year for the trophy thus making the total number eight.

AS MEMBERS LOOKED ONCE

"PHOTOGRAPH PARTY" HELD AT PARK CLUB LAST NIGHT.

Unique Affair in Which Members Guessed Each Other's Identity From Youthful Pictures.

A unique affair was held at the Park Club last evening under the auspices of the entertainment committee. It was called a "photograph party," and a most profitable and pleasant evening was spent. The idea was this. The entertainment committee asked the various members of the club to send photos of themselves and their families to them. There was a generous response, nearly 120 pictures being received. These were placed about the walls at the clubhouse and those present were expected to guess the names of them all. There were prizes for the man and woman who guessed the greatest number correctly. Miss Daisy Elsberg won the prize for the women, she having guessed sixty-eight, while Walter M. McGee, who guessed forty-six, received the prize for the men.

One may understand how difficult the task was when it is known that the pictures showed the various people at ages ranging from two years upward, most of them being between eighteen and twenty years of age. There were a number of daguerreotypes and these were the hardest to guess. Some of the pictures were comical and caused no end of fun for the guests.

At the conclusion of the guessing refreshments were served under the direction of the committee and a social time followed. The committee in charge consisted of Mr. and Mrs. S. St. John McCutchen, Mr. and Mrs. William L. Saunders, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Townsend, Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. McGee and C. E. Murray.

MUST ATTEND.

Borough School Board Calls Attention to the Law Regarding Truants.

The members of the North Plainfield Board of Education have prepared circulars which will be sent to the parents of pupils in the borough schools calling attention to the fact that by law children between the ages of seven and fifteen years are obliged to attend school regularly. The announcement further states that failure to obey this law makes a parent liable to fine or imprisonment.

This is the first step which the board has taken in an effort to compel a more regular attendance at the school sessions across the brook. The first case which comes to the notice of the board will be made an example of and the attention of the parents of pupils in the borough is called to the determined action taken by the board.

WORKED FOR MISSIONS FOR QUARTER CENTURY

Twenty-Fifth Anniversary of Woman's Home Missionary Society of First Baptist.

REPORTS OF ITS GROWTH

ADDRESS BY MISS RAPP, BAPTIST MISSIONARY AT ELLIS ISLAND.

Told of Her Work Among the Immigrants—Review of the Society Since Its Organization—Forty-Nine Original Members Living.

The twenty-fifth anniversary meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary Society, of the First Baptist church, was held yesterday afternoon in the lecture room of the church, when reports for the past year as well as preceding years, were given. Mrs. David J. Yerkes, as president of the society, occupied the chair and conducted the devotional exercises.

The report of the secretary, Miss Laura J. Runyon, was read by Mrs. John H. French. This showed that in 1878 there were 125 members, the society being connected with the First Baptist and Park Avenue Baptist churches. In 1887 the Park Avenue Baptist church members formed a separate society. The First Baptist church society now numbers seventy members. Of the original members forty-nine are now living and two, Mrs. Stockbridge and Mrs. Rhees, moved to western cities. Many have died since the organization of the society, but those living in Plainfield are still connected with it.

The report of the treasurer showed that during the past year there was received and disbursed $483.66 and in the twenty-five years there has been received and disbursed $10,000. The banner year was 1896-1897 when over $900 was received.

After the presentation of reports the members were introduced to Miss Rapp, a missionary employed by the Woman's Board of Home Missions of the Baptist church to labor among the immigrants at Ellis Island. She told of her interesting work among the many foreigners who are constantly arriving in New York. She also told how the immigrants are divided into separate classes, according to nationality. They are brought from steamers to Ellis Island on barges and sometimes they are detained for one reason and another as long as a month. During this time Miss Rapp has an opportunity to do missionary work among these people. On Good Friday Miss Rapp said that 7,000 immigrants arrived at Ellis Island.

Miss Rapp related many touching incidents how families are separated by illness and death before they have a chance to leave Ellis Island and reach their destinations. She told of the conversion of many immigrants and of their uniting with churches soon after taking up their residence in this country. The missionary's talk was intensely interesting and after the meeting many remained to meet Miss Rapp.

TEMPLARS' LAST FAREWELL

CONDUCTED THE FUNERAL SERVICE OF FRANK A. VAN AUKEN.

Services Held From the East Sixth Street Home Last Night—Templars' Service.

Simple, yet beautiful funeral services of a nature seldom seen in this city, marked the last sad rites over the remains of Francis A. VanAuken at his late home on East Sixth street, last evening. Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., was in charge and the Templar form of service was fully carried out by the members. There were present also delegations of members from the two Masonic lodges in this city and prominent officials from various parts of the State.

Eminent Commander Samuel Bingaman conducted the obsequies in a ritualistic sense and Prelate Rev. J. W. Richardson, of Stamford, Conn., was his assistant. The latter confined himself to no set form and took occasion in his remarks to lay stress upon the sterling worth of the brother just departed. His expressions of smypathy for the bereaved relatives were silently echoed by everyone within hearing as no one knew him but to love him.

During the service three beautiful selections were sung by the Masonic quartette composed of Elmer E. Runyon, W. T. Jeffery, William E. MacClymont and R. Wilson Derby. They were "Asleep in Jesus," "I'm But a Sojourner Here" and "Lead, Kindly Light." The floral tributes were unusually numerous but the pieces contributed by friends were extremely pretty. There were Masonic pieces and two from the pupils of the City High School of which Mr. VanAuken's son is a senior.

The remains were taken this morning to Dover Plains, N. Y., for interment. They were accompanied by the pall bearers, B. Frank Coriell, D. C. Adams, Jacob Kirkner and Henry Woodland and also an escort from Trinity Commandery.

MANY WITNESS WORK OF Y. M. C. A. GYMNASTS

Annual Spring Gymnastic Exhibition Held at Association Gym Last Night.

SOME CLEVER WORK

CONTESTS IN SEVERAL EVENTS ADDED TO THE INTEREST.

Clever Contests on Wrestling Mat and With Foils—Show Stunts on Various Apparatus — Physical Director Heywood in Charge.

Nearly two hundred people who are more or less interested in the work of the Young Men's Christian Association in this city were given an excellent idea of the work being done at the association in the physical department at the annual spring exhibition of the gymnasium classes last evening. The members were all in good trim and the showing made was gratifying, not only to the physical instructor, C. E. A. Heywood, but to those who witnessed the gymnastic feats of strength and skill.

The programme opened with a dumb-bell drill by the members of the gymnasium led by Mr. Heywood. Several changes were made in the programme which was handed around to the audience. This was necessitated on account of the non-appearance of several of the members of the class. In the class work exhibition on the apparatus the "buck" was substituted for the low bar which was broken the night before. This was led by Percy Hand, while the work on the "horse" was led by H. Brokaw. Charles Zimmer led the work on the parallel bars and Ralph Collins was the leader on the high bar.

McNaughton, Neal, Denton and Hand took part in the high diving and while no new records were made the work was of a very capable class. Individual work on the apparatus showed the skill and strength of each participant. The "horse" work was led by W. E. Neal, the parallel bars by A. L. Denton, high bar by W. E. Cahoone, and flying rings by W. Mc Naughton. On each apparatus two moves were made with one optional move for each man, while the leader made three.

The potato race was one of the laughable features of the evening. It was won by Zimmer with Brokaw a close second. Collins took third place. Koons and Collins won in the wheelbarrow race while the other contestants were Denton and Neal and McNaughton and Cahoone.

One of the interesting events of the evening was the "hand" wrestling. Utzinger won from Brokaw, Neal from Denton and Conant from Smith. Following that event R. M. Smith led the class in window diving. The aperture 14x13 inches in dimention, was dived through with perfect ease amid loud applause.

Another laughable feature of the evening was the sack race in which Denton, Cahoone and McNaughton took part. This race was won by Denton by a few inches with Cahoone and McNaughton close seconds.

In the fencing there were two teams. One was the beginner's and the other consisted of adepts in the art. The first team comprised Collins and Line while the second comprised A. L. Denton and W. E. Neal. No winners were announced in this event.

Three weights were represented on the wrestling mat, feather, light and middle. In the first Aalholm and Sebring fought and the decision was awarded the latter. In the second Conant and Mundy went at it and the decision went to the former while in the third, or middle weight, Denton and Neal faced each other. This was declared a tie.

The tumbling work brought out the result of the work in the gymnasium in good form as it showed the skill and ease in which the various tumbling feats are accomplished. Bentliff and Gluck, of Westfield, were the leaders in that event.

The evening closed with a gymnasium hockey game in which all the members took part. The two teams were captained by Utzinger and Koons and after a hard fought battle the honors were awarded to Utzinger's men who scored over their opponents by a score of 6 to 3.

More than usual interest was shown in the exhibition this year and not in four years has there been so many people in attendance at a spring exhibition at the gymnasium as there was last evening.

AFTER A NEW DRILL FLOOR

COMPANY K IS CONSIDERING MOVING TO NEW QUARTERS.

Some Talk of Postponing Field Day From June to September.

Besides the inpection of Company K Monday evening when Lieutenant Colonel Clime complimented the members of the company very highly for the good work done during the past few months, much business of importance was transacted. One item of great importance was the probable postponement of the athletic games which were to have been held in June to sometime in September. This was deemed advisable for many reasons, one of which is that the men will be in better trim then they are at present. This matter has not been decided upon definitely and will come up again before the next meeting which will be held in May. It is understood that some of the members are in favor of holding the games as planned.

Another important matter which came up before the meeting was the question of whether or not to move from the present hall to more commodious rooms. There is some talk of securing the large hall in the Schepflin building on West Front street, which was recently purchased by Morris Abrams. This hall is said to measure 50x80 feet and its appointments and style are just what the company needs.

CHURCH FINALLY SECURED

PLAINFIELDER COMES TO AID OF A TOWN IN ALABAMA.

In Memory of His Mother, Who Attended Church There, Col. John F. Wilson Pays Bill.

There's a little town down in Alabama, Tuscumbia they call it, which looks at Plainfield today with pride for the reason that this city numbers among its inhabitants Former Mayor John F. Wilson. For Tuscumbia has good reason to remember Col. Wilson. There stands in that town as pretty a little sanctuary as one could wish to see which was only made possible through the generosity of this same Plainfielder.

Col. Wilson's old family home was located near Tuscumbia and in the day before the war it was to the thriving Methodist church in that community that his mother, Mrs. Susan Anne Wilson, used to worship weekly. She was an active worker there and beloved by all who knew her. When the Civil War came, the planters lost much of their wealth. The Methodist church was destroyed and the once thriving congregation lacked the means to build another.

It was only recently that the Methodists of Tuscumbia decided that they would make a final effort to rebuild their church. An architect was consulted, plans drawn and the work of collecting funds begun. By dint of much effort, $1,000 was raised. Then there was a halt. It was at this time that Col. Wilson learned of the situation and came to the rescue. In memory of his mother, he offered to meet the remainder of the cost of the church as planned. He also arranged for a beautiful memorial window, properly inscribed. The church is now completed and stands in the Alabama town free from debt. And that is why the people of Tuscumbia have such a warm place in their hearts for Plainfield and one of its residents in particular.

They were in charge of Rev. L. R. Howard, of Hope chapel, of which the young woman was a member. Numerous floral tributes were in evidence.

The body was afterward taken to Phillipsburg for interment in the family plot, the casket being borne to the grave by M. D. Sweeney, George Conover, Alexander Muir and Augustus Feiring, Jr.

FLOOD COMES THROUGH FIRE

Blaze Melts Water Pipe and Floods Home of Former Fire Chief G. H. Fairchild.

FAMILY WAS ABSENT

Mr. Fairchild Felt Something Was Wrong and Discovered Flood—Then He Found Fire—Department Called Out—The Damage Will Amount to About $50.

Former Fire Chief George H. Fairchild, of North Plainfield, was called upon to extinguish a blaze in his house on Grandview avenue this morning. The fire did but little damage but through the melting of a lead pipe water flooded the kitchen and cellar.

Mr. Fairchild's family were away attending a funeral and he, having a premonition that all was not well at his residence, left his work at the store of C. Frank French and went home. As he entered the kitchen he found the place flooded. He rushed to the cellar to turn off the supply and then went upstairs. There he found the bathroom ablaze while from beneath the washstand, a lead pipe, which had been melted by the heat, was emitting a copious flow of water.

He tried to smother the flames but found that they were gaining headway. He rushed to the corner of Somerset street and Grandview avenue and turned in an alarm from box 143. He then hurried back to the house and with the aid of neighbors extinguished the blaze before the department arrived.

The damage done will probably amount to $50, chiefly by water. The fire was caused by mice gnawing matches.

RIOT IN SALOON.

Three Arrests Made for Trouble on West Third Street—Trial Set Down for Saturday Morning.

John Newman, James Barry and Benjamin Monroe, the latter colored, were arraigned in the city court, this morning, charged with fighting and disorderly conduct in a West Third street saloon, Saturday night. The testimony was so conflicting City Judge Runyon was unable to place the blame and laid the matter over until Saturday when witnesses will be present.

David Bowden, a West End boy, was arraigned on complaint of Olaf Barschowski, who said the defendant had annoyed him by throwing stones through his shop windows. Bowden preferred counter charges against the complainant of giving and selling cigarettes to small boys for stealing coal for him. Barschowski denied the charge and the case was continued until tomorrow.

Sentence was suspended on John McCann who was arraigned on a charge of disorderly conduct.

ROBBED FIREMEN.

Sneak Thieves Took $40 in Cash and Other Things.

While the firemen of No. 3 hose company were exercising the horses, yesterday morning, thieves entered the engine house and ransacked the lockers. A roll of bills amounting to $40 belonging to Caliman Alexander Muir and several razors and other articles belonging to Drivers Feiring and Dunavan, were taken. The matter was reported to the police and several suspects are being watched.

H. Clay Brose Injured.

Henry Clay Brose had the third finger on his right hand broken yesterday morning in a most peculiar manner. He was standing on West Front street in front of the Babcock building when a man rushed out of a store and hurried to catch a car. The man pushed the young man against a post and his fingers doubling up under his hand as he reached out to keep from falling and was broken near the first knuckle.

Captor Was Dragged.

Hackman Charles Barry, of Howard place, had one of his horses run away yesterday noon on Somerset street while he was in a store. The animal made a dash up Somerset street but at Race street a young man named Cubberly rushed out and grasped the bridle. He was dragged almost to Manning avenue before he was able to check the plunging steed. No damage was done.

THEATRICAL.

"The Sultan of Sulu," Henry W. Savage's successful musical comedy that is just entering on its seventeenth week, enjoyed the distinction of being the only theatrical company now playing in New York that furnished models for the many "Easter Girl" illustrations that were published. No fewer than eight young women members of the company posed as the typical Easter Girl. The merry lines of satire and comedy of George Ade and the tuneful music continue to please the crowded houses and the New York engagement of the piece is sure to continue indefinitely.

All New York is talking about the advent upon the theatrical horizon of Messrs. Montgomery and Stone, two young comic geniuses who have taken the metropolis by storm through their unique characterizations in "The Wizard of Oz." In this great production which is crowding the new Majestic Theatre on Fifty-eighth street and Broadway to its utmost capacity at every performance Messrs. Montgomery and Stone are the principal comedy features. David Montgomery appears as a Tin Woodman, a whimsical creature who has been transformed by the potent spell of a wicked witch into a man of tin. Fred Stone has an equally novel character, a Scarecrow who is endowed with life by a magic wishing ring bestowed by a good fairy upon little Dorothy, the heroine of the play.

ARAB HOSPITALITY.

Loubet's Welcome a Scene of Barbaric Splendor.

FRANCE DECORATES THE LEADERS.

Desert Tribesmen of El Kreider Gather In Thousands For the Grand "Diffa," or Banquet, and Native Dances.

EL KREIDER, Algeria, April 22.—President Loubet participated here in a veritable durbar of the nomadic tribesmen of the desert. The tribesmen gathered in thousands from all parts of southern Algeria for a ceremony of oriental splendor.

It was held on a vast plateau. Here the tribesmen assembled from all quarters, some of them having journeyed 300 or 400 miles across the desert. Their tents were arranged in circles after the Arab custom, each tribe occupying a large circle, in the center of which were droves of richly harnessed camels. The chiefs were mounted on horses, but the tribesmen were on camels and formed great caravans. Over 8,000 men participated in the gathering.

A superb tent of camel hair fabrics and Arab tapestries had been erected for President Loubet. As each tribe passed in review its chief dismounted and paid homage to the president of France, who distributed decorations to the principal leaders.

The ceremonies were brought to a conclusion by a grand "diffa," or Arab banquet. The menu, which was printed in Arabic and French, included such desert delicacies as roast gazelle, "couscous" and camel's milk. Dances executed by celebrated native beauties followed the banquet. The president then started on his return journey to Saida. The tribesmen, mounting their horses, rode at full gallop alongside the train as long as they could keep up the pace, their many colored bernouses, fluttering in the wind, making a brilliant picture.

The day's entertainment presented a spectacle of barbaric splendor such as seldom has been seen by Europeans.

Boxerism Revived.

VICTORIA, B. C., April 22.—The Peking legation premises are now being policed by armed patrols at night because of the revival of Boxerism in districts near the city. News was brought some time ago of Russian expeditions visiting Tibet and of opposition on the part of the natives. A party of Russians were told to turn back at Chamdo and on refusing were attacked and several killed and twenty-one wounded. Work has been commenced at Fuchow on the temple to be erected to the memory of Li Hung Chang.

Mexican Earthquake; Ten Dead.

CITY OF MEXICO, April 22.—Ten workmen engaged in making a tunnel on the Mexican Central's extension at Tuxpam, in the state of Jalisco, lost their lives in a cave in caused by several earthquake shocks coming in rapid succession. The first shock caused the falling of interior working, and when the gang of workmen went to clear away the debris they were caught by a second cave in, which resulted from fresh shocks.

ODELL SENDS A VETO

Bill to Centralize State Hospital Control Killed.

SO NEW YORK CITY LIGHTING PLANT

Canal Debate Rehearsed on Two Amendments—"Public Robbery and a Stupendous Humbug," Says Senator Malby.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 22.—Governor Odell has put an end to the reports that he was behind the Rampsberger bill to centralize control of the state insane hospitals by sending a veto message to the senate. The governor in vetoing the bill says:

"This bill, with some of whose features I am in accord, provides such a radical departure from existing laws governing the institutions under the control of the commission in lunacy that I have been led to disapprove it."

The miniature of the original canal debate occurred in the senate on Senator Hill's two concurrent resolutions to amend the constitution so as, first, to permit the payment of the canal debt from any surplus in the treasury, and, second, to extend the time limit of canal bonds from eighteen to fifty years. The vote on the first resolution was 29 to 11. All the negative votes on both propositions were Republican. It was on the fifty year bond proposition that the debate grew lively. Senator Malby did not mince his words. "This is a measure," said he, "to notify this generation that it will not be required to pay for all the crimes it commits, but that some of them will pass on to posterity as inheritance from their forefathers.

"This allows the matter to go before the people a little less bald, a little less like public robbery, but it is still a stupendous humbug."

These amendments if passed by the assembly and by the next legislature will be submitted to the people in 1904.

The senate refused to disagree with an adverse report of the cities committee on the Elsberg bill permitting New York city to establish a municipal lighting plant. Senators Elsberg and Grady dissented from the report. Senator Elsberg's motion to disagree with the committee's adverse report and to advance the bill to a third reading was defeated by a vote of 18 yeas to 28 nays after a lively debate, during which Senator Martin denounced a lobbyist whose name he did not give.

The bill of Senator Goodsell and Mr. Bedell forbidding the establishment of any hospital camp for consumptives in any county without the formal consent of the county and town authorities was first defeated and later reconsidered and passed by the assembly. The first vote was 66 yeas and 62 nays, failing of the required 75 votes to make a constitutional majority. The final vote was 88 yeas and 36 nays.

There was a party division in the senate on the Hughes bill making it a misdemeanor for any labor organization to discriminate against a workman because he is a member of the national guard, and the measure was passed by a vote of 28 to 19. The debate that preceded the passage of the bill was characterized by bitterness.

HIGH SCHOOL SITE.

The site for the new City High School has finally been selected. Those who have been in touch with the situation are by no means surprised at the choice for it was generally understood that, unless the unexpected happened, the new school building would be placed on the lot now occupied by the Seventh-day Baptist cemetery. That cemetery has not been used for sometime and the trustees have made arrangements so that all the remains will be given other resting places, chiefly in Hillside.

This site has its advantages and its disadvantages. It is very close to the centre of population in Plainfield which has, of late years, gradually moved to the south and west. It is on a trolley line, is right opposite Plainfield's only public park and in close proximity to the Public Library, which will be of great benefit to the institution. It has some objections on account of the distance some of the pupils will have to travel, particularly in case of consolidation, but the trolley somewhat relieves those inconveniences. Plainfield is so spread out that it is impossible to place the building anywhere that will be acceptable to all. The Board of Education has been considering a number of places and it believes that this one best answers the requirements. As the board has made an exhaustive study of the situation, it certainly ought to know.

The City Baseball League has adopted its schedule and will soon complete the details for the opening of the league Memorial Day. It is planned to open the season that day with two games for each team, one in the morning and one in the afternoon. After that the clubs will play every Saturday afternoon with the exception of Independence Day and a Saturday in August which will be left open. The City League teams will make a strong bid for the public support they received last year. If the contests are as close as they were last season, the City League teams ought to draw big crowds. Otherwise, however, they will have to divide their patronage with the other candidates for honors in the baseball field.

It is only when some public exhibition like that of last evening is arranged that the public at large gets any real idea of the excellent work in gymnastics and indoor athletics that is being regularly done at the Young Men's Christian Association. An occasional basket ball game or athletic contest brings the association gymnasium into public view but the regular class work, which makes all these things possible, goes forward quietly and no public notice. This class work is very necessary, however, and the faithful attendance there of the association members is shown by the clever work at the annual exhibition.

Complaints have come from residents in the southeastern section of the city that they are victims of flower and dog thieves who are operating with much persistency. Hardly a night passes that some of the residents do not lose some shrub or flowering plant from their lawn. The police should make a special effort to make a striking example of one or two of these offenders and then, perhaps, the depredations will cease.

There's another murder for Somerset county to solve. The Grand Jury is even now listening to the testimony of how that Bound Brook man came to his sudden and unexpected death.

EUCHRE FOR CHOIR.

Given at Rectory of St. Joseph's Church by Father Miller.

Rev. Father William H. Miller, of St. Joseph's R. C. church, entertained the members of the choir and the ushers of his church at a euchre at the rectory of the church last evening. The euchre was given by the rector in appreciation of the good work done by the choir and ushers at the Easter services at his church. There were thirty present.

Miss Agnes Bailey won the first prize for the women. It was a marble statue of St. Joseph. The men's prize was won by William McCollough and was a volume, edition de lux, of "Our New Possessions." Miss Harriet Hifton won the consolation prize.

After the playing a social time was enjoyed until a late hour when refreshments were served.

After the play there was a general good time and refreshments were served.

The season for the club will be formally closed with a dance at the Casino Tuesday evening, April 28. A large number of invitations have been issued for the affair and there will be several pleasing features.

G. W. Edwards' Picture.

At the thirty-sixth annual exhibition of the American Water Color Society, opened Monday at the American Art Galleries, 6 East Twenty-third street, New York, George Wharton Edwards, of Franklin place, is one of the exhibitors. His picture, "Fishing Village," is classed among the stronger works of the exhibition, according to the judgment of the art critics.

Time Clocks Out of Gear.

During the past week the Western Union time clocks about the city failed to syncronize and an inspection of the wires showed that one of the Western Union wires was crossed with an electric light wire near the Hotel Rosell. The cross burned out the magnet in the master clock at the North Avenue station and prevented the other clocks from working properly.

Early Morning Call.

A chimney on the residence of Mrs. William D. Anderson, of 334 Franklin place, caught fire this morning. The department was summoned by telephone shortly after 7 o'clock and put out the blaze with three extinguishers is a never failing sign of a healthy stomach. When the breath is bad the stomach is out of order. There is no remedy in the world equal to Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for curing indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach disorders. Mrs. Mary S. By the use of Kodol I began to improve at once, and after taking a few bottles am fully restored in weight, health and strength and can eat whatever I like. Kodol digests what you eat and makes the stomach sweet. L. W. Randolph.

DUNELLEN.

An exceedingly enjoyable meeting of the Afternoon Card Club was held yesterday at the home of Mrs. John Lance. As usual whist was played and the prize for an exciting afternoon's play was won by Miss Emma Craig. After playing refreshments were served and the usual interchanging of the club's books took place. The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Martha Whitenack, in Somerville, on May 5.

The Dunellen A. C. will open the season Saturday with the strong Safe Work's team. The line-up of the locals has not been fully decided as yet but the rooters are confident of a strong team. Last year's battery, Ettinger and Brown will again be on the points.

A mutual advantage club has recently been formed among the employes at Levering & Garrigues' factory.

P. M Ising, who was hurt in the Westfield wreck, is very slowly regaining his usual state of health.

The tennis club which has a court located in the borough park, will soon begin operations for the season.

The members of the Watchung A. C. were out for practice last evening on the Lincoln avenue field.

Miss Florence Dickerson has so far recovered from an attack of diphtheria that she is able to be out.

The Dunellen Juniors who were to have disbanded have decided to keep a team in the field.

Regular mid-weekly prayer meeting will be held in the local churches this evening.

Lewis Churchill has returned to his studies at Columbia after a vacation.

Some improvements are being made around Frank Wynkoop's place.

Henry Coffin has returned home after a visit in New York.

NEW MARKET.

The local baseball team is confident of beating the Watchung A. C. Saturday. The players are practicing hard and will put a strong combination in the field.

Dr. W. J. Nelson was called to South Plainfield and found another case of diphtheria had developed in the family which already has several cases.

The public school commencement this year will be held about June 12, in the Baptist church.

Prayer meeting will be held in the Baptist church this evening as usual.

Mrs. Lewis Morgan visited yesterday in Plainfield.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Manager Johnston, of the local baseball team, has been disappointed in securing Grasmeyer to play third base with the locals. Two weeks ago Grasmeyer was as good as wearing a Scotch Plains uniform but the Brooklyn Field Club had a string to him and will hold him for the season. Manager Johnston has an option on several fast men and will make a selection within a few days. When he does it is promised that the fans will find one of the strongest third basemen about Brooklyn looking out for this important part of the infield.

"East Lynne" which will be presented by a number of the young people of the village and borough Friday evening at Excelsior Hall, is an assured success. The caste of the play has been under the tuition of Mrs. VanHoustin, of the borough, who has been untiring in her efforts to make the play such a success as it deserves. The proceeds are for the Public Library Association and everyone in the village and borough takes pride in this public improvement and will do his share towards swelling the proceeds.

The members of the Chautauqua Boys' Club will hold their weekly meeting in the Methodist church tonight. The boys' meetings are proving to be a valuable adjunct to the church work, being well attended by the members who enjoy the weekly gatherings for social recreation.

The High School baseball team is out for daily practice every afternoon so as to be in first-class condition for the game on Saturday afternoon with the scrubs.

The teachers of the Baptist Sunday-school will hold their weekly meeting for the study of the Sunday-school lesson at "The Manse" Thursday evening.

The Amity Literary Club enjoyed a weekly meeting and reading last night at the home of Miss Reynolds, of Jerusalem road.

John Ford and family, who removed to Brooklyn last fall, have returned, renting the Miller cottage in the borough.

Miss Susie L. Parse was the guest Tuesday of her niece, Mrs W. R. Buckley, of South avenue, Plainfield.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

Some one has said that the appointment of a school superintendent may be of more consequence to our nation's power than the promotion of a major-general, says Success.

What can be of more importance to civilization than the raising of human values, the taking of crude, ignorant lumps of human clay, and, by years of patient fashioning and intelligent training, developing them into educated, cultured and strong men?

We think it is a wonderful thing for a sculptor to raise the value of a rough piece of marble or granite from a few dollars to $100,000 by calling out an idea which would have slept in the cold stone forever had not his genius awakened it. But for a teacher's fashioning hand the value of the human block of clay would have been but half what it is.

It is the office of a teacher to raise human values; to take the low and elevate them; to train the ignorant and leave them intelligent; to restrain the impetuous and self-willed, and shape them into self-controlled, polished, beautiful characters.—Newark News.

The Plainfield annexation imbroglio is not the only one of its kind in this State. The inhabitants of a portion of Gloucester are making a vigorous fight against annexation to Camden county. More than 10,000 citizens have signed protests against the contemplated change. Three years ago there was the same kind of fight in the same place. As a rule people are opposed to violent changes of political lines A few years ago an effort was made to take a little slice off Middlesex county and annex it to Union, for the purpose of acquiring and improving a county road. Not fifty people, all told, occupied the little territory, yet a big fight ensued and the project was defeated. The North Plainfield fight is of the same kind, generally speaking, but none of these has been so prolonged and so bitter as the interminable fight for and against the taking of Kearny from Hudson county and annexing it to Essex. As a rule the people do not want county lines changed.—Elizabeth Journal.

LITERARY.

The open air number of Leslie's Monthly justifies its name by some remarkable out-of-door articles on the modern sailor, the Canadian frontier police, the first perilous ascent of Mount Bryce, and the life in a trout stream, besides a rattling baseball story and a story of characteristic sentiment by Henry Harland, who wrote the "Cardinal's Snuff Box."

In "What the Trout Stream Saw" the illustrations by Charles Livingston Bull and the text by W. D. Hulbert, supplement each other effectively. "Life on a Liner" is the story of a college man who shipped first as cook's mate on an ocean liner, and later as oiler and again as steward on smaller ships, learning at first hand what the modern sailor is and does. Agnes C. Laut's "Tales of the Northwest Police" take up a quiet different kind of hardy open air adventure, and the thrilling narrative of the climbing of Mt. Bryce, by James Outram, one of the most famous of mountain climbers, is a great story of a perilous sport.

"The Autobiography of a Shop Girl" is continued successfully in this number. "Benson, '81," the story of a Yale-Harvard baseball game, stands out among the fiction, and Ellis Parker Butler's "Romance Trust," amongst the Marginalia.

Ethel A. Penniel's sketch, "In Chaucer's Youth," in the May St. Nicholas, is based on an unfamiliar historic fact. Chaucer, writer of verse, is well known to every school girl and boy; but not every grown-up, even of fair general information, knows that the lad Geoffrey Chaucer was a favorite page in the court of King Edward III, and later a squire to Prince Lionel. "In Chaucer's Youth" tells the pretty story of the ready wit and quick courage which advanced young Geoffrey from lady's page to prince's squire.

Hermann Klein, the London critic, whose "Modern Musical Celebrities" will treat in the May Century of Adelina Patti, regrets that "The Queen of Song" will not be heard in opera during her farewell tour in the United States next winter. Because of this intention, he says, "the American public will not have an opportunity to realize the full extent of that amazing development of her dramatic genius to which I have more especially made reference. But Patti is always Patti; and, whatever the conditions, her final coming will be the occasion of a rapturous welcome from the citizens of the country in which she was reared, and which can almost claim the honor of having given her birth."

"DER WALD'S" COMPOSER.

Miss Ethel Smyth and Her Remarkable Achievement.

An interesting event of the musical season of 1903 has been the performance for the first time in America of Miss Ethel M. Smyth's opera, "Der Wald" ("The Forest"). Thus it cannot be longer said that no woman has ever composed a successful opera. Moreover, a distinguished musical critic said of it after its first night in New York, "To the opera's credit, it can be said that discussion of it may proceed upon the broad plane of contemporary music without reference to sex or nationality."

This is very good, considering it was written by a man concerning a woman's musical composition, which generally receives more sneers than pats on the back from masculine critics. Indeed, even in this case the critic, like a man, involuntarily claims what is best in the opera—that is, the style of composition and its basic philosophical and intellectual ideas—as "masculine to an astonishing degree." From the intellectual standpoint praiseworthy, therefore they must be "masculine!" which leads one to observe once more that there is nothing small about the male mind when it comes to claiming things.

Miss Smyth is English born and reared, the daughter of a British artillery general. The military social set into which she was born is one of the most conventional among all mankind in its notion of what is proper for a well born and bred "young female." So Ethel Smyth found it when, aspiring and longing, feeling within her a growing impulse of power which she must express or die, she at the age of twelve announced to her family that she was going to Leipsic to study music.

The little girl's family checked her, meddled with her natural longings and sought to kill them. Her work, admirable as it is, shows traces of Grundyish interference. It is colorless in the passages where it should be warm and passionate, the critics say, as though the young woman could not burst her stays and be entirely natural and full in her expression of what Mrs. General Grundy disapproved. Still the young lady's opera is so strong and musical in other ways that the critics may forgive this defect. She will probably learn better in time.

Ethel Smyth was persistent. She kept declaring over and over again that she intended to study music and compose music as well. It required seven years to overcome the family. Then the girl went her way to Leipsic rejoicing. The seven years, however, were not wholly lost, for she developed a fine, graceful physique through exercise in doors and out. She is fond of golf, horseback riding and dancing.

The Smyth family gave her permission to remain in Leipsic a year. By that time they believed the nonsense would be taken out of her and she would be willing to return home and take the round of life suitable to any well regulated army girl. But she did not return at the end of a year. She remained in Leipsic, on the contrary, four years, studying with enthusiasm. She began musical composition while there. Leading performers in the city of music gave at different times a string quartet and a violin sonata by her. After Leipsic the girl still refused to drop into nonentity, but continued working in Dresden, Munich and Florence for several seasons. Then she studied in Rome, whither she still journeys from time to time to breathe in the thrilling atmosphere of art and music in Italy.

It is interesting to note that it was a man, and a musical authority at that, too, one with a contempt for woman in musical composition, who first suggested to the girl to write an opera. He was Herman Levi. During her years of schooling Ethel Smyth had been writing symphonies, sonatas, a mass and chamber music with more or less success. She herself plays her own compositions with rare skill and power. One day Herman Levi heard her play and said to her:

"You must write an opera."

She has now written two. She herself composes both music and words. The first opera was "Fantasio;" the second is "Der Wald," which was received with favor in Covent Garden, London, before it was brought to America. Its leading idea is from Schiller's lines:

Art thou afraid of death? Dost desire to live forever?
Live in the whole! When thou art gone, it will endure.

MARCIA CAMPBELL.

[Copyright, 1900, by A. N. Kellogg Newspaper Co.]

"Do you know the name of the officer?" he asked.

"Thar wasn't a thing to show who he was," answered Mrs. Fanshaw. "He didn't have a thing in his pockets except a silver tobacco box. You've seed it a hunderd times; all the children cut their teeth on it; it's in the front room with matches in it."

She went into the house and brought it back.

"I've told many a lie about this little trick," she admitted, with a shrug and a little smile as she gave it to him.

He had seen the box often before, and remembered that words were engraved on it. He held it to the light, making out the following: "From Elizabeth to—"

"This does not help me much," he said, "but I shall not rest till I know who I am. Is any of the old band living now?"

"Thar must be some of 'em, but the Lord only knows whar they are; they seemed ashamed of the'r war conduct, an' ain't anxious to keep up old friendships. Now, Ron, remember yore promise!"

"I shall do nothing till you are away from here," he said, "and then you shall never be blamed. The one to be blamed is there." He made a gesture toward the graveyard over the hills.

"I reckon you are right," she sighed; "maybe ef I'd a-had other company when I was growin' up my end would a-been different."

CHAPTER XX.

Another summer had come. Ronald was now Redding's law partner, and lived in town. He had put up no sign, having told his partner that he would not do so till he had found out his rightful name. Dave and his mother and sisters had moved to Texas and purchased a good farm from the sale of their own place and the insurance money.

One morning in July Redding bustled into the office as our hero sat reading at his desk. The old man wore a look of suppressed excitement and looked as if he were dying to have Ronald ask him what had happened. But our hero only gave him a hurried good morning and went on with his reading.

Redding sat down at his own desk and threw up the roller top with a great clatter. "Well," he began, "you don't have the least curiosity in the world about anything. Why haven't you axed a feller whar he's been all mornin'?"

Ronald smiled as he looked up from his book. "I thought you might be ill. I was going to send round to see about you."

"You couldn't guess, to save yore life. The truth is, old Hasbrooke sent for me just as I was leaving the breakfast table, an' I went right out to the plantation. What he wanted, an' what I dropped on to while I was thar, would fill a wonder book. He's laid up with a sprained ankle, or he would have come in to talk over the matter with us."

The old lawyer pinched his nose several times and winked slyly into Ronald's expectant face. "You had a fool notion, young man, that I was doin' a sort of charity act in takin' you in with me, but I knowed which side my bread was buttered on. I knowed you'd draw business, and plenty of it. Well, the colonel opened up by sayin' that he'd always felt a big interest in you, an' sence you've made such a rep' with yore speech on the Lester robbery case he's made up his mind to he'p push you along."

Ronald's face had fallen. There was something in the idea of Col. Hasbrooke's patronage that offended his pride.

"I am sure I have never expected aid from him in any way, and it depends on the nature of his proposition as to whether I shall—"

"Don't fly off the handle," grinned Redding; "it's only business for the firm. He said his affairs had never been managed satisfactorily by Lee and West (it seems they got to thinkin' they owned about all the old man had). He said it had got so he had to go in to see 'em two or three times 'fore they would atten' to what he wanted, an' they was paid a lump sum by the year. He has just offered us the job, an' I accepted it before he could bat his eyes. I call it the fattest thing I ever run across, an' I owe you for my half of it."

"That is certainly very kind," answered Ronald, his brow ruffled with a frown; "for your sake, at any rate, I shall raise no objection, but he and I—"

"Ah!" broke in Redding, leaning forward in his chair, "I kinder thought he acted quar about it; he kept axin' ef I knowed for sure if you'd object, an' said maybe I ort to see you first before takin' up the proposition, but I knowed a good thing, an' didn't want no chance o' lettin' it go, so I tol' 'im you'd be tickled to death. Well, even ef you an' him have been at outs, he's showed a willingness to patch it up, an' you ought to let by-gones be by-gones."

"Oh, it will be all right," said our hero. "I shall write him a note of appreciation."

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?
In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.
The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.
This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.
With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires: we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.
Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

Reliance's Rigging Completed.

BRISTOL, R. I., April 22.—The rigging of the prospective cup defender Reliance has been completed, and as soon as the paint is dry on the gaff and boom the great mainsail will be bent on in preparation for the builders' trial, which is expected to take place on Saturday. The crew has been increased to fifty-three men. The majority of the sailors receive $50 a month and are fed and clothed, although a few of the mast head men are paid higher salaries. In addition to the regular pay, the crew will receive the usual racing money, which comes as a bonus for their efforts to win in every race in which the boat is entered.

Racing at Aqueduct.

NEW YORK, April 22.—Right and True, with McCafferty up, won the Peconic stakes at Aqueduct. This race is a seven furlong sprint for three-year-olds, and only four faced the starter, with Nevermore an odds on favorite at 2 to 5. Right and True and Nevermore raced almost head and head the entire distance. In a driving finish Right and True won by a head, with the favorite second. The Lady Rohesia in the second race broke the track record for four and a half furlongs, doing the distance in 54 4-5 seconds. Petra II., quoted at 100 to 1 in the betting, won the first race in a gallop by three lengths.

SPORTING NEWS

ON THE DIAMOND.

The schedule of the City League shows that the Hope and St. Mary teams will play on the former's grounds Decoration Day afternoon. It should result in a record breaking attendance as the two organizations have the largest followings of any in the city.

Veteran "Skeeter" Magee was conspicuous in a Clinton Avenue uniform, last Saturday. His reappearance on the diamond was hailed with delight and it is believed he will remain a member of the club. He has taken no active part in baseball since his retirement from the Hope team early last season.

Many of the local cranks believes the City League schedule of eighteen games is too long. Last year, with remarkable luck in clear Saturdays, the season was extended to cool weather when it was anything but comfortable to sit in the bleachers and then each team had but twelve games. With six more the clubs will still be playing baseball on top of the snow.

The Underwood A. A. defeated the freshmen of the Plainfield High School yesterday afternoon by the score of 15 to 3. The Underwoosd played great ball in all but the first inning. The Underwoods line-up was: Doane, 1b; Daniel, 2b; Long and Slocum, 3b; Glenny, ss; Guinn, lf; Lovell, cf; Minford and Taylor, rf; W. Douglas, c; J. Douglas and Minford, p. The battery for the High School was Davis and Freeman.

The Reform Club management is in doubt about taking the grounds at the corner of Second street and Netherwood avenue for its diamond. Within the past few years baseballists have involuntarily wended their way westward in search of their favorite sport as the grounds were located in that direction and the club does not wish to get out of the natural course. It has also been offered the old Pond grounds on South Second street and may decide to accept.

According to the schedule the North Plainfield High School baseball team was to have played a ball game with the Westfield High School today but it has been postponed for one week. A game is also scheduled with the Rutgers College Prep. School team for Saturday on the home grounds but as the grounds are not yet in order it is probable that the game will be played in New Brunswick, if arrangements can be made or it may be postponed until later in the season.

Mrs. Leslie K. Walton and Master Leslie K. Walton, Jr., are stopping for a few days at the home of Mrs. Walton's mother, Mrs. E. B. Smith, of Westervelt avenue.

MILLSTONE WEDDING.

Plainfielders Attend Pretty Ceremony at Which Miss Katherine Hoagland Was Bride.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Millstone, April 22—A pretty wedding was celebrated at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. I. V. N. Hoagland at 7 o'clock, last evening, when their daughter, Miss Katherine, was united in wedlock to Luther Voorhees Stryker, of Newark. Rev. Theodore Shafer, pastor of the Reformed church, performed the ceremony. Guests were present from Newark, Elizabeth, New Brunswick and Plainfield, those from Plainfield being Mr. and Mrs. George F. White, Mrs. White being an aunt of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. William Day, Mrs. Eugene M. Laing, Allan Laing, John G. Mc Laughlin and John Steiner.

The spacious residence was beautifully decorated, green and white predominating. A large array of presents were received by the happy couple, who departed for a trip through the sunny south. Upon returning Mr. and Mrs. Stryker will take up their residence in Newark, where the groom is connected with the law firm of Lindabury, Depue & Foulks. During the reception following the ceremony, Caterer Wyckoff, of New Brunswick, served a bountiful collation.

James Slorah, of McDowell street, who has been in the west for the past two years, was among the fortunates who escaped death or serious injury in the fatal Erie train wreck, near Jamestown, N. Y., Monday morning.

He was a passenger on the east bound express and was asleep in his berth when the crash occurred. When the debris settled he was pinned down and had to be rescued by other passengers. His shoulder was sprained and he was slightly cut on the head. A doctor attended his hurts and he was able to continue his trip to this city.

TO DISCUSS CONSOLIDATION.

Board of Trade Starts Movement to Have Councils Consider Matter.

The Board of Trade held a regular meeting last evening, but owing to a slim attendance, no business of importance with one exception was transacted. A resolution was passed that three members from the board acting as a committee, meet similar committees from the City and Borough Councils to discuss the consolidation question. The appointment of the committee was left to President Woolston.

MORE CHANGES FOR LONG BRANCH ROAD

Fences Between Tracks at Stations and Several New Stations to be Built.

BESIDE BLOCK SIGNALS

THE SEPARATING FENCES WILL BE INSTALLED THIS SPRING.

Will be of Great Use to the Railroad Companies — The New Stations Will Come in the Course of Time—The Other Changes.

Thousands of dollars of the vast sums to be expended by both the Pennsylvania and New Jersey Central Railroads are to be expended by the companies on the New York and Long Branch Railroad line in making important changes. What will be the most important change will be the addition to the block signal system and what is known in railroad parlance as the separation of the north and south bound tracks. This means a fence between the tracks at and near train stopping points, and passengers stations on the east and west sides of the road at the most important cities and towns along the road.

When this move was first contemplated it included plans for new and elaborate stations at Perth Amboy, Matawan, Red Bank, Long Branch, North Asbury Park and Asbury Park. To afford facilities for passengers to get from one side of the road to the other tunnels similar to those at the Newark and Elizabeth stations were to be built. These plans have been changed because, an official of the road says, of a realization that within a comparatively short time all the tracks will be elevated. He was asked whether he meant track elevation only through the cities north of the Raritan River, or through Red Bank, Long Branch, Asbury Park and the entire seashore system.

"Oh, yes," he declared without hesitation. "It won't come in a month, and may be not in a year or two, but as regards the Long Branch division I'm certain that track elevation is a proposition of the near future."

The matter of separating the tracks will be prosecuted without delay. This change will be of incalculable benefit to the Central and Pennsylvania roads, and to their patrons as well, at Perth Amboy, Red Bank, Long Branch, North Asbury Park, Asbury Park and Ocean Grove, where the passenger business during the summer season, and particularly in July and August, is heavier than at any other point in the country, except at big railroad terminals in large cities.

It is expected to have the track separation arrangements completed before the summer season travel is in full swing. In place of the projected tunnels there will be crossovers above the tracks for the passengers, with waiting rooms and platforms on both sides of the road. Negotiations have been underway for some time at Perth Amboy, Matawan, Red Bank, Long Branch, North Asbury Park and Asbury Park for the purchase of land on the west side of the tracks for the erection of stations for the south bound passenger travel.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

Pressure brought to bear from "higher up" has caused conductors on New Jersey Central trains to be unusually strict in accepting trip tickets from passengers. Heretofore any number of people would be passed on the one ticket but with the new order of things the holder is subjected to a rather rigid examination before others are allowed to ride on it. The printed conditions declare the fifty trip tickets can be used only by the purchaser, a member of his family or a visitor to his household. As it has been the custom for the purchaser to rent them out indiscriminately it would appear as if the road was trying to stop the practice entirely. There is hardly a train on the road at present but which furnishes a tiff between conductors and passengers over the rule.

In Justice Mattison's Court.

A decision was handed down by Justice Mattison on Monday in the contract case which was heard before him on Monday, April 13. The amount involved was $200 but Justice Mattison rendered a decision for $81.91 in favor of the plainiff, Julia C. Brokaw. The defendant was F C. Williams, of North Branch. The case will be appealed.

George Henderson, of Park avenue, is quite ill with inflammatory rheumatism.

TAUNTS ENDED IN SHOOTING

Beside Herself With Anger, Mrs. Amanda Dunham Shot Her Son, George Cline.

INJURIES NOT FATAL

Bitter Quarrel Last Night—Continued This Morning and Ended in Shooting—Mrs. Dunham Admits the Shooting—She Was Held Without Bail.

Driven to a frenzy by his taunts and jibes, Mrs. Amanda Dunham, of North avenue, seized a revolver and shot her nineteen-year-old son George Cline, at 7 o'clock this morning. The bullet, of 22 calibre, entered the boy's right side by striking a rib, glanced off. The wound was dressed by Dr. Pittils and Mrs. Dunham was taken to police headquarters.

In her story to Chief Kiely, Mrs. Dunham said she and her son had engaged in a quarrel, last night, but matters were finally patched up. This morning the boy renewed hostilities and, despite her warnings to go away and leave her, he continued bickering until she became beside herself with anger. The pistol was in a nearby drawer and in her excitement she grasped it and fired without taking aim. Cline became panic-stricken and fled into the backyard but Mrs. Dunham made no attempt to follow.

A charge of atrocious assault was preferred against her and before Justice Huff she admitted the circumstances. She was held without bail for the Grand Jury but her counsel, William G. DeMeza, will make an attempt to have an amount fixed by Judge Vail.

TO SCHOOL OR TO JAIL

BOROUGH SCHOOL BOARD DETERMINED TO ENFORCE TRUANCY LAW.

Several Examples Will be Made Soon and Tried as Test Cases.

The next meeting of the North Plainfield Board of Education will be the most important since the members of the new board took their seats. Superintendent Homer J. Wightman has been busy all week preparing a list of necessary supplies for the year and at the meeting Monday night an estimate of the amount necessary to purchase these acquisitions will be made.

A special committee, which was recently appointed to revise the rules, will also make its report at that time. The rules of the school meeting have not been revised since 1902 and it has been found necessary to make certain changes which will conform with the present school law.

Further action will be taken in regard to the truancy problem. This, heretofore, has been a hard nut to crack but, backed by the decision recently handed down holding that the law is constitutional, the present board is going to try every scheme to break up the practice of truancy among the pupils of the school. Notices have been sent out notifying all parents that in cases of truancy the parents are liable to heavy fines or even imprisonment.

Three cases have come before the board. One of these, when the board called attention to a continuation on the part of the pupil of the practice, ignored the notice and as the time limit was up yesterday warrants will probably be served this afternoon and a test case will be made of it.

Other important matters will come up for discussion.

A large number of guests attended the reception.

BRUNSWICK HEARS OF REASONS FOR VETO

Mayor Viehmann Outlines Why He Objected to Granting of 'Phone Franchise.

COUNCIL IS REBUKED

SCATHING COMMENT FOR RUSHING THE ORDINANCE THROUGH.

Believes, Because One Council Failed to Do Its Duty, Another Council Should Not Make Same Error—Substance of Message.

The ordinance passed by the Common Council of New Brunswick, granting the Central New Jersey Telephone Company, which company has applied for a franchise here, the right to lay conduits in the streets of that city and to install another telephone system there has been vetoed by Mayor Viehmann. While the people expected that the Mayor would veto the ordinance they hardly expected to see their Council rebuked in such scathing terms as the message of the Mayor contained when he practically consigned the ordinance, unsigned by him, to the municipal waste basket.

He said in his message that the applicants for the franchise were only organized into a company during the month of February which, with a capital of only $35,000, says it will start a competing system. The Mayor says that at the public hearing and at other times representatives have stated that they will provide a telephone system in that city for $12 a year and made many other promises. Mayor Viehmann says in his report that on the evening when the ordinance was so hurriedly passed one of the representatives of the company stated that he wished to emphasize the advantage of a competing company and further stated that the city was to be given twenty-four free telephones. In the face of all those things, Mayor Viehmann says, they rushed through the Council an ordinance giving them a franchise which does not compel them to make good any of the promises they made. The Mayor further says:

"I can come to no conclusion except the conclusion that the representations made to you have been wilfully and deliberately false and have been made for the purpose of deceiving you and leading you into passing an ordinance the terms of which you have not understood or comprehended, and which were so loose and manifestly to the detriment of the interests of our city that I am sure had you fully understood its provisons and effect you would never have sanctioned it with your votes."

Mayor Viehmann sounds the key note of his administration when he says that the Council is living in the present and not in the past and because of the fact that some of the Board of Aldermen in the past have been lax in the granting of valuable franchises, it is no reason why that laxity should continue at the present time.

The report further states that the haste in which the ordinance was railroaded through that body arouses suspicion and says:

"You were elected to represent your people—to secure benefits for the people of the city of New Brunswick, not to give away the rights and valuable privileges possessed by the city without securing adequate return therefor.

"This company comes to our city and by various means and artifices, hurriedly, and in a manner which should have aroused suspicion, urges the passage by your body of an ordinance granting a franchise which is entirely at variance with the promises and inducements verbally made by them."

Mayor Viehmann says that the franchise is worth $50,000 and that the Council has given everything and has kept nothing, and asks, "has it been given for honest purposes?" The franchise, under the ordinance does not require them to start work at any specified time and it even gives permission to the company to defer operations on the work for ever.

Closing his message the Mayor says that the city of New Brunswick is at present at the mercy of companies to which valuable franchises have been given instead of placing the companies where they would be forced to serve the demands of the community.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Eganey, of West Fourth street, are the proud parents of a young son who came to their home, yesterday.

STAKED OUT.

First Step Toward New Fire Headquarters for North Plainfield's Department.

The site of the new borough fire department headquarters was staked out this morning by the contractor, J. H. Snyder. This marks the first step towards the erection of the building. It is believed that when the cellar has been dug the work will be pushed to completion. A special meeting of the building committee will be held in the Council Chamber this evening when all the contracts will be signed. George F. Brown is issuing the surety bonds for the contractors.

Mayor Smalley said this morning that the material would begin to arrive for the structure within a few days. Yesterday afternoon an order was placed for a car load of cement and the brick has been ordered from Newark and is expected almost any day.

Tomorrow evening the "cellar gang" will award the contract for the digging of the cellar and as soon as it is signed work will be commenced as soon as possible.

GREAT SUCCESS MET GRACE PARISH FAIR

Throngs Gathered at Parish House Which Was Transformed With Decorations.

FINE ENTERTAINMENT

BOOTHS, ATTENDED BY WOMEN OF PARISH, DID A FOURISHING BUSINESS.

Programme for Children in the Afternoon—Two Plays at Night—The Fair Continues This Afternoon and Evening.

With a large attendance and generous patronage the women of Grace P. E. church opened their fair at the parish house yesterday afternoon and evening. Its success was assured from the first. It was held for the purpose of removing all the indebtedness on the organ, amounting to $1,200 in round numbers. It continues this afternoon and evening.

The decorations, which were arranged by the chairmen of the various committees, are very pretty. Apple, peach and cherry blossoms with greens here and there have been used to good advantage in attractively transforming the large Sunday-school room into a bazaar. The general decorations in the building suggest the Oriental while the general idea of the arrangements of blossoms suggest the present season of flowers. The decorations are one of the features.

The fair really opened in the afternoon when a children's entertainment was held. Professor Kreiger, of New York, gave a production of Punch and Judy and feats of sleight-of-hand.

The chairman of the fair committee is Mrs. Charles E. Brooks while the treasuer is Mrs. R. M. Stover. Each booth is in charge of a chairman, assisted by young women of the parish.

The fancy goods booth, which is presided over by Mrs. E. L. Finch, is arranged beneath bowers of apple blossoms with a background of rugs and bunting to further carry out the idea of the season. Assisting Mrs. Finch are Mrs. F. O. Herring, Mrs. Owen Fleming, Mrs. E. R. Cox, Mrs. Thomas Day, Mrs. Mellor, Mrs. Josephine Lapsley, Mrs. Wheeler, Mrs. N. P. Rogers, Mrs. Nolting and Miss Helen Pfender.

The usefull goods department is decorated all in white and is in charge of Mrs. M. S. Ackerman, chairman, assisted by Mrs. L. G. Timpson, Mrs. L. E. Waring, Mrs. George S. Ring, Mrs. Edward M. VanBuren, Mrs. J. B. Drayton, Miss Fanny C. Cox and Miss Holly.

Attractive in decorations of red the household table is presided over by Mrs. H. E. Titus and associated with her are Mrs. and Miss Tompkins, Miss Carr, Mrs. Charles King, Mrs. Charles S. Lee, Mrs. Henry D. Hibbard, Mrs. Bartine, Mrs. Wilcox and Mrs. Lounsbury.

The children delight to make the booth presided over by Mrs. R. H. Depew their headquarters. Here everything that would delight the juvenile mind is displayed. There is a sandbox arrangement into which the children shovel for prizes and this has been termed the "Klondyke." Assisting Mrs. Depew at this booth were Mrs. Gilmore Drayton, Mrs. Gilbert, Mrs. Evarts Tracy, Mrs. Sherman Evarts, Mrs. Alfred Streuli, Mrs. August Klinecke, Mrs. Stuart Patterson, Mrs. Lucy Wilson, Mrs. William Otterson, Miss Lucy Otterson, Miss S. Lena Bass, Miss Margaret Holly and Miss Julia Rodman.

The candy table, where sweets made by the members of the parish are on sale, is daintily decorated with rugs, giving to it a Turkish effect. Miss May Rodman is the chairman of this department and her associates are Miss May Holly, Miss Annie Murphy, Miss Maude VanBoskerck, Miss Margaret Holly, Miss Marjory Fleming, Miss Elizabeth Cook, Miss Wickersham and Mrs. William Tyler. The lemonade table was in charge of Mrs. E. S. Hyatt, while the coffee table was presided over jointly by Mrs Thomas Minford and Mrs. Louis Borsum.

One of the most attractive booths at the bazaar is that of the fortune tellers. This is arranged with rugs and costly tapestries suggesting the Egyptian style of decorations. The fortune tellers are Miss May Rodman and Miss Katherine Stewart.

A supper was served during the early part of last evening and the different tables were in charge of Mrs. Abram Wetmore, Mrs. Charles J. Ames, Mrs. T. L. Murphy, Mrs.

Following a courtship of four years, during which neither saw the other until the latter part, Joseph Mondeau, manager of the local Postal Telegraph office, and Miss Cenah J. Martin, of Gloversville, N. Y., an operator in the same concern, have become engaged. It was strictly a romance of the wire as wily Cupid introduced his victims by the telegraphic code and heart-beats and whisperings were exchanged by the same method, he an operator at Danville, Va., and she employed in a similar capacity at Blacksburg, the same State. In spare moments they ticked to each other and finally letters and photographs were exchanged.

They arranged a meeting place last summer and the ties were made stronger. Visits were interchanged and this week the courtship culminated in the engagement. Telegraph tickers are clicking word along the line that the wedding is to take place in the fall.

THEATRICAL.

"Mr. Blue Beard" is in its fourteenth week of phenomenal success at the Knickerbocker Theatre, New York, still playing to attendance that packs the house at every performance and breaks all records. Its spectacular beauties, its comicalities, its bright music and its wonderful ballets are charming 12,000 people each week and will continue to do so till warm weather compels Klaw & Erlanger to withdraw this attraction from the stage for the season. Eddie Foy, Bonnie Maginn, Herbert Cawthorne and Adele Rafter have all made great hits in their parts, especially Mr. Foy, who is unquestionably the most talented comedian on the stage in this field of work. This production is undoubtedly the most successful now running in New York, and, if success be a measure of merit, it is the most meritorious. It certainly presents a greater measure of enjoyable novelty than any other production of the season.

A show replete with comedy and novelty in turn is the outlook for Proctor's Twenty-third Street next week. A good and novel specialty will be that of George Felix and Lydia Barry, who will present an original comedy creation of their own entitled "The Doings of John Jones." Sparrow, an American juggler who has made a reputation for himself, and is known all over the country as "The Mad Juggler" will appear in a crazy act of his own. At the close of his "turn," Sparrow stands on the edge of the stage and catches potatoes and turnips thrown from the audience on the end of a fork held firmly between his teeth. Another of Joseph Arthur's plays, "The Cherry Pickers," will be presented at Proctor's Fifth Avenue next week. The story of this splendid war-drama deals with British garrison life in India. Just for the sake of variety a complete change will be made at Proctor's 125th Street next week. Instead of the usual stock, there will be a single week of big vaudeville, with James J. Corbett at the head of the bill. Mr. Corbett will appear in a new monologue brimful of wit and comedy. This will also be Mr. Corbett's last week in vaudeville, as he leaves on the last train Sunday night, May 3, for San Francisco, where he will go into training for his coming bout with Jeffries for the championship of the world. Besides Corbett, there will also be a number of other "good things" on a long bill. Over in Newark at Proctor's a big show, headed by Eugene O'Rourke, Nellie Elting and Company, will be the offering next week. The show has been well put together in quality and quantity. Others on the bill will be Press Eldridge in a brand new monologue; Musical Johnstons, expert xylophonists; Lorimer Johnstone and Caroline Cook, in "All's Fair in Love;" Belle Hathaway with her wonderful comedy monkeys and dogs; Teddy Peiper, with his burlesque on grand opera and several other brilliant specialists will contribute towards making as good an entertainment as one wants to see.

THE READING LOCKOUT.

Miners May Return if They Will Work Full Time on Saturdays.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., April 23.—Announcement is made here that the 30,000 mine workers who were locked out by the Reading company because of their refusal to work nine hours on Saturday will be permitted to return to the mines provided they pledge themselves to work full time Saturdays. General Superintendent Luther says the company insists on compliance with this regulation.

Following the instructions issued on Tuesday by President Mitchell, the miners employed by the Reading company at Mahanoy City, Ashland, Mount Carmel and other towns in the Schuylkill region reported for work, but were told by the superintendent that no orders to resume operations had been received. At Shenandoah none of the locked out men appeared at the collieries. They announced their intention of remaining away from the mines until the return of the district officials from Wilkesbarre. It is expected, however, that they will accept the company's terms and return to work today to await the result of the conciliation board's action.

MOROCCO TOWN PILLAGED.

Thirty-seven Inhabitants and Thirteen Assailants Killed.

TANGIER, Morocco, April 23.—Tribesmen have attacked and pillaged Mequinez. Thirty-seven inhabitants of the town and thirteen tribesmen were killed in the fighting.

Mequinez is about thirty-six miles west by south of Fez. It has a population of about 30,000. Some months ago a number of American missionaries were located at Mequinez, but during the recent disturbances in Morocco they were reported to have left there for Fez.

New Islands Discovered.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Official advices received at the navy department from the Philippines record the discovery of a number of valuable islands in the southern part of the archipelago which are not on any of the charts in the possession of the government. So far as known no foreign government has laid claim to this territory, and to preclude the presentation of such claims Secretary Moody has taken steps to have the islands properly charted as the property of the United States after first having every effort made to learn if any government had ground for claim to the new islands.

Maine's Boilers Badly Used.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Chief Engineer Towne of the Cramps shipyards called at the navy department and conferred with the officials regarding the Maine's boilers. Mr. Towne after a thorough examination of the battle ship at League island insists that the bending and bursting of tubes in her boilers was due to the incompetency of her engineers and that if the boilers had been properly handled the accidents would not have occurred. No recommendation in the matter will be made until the expert board appointed by Secretary Moody has reported.

American and English Railroads.

LONDON, April 23.—In a discussion on railroad rates in the house of commons John Burns, Socialist, complained that the board of trade had not given proper attention to railroad improvements. He admitted that there had been some, but that there was no reason why the board should stand still. To say Great Britain was much ahead of the United States in such matters was no argument, and in his opinion America industrially was "h—l with the lid off," and he trusted that England never would follow the example of the United States.

Embezzler Pleads Guilty.

LANCASTER, Pa., April 23.—Before Judge Landis, Frederick L. Baker of Detroit, pleaded guilty to having absconded to Brazil last January with jewelry valued at $18,000 belonging to the Nonretailing company of this city, by whom he was employed as a traveling salesman. He was sentenced to three years' imprisonment in the eastern penitentiary and to pay a fine of $1,500. The Nonretailing company recovered in all about $3,000 worth of their property.

Damage to Iowa Not Serious.

PENSACOLA, Fla., April 23.—The damage to the steering gear of the battle ship Iowa in the gulf by the bursting of one of the steam pipes does not seem to be as serious as was reported at first, and the injuries can be repaired at the local navy yard within a few days. The cause of the mishap has not yet been determined, but it probably was a leak in one of the pipes. The sailing of the squadron has been postponed several days.

VANDERBILT'S BRIDE

William K. Will Marry Mrs. Rutherford Next Week.

SISTER OF OLIVER HARRIMAN, JR.

Two Great Railroad Families Will Thus Be United—Ceremony to Take Place at Home of Henry White in London.

NEW YORK, April 23.—"Mr. Vanderbilt and my sister will be married next Wednesday."

With this positive declaration there came from Mrs. William Travers direct confirmation of the announcement that William K. Vanderbilt and Mrs. Lewis Morris Rutherford, sister of Oliver Harriman, Jr., would wed April 29.

The wedding will without question be the most notable society event in recent years. The ceremony will unite the two great American houses of Vanderbilt and Harriman, and Mr. Vanderbilt and his bride will take rank in Paris and New York as one of the wealthiest and most fashionable couples in the world.

W. K. VANDERBILT.

Mr. Vanderbilt's wealth is between $70,000,000 and $90,000,000. Of this amount he inherited $50,000,000 in his own right. Mrs. Rutherford is believed to be worth $10,000,000.

The social ambitions of Mr. Vanderbilt, cut short by the divorce from his wife, now Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, and those of Mrs. Rutherford, twice blighted by death, now promise to be realized. Mr. Vanderbilt had practically just gained the free use of his great inheritance when his domestic tragedy upset his plans. His $3,000,000 palace, located on Fifth avenue, which for half a dozen years was looked upon by him as a mere place to live in, will now become the center of the ultra fashionable. Mr. Vanderbilt will take his old place in society in New York, and brilliant things are expected from him and his beautiful bride to be.

It has been said of Mrs. Rutherford that no more beautiful, graceful, tactful and witty woman ever graced a fashionable ballroom in this city. She is possessed of a wealth of golden hair, wide open violet eyes and regular features.

Though the simplicity of the wedding ceremony may seem out of keeping with the importance of the event, it will be impressive because of the social prominence of principals and guests and the romance it completes if for no other reason. Hurried preparations make necessary comparative simplicity.

The wedding will take place at 6 Whitehall gardens, London, the residence of Henry White, secretary of the American embassy, whose wife is Mrs. Rutherford's sister-in-law.

Though the utmost secrecy has been maintained by Mr. Vanderbilt, Mrs. Rutherford and the close friends to whom they confided their romantic plan, some of the details of the courtship and engagement have become known.

Mr. Vanderbilt first met Mrs. Rutherford in this city after the death of Samuel S. Sands, Jr., her first husband, and prior to her marriage to the late Mr. Rutherford. After her second marriage he met her a number of times in Paris.

Gossip has it that when Mr. Vanderbilt sailed for Europe last fall he was secretly in quest of the hand and heart of her who for a second time had become a widow. His quest was rewarded only a little more than a month ago.

It was then planned to keep the secret as long as possible in order that their mutual desire for a quiet wedding might be realized. Had it not been for the necessity of Mr. Vanderbilt securing a court order in this city permitting him to marry again it is doubtful if the international romance would yet have been made public.

The head of the Vanderbilt family was forbidden to marry again when the decree of divorce was granted to the present Mrs. Belmont. Justice Giegerich in the supreme court removed the barrier.

That it is a genuine love match the friends of Mrs. Rutherford and Mr. Vanderbilt agree. Chauncey M. Depew is especially pleased, as he has been Mr. Vanderbilt's closest adviser for more than twenty years.

Mr. Vanderbilt In London.

LONDON, April 23.—W. K. Vanderbilt and Winfield Hoyt have arrived here from Paris. They have come, it is believed, to prepare for Mr. Vanderbilt's marriage to Mrs. Lewis M. Rutherford on Wednesday.

COAL ROADS DEFIANT

Waterman Admits They Own Much Mine Stock.

THE SUPREME COURT WILL JUDGE.

Counsel For People Want Papers Produced to Prove Unlawful Discrimination Has Been Made In Railway Rates.

NEW YORK, April 23.—At the afternoon session of the hearing now being held in the federal building on the charge made before the interstate commerce commission to the effect that certain coal carrying railroads by pooling interests and discriminating in rates are violating the interstate commerce law it was announced that counsel for the railroad companies concerned in the case had decided to refuse to produce contracts asked for by Clarence Shearn, counsel for W. R. Hearst, who petitioned for the investigation.

George O. Waterman, secretary of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, of which George F. Baer is president, was called to the witness stand and asked by Mr. Shearn to produce the contracts. He refused upon the advice of his counsel, and the commissioners requested him to produce them. Again through his counsel he refused, and the commissioners after consulting among themselves directed him to produce them. His answer was another refusal, and it is now believed that a large snag has been struck in the case.

W. W. Ross, counsel for the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Coal company, not only said that he had refused to produce the contracts on the ground that they were not material to this inquiry, but that he would carry the matter to the supreme court of the United States if necessary before he would produce them. On these contracts, it is said, Mr. Shearn depends to prove that the railroad companies or the coal companies showed unlawful discrimination in their rates.

In the course of Mr. Waterman's examination by Mr. Shearn the witness admitted that George F. Baer was president of the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal company as well as of different railroad corporations. Mr. Waterman is secretary of the coal company.

He admitted that the railroad companies owned nine-tenths of the 20,000 shares of the coal company. This, it is contended, will be declared a violation of the railroad company's charter.

Bitter remarks by counsel, followed by sharp retorts, had marked the continuance of the hearing.

Judge Campbell, counsel for President George F. Baer of the Philadelphia and Reading railroad, indulged in an outburst against the nature of the charges, asserting that "it was all foolishness."

"I will show," he continued, "that the people of New York who had been buying coal cheap cried out like whipped dogs when the operators asked fair profits."

Clarence Shearn was on his feet in an instant and retorted that the people referred to as "whipped dogs" should remember that the man who had thus referred to them was counsel for another man who had opposed President Roosevelt.

S. H. Safford, shipper at Perth Amboy for Coxe Bros., was the next witness and was asked many technical questions, particularly about the relative cost of shipping anthracite and bituminous coal. He testified that it cost less to ship anthracite than bituminous, as it could be handled more easily. Charles Weston, who was with the Philadelphia and Reading Coal company, also was asked about the cost of shipping coal, and his testimony agreed with Mr. Safford's.

Smuggling of Chinamen Discovered.

BUFFALO, April 23.—The operations of a well organized gang of smugglers who have, it is alleged, brought hundreds of Chinamen into this country over Niagara river have been disclosed by James Fox, twenty-two years old, while on the witness stand. Fox was placed under arrest while riding on a street car with a "contraband" Chinaman. Upon the advice of his mother Fox told the authorities he would make a clean breast of all he knew about the smuggling of Chinamen in this vicinity.

Persecution In Porto Rico.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Secretary Moody is inclined to believe that the prosecution of the naval officers at San Juan, Porto Rico, who are charged with smuggling, is rapidly becoming persecution, and it is intimated at the department that unless the attitude of the local officials there changes the desirability of San Juan as an important naval station may be impaired. It is even intimated that the naval officers there may be withdrawn.

Jersey Railroaders Get Advance.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., April 23.—The various employees in this city of the Central Railroad of New Jersey have received a substantial increase in wages. The engineers get an increase from $4.25 to $4.50 a day, firemen from $2.25 to $2.48, conductors from $3.12 to $3.35 and trainmen from $2.19 to $2.28.

NATIONAL MARKSMANSHIP.

Federal Soldiers and the National Guards to Compete at Sea Girt.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Secretary Root has approved the proceedings of the board appointed to prescribe tests to govern awards of a national marksmanship trophy and medals and other prizes for marksmanship. The national match is to be shot Sept. 8 and 9 at Sea Girt, N. J., and will be open to teams of twelve men from the following:

From the army of the United States, one team from the troops stationed within each of the military departments; the United States navy, the United States marine corps, the national guard or uniformed militia of the several states and territories.

The prizes are to be, first, for highest aggregate total in two days' contest, the national trophy, authorized by act of congress, to be competed for annually; $1,000 and $500.

Second highest total, the Hilton trophy and $300.

Third highest total, the bronze "Soldier of Marathon," presented by the commander in chief on behalf of the state of New York, and $200.

Fourth highest, $150.

The fifth highest, $100; the sixth, $50; also medal to each member of each winning team.

The board recommends that every facility should be offered citizens outside of the army and organized militia to become proficient in rifle shooting and that this purpose can be best accomplished by means of rifle clubs.

CAN'T AFFORD RAISE

State Board of Arbitration Against Lowell Strikers.

REPORT SENT TO THE LEGISLATURE

It Is Declared Therein That the Demand of Cotton Mill Workers For a Ten Per Cent Advance In Wages Is Unjustified.

BOSTON, April 23.—The textile corporations in Lowell involved in the present strike of 17,000 operatives, with a single exception, cannot afford to pay to their help the 10 per cent increase in wages demanded by organized labor, in the opinion of the state board of arbitration and conciliation. This opinion is contained in a report of the board to Governor John L. Bates, summing up its recent inquiry into the textile situation in Lowell, and is corroborated by a statement from a state statistician based on the figures of an accountant employed by the board to make an examination of the financial condition of the seven mills in question.

The board's report was submitted to the governor late in the afternoon and by him sent to the legislature, with a brief explanatory message. In this connection there was an interesting incident. The governor called the attention of the house of representatives to the fact that, while the order for the inquiry by the state board "required" a report to the legislature, he assumed the house meant to vote "request the information," as the board is a part of the executive department.

The board reviews the present trouble as far back as the original demand for an increase made in March of last year and says that when the strike ordered at that time was declared off through the intervention of a civic committee the impression prevailed among the operatives that a promise had been made that wages would be increased voluntarily under certain conditions. The board fails to find that a promise of an increase was made.

The board's report is upward of 16,000 words in length, with a supplementary financial report of the Boott, Massachusetts, Merrimack, Appleton, Tremont and Suffolk, Hamilton and Lawrence mills in Lowell.

The board does not find from examination of the lists of stockholders that the Lowell mills are controlled by a combination, as alleged by the employees, nor does it find that the selling agents control prices in such a way as to depress wages. The full amount of holdings of the selling agents does not show that their interest is sufficient to give them control.

In a financial table the board finds that the capitalization of the seven mills is $11,250,000.

On the question of salaries paid to officials the board shows that out of every hundred dollars received from goods made $1.62 was paid in salaries in the Fall River cotton mills, $1.51 in New Bedford and $1.43 in Lowell. Inspection of the mills by the board itself and by an impartial expert, the report says, has shown that the Lowell corporations labor under a disadvantage in comparison with those having modern plants. Lowell manufacturers have to meet southern competition on coarser goods and that of the best equipped modern mills in finer fabrics.

The report further says:

"It is unnecessary to more than refer to the increase of southern mills during the last ten years to show that Lowell has a formidable competitor there. Of the total gain of cotton spindles in the United States from 1890 to 1900 of 4,920,249, 53 per cent, or 2,747,839, were in the south, which produces the plain coarse goods such as are largely made in Lowell.

"In view of these facts and after careful study of the reports of the various experts employed the board finds that the claim of the mills that they cannot afford to increase wages is sustained except in the case of the Lawrence Manufacturing company, whose books show that this company is able to grant the advance demanded."

The report is signed by Warren A. Reed, Richard P. Barry and Charles D. Palmer, members of the board.

A MUNICIPAL PROBLEM.

Mayor Viehmann, of New Brunswick, in his comment on his veto of the franchise for the new 'phone company in that city, presents a troublesome municipal problem which Plainfield, as well as other cities, must meet. Here is a new corporation asking for a franchise similar to the one already held by another company. That franchise is a valuable one. The new concern wants it in the same terms as the old one was given, which is practically for nothing. It claims that it would be unfair discrimination to compel it to pay for what its rival is getting for nothing.

It is the argument of Mayor Viehmann that because one Common Council has made the mistake of giving away a valuable franchise, it is no reason why any succeeding Council should follow the same course. Franchises are valuable property and the city is entitled to proper remuneration for them. It is unfortunate for the new company to have to face different conditions than did the original company but the conditions are there and it would be a manifest wrong to the people and the tax-payers if they were the ones who had to suffer for the change.

Instances of this kind may be seen right along in the cases of the trolley companies. Each application for a new franchise results in greater concessions being demanded by the municipalities and granted by the companies. The trolley promoters realize that they are getting some valuable rights and while they generally object at first, they invariably come round in the end and are only too glad to accept the terms offered which, in every case, are by no means equal to the real value of the franchise.

This invading telephone company, the Central New Jersey Telephone Company, which is trying for a franchise in New Brunswick and has applied for one here, would not be in the field if its owners did not realize that there was an excellent opening. If it is a good thing, then it is worth paying for. It may be hard to have to pay for what your competitor secured for nothing but it is one of the rules of trade. If the Plainfield Common Council does look with favor on the application of the new company, by all means let it be expressly understood what the city is to get. When the provisions are in black and white, there can be no question about the fulfillment of them.

The Board of Trade has taken a very sensible step in bringing about consolidation. It has asked the Common and Borough Councils to appoint committees to meet with a committee from the board to discuss the subject and find out just what is to be done. If the two municipalities are to consolidate, there are a number of steps that must be taken before the subject is put to vote. People want to know just what the terms of the consolidation will be and it will be for the two Councils to settle on them. It is to be hoped that this action on the part of the Board of Trade will have the desired effect.

Among the many things which the last session of the Legislature ought to have done but failed to do was to appropriate some much needed additional funds for the State School for the Deaf. That institution is one of the most valuable in the State and it should be given proper support. A little less money for Newark's swell cavalry troop and more for institutions of that nature would be much more to the advantage of the interests of the State.

The State Legislature accomplished its aim. It succeeded in repairing the Passaic pollution bill and passing it as it should have been originally. The Democrats from Hudson made more or less trouble for the majority but the bill finally went through and the extra session only lasted one afternoon.

There isn't any big event in the country that Plainfield doesn't manage to figure in some way or other. In that serious wreck on the Erie Railroad, near Jamestown, N. Y., two Plainfielders were in the train and both were injured more or less severely.

New Jersey was a gainer when Robert H. McCarter was made Attorney-General in the place of Brother Tom. The new Attorney-General is conceded to be one of New Jersey's greatest lawyers.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning April 26—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—An evening with arctic missions. —Job xxxviii, 22, 23, 29, 30.

The arctic circle is a circle drawn around the earth at a distance of 23½ degrees from the north pole. Within this circle there is a period of the year (summer) when the sun never sets and another period (winter) when the sun does not appear above the horizon. This is called the Land of the Midnight Sun. Christ, the Sun of Righteousness, appeared in Bethlehem at midnight. This country lying within the frigid zone is for a season each year the brightest spot of earth, not by reason of what it is, but by its relations to the sun. This suggests one of the most important truths of the Bible—that it is not so much what a man is in himself, but the relation he bears to Christ, the Sun of Righteousness. The gospel can flourish at the sweltering equator or the icy pole as well as in the temperate zones.

The following countries are within the arctic circle: Alaska and Greenland, while Iceland, Scandinavia, Siberia and British America border upon it.

Alaska was purchased by the United States from Russia in 1867. It is the most agreeably disappointing territory the United States has ever acquired. The native population in 1900 was 29,536. Its principal industries are the fur trade, mining, curing and canning fish and seal catching. The United States government receives in revenue from sealing annually $317,000 and has already received from that source more than it paid for the country. Along the southern coast the climate is mild. The natives were ignorant and heathen. The Greek church was early introduced by Russia. That government pays $40,000 annually to support a church with 12,000 members and seventeen parochial schools. The Roman Catholics and the Church of England are doing a small work there.

The Presbyterian church began its work in 1877, with Rev. Sheldon Jackson, D. D., in charge. It now has twelve stations, or centers of activity; twelve missionaries, thirteen teachers, eight native interpreters and a hospital at Sitka. Its mission at Point Barrow is farthest north. Industrial schools at Wrangel and Sitka are maintained by the Presbyterian board, and another one at Douglas island is under the care of the Friends.

The public schools have been in operation since 1886, and the government demands compulsory education between the years of six and fourteen.

Greenland.—This country belongs to Denmark. While of great extent, it is so cold that it has but 10,000 inhabitants, all Eskimos, except 200 Danes living on the coasts. The Danish Lutheran church embraces all the people and is supported by the Danish government, the Moravian church recently turning its missions over to the Danes.

Iceland is also a Danish province, with a population of 69,224, of Scandinavian origin, usually small in stature, distinguished for honesty, purity of morals and a love for education. Their principal wealth is in cattle, horses and sheep. Their language is the old Norwegian. The Danish Lutheran church operates in this field.

British America is without population within the arctic circle unless it should be a few wandering Eskimos.

Siberia, a part of the Russian empire, is taken care of by the Greek church.

Scandinavia is not a mission field. The Lutheran church is the state church in both Norway and Sweden. The Baptists and Methodists embrace most of the dissenters.

A Message to Christian Endeavorers.

The following message to Christian Endeavorers from the president of the United States was read in connection with the Christian Endeavor day celebration, in a multitude of unions and societies, Feb. 1:

Young People's Societies of Christian Endeavor:

I greet you and wish you well. Your body stands prominent among the organizations which strive toward a realization of interdenominational and international Christian fellowship as well as among those which stand for ideals of true citizenship—that is, for the cultivation not alone of a high standard of civic and social righteousness, but of the strength, courage and common sense necessary for living up to such a standard. With all good wishes,

Theodore Roosevelt

Linked Together.

In Buffalo the Young Men's Christian association triangle and the Christian Endeavor monogram are linked together in a unique work. The Y. M. C. A. longed for a furnished room in its building for worthy transients. It came through the generous efforts of the Christian Endeavor societies, and during its first year it proved an untold blessing to more than a score of men.

Quiz Box.

[Any question may be asked that pertains to any phase of Christian Endeavor work. Address Lock Box 674, Binghamton, N. Y.]

55. E. V. B., Kalamazoo, Mich.—There is no good reason why the average Sunday school scholar should not be a member of the Christian Endeavor society. The one does not in any wise supplant the other. In Sunday school you are learning. In the Endeavor society you are practicing.

56. X. Y. Z., Topeka, Kan.—It is best to follow the uniform topics for the prayer meetings. The advantages are manifold—notably the abundance of helps and the inspiration that comes from the feeling that 4,000,000 Endeavorers are studying the same Scripture with you.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning April 26, "Missions to Foreigners In Our Own Land"—Text, Jonah iii, 1-10; Matt. xxv, 35-40.

"Let them turn every one from his evil way."

"No more strangers and sojourners, but ye all fellow citizens with the saints."

But a few years since the pathetic cry in our missionary meetings was, "The perishing heathen—how shall they be saved unless we carry the gospel to them?"

To a surprising degree this has been changed, and a spirit of alarm may well fill us. The multitudes of other lands have crowded through our open doors and filled our cities and covered vast stretches of our country with their dwellings until the serious question of the day is, "What will become of us if these newcomers are not gospelized?"

Every shade of opinion, every degree of intelligence and nonintelligence, customs the most diverse, natures most unlike, languages widely discordant, religious worship wholly variant from ours and from each other—all these are here as ingredients for compounding the new American society and from which is to come the new American citizen. Every race and language and land contributes something. What shall be the type of his religion? is the most serious problem which we face in this new century. There is room enough. We are not crowded for elbow room; work enough for all. We could set more at work if they were here. Food enough, and of our surplus we are feeding the hungry of many lands. But what of their religion?

As surely as slavery could not exist and the republic stand, so certainly, more inevitably sure is it that heathenism cannot live if the republic is to continue. The only hope for the nation, the sole hope for this world, lies in the gospel of Jesus Christ. As slavery needs must die that the republic might live as the nation of free men, so must heathenism die that men may live in the kingdom of God, which alone realizes the republic of men as an actuality.

Our part in this work is not small. More than any other factor, Methodism has held the great west steadily in its development to the lives of Christian ideals. We are not forgetful of our duties to our foreign born population. The Methodist Episcopal church is in her missions in the United States reaching out the gospel to the poor whites of north and south, the negroes, Indians, Japanese, Chinese, Scandinavians, Germans, Welsh, Italians, Bohemians, Hungarians, French and others. Some of the best work the church has ever done has been among these people. Not a little of the future strength of the church spiritually and financially as well as numerically will come from this source.

The Vision of Duty.

The vision is given to every one. A distinct call comes. God reveals His purpose to us in various ways. Paul had the heavenly vision and "was not disobedient." Ours may not be so brilliant, not so emphatic, as that which startled Abraham. A burning bush for Moses, a fleece for Gideon, the temple call for Samuel, the chariot of fire for Elisha—in these ways God spoke. The call to us may not be so definite, yet as real. It comes. It may not be by overhanging clouds, by thunder language, by voice from Sinai, not by dew and fleece, nor by blast from some bugler's horn. But it comes—comes in the quiet song, the spoken prayer, the falling tear, the sudden danger, the pulpit message. It comes through the earnest look upon a struggling life, a beseeching throng. It comes through a long, faithful, prayerful look upan the forces of wrong making for the waste of society about us.—Baltimore Methodist.

Want of Appreciation.

Want of appreciation of mercies enjoyed is the cause of most of our complaints of the times. If we would spend more thought upon what we receive, we would murmur less over our losses. Israel in the exode is a permanent lesson on the subject.—Central Presbyterian.

Little Things.

The mustard seed is tiny, but it attains to great growth. That which may seem small and insignificant to us may be great in the eyes of the Master. It is the little smile, the kindly word, the helpful action, that go to make life sweet and worth living.—Philadelphia Ledger.

The Victorious Cross.

Lift the banner, hold it high;
Blend its glory with the sky;
Furl it never till you die—
Die at duty's post.

'Tis the banner of your Lord;
Follow quickly at His word;
He His own with strength will gird,
He will lead His host.

God must arm you for the field,
Girdle, breastplate, helmet, shield;
Take them all and bravely wield,
Then, the Spirit's sword.
Aimed with malice at your hearts,
Satan's subtle, fiery arts;
You may quench his deadly darts
By the holy word.

Take the standard, hold it firm;
Fear no evil, dread no harm;
Trust amid the wild alarm,
Trust your Sovereign King.
Legion though your foes may be,
Hold the ground and never flee;
O'er their hosts to victory
You your Lord will bring.

Raise the banner, hold it strong,
For the battle may be long
E'er the triumph over wrong
Shall at last be won.
Yet He who from Edom came,
Lord Jehovah is His name;
Clothed in blood and crowned with flame,
All the earth shall own.

The New Woman and Her Doings

WHAT is probably the most hopeful sign of that strange, complicated, conglomerated life on New York city's famous east side is the activity of the girls' clubs there. For woman, young or old, to go outside of her home, except to church or the grocery, is something comparatively new in east side annals. The strong, ambitious factory girls there are changing these conditions. More than a dozen years ago Miss Grace Dodge began establishing social and educational clubs among them. It gave them what they needed—a hint of better things and how to do. From that initiative they swept onward and started for themselves social clubs, likewise associations for instruction not only in school branches, but in the industries. In that erstwhile benighted New York east side these independent, enthusiastic working girls have now some 600 clubs. There are stenographers' associations, and some of the girls belonging to them can take dictation and typewrite in five languages. There is a society of artificial flower workers that subscribed money and sent one of their number to Paris to learn how the French make those exquisite silk, cotton and velvet blossoms and leaves which cannot be distinguished from the natural except at very close sight. These young women are New York's best hope in the midst of political dishonesty and political ignorance. The girls have classes in bookbindery, classes for learning telegraphy and stenography and those for nature study, besides many others. The nature study class goes into the parks during the scant leisure hours these brave workers can call their own and makes observations under the eye of a teacher. The girls have organized likewise a department connected with the Society For the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, which, it is safe to say, is more than any young men's organization has done there. Others of the young women learn civics and the science of government.

A newspaper recently devoted a long article to the story of a rich young woman who fell in love with a magnetic but ignorant young man and thereupon employed some of her dollars in educating him so that he might make a commendable appearance in her social circle preparatory to being married to her. Well, I don't see why not. For generations rich men have been sending poor but pretty girls to school and marrying them when the education was supposed to be finished, and nothing has been thought of it. Why should not the rule work both ways?

The late Julian Ralph was press agent in the east for the St. Louis exposition. His assistant in the New York headquarters was Miss Elsie Reasoner, a young lady of Kansas and a newspaper girl. She had been Paris correspondent of the London Globe, had been a newspaper worker in the Cuban war and also was connected with the American correspondence bureau of the Paris exposition. On the death of Mr. Ralph, Miss Reasoner was appointed to his place as eastern press representative of the St. Louis exposition.

Honor him, sing praises to him, place a bust of him in the show places of women's clubs, send his memory down the corridors of time—Joseph M. Bennett, who left half a million to the University of Pennsylvania "to aid the trustees in carrying out more practically and thoroughly the coeducation of women!"

Oh, for a colony of good people where men and women can do and dress as they please, where old Grundy is barred out forevermore from dictating to women, where no old tabbies of either sex are allowed to constitute themselves guardians of the manners and morals of other folk!

Miss Mary E. Springer, recording secretary of New York city chapter D. A. R., is devoting herself to historical romance writing. She has dedicated to the Sons and Daughters of the American Revolution her second novel, "Elizabeth Schuyler: A Story of Old New York."

United States senate document 190, page 109, contains the following testimony before the Philippine commission, by Archbishop Nozeleda of Manila, concerning the Filipino native women and men: "The woman is better than the man in every way—in intelligence, in virtue and in labor—and a great deal more economical. She is very much given to trade and trafficking. If any rights or privileges are to be given to the natives, do not give them to the men, but to the women." Question: "Then you think it would be better to give the right to vote to the women than to the men?" Answer: "Oh, much better."

Isora Duncan, the American barefoot dancer in Berlin, gets prices for her performances equal to those paid to the greatest opera singers. Berlin art lovers are building a theater for her in which she will reproduce Greek plays. The theater will be modeled after a Greek temple.

A scrubbing machine has been invented which will do the work of two women. Well, women won't quarrel with that sort of an invention.

ELIZA ARCHARD CONNER.

[Copyright, 1900, by A. N. Kellogg Newspaper Co.]

"But I hain't told you all yet," Redding's face took on a serious look, "an' I know you will want to kick me for meddlin' in yore private affairs, but the truth is, I got my foot in it before I thought. He was axin' about yore mother an' the childern—I mean the Fanshaws—an' somehow I felt so good over what he had done that I up an' let yore cat out o' the bag. I confided to him every blame thing you've told me about your family mystery, an' the search you'd made up in Tennessee for the grave. Well, sir, the old man looked like he was goin' to faint. I never seed abody act like he did; he jumped up on his sore foot an' began to yell half the time in pain an' the other half to Miss Evelyn, who was in the j'inin' room with Mrs. Lancaster. She got heer yesterday. They come to the door just as he got thar, an' they all went into the room an' fell to jabberin' like rips. After awhile I heerd 'im yell for camphor an' water, an' I 'lowed somebody was dead. It turned out that the old lady keeled over in a dead swoon. I set thar for half an hour wonderin' what on earth to do, till Hasbrooke finally come in lookin' as peculiar out o' the eyes as ef he'd been ketched stealin' a sheep. He apologized for keepin' me waitin', but said he stayed to have a talk with Mrs. Lancaster after she come to. He said he was sorry he didn't feel at liberty to make a full explanation, but that the old lady wanted me to ride to town an' send you out thar as fast as you could travel. He followed me to the front steps, an' then he said: 'Tell Mr. Fanshaw that she can tell him all about his parentage—tell him to make haste!'"

For a moment both men stared into each other's eyes.

"Perhaps Mrs. Lancaster knew my parents," Ronald said finally. "Mr. Redding, you can understand that this is of the greatest importance to me. I shall go out at once."

"That's right," agreed Redding. "I left my hoss hitched at the door. Go ahead; I believe you are on the right track to a solution of that matter."

CHAPTER XXI.

Arriving at Carnleigh half an hour later, for he had ridden hard, Ronald found the colonel hobbling about near the tennis court, a big stick in his hand. Seeing the new arrival, he came to the walk to meet him, his whole body working with agitation.

"Come right in," he said, giving Ronald his hand. "She's dying with impatience. She wanted to drive out to meet you on the road, but I made her wait. Did you ever hear of the like?"

Ronald wanted to say that he was still in the dark, but his host was loudly calling to a groom and waving his hand towards the horse. Just then our hero saw Mrs. Lancaster standing in the doorway and wildly motioning him to approach. Leaving the lame man to get up the steps as best he could, Ronald ascended to the woman, who stood both hands outstretched, her distended eyes boring into his own.

"Oh, don't you know yet?" she questioned, as she read his blank face, "can't you guess the truth?" She wrung his hand and stepped backward to the door of the drawing-room as if to draw him away from all eyes save her own.

"Mr. Redding told me," he began, "that you might be able to give me some information—"

"Don't you see," she broke in, with warm tenderness. "Don't you feel the truth? I am your mother!"

He found himself unable to articulate a word. Something seemed to bear down on his brain; for a moment there was a blur before his sight. As if in a dream he felt her leading him across the drawing-room to a sofa.

"I am your mother," she said, as she drew him down to a seat beside her, "and I thank God for allowing me to find it out before my death. I have loved you in a strange, unaccountable way ever since I met you. When I heard you were in prison it almost drove me wild. Evelyn wrote me about your arrest, and then it was a week before I learned of your release. My name is Elizabeth; I gave your father that silver tobacco-box; and, moreover, I lost you exactly where you were taken during the war. I am so happy! I am actually afraid my joy will kill me."

She began to cry silently, and in his desire to comfort her he found himself clasping her hand and stroking back the white hair from her brow.

"And I am glad you are my mother," he said, simply. "You have been my ideal woman ever since that day you came to see me."

They sat together for an hour, making plans for the future.

"Evelyn and I are going to spend next year abroad," she told him, "and you are going with us. Col. Hasbrooke says he is too old for the journey and we shall need a man."

His face clouded for the first time during the interview.

"But Col. Hasbrooke—"

"He is simply wild to call you son-in-law," Mrs. Lancaster broke in, with a laugh. "Evelyn has been almost [illegible] sorrow since he separated [illegible] really believe he was coming [illegible] anyway. Yesterday he said a great [illegible] about your nobility of char[illegible] talent. He always listens to [illegible] told him there was nothing to be done but to let you have her. But that reminds me; she is waiting to see you. Poor, dear child! I never was so selfish—so thoughtless. I'm going to send her to you."

She rose and he nervously held her hands, a fixed look on his face.

"Are you sure," he faltered, "that I have the right to?"

His mother drew herself up to her full height. "You are a Lancaster," she said, proudly.

When she had passed through the heavy curtains obscuring a room in the rear, he sat for several minutes fairly dazed by what had taken place. His reverie was disturbed by the coming of Evelyn. A flush was on her slightly attenuated face, and her eyes were red and sparkled as if she had been crying, but she came to him with a firm, confident step, and put both her hands in his.

"It is all so wonderful," she said, simply. "I am actually too choked up to speak. I've been laughing, crying, and doubting the truth of it by turns ever since Mr. Redding went away."

"It seems like a dream to me," he made answer. "I am afraid I shall wake and find myself back in my little room over there on the farm."

"Mrs. Lancaster told me just now," said Evelyn, "that she had forgotten to tell you your given name. She asked me to inform you, but I hate to pronounce it. I shall never call you anything but Ronald. Will that suit you, sir?"

They were seated side by side on the sofa.

"I shall never want you to call me anything else," he smiled; "but I must own up to a little curiosity as to what I am legally entitled to."

"Charles Erskine," answered Evelyn. "Mrs. Lancaster was a Miss Erskine. How do you like it?"

"It's not bad," he laughed; "perhaps I may grow up to it in time."

Just then Hasbrooke looked in at the door and limped towards them, an almost boyish look of embarrassment on his face.

"I am going to beg your forgiveness for what I said the last time you were here," he said.

"I did not blame you, Col. Hasbrooke," was the reply.

"But I blame you," Evelyn turned on Ronald, suddenly. "If I had known your stupid reasons for giving me up I should never have consented—never! I thought it was because—because you thought me too great a responsibility, and a burden."

"Well, settle it between you," smiled her father. And when he had quitted the room they did.

THE END.

CAN'T BE SEPARATED.

Some Plainfield People Have Learned How to Get Rid of Both.

Backache and kidney ache are twin brothers.

You can't separate them,

And you can't get rid of the backache until you cure the kidney ache.

If the kidneys are well and strong, the rest of the system is pretty sure to be in vigorous health.

Doan's Kidney Pills make strong healthy kidneys.

Mr. S. J. Conklin, traveling salesman for a New York confectionery house, 134 West Front street, says: "I was subject to pain in the back and hips, which at times I felt in my side. I tried different kinds of kidney cures but received little or no relief. I read a great deal about Doan's Kidney Pills and I went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. I took three boxes altogether and was wonderfully improved. Doan's Kidney Pills are a good remedy and accomplish all that is claimed for them."

ROOSEVELT'S HOLIDAY ENDED.

President, Using Skis, Visits Snow Covered Geyser Basins.

CINNABAR, Mont., April 23.—President Roosevelt has completed his tour of the Yellowstone park. He has arrived at Fort Yellowstone from Norris and will inspect that post. Secretary Loeb met him and reports that he is in the best of health and enthusiastic about his trip through the park.

Secretary Loeb has issued the following statement:

"Major Pitcher states that the president and he have just returned from their six day trip in the interior of the park. The party went on sledges, but used horses between Upper and Lower Geyser basins and skis around the canyon, where it was impossible to go without them. The snow was two to five feet deep on the level throughout the country traversed. It was getting into bad shape. This is the first time the interior of the park has ever been visited before the snow went off by any one except the scouts or soldiers on duty at the various stations."

CHICAGO RAILROADS DEFAULT.

Fail to Pay Interest on Notes and Are Declared Bankrupt.

CHICAGO, April 23.—Upon default of interest on five notes aggregating $1,134,183 the Chicago Union Traction company, the North Chicago Street Railroad company and the West Chicago Street Railroad company have passed into the hands of receivers. Suits for the collection of the interest were filed in the United States circuit court of appeals by the Guarantee Trust company of New York, and, the traction companies admitting the default, Judge Grosscup at once entered judgment.

Demands were then made upon the treasurers of the respective companies, and upon their return unsatisfied three receivers were appointed, as follows: In behalf of the trust company, R. R. Govin of New York; for the traction companies, James H. Eckels of Chicago, and as special adviser of the court, Marshall E. Sampsell, clerk of the court.

Austria at St. Louis Fair.

VIENNA, April 23.—At the special invitation of the minister of commerce a meeting of prominent industrial representatives and government officials was held in the offices of the ministry to discuss the question of Austria's participation in the St. Louis exposition. Every branch of trade was represented at the conference. After a long discussion a committee of trade experts was nominated to submit proposals to the general body of merchants and manufacturers. The entire proceeding is considered as evidence that the government will withdraw its refusal to be represented at St. Louis.

Minister Combes a Peacemaker.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—United States Minister Leslie Combes was the means of preventing a war between Guatemala and Salvador. A letter from President Manuel Estrada of Guatemala says in part: "There is no doubt whatever that the good offices exercised by you had a great influence toward restoring peace between us, and I have the satisfaction of tendering to you in the name of Guatemala my most heartfelt thanks for your work." The minister replied that anything the United States diplomatic representative might accomplish toward conserving the peace would be done.

Miners' Conciliation Boards.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., April 23.—President Mitchell telegraphed to the presidents of all the coal companies notifying them of the appointment of the miners' conciliation board provided for by the strike commission and requesting them to take similar action so that the existing differences might be promptly adjusted. National Secretary Treasurer Wilson was in this city and had a short secret conference with Mr. Mitchell, after which he left for Clearfield, Pa., where there appears to be some trouble over a wage agreement between some of the coal miners and the operators.

Sunday Freights Unlawful.

ROANOKE, Va., April 23.—Judge Moffatt in the Roanoke county court at Salem in eight cases in which the Norfolk and Western railway was convicted some time ago before a migistrate's court of unlawfully running freight trains on the Sabbath fined the road $50 and costs in each case.

SPORTING NEWS

ON THE DIAMOND.

George Allen will captain the Safe Works' forces this season. From his association with the Scotch Plains team and other organizations he is competent to fill the position and may be relied upon to place the men to the best advantage.

The City League schedule makers complied with the request of the Hope management and left August 22 open. On that day the annual Hope chapel excursion takes place and it would be impossible to get enough men to remain home to make up the team.

The Underwood Athletic Club defeated the Scrub baseball team of the City High School, yesterday afternoon on Hope Common. The score was 17 to 12 The batteries were W. Douglass and L. Minford for the Underwoods, and F. K. Anderson and S. Bogart for the scrub. There were numerous changes in the scrub line up as Captain Anderson was anxious to give all the scrub squad practice. These changes had considerable effect upon the scrub score.

WHIST.

Because the Cosmopolitan Whist Club cannot get its regular team together the match between that club and the Park Club, scheduled for this evening is off for the present. The Parks will meet the next challengers for the Metropolitan challenge trophy, the Camera Club, Thursday evening, April 30, at the Park Club. This default on the part of the Cosmopolitan Club counts nothing, although if the Parks had defaulted, it would have given the Cosmopolitan Club the trophy.

BASKET BALL.

The Hope Y. M. A. basket ball team defeated the I. C. T. Club team last evening by a score of 33 to 16. The game was played at the I. C. T. rooms. There were four men on a side. It was the concluding game in the Plainfield Basket Ball League. Dr. W. K. Browning acted as referee.

Resting Easily.

Mrs. R. H. McCullough, of Steiner place, underwent an operation yesterday for cancer. The operation is believed to have been a successful one and she is resting easily this morning. Dr. T. S. Davis performed the operation, assisted by Dr. Endicott.

Church Choir to Sing.

The choir of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church will furnish music at the Y. M. C. A. meeting on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. There will also be instrumental music.

W. L. LaRue, of the firm of LaRue Brothers, who has been ill for several weeks, is now able to be about again.

GUARANTEED.

That word means something, when it is backed by the $5,000,000 capital and surplus of the

FIDELITY TRUST COMPANY.

It means for you an easy mind if you have one of those guarantees covering the title to your premises.
The man, who does business the way it was done a generation ago, is surely on the road to failure. This is an age of progress. There has been progress in methods of conveyancing as well as in other lines. Out of the need for something less uncertain than a lawyer's certificate and a lawyer's responsibility, has grown up the system of policies of insurance, or guarantees of title by companies with large capital and a force, specially trained in the work.
There is none better in this line than

THE FIDELITY TRUST COMPANY OF NEWARK, N. J.

It has an agency at Elizabeth for conducting Union County business. Rates will be given on application at its office, No. 215 Broad Street, and an investigation of its resources and methods is invited.

Henry DuFlon, Mrs. D. H. Rowland, Mrs. H. M. Stockton, Mrs. H. Monro, Mrs. D. T. VanBuren, Mrs. D. C. Ivins, Mrs. Electra Crafts, Mrs. E. H. Booth, Mrs. Charles Roberts, Mrs. Percy VanAlstyne, Miss Mary Tweedy, Miss Elizabeth Cock and Mrs. Howard Tracy. These young women acted as waitresses: The Misses Marie Finch, Marjory Fleming, Ruth Titus, Christina Scott, Mabel Wilson, Davis, Florence Curtis, Sadie Fountain, Jessie Little, Elsie Smith, Abbie Sykes, Ida Borsum, Kathleen Ryder, Blossom Randolph, Emma Hyatt, Helen Stevens, Karr, Barclay, Norma Northrup, Emma Peterson, Cornelia Sampson, Louise Fuller, Martha Robert, Grace Wilcox, Emma Yaeger, Juliet Hill, Graham, Palmer, Helen Shelton, Platt, Mary Anderson Reinhart and Rosa Woltman.

An attractive feature of the evening were two plays, one entitled "He and She" and the other "A Pair of Lunatics," the characters in each being taken by Mrs. C. E. Brooks and William R. Cock. Both have appeared on several occasions before local audiences in amateur productions and the productions last evening were very clever indeed. The sketches were both very laughable. Mrs. Elizabeth P. Smith was chairman of the entertainment committee.

The performance rendered last evening will be repeated tonight which will be the closing night of the bazaar. Prof. Kreiger will again entertain the children with tricks of magic and slight-of-hand.

All the arrangements for the affair were in charge of the chairmen of the various committees and the general effect of the fair and the assured success of the enterprise speaks well for the time and care devoted to the smallest details.

GIRL WAS FINED.

Weavers Struck Because the Fine Was Not Remitted.

A statement was given out this morning by one of the officials of the Watchung Silk Mill in regard to the cause of the strike which is going on there among the weavers. He said that a girl, an apprentice, made a mistake and spoiled a piece of silk. For her error she was fined seventy-five cents. She refused to be fined and she was told that her alternative was to leave She took the matter to the shop committee and it upheld her. The weavers struck in sympathy. The strike does not effect the other operatives of the mill. It was not a question of reduction in wages.

Lots of Time.

According to the ordinance under which the Plainfield Street Railway Company operates its lines, the company is not compelled to sprinkle the streets through which cars are run until May 15. The dust at present is almost unbearable where the cars run and it would seem as though the company might be willing to sprinkle earlier for the convenience of its patrons.

SCHOOL BOY KNOCKED DOWN

PASSING CARRIAGE INJURED LITTLE ALFRED SEIDEL.

Struck by Vehicle Directly in Front of the North Plainfield High School.

While crossing the street in front of the North Plainfield High School yesterday afternoon when the lower grade classes were being dismissed, little Alfred Seidel, the son of Alfred Seidel, the barber of Park avenue, was knocked down and injured by a light wagon which was being driven by two young men on the left side of the street.

The little fellow ran directly in front of the plunging steed and an attempt was made to stop but it was too late and the lad was thrown beneath the wheels. The young men stopped as soon as they could. Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan happened in the school building at the time and he went to the injured boy's aid and found that he had suffered a severe gash over the left ear where he had been thrown against the curbstone. Richard McDonald, the janitor, took the boy to his home at 80 Jackson avenue. The lad was able to be in school this morning.

No one knows who the young men in the wagon were as they drove off as soon as they discovered the boy's condition.

STRIKE OVER.

Labor Troubles at Tobacco King's King's Country Place Are Practically Over.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, April 23—The strike of the stone masons and common laborers employed on the estate of James B. They promptly returned to work, but the laborers, whom he said he would not give any more, went to their homes, and it is believed that no further depredations will be committed.

Mr. Duke is quoted as having said that he would not again employ the parties who instigated the strike even if the grass on his farm grew all summer and he was not able to cut it until next year.

CRESCENT AVENUE CHURCH TRUSTEES EMPOWERED TO BUY.

Instructed to Use Their Judgment as to the Most Advantageous Location.

The Crescent Avenue church congregation held a meeting last evening for the express purpose of taking action on the purchase of a site for the proposed new Warren chapel. After a short discussion the trustees were ordered to buy the lot which they considered the most advantageous and sell the present property at terms to be fixed by themselves. Possession of the present building is not to be given until the new building is ready for occupancy.

A communication was read from the First Presbyteiran church trustees relative to the proposed building. It asked that a conference be held between committees from the two churches before the ground is purchased. It was not made clear just what the intent was.

The committee has several suitable locations in view with one at the corner of Fairview and Watchung avenues having the preference. Subscriptions for the building continue to be received and the trustees now have a considerable amount on hand.

BAZAAR'S LAST NIGHT SCORES BIG SUCCESS

Another Large Attendance at Parish House of Grace P. E. Church Last Night.

WOMEN RAISED $1,000

ENTERTAINMENT FOR CHILDREN IN THE AFTERNOON.

Two Plays in Evening by Mrs. C. E. Brooks and W. R. Cock—An Excellent Dinner Was Partaken of by Large Numbers.

When the bazaar, which has been held by the women of the Grace Episcopal church for the past two days, came to a close last evening it was found that the proceeds will amount to about $1,000. This was the amount which the women in charge hoped to raise and they were very much gratified to learn that their efforts put forth in arranging the fair had proven so successful. As has been told the fair was held for the purpose of raising the debt on the organ of the church which amounts to $1,200.

Very large attendances and exceptionally generous patronage were features of each afternoon and evening. The fancy things and useful articles, which are the handiwork of most of the women of the parish, sold readily and those which are left will probably be disposed of in some novel manner so that nothing will remain unsold.

The large room suggested an orchard in blossom with the many branches of trees on which were fruit flowers and green leaves. The effect of the decorations was at once attractive and pretty. These were arranged by the chairmen of the various committees of which Mrs. Charles E. Brooks was the chairman-in-chief. The decorations and settings upon the stage where the two short plays were produced, were arranged by Miss Elvira Kenyon.

Yesterday afternoon Professor Kreiger, of New York, again entertained the children with a Punch and Judy show and many feats of magic, introducing many new and original tricks of sleight-of-hand. This proved to be a source of much delight to the young people. Early in the evening tired commuters and hungry business men dined at the fair where tables were set and attended by young women who served one of the finest repasts, without doubt, which was ever served at a bazaar in this city. The caterers to the dinner were the women of the church. Everything was home made and "just as mother used to make." This part of the fair proved to be a leading source of revenue.

Later in the evening two farce comedies were given as on the opening night. To be admitted to this part of the fair an additional admission fee was charged. Once inside the curtain the patrons settled themselves down to a good hearty laugh. One of the plays was entitled, "He and She" and the other was called "A Pair of Lunatics." The parts were taken by Mrs. Charles E. Brooks and William R. Cock.

In the first a loving and devoted wife was waiting up in the very small hours of the morning wishing her husband would return so as to give her a chance to "get at him." He finally appears and then a continuous tirade commences and lasts, without his being able to get a word in edgewise, until both are well nigh exhausted. The other portrayed the experiences of two young people who visited an insane asylum as visitors. A ball is given and both become lost. Confusion follows and the identity between the two is lost, each believing the other an inmate of the place instead of being friends. The situations in both productions are very natural and laughable.

The success of the affair was the result of the untiring efforts put forth by all the women and young people who assisted in serving at various booths and tables.

AT SHUFFLE BOARD.

Tournament Started at Y. M. C. A. Last Evening.

The shuffle board tournament at the Y. M. C. A. started last evening when W. M. Weintraub and A. Aalholm played against Walter Caboone and A. Spicer. The score was: Weintraub, 18, 16 against A. Aalholm's 21, 21. The latter winning two straight games, the third game was not played. Caboone made 21 in the first, 7 in the second and 20 in the third, while his opponent made 18 in the first, 21 in the second and 21 in the third. He was declared the winner. The others who were entered in the tournament did not play.

SWEET VOICES IN QUARTETTE

ENTERTAINMENT AT Y. M. C. A. BY SWEDISH LADIES' QUARTETTE.

Recitations by Miss Edith M. Norton Were Well Received—One More Entertainment.

The Swedish Ladies' Quartette came to this city last evening and entertained a large Plainfield audience at the Y. M. C. A. in one of their entertaining musicales. It was one of the supplemental course entertainments of the Y. M. C. A. and was one of the best which has been given in this city so far this season. This marks the last but one of the supplemental course entertainments for the year.

The quartett e is composed of four very attractive Swedish women with wonderful voices. The melody is perfect and their stage effect is very striking. The singers were: Miss Ida Thompson, first soprano and pianist; Miss Susie Salte, second soprano; Miss Anna Heden, first alto; and Miss Elsie Buford, second alto. Miss Buford's voice is remarkably deep and she has a wonderful range of tone. Several of the selections rendered by the quartette were given in costumes of different nations.

Miss Edith M. Norton, reciter, won much applause during the evening with her recitations of a humorous and dramatic nature. Miss Norton is a very talented young woman and it is plainly evident that she has thoroughly mastered elocution. She was very fine indeed.

'PHONE TALK.

Representative of Bell Company Explains His Side to Members of the Common Council.

Mr. McNulty, a representative of the New York & New Jersey Telephone Company, recently appeared before a committee from the Common Council for the purpose of showing the disadvantage of having two telephone companies in Plainfield.

Mr. McNulty argued that he did not believe that it would better the local srevice or be of any great advantage to people in Plainfield who have need of a telephone. He said that it is the object of the company to constantly improve the service in Plainfield and that the company he represents intends to do all that is possible toward giving Plainfield service equal to the best in the country.

Mr. McNulty explained in detail the various points of disadvantage and he was listened to most attentively by the Councilmen.

As yet it is not known whether a second franchise will be granted or not. The Council does not intend to act hastily in the matter, preferring to gain all the necessary information on the subject first.

HOW NEW PRIMARY LAW IS TO WORK

Makes Material Changes in Methods of Conducting the Party Primary Meetings.

REQUIREMENTS OF LAW

REGULAR ELECTION OFFICERS ARE TO BE IN CHARGE.

Details Concerning Selections of Delegates to Conventions and Nominees for All the Elective Offices in the City.

Interest is already being manifested in the workings of the new primary election law enacted by the last Legislature. The first test of the new system will be had on September next and the curiosity regarding the probable effect of the new act is likely to increase considerably, as the various provisions of the new act become more widely known.

It is already well-known that under the new act all parties will hold their primaries on the same day, the first registration day, and the registration officers will have charge of the Republican and Democratic primaries.

The first step under the new act will be taken in the latter part of August or possibly before that time, when the Republicans and the Democrats will name in the several election precincts candidates for delegates to the city and county conventions. At the city conventions the councilmanic nominee will be chosen.

To nominate candidates for delegates in a precinct ten voters must sign a petition addressed to City Clerk MacMurray, stating that they wish to have the names printed on the Democratic primary ballot, as candidates for delegates to the city convention in that particular precinct. These petitions must be sworn to and filed with City Clerk MacMurray not less than ten days prior to the primaries, that is by August 28.

For the city convention each party is to be entitled to one delegate for each one hundred votes cast by the political party for its candidate for Governor at the last gubernatorial election, and one delegate for each fraction thereof over forty. But each election district is to have at least one delegate to each convention of each political party.

On or before July 1 City Clerk MacMurray must notify the chairman of the two county committees of the number of delegates to be elected by each party in each election district. The city is to provide the ballots and boxes. No envelopes are to be used.

At the primaries the Republican voters shall cast their ballots into one box and the Democratic voters shall vote into another box. The boxes are to be like the ones used at the general election. The two Democratic registry officers are to receive the Dumocratic primary ballots and the two Republican registry officers the Republican primary ballots. When the polls are closed at 9 p. m., the votes shall be counted jointly by the registry officers of both parties.

If a person is challenged he may vote at the primary after subscribing to this oath:

"You do solemnly swear (or affirm) that you are a member of the ——— political party (specifying the political party to which the affiant claims to belong); that at the last election for members of the General Assembly you voted; you voted for a majority of the candidates of said party whose names were printed on the ticket of said party, and that you intend to support the candidates of said party at the ensuing election."

Any voter who shall vote in the ballot box of one political party at any previous election held under the new act, shall not be allowed to vote in the ballot box of any other political party at the next thereafter succeeding primary election.

The new act further says:

"The said board of registry and election shall admit on the registry book the name of the political party whose primary ticket each voter, voting at such primary election, voted by writing opposite the name of each of said voters in a column prepared for that purpose in such political party, as, for example, writing the letter 'D' for Democratic party and the letter 'R' for Republican party, the letter 'P' for Prohibition party, and in like manner for other political parties."

No person can vote at the primaries unless he is first registered.

The act continues:

"After such registry the voter shall ask the board of election for the party primary ticket he desires to vote, and thereupon shall receive one ticket of the kind demanded; the said voter shall retire with said ticket to one of the booths or compartments, and thereon with black pencil cross the names of all persons on said ballot except those for whom he desires to vote; nothing herein shall prevent any voter from voting for any person whose name is not on his party ticket by writing the same thereon; while in the booth or compartment he shall fold the ballot so as to expose the indorsement on the back thereof, and on emerging from the booth shall proceed directly to the ballot box of his political party and there deliver his ballot, folded as aforesaid, to the proper member of the board of election, who shall forthwith, in the presence of the voter, deposit the same in the ballot box provided the political party of each voter, unless challenged or disqualified (as already provided).

LABORATORY IN HUGE BLAZE

STATE EXPERIMENT STATION AT NEW BRUNSWICK DESTROYED.

College Cadets Kept Crowd Back at Point of Bayonet—Loss Was $40,000.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, April 24—The New Jersey State experiment station, the most imposing structure of the Rutgers College, was destroyed by fire yesterday entailing a loss of $40,000. Three firemen were hurt and many of the valuable collections of insects belonging to State Entomologist John B. Smith were endangered but were saved by the students of the college. The weather bureau there was destroyed with many instruments and valuable records.

Faulty fire alarm circuits and a scarcity of water were the causes of the rapid spread of the flames which started in the chemical laboratory in the lower floor of the building. The fire broke out at 10:10 o'clock and was caused by spontaneous combustion among some chemicals which were stored on the main floor in the rear of the recitation room. The building was occupied by students but no one was hurt.

The loss sustained by the fire falls on the State of New Jersey. The college had much valuable property in the building but it is thought that most of this was saved. The firemen were hampered by the crowd which gathered about the burning building and Colonel Quincy O'M. Gillmore ordered out the cadets of the college, who were waiting around for the drill hour, and they kept the crowd back with fixed bayonets.

Many Plainfielders were present at the scene of the conflagration.

Miss Georgenia Clarke, daughter of Sandford Clarke, of Rahway avenue, Roselle, to Frederick Nevins Manning, of Plainfield, were married Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the First Baptist church, Roselle, by Rev. John Miller, of Wayne, Pa. The church was attractively decorated with palms, lilies and roses by the King's Daughters of the church.

The bride was gowned in blue etamine and wore a picture hat. She was attended by a maid-of-honor and a flower girl, the latter being a cousin. The wedding was largely attended by relatives and friends. A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's father. After a honeymoon trip the couple will reside at Newark, where the groom is in business.

MORE CARS PROMISED; CHANGES IN FARES

Some of the Expected Results of Merger to the Local Trolley System.

IS TO RESUME TICKETS

PRESIDENT - ELECT M'CARTER SAYS COMPANY WILL CATER TO PEOPLE.

Big Order With the Stephenson Company for New Cars—Other Plans of New Concern—Offices to be Located in Newark.

The proposed traction merger, according to rumor, will probably result in many changes in the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey trolley lines, which concern operates cars in this city. Among the changes which are planned, it is said that the fare from this city to Newark by trolley will be twenty cents each way, and from Elizabeth to this city fifteen cents a single trip. Instead of collecting three fares as at present on the line from here to Elizabeth, the entire fare, according to unofficial reports, will be collected by the conductor at the start of the trip and conductor will give in return a ticket which he will punch at different points along the line.

President Elect McCarter said in an interview a few days ago that he intended giving the people just as good a trolley service as it is possible to give. "Instead of being a subject of antagonism," he stated, "we hope by catering to the demands of the public, to win public confidence and commendation."

Now that the majority of the stock of the various companies affected by the combination has been exchanged for trust certificates the incorporation of the $25,000,000 concern will be effected this week. No one knows so far what the title of the concern will be nor who will be the incorporators. The headquarters of the corporation will be in Newark in a building which will be erected at the corner of Broad and Canal streets.

It is the intention of the new concern, as soon as the incorporation papers are filed, to put on more cars. The John Stephenson Company, of Elizabeth, is now working night and day on large orders which have been placed with it and cars will be ready for delivery in a few weeks.

The names of those who have been mentioned for the position of general superintendent of the corporation of which Former Attorney General T. N. McCarter is to be the head are Dudley Farrand, of the United Electric Company, of Newark and Thomas Barr, a well known railway man. He is now general manager of the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey lines and was once superintendent of the horse car lines in Elizabeth.

These improvements, which while based on unofficial reports, are being considered by the new management, will effect Plainfield and gives assurances of an improved trolley in this city, especially between this city and Elizabeth.

SONG IN PANTOMIME.

Given at Entertainment of Junior Leaguers of First M. E. Church.

The Junior League of the First M. E. church entertained its friends last evening with an entertainment. It consisted mainly of chorus songs and recitations, a feature being the "Star Spangled Banner" which was sung while three girls, Mary Robley, Edith Taft and Edna MacDonald gave relative pantomimic parts. Feats of magic and illusions were given by C. Kenneth Shupp.

The entertainment was in charge of the leaders of the League, Mrs. Chas. Shupp, Miss Helen Shupp and Rhey T. Snodgrass.

MAY BUILD BRICK PAVEMENT

COUNCILMANIC STREET COMMITTEE CONSIDERING AN EXPERIMENT.

Talk of Paving Block on Watchung Avenue, From North Avenue to Second Street.

As an experiment and for the purpose of making a permanent improvement, the Councilmanic street committee is considering the advisability of laying a pavement of vitrified brick on Watchung avenue, between North avenue and Second street, where the changes for the trolley cars are made. The committee has been considering the matter for some time past and several conferences have been held with Mayor Jenkins, as well as with the street railway company. It is estimated that the total cost of the improvement would be about $1,800 and of this amount the city would pay half and the trolley company the other half.

There are many strong points in favor of a vitrified brick pavement and as that one block on Watchung avenue is always muddy in wet weather it is believed that a permanent pavement, such as proposed, would be a great improvement. At the same time it would serve as an object lesson possibly for the ultimate extension of such a pavement.

The estimated cost calls for a first class job with a cement bottom and the best quality of brick. In many respects the vitrified brick is considered more advantageous than the asphalt. The matter will be definitely decided within a short time, when the Council will be asked to take action concerning the improvement.

CLUB EUCHRE.

Pleasant Afternoon Spent by Women of Park Club to Aid the Furnishing Fund.

A pleasant social event of yesterday afternoon was the progresisve euchre party given at the Park Club under the auspices of the entertainment committee for the purpose of adding to the furnishing fund which will be used when the addition is built to the clubhouse. The sum of $17 was realized for this object and the committee feels much gratified thereby.

There were eight tables and the playing was spirited throughout. Miss Pelletier won the first prize, while Mrs. Augustus VanDeventer and Mrs. Samuel Townsend won the second and third prizes respectively. Mrs. John Valiant was awarded the booby prize. After the play light refreshments were served under the direction of the committee.

Potter was presented with the prize for the women, while John G. McLaughlin won the prize for the men. The club will hold its last meeting for the season on Thursday evening, May 7, when Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hollingsworth, of West Fourth street, will entertain.

DUNELLEN'S POSTMASTER DIED LAST EVENING

After a Long Illness, Adam Dealaman Passed Quietly Away at His Home.

FAMILY AROUND HIM

WORKED HIS WAY FROM A GROCER'S CLERK TO A PROPRIETOR.

In Business in Newark and Dunellen—Was One Time the President of Dunellen Borough Council—Other Official Positions.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, April 24—Following an illness of nearly two years, Adam Dealaman, one of Dunellen's leading citizens and its postmaster, passed away at his home on Washington avenue, at 10:30 last night. The end came quietly and without suffering while all the members of the family were gathered about the bedside. Death was caused by an affection of the liver.

Adam Dealaman was a self-made man in the strictest term of the word. He was born in 1854 in New York State and by his own indomitable courage and sticktoitiveness, worked his way up from a grocer's clerk to proprietor of his own store in his own building. He also found time to serve the community as a public official and his methods were always for the interests of the people who elected him.

When first branching out as a grocery proprietor, he conducted a store at Newark but afterward returned to Dunellen. Within a short time he built the present large store at the corner of North avenue and Washington street and personally supervised the business until his health compelled him to retire in favor of his son, William Dealaman, who formed a partnership with John Fenner.

During his residence in Dunellen he was elected to several offices, among them being president of the Borough Council. He was fearless in the discharge of his duty and gained many friends by it. During President McKinley's first term he was appointed postmaster and was re-appointed in 1901, the term to expire next December. He was a Republican in politics.

Mr. Dealaman was a member of Court Dunellen, I. O. F., William G. Holton Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., Anchor Lodge, F. and A. M., and Defender Fire Company. He is survived by a wife and four children, Miss Josie Dealaman, William, Kenneth and Adam, Jr. He was married twice, his second wife being Miss Margaret Teel.

TO AID HOSPITAL.

Local Union of Carpenters' and Joiners' Gave a Ball at Saengerbund Hall.

For the benefit of Muhlenberg Hospital the Carpenters' and Joiners' of America, representing Local Union No. 155, gave a ball in Saengerbund Hall. The dance was very well attended, there being two hundred people on the floor. The music for the dancing was provided by Suhr's Imperial Orchestra. Everything was arranged with a care for details and it is believed that last night's dance was one of the most successful ever given in that hall.

The committee comprised men who are at the head of their trade in this city and it was through their untiring efforts along that the affair was the success it was. It is not yet known how much was realized. Those who had the arrangements in charge were: William C. Bodine, chairman; R. V. Kenney, secretary; W. H. Lunger, treasurer and George Bodine, C. R. Wyckoff and John Dickson.

Dr. Dodd to Speak.

Rev. Dr. Charles H. Dodd, pastor of the First Baptist Peddie Memorial church, of Newark, will address the men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Hall on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Rev. Frederick E. Taylor, of Brooklyn, who is well and favorably known in Plainfield, was formerly assistant pastor of the Peddie Memorial church. The choir of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church will sing and the Boys' Musical Club of the association will assist in the service.

Circus at Bound Brook.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, April 24—The circus season opened in this city this week when a unique traveling vaudeville company pitched a tent near the Delaware and Raritan River canal. The show goes from place to place in a large canal boat and stops at each town along the route.

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

The Red Star Stamp Company will give you $1 worth of stamps tomorrow by presenting your Saturday special card at its store, 118 Madison avenue. See advertisement.

VanArsdale is selling at a great sacrifice his stock of tan shoes and oxfords and it will be worth your while to take advantage of this sale as such bargains are not offered every day.

G. H. Kenyon, the piano dealer of Kensington avenue, reports an excellent trade in the sale of pianos. He carries only the best makes and every one is guaranteed for tone, workmanship, etc.

There's always something new at Gavett's. Each week sees the arrival of a novelty. By the way, ever noticed the "Gibson Girl" plates? A nice lot came in this week. They have caught the popular fancy.

Harry Dreier calls attention to the fact that he is selling a complete baseball suit at one of the lowest prices ever set. His line of baseball goods and uniforms is not surpassed by some of the big New York and Newark houses. He is the sole agent for the Imperial wheel.

W. W. Warnock, the West Front street confectioner, is turning out hundreds of charlotte russe and the demand is still increasing. They are certainly delicious and are only a sample of Warnock's fine pastry. He makes a specialty of cream puffs, eclaires and cream cakes.

Those who have not secured their spring hats will do well to visit I. H. Boehm's spring millinery display at his store on West Front street. An invitation has been extended to the women of Plainfield to visit the millinery display there. A specialty is being made of trimmed and untrimmed hats.

Of all the pretty summer goods shown in Plainfield this season, none are more attractive than the ones offered at Peck's store. The designs are exclusive, while the quality is superior to a majority offered. If you need laces or embroideries or handkerchiefs you can do no better than to trade with Peck.

If one eye is defective it is not long, generally, before the other optic becomes weak from overwork. It is a good thing when one's eyes trouble them to consult a specialist who will properly examine them. Leo Slonim, who has recently moved to this city, has opened a store on Park avenue where he fits eyes to glasses in the most scientific manner. The New York eyesight specialist will be glad to see anyone who desires to consult an optician at his store at 106 Park avenue.

In preparing for the possession of the new store, Woodhull & Martin are daily receiving a large shipment of goods. To give one an idea of the dimensions of the big store, the following goods having been placed there, can hardly be seen: One carload of refrigerators, one carload blue flame oil stoves, one carload door and window screens, two carloads of porch furniture, one carload of fruit jars, one carload of trunks and ten carloads of furniture are now on the way coming from all parts of the country.

Mrs. Fred Newman, of Trenton, is the guest of friends in town.

A Sweet Breath

is a never failing sign of a healthy stomach. When the breath is bad the stomach is out of order. There is no remedy in the world equal to Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for curing indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach disorders. Mrs. Mary S. Crick, of White Plains, Ky., writes: "I have been a dyspeptic for years—tried all kinds of remedies but continued to grow worse. By the use of Kodel I began to improve at once, and after taking a few bottles am fully restored in weight, health and strength and can eat whatever I like. Kodol digests what you eat and makes the stomach sweet. L. W. Randolph.

NO COMPETING COMPANY.

City High School Will Not Have Team at Military Show.

Owing to the delay in the delivery of the invitation from the board in charge of the school entries in the Military tournament to be held in New York City next week, the City High School battalion will be unable to enter a company in the competitive drill for schools. Commandant James D. Macnab received the invitation the day the entries for school companies closed, and although he immediately responded, it was too late to enter the company. It is possible that a body of the officers of the battalion will attend the tournament together.

Rev. Mr. Chadwick to Preach.

Rev. John White Chadwick, whose "Life of Channing" is just out, and who is well known as an author, a poet and a preacher, is to exchange pulpits Sunday, in the morning, with Rev. Mr. Nickerson, of this city. Mr. Chadwick has had a long pastorate in Brooklyn, where he succeeded Rev. Samuel Longfellow, the brother of the poet, twenty-nine years ago. He is well known here as a sometime lecturer for the Monday Club, and as an able reviewer in the New York Times.

Miss Curry Expected.

Miss Curry and her fresh-air work at Netherwood will be the subject for discussion at an informal meeting at the First Baptist church Monday night at 8 o'clock. Everyone who was helpful in last season's work or who is interested to see it grow to greater usefulness is invited to come and listen to the workers. Miss Curry will be present.

Accounts for Bills.

Sleeping car passes for legislators having been declared illegal by the attorney-general of New York, it is said, accounts for the many bills which have been indorsed in the Legislature detrimental to the Pullman company.

Good for Children.

The pleasant to take and harmless One Minute Cough Cure gives immediate relief in all cases of Coughs, Croup and LaGrippe because it does not pass immediately into the stomach, but takes effect right at the seat of the trouble. It draws out the inflammation, heals and soothes and cures permanently by enabing the lungs to contribute pure life-giving and life-sustaining oxygen to the blood and tissues. L. W. Randolph.

THEATRICAL.

One of the most inspiring numbers in any of the numerous musical comedies that have been seen in New York this season is said to be "The Old Jay Bird" song in "The Sultan of Sulu," George Ade's musical satire that seems destined to run out the year at Wallack's Theatre. Recently this number has been made more effective by the introduction of a complete fife and drum corps, giving it a military coloring of the kind that in the Spanish War time would have brought the audience to its feet with cheers. "Since I First Met You," "R-e-m-o-r-s-e" and "My Sulu Lulu Loo," however, remain the great song hits that are whistled and sung by the crowds each night as they pour out of Wallack's Theatre on Broadway.

The extension of the engagement of "Pretty Peggy" at the Herald Square Theatre, New York, gives fresh indication of the remarkable success achieved by Grace George. Arrangements for this extension have been completed in the face of such difficulties as to show beyond question the largeness of the business being done. As a matter of fact, the Herald Square is crowded every night by persons who delight in the girlish art of Miss George and in the brilliant stage pictures fashioned by Wm. A. Brady. "Pretty Peggy" itself is a charmingly sympathetic story of the love of David Garrick for Peg Woffington and of the tragic ending of that historical romance. Given the delightful environment mentioned, it is worthy of the support being bestowed so generously. The engagement will last until May 23, and matinees are given Wednesdays and Saturdays.

Our "CONCAVE" Shoulder and "CLOSEFITTING" Collar

Our "CONCAVE" Shoulder is a new and better way of making the shoulder of a coat. It does away with the superfluous wadding and padding—it gets its breadth and grace of line from the way it is cut, and from the skilful modelling and shaping by hand. It looks wider than the ordinary shoulder and sets better, and will retain its shape—always.

The "Closefitting" Collar is hand made, and worked in so that it always sets perfectly.

All of our $15 Spring Suits and Overcoats are made with our "CONCAVE" Shoulder and "Closefittting" Collar.

Our showing of Spring Suits and Overcoats at $15 is larger than that of any other house in New York. Among the materials you'll find everything that is usual, and much that is unusual.

Spring Suits made with our "CONCAVE" Shoulder and "Closefitting" Collar—$12.50 to $30.

Spring Overcoats made with our "CONCAVE" Shoulder and "Closefitting" Collar—$12.50 to $35.

TROUBLE BREWING.

The campaign previous to last November's election was exciting in more ways than one. The fight for the Republican nominations developed a contest more bitter than was the election itself. The two factions fought side by side after a fashion and carried the county but the old sores were not healed. With the approach of another election there is promise of still more exciting happenings.

There's a new factor in the fight this year. The consolidation and annexation question cannot be left out. The action of the Legislature in repealing the annexation law still rankles in the hearts of many Republicans and it is going to be heard from next fall. Exactly how it will crop out no one can tell but it's going to in some fashion and it will surely make some trouble in the Republican ranks when it comes out.

The New Brunswick Home News suggests that it would be very nice if the State would build an armory there for Company H. New Brunswick need not worry. All the pressure possible was brought to bear to land such a building for Plainfield and it was without avail. Having turned down the request of such a Republican stronghold as Plainfield, no Republican Legislature is likely to grant the same thing to a Democratic city like New Brunswick. The results in Plainfield might be entirely too disastrous.

Although the congregation at Trinity Reformed church is a large one, many of its people are in moderate circumstances and it does not have the purses on which to draw that some of its wealthier sister churches enjoy. The showing made by that church, as brought out at the annual meeting Wednesday evening, must have been of great encouragement to those who have worked so faithfully for its betterment. The reports showed a very creditable condition of affairs in existence there.

It is a wonder that more bicycles are not stolen here. When one looks at the careless fashion in which the wheels are left about, he cannot but marvel that somebody does not come by and walk off with them. It is almost impossible for the police to know the owner of the bicycle when he comes along and it is as easy for the thief to operate before the officer as in his absence. A little more care would save many wheels and not present such a temptation to the man in "hard luck."

A new home is soon to be secured for Warren chapel, a mission of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, which has evidenced a steady growth during the ten years it has been under the direction of that church. As pastor during that period, Rev. J. O. McKelvey has made a host of friends and has won a place in the affections of his people that few men reach. With a new home, the chapel should make even greater progress in the future.

There is now a flight of steps connecting the walk leading to the east bound station with the station platform, enabling patrons to reach the cars without going up to the station or climbing over the terrace. Since those steps have been put into commission, a sign confronts the commuters. It reads, "Now will keep off the grass." What depth of feeling is there illustrated. They certainly ought to keep off now.

It is rather absurd for anybody to doubt the value and necessity of advertising in this day, remarks the Philadelphia Record. It is estimated by a high authority that last year $9,000,000 were expended for advertising in Chicago—mostly for newspaper space. A large proportion of this money was paid by experienced advertisers, who know how well advertising pays.

When the Legislature met in extra session, there was a sample voting machine on exhibition at the State House, Trenton. Most of the legislators have not had much opportunity of getting well acquainted with these machines and this one attracted much attention. It served to demonstrate its usefulness very thoroughly.

When the Common Council meets again, the public will be interested to know what was in that report of City Auditor Collins. It cost $900 to have the city's books audited and the public naturally wants to know just what was the result.

The Somerset county Freeholders are getting very generous. Think of it, they provided for two new bridges at one meeting. Surely something must have happened over in Somerset.

No Right to Collect.

It has recently come to the notice of the official members of Grace M. E. church that certain persons have been soliciting funds for the church, using a book with the signature of the pastor. They wish it stated, that no one has been authorized to solicit funds for any purpose, nor has the pastor given his signature for the same.

Big Chorus for Opera.

The production of the "Pirates of Penzance," which is to be given at the Casino, May 21, under the direction of William Holmes, will have one of the largest choruses yet appearing in a local amateur opera. It will number fifty-three trained vocalists, all of whom are experienced in singing operatic parts.

From Admiring Friend.

The Pad and Pencil Club has recently had presented to it by an admiring friend an oil painting of Lake Memphremagog, situated in the New Hampshire foothills. It was executed by the late Julian Scott in 1868, and is considered one of his best landscapes.

DUNELLEN.

A number of employes at Levering & Garrigues were subpoenaed before the court at New Brunswick today to give testimony in regard to illegal liquor selling in this place. The alleged offence took place at a well known place in the West End. Even a place as small as this has "speak easies" and a movement has been started to break them up. The testimony will also have some effect in the consideration of applications for liquor selling here.

A very exciting runaway took place here late yesterday afternoon when a spirited horse belonging to Peter Osborn became frightened and made a dash for liberty. TREATMENT OF WALLS.

A Hint For the Woman Who Wishes an Artistic Effect.

If the walls are tastefully decorated, a room is more than half furnished. Wall papers are now produced in such endless variety that something artistic may easily be found for a very small amount.

Perhaps one of the most popular methods of treating a wall consists in papering it in two colors, or, rather, two shades of the same color, the upper section being lighter than the lower, as a rule.

BLUE AND WHITE

The dividing line is concealed by a shelf which runs around the room and which holds china, books, bric-a-brac, etc.

The illustration shows just such a treatment of a wall. The color-scheme is in two shades of blue, harmonizing prettily with the white woodwork and the blue and white china.

EXTRAVAGANCE OF WOMEN

They Waste Many Little Things Which Count Up.

Are women extravagant?

An English paper discusses this at great length in its usually ponderous fashion.

I say they are and they are not.

In household and many important matters the majority of women are not extravagant; for, as a rule, they are not well off according to their position in life, their allowances are small and they have many expenditures.

HER BEST TAILOR MADE.

Then, too, they have been trained to know the price of things, and they usually get their money's worth.

Woman's method of earning money has usually been to save it, and although we are beginning to change this yet it is still so to a great extent, for to men is given the privilege of earning the larger incomes.

But there are many small things in which woman is most extravagant.

She will wear her best tailor made out in the rain, thereby impairing its freshness forever and a day, and this simply to make an impression on some woman she doesn't really care two cents about. She will likewise hold up her umbrella in a rainstorm using a hand incased in a white glove. She might at least remove the glove, for one spot of water absolutely ruins it.

She will buy a dozen veils at one time, wear each once or twice and then throw it in a little heap in the bottom of a drawer. If the veil had been rolled lengthwise, it would have lasted four times as long, and why use so many at once?

Then she will put rough bindings on the bottom of her skirts and ruin her expensive boots, or, worse still, put on no binding at all, which ruins the skirt.

Yes, and she will waste money for neck ribbons which are mussy and don't look half as well or last as long as a regular collar and buy fancy belts and novelties, which go out almost as soon as they are "in" and which eat up her money so wonderfully that she wonders why she has none left to purchase the important pieces.

On the whole, I am sorry to say, women are apt to be penny wise and pound foolish. HELEN CLIFTON.

For Half Mourning.

Half mourning is not now so rigidly insisted upon, but white voile with black silk mull trimmings or with chiffon ruchings and other garniture are allowable. When such a gown is to be worn with a hat, the latter should be trimmed with mauve tulle mingled with white and with bunches of white violets. Mauve is used now instead of the unbecoming lavender. Few people put their children into mourning now except for the funeral and for church for a few weeks, as it is thought too depressing for young minds.

Women Who Manage.

Mrs. Hearst and Mrs. Stanford, who have given away millions of money, understand the detail and management of their own business better than any of their agents. As for Mrs. Hetty Green, the richest woman in the world, would Hetty Green trust to any "mere man" to invest and control her money for her? Not she!

Fore and Aft Won the Derby.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 24.—Eight thousand people saw Fore and Aft, by George Kinney—Topsail, win the Cumberland Derby, one and one-eighth miles, at Cumberland park from Barca in 1:55¾. John J. Greener's Postmaster Wright, after leading into the stretch, finished third. The race was worth $3,060 to the winner and was a fine contest. The Tennessee Breeders' association opened its tenth annual spring meeting under most auspicious conditions. The weather was fair and bracing and the track in prime condition. The Derby was the fourth event on the card, and five candidates accepted the issue.

Horse Killed; Jockey Hurt.

BALTIMORE, April 24.—Joe Leiter, the winner of the two steeple chase features at the late Bennings meeting, owned by Dion K. Kerr of Washington, was killed yesterday in the Carrollton cup race at Pimlico. He had run the short course, but stumbled and fell as he entered the stretch. His injuries were such that the horse had to be killed. A. R. H. Ramson, Jr., of Catonsville, the owner and rider of Ogress in the same race, was thrown and had his collar bone broken. He is in one of the city hospitals under treatment. Three favorites won in the five races on the card.

Bad Accident at Aqueduct.

NEW YORK, April 24.—A bad accident occurred in the running of the fifth race at Aqueduct when Redfern's mount Alado bolted at the head of the stretch to the outside fence and dived under the railing. Redfern escaped with a broken collar bone. The horse broke his neck and died instantly. P. H. McCarren's Potente won the Flushing stakes easily from Ethics. Saccharometer, with 101 pounds on his back, smashed the track record for five and a half furlongs by covering it in 1:07 flat, which is one-fifth of a second better than the record made by Kittaning last year.

Results at Lakeside.

CHICAGO, April 24.—Owenton, the favorite, heavily backed, won the fourth race, the feature event at Lakeside, in a gallop. Antonius was second, a dozen lengths in front of Rankin. Automaton, the favorite in the third race, was defeated by a nose, the winner being Mimo, a newcomer from California. It was a struggle between the two from flag fall to finish.

Oakland Races.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24.—Upsets were frequent at Oakland yesterday, only one favorite winning. The talent sustained a severe blow when Alamansor, the odds on favorite for the two-year-old race, was beaten by The Cure, a 20 to 1 shot. The weather was fine and track fast.

Reliance's Mainsail Up.

BRISTOL, R. I., April 24.—The big mainsail on the Reliance was bent yesterday by the crew, and, although it was only partially hoisted, it gave every indication of being a beautiful piece of canvas. The yacht will have two steering wheels.

Daughter of the Revolution Dead.

PAWTUCKET, R. I., April 24.—Mrs. Hannah Southwick, eighty-eight years old, an original daughter of the Revolution, is dead here as a result of shock. Mrs. Southwick and her brother Jeremiah, who died recently in Franklin, Mass., held the distinction of being the oldest twin brother and sister living in the United States. They were born in Cumberland in 1815. Their father, John Haselton, crossed the Delaware with Washington and was the first man in the party to land.

Algiers Gives Loubet a Send Off.

ALGIERS, April 24.—President Loubet arrived here and at once went on board the cruiser Jeanne d'Arc, which soon sailed for Philippeville. As she left the war ship was saluted from the forts, while the population, massed on the quays overlooking the harbor, gave the president of France a farewell ovation.

Svedrup Decorated by King.

COPENHAGEN, April 24.—King Christian has decorated Captain Sverdrup, the arctic explorer, with the golden medal of merit.

TYNER TURNED OUT

Postmaster General Payne Issues Sensational Letter.

PAPERS AND RECORDS MISSING.

Wife of Discharged Assistant Attorney General, Aided by an Expert, Opens Safe in Private Office and Takes Entire Contents.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—A most sensational development of the investigation of postoffice department affairs occurred just before the department closed last night when Postmaster General Payne announced the summary dismissal of James N. Tyner, assistant attorney general for the postoffice department. Coupled with the announcement is the startling report that all the papers and records in the safe of the latter's office had been abstracted by Mrs. Tyner, wife of the discharged officer, with the assistance of others. The postmaster general states that Mrs. Tyner has refused the demand of the government for the return of the papers taken and said the circumstances in the case will be submitted by him to the department of justice at once. Other sensational developments are expected to follow. The question of arrests is now under consideration and will be passed on immediately by Attorney General Knox.

The facts are told tersely in the letter of dismissal to Hon. James N. Tyner, signed by Postmaster General Payne, just made public. The letter is as follows:

"You are hereby removed from the office of assistant attorney general for the postoffice department.

"I deem it proper to give you the reasons for this summary action on the part of the department. Early in the month of March I communicated to you through a mutual friend a request for your resignation. After a painful interview with you and a more painful one with Mrs. Tyner I consented to modify the demand for your resignation so that it might take effect on May 1, 1903, with the proviso, however, that you were given leave of absence from the time of the acceptance of the resignation to the date of its taking effect, with the understanding that you were not in any way to undertake to discharge the duties of the office.

"Late yesterday afternoon Mrs. Tyner came to the office of the assistant attorney general for the postoffice department, entering in the regular way, went through the main office to the private office, closing the door behind her. She then unlocked the door entering from the public hall into the private room and admitted her sister, Mrs. Barrett, whose son was formerly assistant in your office and whose conduct is now under investigation by the department. She also admitted in the same manner Mr. G. G. Hamner, an expert in the employ of the Mosler Safe company, with whom she had made an arrangement to meet her at the department. At her direction Mr. Hamner opened the safe in the room, and she took therefrom all papers, records and articles of every kind and carried them away with her.

"Immediately upon learning what had been done I directed the fourth assistant postmaster general to send two inspectors to your house to demand in the name of the postmaster general the delivery to them of any papers, documents or other materials which had been abstracted from the safe. This demand was refused by Mrs. Tyner, and she likewise refused to permit the inspectors to see you or to see and examine the papers in her presence. Mrs. Tyner further stated to the postoffice inspectors that she committed the act with your knowledge and by your direction. Further comment on this transaction on my part is not necessary."

It is fully realized by the postmaster general that the case presents a delicate situation, and for that reason he declined to enter into a discussion of the facts.

Mr. Tyner has been in the government service in various important capacities for many years. He is from Indiana. He served as assistant attorney general for the postoffice department and later was first assistant postmaster general. Subsequently he became postmaster general, and later he again assumed office in the department. He is one of the best known men in official life in Washington. He and Mrs. Tyner and President and Mrs. Grant were intimate friends. During the universal postal congress, which met here in 1897, he was one of the committee which represented this government.

An effort was made last night to obtain from General Tyner or Mrs. Tyner a statement, but met with no success, Mrs. Tyner stating that they had nothing to say on the subject.

General Tyner is in a very weak and almost helpless condition from his long sickness. He remains in his room most of the time and sees very few callers.

Direct Foreign Postal Orders.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—The postoffice department has completed arrangements for a direct exchange of money orders between the United States, Costa Rica, Liberia and the Transvaal colony. Heretofore it has been impossible to exchange money orders between these countries.

TIRED OF BEATINGS.

Mrs. Elmer Wilson Finally Makes Complaint Against Her Husband.

Tired of his kicks, cuffs and beatings which, she claims, have been common since their married life of six months, Mrs. Elmer Wilson, of 216 West Third street, summoned the police to her home, this morning, to arrest her husband. He heard of their coming and skipped out but was captured on Madison avenue by Roundsman Mattox. He was locked up at headquarters and will be given a hearing this afternoon.

A surprise was tendered to George B. Allen, of Linden avenue, by a number of his friends, last night. The evening was spent in playing games, interspersed with vocal and instrumental music. Refreshments were served.

SPORTING NEWS

ON THE DIAMOND.

The Underwoods Athletic Club will play the scrub team of the City High School this afternoon on Hope Common.

The Grace Church Thirds defeated the Franklin School team on Hope Common, yesterday, by a score of 8 to 7.

Manager Cose, of the Hopes, completed arrangements yesterday for a game with the Scotch Plains team May 2. It will be played on the 'Plains grounds.

George Whitley, twirler for the New Market A. C., has received several offers from local League teams for the season. He has refused them all and intends remaining with the New Markets.

George B. Hoffman, of Somerville, one of the best baseball players in this part of the State, has signed to play with the Alis Club team this season. The last two seasons Hoffman played with the Montclair A. C. team.

The Underwoods defeated the High School scrub team, by the score of 18 to 10. Minford, of the Underwoods, pitched a fine game. The batteries were Minford and W. Douglas for Underwoods and Bogart and Anderson for the High School.

The National Juniors have organized as follows: VonBuskirk, lf; Townley, ss; Sharp, rf; Loughlin, 1b; Currin, c; Cole, 1b; Gamon, cf; Stanbery, 2b; Ayers, p. Teams averaging fourteen years wishing games should communicate with Leo Ayers, West Third street.

Manager Denman, of the Westfield team, announces the May schedule for the organization to be as follows: May 2, Seventh Regiment, N. G., State of New York; May 9, Aeolian Athletic Association; May 16, Madison, N. J. A. C.; May 23, Milburn-Springfield Consolidated; May 30, a. m., Alis, of Plainfield; p. m., College of the City of New York. The Saturday games will be called at 4 o'clock.

As stated in this column before, the League officials are experiencing difficulty in securing suitable umpires. Those who served last season and others seeking appointments want more money than the rules allow or the managers wish to give and so the matter stands. It is understood the competent ones want $3 per game, which with the two umpire rule in force will prove rather costly to the Leagues.

GOLF.

The weekly competition for the Golf Committee cup will be continued tomorrow on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course. Howard Wright now has a substantial lead for the trophy with 5½ points.

In the interclass golf series which began at Princeton, Wednesday, the Junior team defeated the class of '05. The interclass series will continue every day, except Saturday and Sunday, until next Tuesday. On the opening day Frank Reinhart handed in a card of 41 for the round out. During the day there were a number of tie matches. F. O. Reinhart and J. Whitney Baker, who were pitted against each other, made tie scores. The class that wins the series will receive a silver trophy presented by G. T. Brokaw, class '92. The University golf team will play at Orange, tomorrow, with a team from the Essex County Golf Club. The Princeton team will take ten men.

To Abolish Grade Crossings.

As a result of recent conferences held between the officials of the New Jersey Central and the city officials of Elizabeth, several grade crossings in Elizabeth will be abolished.

PROGRESS OF GOOD ROADS

IDEA OF NATIONAL AID IS FINDING MUCH FAVOR.

Recent Bad Weather Made Many Roads Impassable and Emphasized Need.

The leaven of road improvement seems to be working in all parts of the United States. An eastern man who has recently taken a trip through Texas says the enthusiasm with which the people have taken up the "good roads idea" is wonderful. In some counties they are in danger of "going wild" on the subject. Funds are being raised mainly by issue of county bonds.

In Pennsylvania, the State aid idea has taken firm hold. The plan just adopted is for the State, the county, and the township to cooperate in the work of building and improving the roads. The State is to pay two-thirds of the expense, and the county and township in which the work is done each one-sixth of the expense. The State has made available for this purpose $6,500,000 to be expended during the next few years.

The principle involved in the State aid plan is exactly the same as that involved in the scheme for National aid which has developed such popularity recently. The fundamental idea of both is that road improvement is not merely a matter of local interest and responsibility, but a matter of interest and concern to the whole people; or, to put it another way, road building is coming to be viewed as a species of "internal improvement" belonging in the same class as river and harbor improvements.

Another reason why National and State aid are becoming so popular is the realization that, unless something of the kind is adopted, the burden of bad roads, like the poor, "will be always with us." The bottomless roads of the country constitute a sort of "Slough of Despond" in which the people are destined to flounder until some one comes along to help them out. In fact the expense for improving the roads in many localities is a burden which the local population is wholly unable to bear. It is believed that whenever the State or the Nation reaches out a helping hand to such communities, they will grasp it and bend all their energies to the great work of improving their highways, but they will never undertake the job without help from the outside.

The frequent rains of the past few weeks have made the roads almost impassable in a majority of the local communities throughout the eastern half of the United States. Perhaps this is one of the reasons why the good roads idea is uppermost in so many minds.

Military Show Opens at Madison Square Garden Monday Night.

Soldier's Week at Madison Square Garden will begin on Monday night next, April 27. It will be a brilliant display, with grand reviews of United States troops, National Guard, marines and jackies from the navy, and a change of programme each night, and special matinees, with a military programme, on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

The Government has detailed the cavalry from Fort Meyer, artillery from Fort Ethan Allen, engineers from Washington Barracks and infantry from Madison Barracks, and a detachment of Canadian Infantry, "The Duke of Cornwall's Own Rifles," with their full band, will be present also. These soldiers have seen service in the South African War and elsewhere, and they will receive a hearty welcome. The infantry from Madison Barracks are veterans who have made a record in the Philippines, in China and again in the Philippines. Troop "C," the famous cavalry of the National Guard, will do some hard rough riding that the Second United States Cavalry will try hard to beat. There will be stirring scenes of daring, and the artillery drills will be remarkable. The West Point cadets, with their band, will be the escort to Secretary of War Root on the opening night.

There will be grand reviews each night opening the military programme, which follows the athletic events, in which noted men of the National Guard will take part. Bridge building and battle scenes, drills that show everything to perfection, the whole making a week that is never equalled in interest and entertainment, and which, each year, gains in public favor and importance. The show will close on Saturday night, May 2.

SEWAGE INTO STONY BROOK

Two Drains Are Now Carrying Filth Into Brook in Borough's Residential Park.

HAVE BEEN REPORTED

One Empties on Low Ground Owned by E. S. Hooley, the Other Extends to the Property of T. B. Brooks—The Health Authorities Notified Some Time Ago.

Right in the rear of some of the finest residences in Washington Park, that choice section of the borough of North Plainfield, there is a drain that has been daily emptying a stream of filth into the low land immediately adjoining Stony brook. A year ago the borough health authorities were notified but the trouble was not remedied. A few days ago, the matter was again brought to the attention of Borough Health Inspector W. N. Pangborn. He says that he served notice Thursday on the people who he believes responsible, giving them five days to remedy it.

The end of this drain is just inside the property of E. S. Hooley, whose handsome residence is located on the bend on Rockview avenue. He recently purchased the adjacent Campbell property and has had the house razed, opening up a long stretch of lawn to the northward. In the rear, the swamp has been drained and a pond built in the centre. Back of it is his garden and pasture. It is there, on the north-eastern boundary, that the drain is located. On the bank above are three residences which face on Rockview terrace. Vents show a cesspool in the rear of each. While there is no outward trace as to where the drain comes from, the deduction of the health authorities seems to be that it is an overflow from the cesspool of one of the residences above.

A stream of water flows from the drain and solids are easily distinguishable. Of late the drain has been plugged up by some of Mr. Hooley's employes. The stream makes its way across the low land to a "blind" ditch which carries it to the brook not many yards above the swimming pool where the small boys of the borough have been wont to congregate for years. A number of cases of typhoid fever have been reported among the boys during the last few years.

A Daily Press reporter visited the place yesterday afternoon. When the plug was removed, a flow of dirty water, with a distinct odor, was very plain to be seen. There was some scum on the low ground where the water had made its way before the opening was blocked. Mr. Hooley has been unable to turn his cows out to pasture in this lot on account of this drain.

A similar drain exists in the rear of the property of T. B. Brooks, whose beautiful place is on Rockview avenue several hundred yards west of Mr. Hooley's. It appears to come from under Rockview avenue and follows a hollow in the lawn that leads directly to the brook. It ends in the low ground close to the brook. Mr. Brooks has repeatedly called the attention of the health authorities to this drain but the flow still continues.

TO CONSOLIDATE FACTORIES

TWO SHOPS WILL BE MOVED FROM HERE TO NEW YORK.

Columbia Tool Works Will Have Its Factory on Duane Street, New York.

Plainfield is to lose another factory. One was transferred with its twenty-five employes on Wednesday from this city to New York and next week the larger of the two shops will move to the metropolis taking with it forty of its employes. The shops, which have decided to move, are known as the Columbia Tool Works. One factory is located on West Fourth and Washington streets, opposite the gas house and the other is a branch of the former concern which formerly manufactured surgeon's cases in the laundry building in the rear of the east bound depot of the Central Railroad, on East Fourth street.

The factories, which were operated by Bacton & Dickerson, have been in operation and have been working in conjunction with a much larger factory in Duane street, New York, for many years. A consolidation has been effected and the three will be united into one concern under one roof. All the Plainfield men will go to New York with the local shops.

Next week the machinery will be shipped away in trains and the engines and very heavy machinery will be sent to the city by teams.

It is understood that another factory is negotiating for the rental of the plant.

During the service Elmer E. Runyon sang two hymns, "I do Not Ask O Lord, That Life May Be," and "Abide With Me." The floral display was very fine indeed and included gifts from New York friends. The interment was in Hillside cemetery.

Miss Burr was a sister to Elliott Burr, of Richmond and East Front streets, and of Mrs. Rogers, of Brooklyn, Misses Alice and Ella Burr and Mrs. Cole, of this city.

Unique Alarm of Fire.

The first time in the history of the local fire department that an alarm of fire was turned in by an automobile and the fireman was taken to the scene of the conflagration in a horseless carriage, was last evening, when Wallace M. Hart was taken to the scene on the motor car and extinguished the blaze with an extinguisher.

MIXED SOMEWHERE.

Perplexing Questions About George Jones' Wives Taken to Court to Decide.

Mrs. Jones, claiming to be the lawful wife of George Jones, colored, has made a complaint in Justice Mosher's court, charging that her husband has another wife, who, it is alleged, was Miss Nora Cary. The case was to have been tried yesterday afternoon, but owing to the inability of the plaintiff's lawyer, W. G. DeMeza, to secure James Brooks, an important witness, an adjournment was taken until Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The defendant is represented by Lawyer H. C. Runyon.

Mr. Jones claims he has but one wife, although, according to Justice Mosher, he informed the latter that as soon as this case is settled he intends applying for a divorce. If this is granted, he says, he will marry Miss Cary. The latter was in court yesterday and she declared that she is not married, that her name is Miss Nora Cary.

GRIST FROM THE CITY COURT

THE CADI PASSED JUDGMENT ON A BATCH OF OFFENDERS.

Scrappers, Impromptu Orator, Peddler and Others Included in the List That Lined Up.

Ernest Morris and Edward Smith, two colored gentlemen, got into an argument on West Third street, near Liberty, last evening. It didn't take long for one to hit the other and a mix-up followed that drew a large crowd. Ernest and Edward were disentangled by Patrolman Higgins and then placed under arrest. Mitigating circumstances led to their getting a suspension of sentence in the city court this morning.

Believing he had a right to free speech, Michael Malone, much the worse for liquor, started in yesterday afternoon, to tell what he did and what he didn't know about trusts and labor organizations. When Patrolman Higgins advised Malone to hire a hall he resented the interference by striking at the officer, but instead knocked down an innocent onlooker. The orator was hauled in and it cost him $5 to get out at today's court session.

The fracas which took place on the Boulevard, last Saturday and resulted in the arrest of John Newman, James Barry and Benjamin Monroe, was again aired in court this morning. Witnesses as weill as principals differed in placing the blame and City Judge Runyon cut the Gordian knot by suspending all hands.

Foster Reed, charged with peddling without a license, was released on his promising to secure one.

Elmer Wilson, who was arrested yesterday on complaint of his wife for beating her, was arraigned yesterday afternoon. By using a little tact City Judge Runyon got the two to patch up their troubles and Wilson registered a solemn vow that he would never strike his spouse again. They left the court room with beaming faces.

ADMITTED GUILT.

Chief Kiely Wrings a Confession From a Tool Thief.

A continuous theft of tools at the Potter Press Works, within the past few weeks, led to a watch being set and the detection of the culprit, yesterday. Suspicion was directed toward a young married man employed in the shop, who came to this city from Newark where he is well connected. He was brought before Chief Kiely, yesterday, and after two hours of the third degree broke down and admitted his guilt. At the request of the factory officials no proceedings will be taken.

To Plainfield Women.

CHURCH HAS BALANCE; DOESN'T OWE PENNY

Excellent Showing Made at Annual Meeting of Congregational Church Last Night.

WOMEN GAVE DINNER

IT PRECEDED THE ANNUAL MEETINGS OF CHURCH AND SOCIETY.

Goodly Sum for Benevolences—Election of Officers—Joseph E. Morse Again Made President of Board of Trustees.

A dinner and the annual meeting combined to make the Congregational church a wonderfully busy place last evening. The repast was excellent and the showing at the business session was equally satisfactory.

The dinner prior to the annual meeting was a decided success. It was given under the auspices of the Women's Association of the church and nearly 150 people were served from 6 until 8 o'clock. Long tables were arranged in the parlors and they were prettily garnished with flowers, including pink and white roses, these colors predominating. There was also a flower and candy booth arranged in colors of pink and white. Most of the flowers used were furnished by J. I. Brower, the New York florist, and they added greatly to the general scene of beauty.

The dinner was a very appetizing one, the menu comprising lots of good things, including meats, salads, fruits, cake, etc. The affair was in charge of Mrs. John V. Beekman, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Frank A. Weeks, Mrs. Alexander Millar, Mrs. William McIntosh, Mrs. Eugene M. Laing, Mrs. Henry Nomer, Mrs. Emil Messerschmidt, Mrs. W. A. Millard, Mrs. Floyd Fuller, Mrs. Charles L. Goodrich, Mrs. L. B. Morgan, Mrs. D. Foster Updike and Mrs. John M. Whiton. In addition to these persons the following waitresses assisted: The Misses Jessie McIntosh, Ethel McIntosh, Rhoda Culbertson, Carrie Fuller, Nellie Winckler, Eyva Wilkins, Ethel Millar, Ethel Weseman, Margaret Weseman, Marion Winant, Harriett Messerschmidt and Edith Robinson.

At the flower and candy booth were Mrs. J. R. Martin, Miss Marion D. Woodcock and Miss Elsie DeR. Suffern. Those who poured tea and coffee were Mrs. J. A. Robinson, Mrs. Alexander Millar, Mrs. Wm. VanAlstyne and Mrs. John M. Whiton.

While the dinner was being served the guests enjoyed an informal programme of piano selections by Mrs. Ernest A. Millard and Mr. Kenyon. The music helped to make the affair a delightful one socially. The proceeds from the dinner will be used for general church purposes.

Following the dinner there was held the annual meeting of the church, the church society and the board of trustees. At the first meeting Rev. C. L. Goodrich, the pastor, presided and D. Foster Updike was chosen clerk. After the opening exercises there was received the report of the official board. This showed a gain in membership of ten on confession and ten by letter, while the losses included four by death and seven by letter, making a net gain of nine. The total membership of the church is 282. The total amount of money received during the year ending April 1 for benevolences was $2,181.

D. Foster Updike was elected clerk. L. B. Morgan and A. C. LaBoyteaux were elected deacons, while Alexander Miller, H. C. Nomer and George F. Fisher were elected members of the official board.

Several amendments to the constitution were offered and laid over for action at a future meeting. The matter of a schedule of benevolences for the coming year was referred to the official board with full power.

The question of introducing individual communion cups was also referred to the official board of the church for investigation. The board will report later in the matter. It was voted that the church should be closed the last three Sundays in August, after which this meeting adjourned.

The meeting of the church society followed when W. B. Wadsworth was elected chairman and D. Foster Updike was chosen clerk. Morris C. VanArsdale, as church treasurer, presented a report showing the receipts for the year to be $3,326 and the disbursements $3,306.67, leaving a balance of $19.33 with all bills and

SCHEMPP RETURNS DAZED

'PLAINS MAN SUPPOSED TO HAVE BEEN VICTIM OF "KNOCK OUT" DROPS.

Wandered Back Yesterday—Money and Jewelry All Gone—Can Tell Nothing of Trip.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, April 25—Still weak and dazed from the effects of knockout drops or some other drug, Gustav Schempp, the bartender who disappeared last Tuesday, returned to his home here, yesterday morning. He was picked up about 9 o'clock on Terrill road by Joseph Thys who noticed him wandering aimlessly about.

Thys took him home and the family called Dr. Westcott. After an examination the latter declared Schempp had been the victim of knockout drops or something similar. The man's mind is still partially blank and he can give no coherent account of his wanderings. What money he had with him when he left home was taken from him, as was also his gold watch and chain. It is the belief of 'Plains residents that he was given the doses in a Newark saloon and after recovering sufficiently was escorted to the vicinity of Scotch Plains and turned adrift.

HIGH SCHOOL TEACHERS.

Are Assembled at Newark Today for Semi-Annual Meeting of Teachers' Association.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Newark, April 25 — High school teachers from all parts of the State are assembled here today to attend the fifteenth semi-annual meeting of the New Jersey High School Teachers' Association which is being held in the Public Library in this city.

The programme which outlined the business of the day was as follows: An address by John Huston Finley, LL. D., professor of politics, Princeton University, and editor of McClures' Magazine. Other addresses were as follows: "The Articulation of the College Work in History with that of the Secondary Schools," James Sullivan, Ph. D., chairman of the history department of the High School of Commerce, New York; "The Articulation of the Secondary School Work in History with that of the Grammar Schools," Miss Sarah A. Dynes, professor of history, State Normal School, Trenton; "The Bibliography of History for Secondary Schools," B. E. Brooks, department of history, East Orange High School.

MUSICAL EVENT.

Concert to be Given by Miss May Vincent Whitney.

The concert announced by Miss May Vincent Whitney at the Casino, Tuesday, May 12, promises to be the musical event of the season. One of the features will be the appearance of Erskine Porter, the wonderful nine-year-old soprano of New York. Master Porter, who was a pupil of Francis Fisher Powers, the most noted vocal instructor in New York, has a rich, clear soprano voice, with a register of two and a half octaves, reaching to high E, with a repertoire of over one hundred high class songs, both secular and sacred. Many other pleasing novelties will figure in the prorgamme to be presented.

NO CONTRACT AWARDED.

"Cellar Gang's" Committee Will Probably Give It Out Today.

The contract for the digging of the cellar for the new fire house in the borough were to have been given out last evening but because of the absence of one of the committee this was not done. It will probably be given out late this afternoon.

The work of digging the cellar will be begun some night next week, probably Monday night. While the members of the company cannot take the time to dig all the cellar they will start the work with much ceremony.

Salvation Army Services.

The Salvation Army will conduct special services in their rooms on West Front street, this evening and tomorrow. Brigadier and Mrs. Atkinson, and Lieutenant Nellie Bryan will be present and make addresses. Captain Edward Taylor, of New York, will also be present.

Charged With Fighting.

Gustav L. Suterlin, a salesman, and a man named Sheehan, of this city, were arraigned before Judge Doud last evening in the borough court on a charge of fighting in Saengerbund Hall. Each were fined $5.

PLENTY DOING IN SOMERSET

Busy Days in Criminal and Civil Courts—Many Prisoners Plead Not Guilty.

OLCOTT WILL CONTEST

Came Up This Morning and Arguments Made—Decision Reserved for a Time—Other Cases Tried in the Supreme Court—Nobody Pleads Guilty.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, April 25—In the Somerset County Criminal Courts yesterday the following people, who are a part of those indicted by the recent Grand Jury, were arraigned before Judge Schenck, and everyone of them entered a plea of "not guilty:"

William Wolf, who is charged with receiving stolen goods, gave $200 bail to appear May 11 for trial.

William Ralph, breaking and entering with intent to steal, was bailed in $200 for May 11.

John Motecraft and Harry F. Hayes, larceny, $200 bail each.

William Kennedy, breaking with intent, to be tried May 11.

Samuel S. Johnson, rape, to appear for trial May 12.

James Conboy, assault and battery, gave $100 bail and will be tried May 12.

James A. Little, assault and battery, will be tired May 11. Daniel H. Beekman was assigned as his counsel.

William Brown, malicious mischief, was held in $100 bail for trial on May 11.

Roxie Magino, for receiving stolen goods, was bound in $100 for appearance May 11.

Tony Louisa, receiving stolen goods, gave $100 bail until May 11.

Tilly Gabriel, larceny, will be tried May 12. A. M. Beekman was assigned to defend her.

It looks as if there will be aplenty "doing" for the Prosecutor, as there are seven or eight others that have not pleaded yet. If they all enter a plea of "not guilty" there will be an unusual number of trials. Those not assigned counsel had already employed lawyers to defend them.

In the Supreme Court Thursday before Justice Garretson the case of J. E. Hillpot against the Delaware River Quarry and Construction Company, told about in The Daily Press, was finished. The jury, after being out nearly six hours, gave a verdict favoring the defense, for $980. Suit was for $6,000. Dungan & Reger, of this place, were counsel for the plaintiff and Col. John T. VanCleef, of Trenton, for the defense.

As soon as that case was "all in" the trial of Enseppe Vane against the Somerset Manufacturing Company was begun. This is an action, in tort, for $20,000 damages. The plaintiff, who is a youth of fourteen summers, was employed in the picker rooms of the mill at Raritan of the defendant company. On August 26 last one of his hands caught in the machinery and was cut off. Considerable testimony was taken, after which the case was laid over until Monday, owing to the inability of Justice Garretson to be here yesterday. Dungan & Reger are counsel for the plaintiff and Michael Dunn for the defense.

This morning before Judge Schenck in the Somerset County Orphans' Court counsel in the celebrated Joseph H. Olcott will case began their arguments. Exhaustive pleas were made by William V. Steele, counsel for the appellants, and James J. Bergen, representing the executrix and appellee. The spiritualistic question was gone into deeply and the sensational testimony in this remarkable case was thoroughly sifted. There was a large attendance, owing to the "spooky" nature of this case and it was late this afternoon when the lawyers ended their pleas.

Judge Schenck reserved his decision.

THEATRICAL.

Novelty in construction and in situations are two of the strong points offered in "The Runaways," the new musical comedy production of Sam. S. Shubert and Nixon and Zimmerman. While these enterprising and energetic managers scored the musical comedy success of a score of years with "A Chinese Honeymoon," they assert with much confidence that "The Runaways" will show itself to be superior in the number of players, in lavishness as to costuming and scenic effects and in the number of pronounced song hits. Including the augmented orchestra, the managers will have 160 players and artisans to fittingly offer their newest attraction to theatregoers at the cosy and comfortable Casino.

The announcement is made that De Wolf Hopper and his big organization are to appear at the Grand Opera House, New York, next week in "Mr. Pickwick." The latter is a dramatization of Dickens' famous work "The Posthumous Papers of the Pickwick Club." Charles Klein has succeeded where others have failed and has made "Mr. Pickwick" an opera which delights the ear as well as the eye. De Wolf Hopper has made an immense hit in the title role and Digby Bell as "Sam Weller," gives an ideal interpretation of the part. The complete production exactly as used in the three months run at the Herald Square Theatre will be in evidence.

Lakeside Results.

CHICAGO, April 25.—Gregor K., the Derby candidate, held at 2 to 1 in the fourth event, the feature at Lakeside, was beaten badly, failing to finish inside the first three in a five horse, one mile race. He carried only ninety-eight pounds and was regarded as a sure winner. He led his field for six furlongs by a good margin, but when Dominick sent Dr. Stephens after him Gregor K. quit badly and finished seven lengths back in fourth place and all out. Rain began to fall after the fourth race and made the track sticky and holding.

The Reliance on Trial.

BRISTOL, R. I., April 25.—The Reliance was warped into the stream and anchored off the Herreshoff shops yesterday afternoon. Today the sails were hoisted, and she started on her trial trip shortly after 9 o'clock. Her bow is higher in the water than it was supposed it would be when the boat was lying at the wharf.

The Feature at Kinloch Park.

WISKER NOT GUILTY.

Jury Acquits Engineer of Responsibility For Tunnel Disaster.

NEW YORK, April 25.—John M. Wisker, engineer of the White Plains local which wrecked the New Haven express in the New York Central tunnel on Jan. 8, 1902, is a free man. The jury before whom he was tried in the criminal branch of the supreme court returned a verdict declaring Wisker not guilty. There was quite a great deal of excitement in court when the verdict of the jury was pronounced, and when Justice Scott later discharged the prisoner there was a rush on the part of the spectators to grasp him by the hand, and it was all the court officers could do to keep back the crowd.

Wisker looked like one dazed throughout the whole proceedings. He hardly seemed to realize that the verdict was in his favor and that he was at last free. His wife burst into tears.

Wisker had been indicted for manslaughter in the second degree in causing the death of Oscar Meyrowitz, one of the seventeen persons killed in the disaster.

Weak Hearts

Are due to indigestion. Ninety-nine of every one hundred people who have heart trouble can remember when it was simple indigestion. It is a scientific fact that all cases of heart disease, not organic, are not only traceable to, but are the direct result of indigestion. All food taken into the stomach which fails of perfect digestion ferments and swells the stomach, puffing it up against the heart. This interferes with the action of the heart, and in the course of time that delicate but vital organ becomes diseased.

ROOSEVELT'S TOUR.

President Lays Foundation of Yellowstone Park Gate.

MONTANA GOLD NUGGET A SOUVENIR

Charmed With the National Preserve, He Says Its Forests and Creatures Must Be Safeguarded For the People.

GARDINER, Mont., April 25.—President Roosevelt has resumed his tour. Before going, however, he participated in the laying of the cornerstone of the new gate at the northern entrance to Yellowstone park. The ceremony was performed according to the Masonic ritual and was in charge of the grand officers of the state of Montana. Special trains brought hundreds of people here, including a large body of Masons, and as the weather was perfect the scene was a very pretty one.

The president rode down from the post, accompanied by Major Pitcher, and was escorted to the gayly decorated stand, where he delivered an address. Troops B and C of the Third cavalry, from Fort Yellowstone, were drawn up in front of the stand as a guard of honor. Frank Smith, grand master, conducted the services, assisted by Deputy Grand Master Sol Hepner, Grand Secretary Corpelius Hedges and Grand Senior Warden Lew Calloway. The president on behalf of the Masons of the state was presented with a Masonic charm mounted on a nugget of Montana gold.

The president began his address by thanking the people and the soldiers for his enjoyable two weeks' holiday and then spoke of the natural wonders of the park.

"The Yellowstone park," he said, "is something unique in this world as far as I know. Nowhere else in any civilized country is there to be found such a tract of veritable wonderland, made accessible to all visitors, where at the same time not only the scenery of the wilderness, but the wild creatures of the park, are scrupulously preserved as they are here, the only change being that these same wild creatures have been so carefully protected as to show literally astounding tameness. The creator and preserver of such a natural playground in the midst of our people as a whole is a credit to the nation, but, above all, a credit to Montana, Wyoming and Idaho. It has been preserved with wise foresight.

"The only way that the people as a whole can secure to themselves and their children the enjoyment in perpetuity of which the Yellowstone park has to give is by assuming ownership in the name of the nation and by jealously safeguarding and preserving the scenery, the forests and the creatures. At present it is rather singular that a greater number of people come from Europe to see it than come from our own eastern states to see it. The people near by seem awake to its beauties, and I hope that more and more of our people who dwell far off will appreciate its really marvelous character.

"Incidentally I should like to point out that some time people will awake to the fact that the park has special beauties to be seen in winter, and any person who can go through it in that season on skis will enjoy himself as he scarcely could elsewhere.

"Congress has not in recent years done anything more important than passing the irrigation bill and nothing more essential to the preservation of the water supply than they make in the preservation of the forests. Montana has in its water power a source of development which has hardly been touched. This water power will be seriously impaired if ample protection is not given the forests. Therefore this park, like the forest reserves generally, is of the utmost advantage to the country around from the merely utilitarian side.

"But of course this park also because of its peculiar features is to be reserved as a beautiful playground. Here all the wild creatures of the old days are being preserved, and their overflow into the surrounding country means that the people of the surrounding country so long as they see that the laws are observed by all will be able to insure to themselves and to their children and to their children's children much of the old time pleasure of the hardy life of the wilderness and of the hunter in the wilderness. I have been literally astounded at the enormous quantities of elk and at the number of deer, antelope and mountain sheep which I have seen."

At the conclusion of the ceremonies the president's train pulled out for Livingston. Here Mr. Burroughs will leave the party and will spend a short time at Spokane, Wash., and on a ranch in Montana, after which he will return to his home at Peekskill, N. Y.

POWERS TO PROTEST

Great Britain, United States and Japan May Unite.

IN OPPOSITION TO RUSSIA'S DEMANDS

If Correctly Stated, Russia's Claims Are In Direct Violation of Her Treaty Agreements Relating to Manchuria.

LONDON, April 25.—It is learned that there is in contemplation a forcible joint protest on the part of Great Britain, the United States and Japan against the Russian demands in the matter of the sovereignty of Manchuria.

Sir Ernest Satow, British minister to China, in a dispatch to the foreign office has confirmed the published synopsis of the note addressed to China by M. Plancon, Russian charge d'affaires at Peking. Further official advices regarding the intentions of the Chinese government and explanations from St. Petersburg are awaited anxiously.

In the meantime the British government is not taking active measures, although Foreign Secretary Lansdowne intends to circulate pour parlours looking to joint action from Washington, London and Tokyo provided further information sustains the present abstract of the Russian demands.

The statement is authorized by the foreign office that if the Chinese government correctly represents Russia's claims these claims constitute an absolute breach of all the undertakings given in connection with Manchuria and utterly abrogate the principles of the open door, territorial division and international comity, to which the British government constantly and publicly has committed itself.

It is added that in these principles Great Britain always has acted in concert with the United States, and it is presumed that similar feelings exist at Washington. Nothing, however, is definitely known, as, with the exception of the British minister to China, no British ambassador has yet reported.

It is pointed out that Russia's explanation may throw a different light on her demands, although in official circles here there is a frank expression of the belief that Russia has no intention of evacuating Manchuria and that she hopes after demanding the maximum to secure a compromise.

Both on account of international political conditions and of King Edward's approaching visit to Paris, where Russian sympathy is strong, the announcement from Peking came like a bombshell to London. It is discussed with considerable reserve. No attempt is made, however, even by the most careful students of far eastern conditions, to underestimate the gravity of the situation.

Nothing definite will result until Wednesday of next week or later. Lord Lansdowne is going slow on account of the lack of information and also because he realizes that Great Britain has her hands full owing to the troubles in Somaliland, the government's attitude in the matter of the Bagdad railroad, the difficulties in South Africa and party disaffection. The foreign secretary has been warned not to take any steps to embroil Great Britain in unnecessary trouble. There does not appear to be the slightest hesitation, however, in joining the United States and Japan in a joint protest in the event of confirmation of the construction which has been placed on Russia's attitude.

Looks Like Broken Pledge.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Minister Conger at Peking has cabled to Secretary Hay a synopsis of the demands made upon China by Russia respecting control of Manchuria. This account agrees precisely with the full and accurate press report of Russia's last coup from the Chinese capital. Secretary Hay will take no action in the matter until he has communicated the facts to the president and has learned the latter's wishes. The present impression here is that the Russian action is a distinct breach of faith with the United States. The Russian government pledged itself three times formally, and the documents are of record, that the "open door" should be maintained in Manchuria and that the Russian troops would be withdrawn as soon as peace was restored.

Convention of Irish Landowners.

DUBLIN, April 25.—The Irish landowners' convention, at which the Duke of Abercorn presided, have resolved that, "while the provisions of the land bill fall short of the views previously recorded by this convention, it is desirable that all parties in Ireland accept the principles of the bill and assist the government to pass the measure, which will go farther to solve the land question than any previous bill."

Cruiser Gets Hurried Orders.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., April 25.—The British cruiser Retribution has left this port hurriedly. It is understood that she has received rush orders to proceed to the Caribbean sea. The special squadron which is patrolling the Newfoundland fisheries may lose a vessel also because of conditions in Caribbean waters.

Baby Hippo Going on the Road.

NEW YORK, April 25.—Lotus, a precocious two ton baby hippopotamus that has been the delight of thousands of children and "grown ups" who are wont to visit the Central park menageries, has bidden adieu to the park and her friends. Her habitat in the future will be a circus wagon.

Weather Probabilities.

Cooler weather; fresh south winds, becoming northwest.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

Dunn's Trade Review Tells of the Business of the Week.

NEW YORK, April 25.—Better weather in many sections of the country has caused a notable activity in seasonable lines of wearing apparel, yet wholesalers report conservatism as compared with earlier months this year, although business is more active than it was a year ago. Some branches are still backward, and there is more or less complaint regarding collections while renewals are frequently asked.

Agricultural work is vigorously prosecuted, and workers of all kinds are endeavoring to make up lost time. Structural undertakings call for large quantities of lumber and building materials, sustaining quotations.

Labor problems are being solved with encouraging celerity, threatened coal strikes reaching a prompt settlement, bridge workers resuming in large numbers, textile controversies failing to spread as was feared, while many transportation companies have made concessions and prevented any interruption of traffic.

Lake navigation has had the expected effect in reducing rail freight congestion, and shipments are more prompt, yet there is no diminution in the increase of gross railway earnings, which show a gain of 13.1 per cent over last year's figures for April thus far and 25.3 per cent over 1901.

Much less speculation accounts for the loss of 30.7 per cent in New York bank exchanges compared with the corresponding week of 1902 and 40.4 per cent compared with 1901. At other leading cities there were gains of 5.5 and 11.8 per cent respectively.

Failures last week were: In the United States, 166; last year, 212. In Canada, 15; last year, 18.

DECLARATION LOCKED UP.

Magna Charta of Our Independence to Be Seen no More.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—The Declaration of Independence is to be seen no more by the public. An order has been issued that henceforth the historic manuscript shall be kept under lock and key in a great fire and light proof safe. The Declaration will never be exhibited again at any of the great international fairs.

This decision was reached as the result of an examination of the document by a committee of the American Academy of Sciences, now in session in this city, who acted at the instance of Secretary Hay, whose attention has been called to the sad state of the famous document by Andrew Allen, librarian of the state department. Most of the text of the Declaration is still legible, but only one or two of the signatures can be made out. There is only a trace of the autograph of John Hancock, the first to sign.

The committee, equipped with powerful microscopes, made a careful examination of the Declaration. It was found that the ink used was not of the first quality. The fact that the engrosser (now unknown to history) used a sharp pen and bore steadily upon it accounted in a measure for the better preservation of the text as compared with the signatures. The committee recommended that the Declaration be shut in an air and light tight case and kept from exhibition.

Yesterday the document was photographed and then locked up. The committee has recommended that at certain long intervals of time it be taken from its case and rephotographed, the purpose being to measure as nearly as can be done the result of the protective steps.

SPEAKER MILLER'S CASE.

Illinois House Votes "No Confidence." Investigation to Be Made.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., April 25.—The Illinois house of representatives by a vote of 72 to 60 declared "no confidence" in its presiding officer, Speaker John H. Miller, whose alleged unwarranted use of the gavel in furthering a proposed enactment affecting rich street railway franchises in Chicago led to a riot Thursday. A committee of five, all personal followers of the speaker, had been appointed by him to investigate the charges of attempted bribery in connection with the passage of the Mueller traction bill. There was a strong feeling among the anti-Miller legislators that there was a possibility of a whitewash, and steps were taken to increase the committee in such a manner as to have the speaker's appointees in the minority if anything in the line of a whitewash should be attempted. The Miller men fought hard to retain the committee as originally appointed, but were outvoted, and the report of the committee was made a special order for next Tuesday morning.

The anti-Miller men came into representative hall determined to force the speaker to prove his charges or withdraw them. If he could not readily be induced to act they had decided that no business should be transacted in the house until he had complied with their demand.

They had their own way in everything from first to last, and the speaker's forces were defeated at every point.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., April 25.—Mrs. Jennie Flood of this city has been arrested for the alleged murder of John London, who was shot to death in Grattan township last Tuesday. An accident insurance policy for $1,000 was recently taken out on London's person, with Mrs. Flood as the beneficiary.

TO VISIT LEO FROM EMBASSY.

Pope's Intervention Causes Precedent In Receiving English King.

ROME, April 25.—Great satisfaction is felt at the Vatican at the official announcement that King Edward will visit the pope, although some arrangement by which the British sovereign would not have to start from the embassy for the Vatican would have been preferred.

The concession that his majesty start from the embessy met with strong opposition from some of the Vatican advisers and was only overcome through the personal intervention of the pope, who said he would not allow details of form to interfere with a meeting which he much desired, as he wished to maintain with King Edward the same relations and friendly intercourse he had had with his mother.

At the quirinal, where the point is always made not to interfere with the relations guests desire to maintain with the pope, thus demonstrating the complete independence of the papacy, it is remarked that the Vatican in allowing King Edward to start from an embassy accredited to the king of Italy, a concession hitherto constantly refused, has created a precedent that may in the future prove most embarrassing to the holy see.

MESSENGERS STRIKE.

Causes Western Union Offices to Close at Butte.

NEW YORK, April 25.—The Western Union company has issued the following notice regarding the trouble at Butte, Mont.:

"The Western Union telegraph messengers at Butte, Mont., who are affiliated with labor organizations, demanded large increases of pay and a reduction of hours, which were declined. The company has 23,000 offices and might be called upon for a proportionate increase at all other places if granted at Butte. The messengers went on a strike, and other messengers employed were mobbed by men and boys and prevented from performing their work.

"The mayor of Butte gave police protection at times, but the police were dispersed by the mob. This state of affairs has been going on for two weeks. The mob attacked the office of the company, bombarding it with stones, eggs, etc., and so completely intimidated all other employees that the office had to be closed.

"It will remain closed until the authorities afford full protection to all the company's employees."

MORMONS MUST GO.

Expulsion of Missionaries Decided Upon In German States.

BERLIN, April 25.—The expulsion of Mormon missionaries has been decided upon by the governments of Prussia and of the grand duchy of Mecklenburg on the ground that they are propagating a form of religious belief incompatible with the laws of the state and public morals and because polygamy is not excluded from their doctrines. The missionaries, who are all Americans, will be allowed sufficient time to settle up their personal affairs. None of the Mormons has yet been deported.

The government of Prussia defines the expulsion as being simply a police measure, for which no explanation need be made.

Peter Lantensac, a German naturalized in Utah, first organized missionary work here in 1896. He was succeeded in 1899 as so called bishop by Arnold Schultheiss, a Swiss naturalized in Utah, who directed 100 missionaries. Hugh J. Cannon replaced him in 1900, and the latter has steadily increased the number of Mormon preachers and has nearly doubled the membership, which is now 4,000.

SAFE OPENING CASE

Question of Public or Private Property, Says Knox.

PAYNE SAYS ACT WAS IMPROPER.

This Fact, It Is Claimed, Justifies His Order Removing Assistant Attorney General Tyner From Office.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Attorney General Knox has expressed the opinion to Postmaster General Payne that unless there is something to show whether the documents taken from the safe by the wife of General Tyner are government property or private papers no case would lie. This statement was made after Mr. Knox had gone over the papers forwarded to him by the post office department. Mr. Payne replied by stating the circumstances attending the taking of the papers and the fact that most of the papers filed in such government safes are of a confidential nature and therefore are not of record.

The position taken by the post office department now is that it has done all that it is possible to do to establish the facts in the case, that the impropriety of the fact is of equal importance to the nature of what was taken and that any further steps rest with the department of justice. It is known by the postmaster general that the safe from which all the papers were taken has contained valuable official papers at various times and that Mr. Tyner has so stated. It is not known, however, whether any such papers were in the safe since Mr. Tyner last had access to it.

Attorney Ross Perry of this city, counsel for the Tyners, called on the postmaster general subsequent to his interview with the attorney general. He told the postmaster general that the Tyners would be glad to have the postmaster general or any representative of his department look over the papers at the Tyner residence. Mr. Payne talked with Mr. Perry at some length and pointed out to him that the Tyners were given an opportunity immediately after the papers were taken to open them in the presence of the officers of the department and had refused to show them or to indicate to the government representatives even the nature of the papers.

Mr. Payne was asked subsequently if he declined Mr. Perry's proposition, but said he could not discuss that phase of the question. It may be stated as the department's attitude, however, that it will not give much weight to any papers that are returned and that it is unlikely any further serious effort will be made to recover the papers in view of the fact that there is no way of showing whether any papers returned were the ones actually taken. Postmaster General Payne said:

"If there were conclusive evidence that all the documents taken away would be shown that would be one thing, but the fact that these papers that were taken have been out of the possession of the department for three days is another thing. If there was any motive to take the papers or any intention of doing away with them there has been ample time to do it. Whether the papers were private or not the impropriety of the act is apparent, to say the least. I regard it as quite as improper to take from a safe in a government office the private papers of General Tyner or Mrs. Tyner or of anybody else in the manner that those papers were taken as to take any other papers. The impropriety of the act itself is sufficient to remove any officer of the government."

Gas Explosion Kills Four.

GLACE BAY, N. S., April 25.—A gas explosion brought death to four men and probably fatal injuries to another in the reserve colliery, while fire damp overcame a score or more of men who are now in St. John's hospital. The five men were at work when the gas ignited from a lamp, and the explosion followed. A rescue party went into the mine and brought out the dead and injured men.

A BRICK PAVEMENT.

A plan is now under consideration by the Councilmanic street committee to pave Watchung avenue between North avenue and East Second street with vitrified brick. While no action has yet been taken it appears that the members of the committee are inclined to look favorably on the proposition.

Everyone, who has had occasion to travel on the local trolley system on a rainy day, remembers full well the mud into which the passengers were unceremoniously dumped. It was necessary to wade in to the curb to get a transfer and then wade back again to the car desired. There were occasional puddles and much mud to be encountered en route. The need of a continuous crosswalk there has been pointed out. The only proper remedy, however, would be the establishment of a transfer station on private property to be reached by a loop where the passengers could be deposited on a proper platform under cover. When that is done, and not until, will the troubles occasioned by the congestion of the trolleys at North and Watchung avenues cease.

This plan, which the street committee now has under consideration, aims in a slight way to remedy some of those objectionable conditions which exist at present. A brick pavement will certainly do away with a great deal of the mud which was inevitable on a macadam road on a rainy day.

There was no ceremony accompanying the launching of the new Jersey Central ferryboat this week. It slid into the waters of the Kill von Kull without any jubilant throng to greet it. It fails to affect the "Plainfield's "sphere of usefulness, however, and it will be gladly welcomed on North river to join the splendid fleet of new double-screw ferryboats which the Central has in commission.

Everywhere in the State you hear expressions of approval over the appointment of Robert H. McCarter as attorney-general. While the new Attorney-General may not be the politician that his brother, the retiring one, is, the general trend of the comments seems to be to the effect that the change will lose the State nothing in ability as a lawyer.

There's more baseball arranged for this afternoon and several of the league teams have announced their initial appearance of the season for today. There has been a general shake-up among the players and some great changes will be made. There is more or less secrecy on the part of some of the nines as to their probable line-up.

A man died recently from being poisoned by the highly colored printer's ink now used so generally. He appears to be the first direct victim of the yellow journals. Their baneful history contains, however, a longlist of those who have indirectly been poisoned by their "yellowness."

The members of the Common Council are still very anxious to secure expressions of opinion regarding the application of the new 'phone company for a franchise. The Daily Press will be glad to publish any proper communications on the subject.

Of all the property saved from the State Labratory at New Brunswick, which was burned Thursday, it is good to note that State Entomologist Smith's crop of mosquitoes was rescued from the flames.

The friends of General E. Burd Grubb are booming him already for State senator in Burlington county. It looks as if the early bird and the worm were identical in this instance.

The Newark News seems to find much amusement in the profusion of mosquitoes at Elizabeth. It isn't generally believed that Newark can boast particularly of their absence.

FAMILY USE.

X Points Out What Competition Would Mean in Use of Telephones.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—In these days the convenience of the telephone is not open to discussion. The present charge, in Plainfield, for family use, of $30 a year, while not prohibitory, puts it, with the average family, among the items of luxury. If the price can be lowered by a properly safeguarded competition, certainly, the public would gain much, not only in money, but in the extended use of the instrument.

The writer knows of a city, not quite so large as Plainfield, in which a company, competing with a monopoly, offered private telephones at $15 a year. The result was a general adoption and a great increase in the social enjoyability of the town. New York City, at four or five times the price, lacks this attractive feature, private use not being general.

We don't want to throw away the benefits of a wholesome rivalry.

DUNELLEN.

An autopsy was performed on the body of Adam Dealaman yesterday afternoon by Dr. G. W. Endicott and Dr. P. W. Brakeley, and the exact cause of death was found to have been cancer of the stomach. The cancer was in an advanced state and the deceased displayed great vitality to live as long as he did. Funeral services will be held in the Presbyterian church tomorrow afternoon at 2:30.

Thomas Bodine, of Dunellen avenue, was accorded quite an honor at the Presbytery of Elizabeth, recently held at Perth Amboy. He was elected as one of two lay commissioners to attend the General Assembly to be held at Los Angeles, California, and received the highest number of votes of any one at the meeting. The trip to California is a beautiful one and very enjoyable.

The Watchung A. C. held regular practice last evening. Michael Moynihan played in great form in the outfield. A number of rooters will accompany the team to New Market this afternoon. The game will be called at 3:30.

Whitfield Dunham, who was reported as in a serious condition, is much improved. The gangrene has not started in the other leg and physicians say there is no reason why he should not recover soon.

Today's baseball game between the Dunellen A. C. and the Safe Works will be played on the Madison avenue grounds and will be called at 3:30.

A meeting of the directors of the Building and Loan Association was held Thursday evening and much business was executed.

A sale of home-made cookery will be held in the W. C. T. U. rooms this afternoon by the Ladies' Aid Society.

The work on the Aluminum Press Company's new factory has been going slowly of late.

Rev. Father Dumphy will move into the new Catholic parsonage next Wednesday.

Superintendent Coyle has been entertaining his daughter from Philadelphia.

Paul Reusch has had plans drawn up for five small houses in Prospect avenue.

The postoffice has been draped in black in mourning for Adam Dealaman.

Mrs. Benjamin Baker, of Dunellen avenue, is away on a visit.

Barney Siriski now has two extra helpers in his barber shop.

John Hartnett is confined to his home by illness.

NEW MARKET.

H. J. Peddington has returned from Atlantic City, where he has been as a representative from Lakeside Council to the session of the State Council.

The baseball game today will be called at 3:30 on Nelson field. The attendance will be large as a good game can be witnessed.

Mrs. Nelson Giles, of Plainfield, and her mother, spent yesterday with friends in town.

Lakeside Council will hold a sociable in the hall next Thursday evening.

Samuel Dent has been enjoying a short vacation.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

One of the most successful entertainments ever given for the Public Library was held in the hall last night, when a number of young people from the village and borough presented "East Lynn" to a crowded house. Long before the hour of opening, the representative citizens of the village and borough began to wend their way toward the hall so as to be enabled to secure seats. Part of the house had been reserved and there is no doubt but what the entire seating capacity of the hall could have been sold in advance. As it was many were obliged to stand, but enjoyed the programme nevertheless. Much credit is due Mrs. VanHoesen, of the borough, who was the prime mover in arranging the successful affair and has been untiring in her efforts to help swell the treasury of the library. Following is the cast: Sir Francis Levison, John Maguire; Archibald Carlyle, S. G. VanHoesen; Lord Mount Severn, H. F. Mooney; Justice Hare, Herbert Mooney; Richard Hare, Hervey Marsh; Mr. Dill, Harry Lyon; Officer, Charles Wade; Little Willie, Eddie Meyer; Lady Isabel, Madam Vine, Mrs. S. G. VanHoesen; Barbara Hare, Miss Edna M. Nicholl; Miss Carlyle, Miss Florence Wade; Joyce, Miss Minnie Meyer; Wilson, Miss Reignette Marsh. An informal dance was held by the young people at the close of the programme.

There is a crowd of boys in town who persist in annoying the residents of East Front street nearly every night by throwing stones at the doors. The boys are well known and it is only a question of time when they will be haled before Judge Clark unless the nuisance is stopped.

Inspector John Miller is having quite some trouble again trying to keep the electric light circuit furnished with lamps. As fast as they are put in, malicious boys break them with stones.

The Saturday evening dances at Earl's pavilion are growing in favor now that the weather is pleasant. Naylor's orchestra, of Plainfield, furnishes the music for dancing.

Services at the Baptist church tomorrow will be, Sunday-school, 9:30; morning preaching, 10:45; B. Y. P. U., 7; evening sermon, 7:45.

Mrs. T. A. Gere, of Brooklyn, who has been spending a few days with her daughter, Mrs. Thos. M. Paff, Jr., has returned home.

The Amity Club has arranged to have a clipping table at the library fair to be held during the early part of June.

Miss Susie McNair, of Belleville, has been visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Isaac Ryno, of Park avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Maguire have been entertaining their niece, Miss Hoagland, for a few days.

Rev. Geo. Shaw will lead the Saturday evening prayer meeting at the Methodist church tonight.

Chas. Layton is improving from a severe attack of inflammatory rheumatism.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Among the beautiful floral tributes on the casket of May Gage was a bouquet of Easter lilies from the Sunday-school, which she loved to attend, and another beautiful piece from the pupils and teachers of the day school.

Interesting services will be held at the Baptist church tomorrow with preaching by the pastor, at 10:30 and 7:45. The Christian Endeavor service will be led by Miss Emma Faulks, at 7 o'clock.

Mrs. T. C. Laing, Mrs. Thomas Linaberry, also Mrs. J. A. Cubberley and Mr. Cubberley, attended the funeral of Mrs. S. R. Dayton at New Market, yesterday afternoon.

Washington Camp, Patriotic Order Sons of America, will hold its postponed rosette social at the home of Mrs. W. Force, New Dover, on Tuesday evening, May 12.

Mrs. Pullen and Mrs. Packer, of Newark, visited their sister, Mrs. Peter Johnson, yesterday.

Addison Jones, of Newark, is stopping for a visit with his grandfather, James H. Jones.

Exposure to Wet,

dampness and cold, invariably results in a sudden chill, which if not attended to immediately will cause a cold. By mixing a teaspoonful of Perry Davis' Painkiller in half a glass of warm water or milk, the whole system will be heated and the danger of cold avoided. Avoid substitutes, there is but one Painkiller, Perry Davis'. Price 25c. and 50c.

Coasting and Sleighing, Are They Pleasures of the Past?

MARSHALL FIELD, Jr., dearly loves to "spring a novelty" on his millionaire friends. Perhaps it was a yearning for the sport of the old days on the New England hills when coasting was the enjoyment of ruddy cheeked lads and lassies that helped to dispel the gloom of the short winter days, that prompted this young man recently to gather together some of his society friends and bundled up in the conventional Canadian toboggan uniforms they made merry on a public toboggan slide.

Debutantes, whose names are in the select list of society, and business men, who some day will be the guiding geniuses of great commercial houses, dragged toboggans along side school girls, stenographers, clerks, etc.,

and there was "no arrogance of wealth." The party was strictly incognito and this is the first time that anyone has written about it. Yet, I have it from a close friend of one of the young millionaires that "no country boy ever had any more fun on his coasting hill than this impromptu party in a city park had that bracing night."

Is coasting a neglected winter glory? Perhaps in the big cities it is, but who shall say that when the snow is favorable in the hilly country districts, the small boy does not derive as much fun out of the sport as he did years ago in New England? It was less than 35 years ago that public coasts were common in the big cities. Recently, when I was in Boston, strolling under the big elms that are slowly but surely dying, the site of the old public coasting place from the top of State House hill down across the historic park for fully 4,500 feet was pointed out to me. Imagine a lot of youngsters coasting there now! The practical, erudite and provincial Hubbite, if asked to provide coasting avenues for the youth now would say something about underground conduits or subways. Not longer than 14 years ago the small boys of the city of Milwaukee took advantage of the hilly nature of the city to coast on the public streets. Once when a long bob loaded with school boys ran away down Marshall street and meeting a milkwagon dashed beneath the wagon safely, although spectators had closed their eyes to the imminent slaughter of all the children, the city fathers were appealed to and the policemen makes it hard for a boy to get much coasting now on the streets.

James J. Steele, who used to revel in the sport of coasting "in the good old per" sled, except that it was shorter or "stubbier" and a little higher. Some were shod with iron runners, while others went unshod."

It was but a little while before the clipper, or pointer, sled came into vogue. And this sled with round spring runners is practically the same to-day as it was 40 years ago. This spring runner sled a half century ago was to the old plodding sleds what the pneumatic tired cycle was to the old "bone shaker" solid tires. About the time the "bowed out" spring runner clipper made its appearance the girls' sled, or "high sled," was introduced. No one had thought about gender in sleds previous to this time, but with the higher sled the girls could safely tuck away their skirts and enjoy the exhilaration of coasting with their male friends. The girls' sled of to-day, it is a shame to say, is but a frail imitation of the original—the early sleds were built with cushioned seats and dashboards. Mr. Steele has one that was bought in 1856, and it is as sound as a dollar yet. I had one made by hand down in Vermont in 1855 that I used until I was a young man, when a milkwagon driver ran away with it. Report has it that it has outlasted many of the modern, machine-made sleds that are disposed of in the department stores around the holidays.

In New Jersey and New York and in other parts of the country, except New England, the two-sled arrangement—sleds joined together with a plank resting on center pins, is known as the "bod sled." In the New England states they still call it the "double-runner," "traverse" and "ripper."

Anybody with an eye for carpentering may make two bob sleds and fix times," has contributed some "sled lore" to Outing, which H. S. Watson has quaintly illustrated. He tells of the days in Boston when the police insured fair play for the coasters and wooden bridges were temporarily built over sidewalks so that pedestrians would not be swept off their feet by the coasters. The sled lore takes the enthusiast back to the time of George III., when coasters were mere boards provided with long beef bone runners. These gradually "evoluted" until the elaborate tandems of to-day resulted. Next in the order of sleds were the "skippers" and "jumpers," made of barrel staves. "Skippers were made of a single barrel stave," says Mr. Steele, "of moderate width, to which was nailed a 12-inch seat port about midships. A piece of barrel head constituted the seat. To navigate the craft required no little skill, the revolutions and convolutions performed by the rider while 'gittin' the hand of the derned old thing, being akin to the antics of a tenderfoot on a bucking broncho. A more stable and docile jumper was made by fastening two or three staves side by side, but these were not considered as fast travelers as the single staves.

"The jumper was at its best, or one might say at its worst, when gliding down a hill covered with a thick snow-crust; a slight jolt often imparting a rapid, rotary motion to the jumper in its downward rush that would put the navigator clear out of his reckoning, and bring him w[illegible] into an apple tree, while the jumper whirled merrily on to the huckleberry bushes. Nothing in the list of coasting contrivances can equal the jumper for daredevil, exhilarating sport."

"The first rational and safe coasting sled was the homemade vehicle called sleigh in New York and vicinity. This production was like the modern "clip-

in kingbolts for the plank to rest on. But the front sled only must be given free play to revolve. The double runner can be steered by the boy lying flat on the rear sled, but that is obviously a less satisfactory method than that of sitting upright, with feet braced on the cross piece of the front sled and steering by pushing on the front piece with the right or left foot as the needs of steering come up.

The large sleds of a half century ago were great sights in the eastern cities. They rivaled the circus chariots and gilded wagons in richness of design. "Plug hats were worn by the men who went sleighing in those days in these big craft. Stovepipes, beavers and pot hats and caps were worn, but there were no Derbies. Think of the small boy nowadays overlooking a chance to "soak" those plug hats with snow balls! But after all the research into the "lore of the sled" it strikes the enthusiast that Young America is about the same as he was "in ye goode olde dayes."

Why Women Grow Old Sooner Than Men

"WHY is it that women grow old so much sooner than men?"

"I don't admit it!" retorted the bachelor girl promptly.

The man with whom she was talking leaned back in his chair and smiled indulgently at her. "Why, my dear girl," he answered, "just look around you among our acquaintances. Take the Van Peppers, for instance. Major Van Pepper at seventy is as brisk as a young man, and Mrs. Van Pepper—why, she can barely waddle around, although she is nearly ten years his junior. She affects caps and sits behind screens cosseting herself all the time. She never goes anywhere, and her only pleasure is making exactions and complaints. And look at Miss Spinks. She can't be more than forty if she's a day, and she sits behind her stuffy window curtains, carefully adjusted so that no sunshine will pierce through and no rude wind blow upon her, and she knits and gossips all day long, with her cat curled up at her feet. Forty, mind you! Why, at forty a man is a youngster, hustling around to beat the band and thinking of what the future has in store for him!"

"But"—

"Wait a minute. We'll come down to even younger women. There's Miss Scribbler. She's barely thirty-two, and yet she bends over her desk in a newspaper office every dreary day long, and at night she tumbles into bed too tired to move. That is her existence."

"It has always been a wonder to me she could write. To write, it seems to me, one should go around, mix with all kinds of people and gain some new experience every day," broke in the bachelor girl.

"H-m-m! She is drawing upon her past experiences before she was shut up. Besides, there are plenty of newspaper clippings and encyclopedias in the literary factory where she works."

"But her brain"—

"Oh, naturally that doesn't grow strong any more than her body. She is only another woman 'shut in.'

"Why, what do you mean? I thought the 'shut ins' were invalids who couldn't stir from their chairs and that they founded a society"—

"Yes, I know. But there are others who have shut their own selves in and yet who are as strong as you or I. They are the women who grow old and, alas, useless before their time—society women, like old Mrs. Van Pepper, who never take any real interest in life and what life means, who live on admiration as girls and exact even more as married women. When, owing to their artificial lives, their charms fade early, there is nothing for them to do but to take refuge in the cap of the dowager, and their sole consolation is being waited on hand and foot and making miserable the lives of those under them."

"But Miss Spinks"—

"Ah, isn't she a 'shut in?' If she would only stop mourning over her ruined life and her one past love affair—if she would only go out into the fresh air, walk, exert herself, take an interest in life—who knows but she might even have another love affair."

"And Miss Scribbler."

"That is the saddest of all, because she is handicapped by the fact that she has to earn her living. But do you suppose I would stay bending over a desk all day if I found it was ruining my health and brains and preventing me from making friends, from seeing life, cramping my whole future? No, indeed! If I could not persuade my superiors that fresh ideas and a brain constantly receiving new impressions are worth more than a certain number of musty office hours a day, I would work nights. Sundays, every spare minute, to put myself in a position where I could both live and do my best work and where by improving all the time I could put myself beyond the possibility of being thrown away some day like a sucked orange when I had finally reached my limit. It isn't work that makes a woman old, hopeless and worn; its selfish idleness or a narrow life or work under adverse circumstances. Even sorrow doesn't ruin a woman's existence if she still keeps her hand on the pulse of life, if she still moves and has a part in the world about her, if she does not allow herself to become a 'shut in.'"

ONE TYPE.

MAUD ROBINSON.

"YOU are a horrid brute," said Tabby, the cat, to Snip, the little terrier, who lay just in front of the fire on a soft rug, his head resting on his paws and his eyes blinking, as he lazily contemplated pussy.

"Well," he said, "I am too comfortable here to bother about catching rats. You wouldn't have told me anything about it anyway, if you could have managed the job by yourself."

"Oh," said Tabby, "as for that, I can catch rats by the dozen myself; only I thought you might like the sport.

Snip yawned and stretched himself, and showed signs of relenting; but

"Well," he said, "I am too comfortable here to bother about catching rats."

pussy pretended utter indifference to his proceedings, and with a sigh she lay down and feigned sleep.

"Come on, then," said Snip, giving a final stretch to his cramped limbs, "now you have got a fellow on to his pins, you let on you don't care."

Pussy, taking no notice, just waited till Snip had vacated his place by the fire. Then with one spring she gained the long-coveted position, and with a sigh she lay down in the place which knew Snip no more.

"You silly dog," she said, "your conceit does want taking down a peg. Do you really imagine for one moment that I'd call you to help me catching rats? Ha! ha! ha! Go and catch them by yourself if you can. I am far too comfortable here to bother my head about them."

Snip regarded her with supreme contempt. It was not the first time by many that Tabby had made a fool of him.

"Well," he said, "there is no getting even with a cat. It passeth the understanding of an honest dog, and yet, and yet—"

Longingly he looked at her, wondering whether he could not manage to get a fair bite at her, but remembering her sharp claws, with which he had made acquaintance on previous occasions, he desisted, and, with anger in his heart, he took himself off to seek consolation in a visit to the next-door dog.

"Good day, Mrs. Snap," he said, as he approached the box in which she was reclining, surrounded by her four children. "I was hoping to induce you to come for a walk with me."

"Walk, indeed," she growled, "I can't leave this unruly brood for a minute, and as for my eldest son, Smoker, he is getting such a bully that I would gladly part with him, if a good home could be found."

Tabby looked upon the newcomer as an intruder.

Snip became thoughtful.

"Which is Smoker?" he said; "let me have a look at him."

"This one," said Snap, "in the black and tan coat."

Smoker came forward to show himself off, and seemed a promising pup of the bulldog order. "He'll do," said Snip; "let me take him home with me. I'll smuggle him into the house, and when my little master, Jack, sees him he is sure to want to keep him."

It was not altogether an unselfish motive that made Snip want to rid Mrs. Snap of her chief anxiety. "In union lies strength!" he said to himself. "One dog may not be able to get even with a cat, but what about two dogs?"

He smiled a sinister smile when he thought of how they would give Mrs. Tabby "rats" in future.

Now that it came to parting with her firstborn, Mrs. Snap only remembered his good qualities, and wiping away a tear she begged him not to forget her, and to come and see her often. Smoker wiggled himself out of the maternal embrace and scampered off with his new friend and protector.

On the way home, Snip gave him a few hints as to his behavior, strongly advising him not to have anything to do with the cat. Unobserved they managed to get into Snip's kennel, and when Jack found them there later on he was so delighted with Smoker that he obtained permission to keep him, and so far Snip's plan was quite successful.

Tabby looked upon the newcomer as an intruder, and took a great dislike to him at first sight. "I can't imagine what Jack wants another dog for," she said to herself; "I shan't have half such a good time now." And her misgivings proved quite correct.

Snip and Smoker became the greatest of chums, and took no notice whatever of Tabby, so that the latter, as time went on, became sad and depressed.

One day Snip and Smoker caught a fine big rat, which they worried till he was about half dead; then they put him on the top of a waterbutt, which was covered by boards loosely laid across the top. The middle board they removed altogether, and put the rat close behind this opening.

They went into their kennel, where only their eyes could be seen, like four glowworms, fixed on the wriggling rat. The time passed, and their excitement was beginning to cool down, when it was fanned afresh by the appearance of Tabby, who was evidently suffering greatly from "ennui." She rubbed herself against the wall, yawned and stretched herself, when all at once she caught sight of the rat. Hullo! here was sport! All appearance of "ennui" disappeared! Her hair rose and bristled, and she quivered all over with excitement. Slowly and stealthily she crept nearer and nearer her pray, never for an instant removing her eyes from the coveted object. Now, the long-looked-for moment had arrived. She crouches low and sprang—a little struggle, and cat and rat alike disappeared into the butt!

Snip and Smoker rolled over and over, convulsed with silent laughter.

Later on when the maid came to fetch a jug of water, she gave a little scream and, plunging her arm into the water, brought out Tabby closely embracing the rat, and so strong was that death grip, that together they had to be buried in the hole which Jack had dug under the old apple tree.

Snip and Smoker attended the funeral. Whether their conscience pricked them we know not, but the words "cat" or "rat" were not mentioned between them for months!

Squirrels Like Pine Seeds.

Everybody is familiar with the fondness which squirrels entertain for nuts; there is, however, upon our furry little friend's bill of fare another item which is less generally known as having a place there, and that is pine seeds. The seeds of the pine are borne naked in the heart of the cone, snugly laid away at the base of the cone scales. When a squirrel has his mouth set for that sort of a repast he gathers a cone in his paws and strips off the scales one by one thus exposing successively the seeds.

Fixing the Wedding Date.

A curious old marriage custom, called locally "the settling," still survives in County Donegal, Ireland, and in the Scottish districts of Kintyre and Cowal. After the marriage has been publicly announced, the friends of the couple meet at the house of the bride's parents to fix a suitable date for the ceremony. A bottle of whisky is opened, and as each guest drinks to their happiness, he names a date. When each guest has named a date, an average is struck, and "settling" is complete. Neither the bride nor the bridegroom ever thinks of protesting against the date so curiously chosen. It would be considered bad luck even to speak of alteration.

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?
In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.
The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide on two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.
This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.
With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires: we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.
Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

Pat's Diplomacy.

In one of the large manufacturing establishments in this city an Irishman was employed to watch one of the entrances.

One day the superintendent saw the Irishman was neglecting his duty, and told him to go to the office and get his money, as his services were no longer needed.

The superintendent went away on business that day, and was gone about a week or ten days.

On his return he happened to be passing this same place, and was surprised to find the Irishman he had discharged still acting as watchman.

He said: "I thought I discharged you a couple of weeks ago."

"Sure," says the Irishman.

"Well, why didn't you get out when you were told?"

"Oh, I know when I got a good boss, if you don't know when you have a good man."

Needless to say, he is still there.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Doctors and Physical Culture.

A wise man, when ill, does not try to cure himself—though he may dearly love to prescribe for the dyspepsias, the colds or the neuralgias of his friends—but seeks the aid of a trusted physician. He feels there is something mysterious in the way medicines act, and fears that in his ignorance he may blunderingly do himself harm rather than good by self-prescribing. But exercise, dieting, bathing—these, he thinks, are so simple that anyone can use them without the trouble of consulting a doctor. And here his wisdom forsakes him. The action of these physical remedies is just as complex, just as productive of good when properly directed, and just as certain to do harm when wrongly applied as is the working of drugs in the system.—Dr. Thomas Stedman, in Everybody's Magazine.

American Inventions in Syria.

Last summer, for the first time, the whirr of reaping machines was heard in the grain fields of the ancient land of Syria. The machines came from Chicago, and when, a little later, a steam thrashing machine, made in Indiana, was set to work in Coele-Syria, there was some excitement among the native farmers. Before the reapers appeared on the plain of Esdraelon American windmills had been introduced, and later in the year a flour mill, with machinery and an oil motor engine from Indianapolis, began grinding wheat in Lebanon. So the year 1903 is a notable one in the advance of practical science over the old Bible lands.—Youth's Companion.

Nature's "Dried Garden."

A collection of plants, pressed, mounted on paper, and arranged systematically, is most commonly spoken of as a herbarium. This term is from the Latin herba, which means a green stalk or blade (a grass-like plant), and suggests fields and pasturage. As the ture's "dried garden" is in the fields and meadows, down in the ravines, on the hillsides, and by the roadsides. It is this real outdoor nature's "dried garden" that we should especially notice this February, as we near the end of winter.—St. Nicholas.

Willing to Try It.

"And you asked her father for her hand?"

"Yes."

"Was he violent?"

"Very. He said I must be an idiot to think of such a thing."

"What did you reply?"

"I told him that, of course, he knew his own family beter than I did, but that I was willing to take my chance."—Stray Stories.

A Queer Bequest.

The following paragraph appears in a will recently lodged for probate in Melbourne, Australia: "I bequeath unto my dear son John the feather bed, bedstead and wire mattress used by him, for his own use absolutely, and he is to divide with his brother the oil painting of their mother's father."—London News.

Death and Worse.

Woolly Wiggins—Gee, but I'd hate to be in a shipwreck.

Tattered Tucker—Oh, dere's worse t'ings.

"I don't know. Didn't you never hear about de bodies bein' 'washed ashore?' Tink of dat."—Kansas City Journal.

A Marvel.

"What do you think is the most extraordinary invention of the age?"

"The phonograph," answered Mrs. Meekton, promptly; "the way that machine stands and talks back to Henrietta positively takes my breath away."—Washington Star.

Unpleasant Either Way.

Husband—I don't think we would better accept the Pinktons' invitation to dinner, because if we go we are not in a position to return it.

Wife—But if we don't they'll know that is the reason.—Stray Stories.

The Banner Corn State.

Missouri is now credited with the greatest corn yield, estimated last year at 315,000,000 bushels. Iowa is a close second, with 300,000,000 bushels, and Kansas and Nebraska follow. — Success.

The Humble Consumer.

She—Have you ordered the coal?

He—My dear, I have begged, entreated and supplicated the dealer to send some. In times like these I wouldn't think of ordering it.—Puck.

His Engaging Remark.

Mr. Dumbead—Nelson was coming to call, but I told him you would be engaged this evening—

Miss Olemade (rapturously)—O, William!—Princeton Tiger.

SPORTING NEWS

ON THE DIAMOND.

There was a baseball game between the scrub and the varsity teams of the City High School on Stillman field this morning.

The Young Stars defeated the Excelsiors on Hope Common, yesterday afternoon, by a score of 9 to 3. The batteries were Smith and Haveman and Rogers and Grant.

The Arlington A. C. baseball team is fighting it out on the High School field this afternoon with the Park A. C. The score promises to be a good one as both teams are composed of strong juvenile players.

The City High School boys will resume Wednesday their baseball schedule which was temporarily dropped for a week on account of the death of Captain VanAuken's father. The team will meet the Newark Academy team.

The National Juniors administered defeat to the West Third Street Terrors, yesterday afternoon, after a hard fought game. The score was 5 to 1. Ayers and Stanbury composed the Juniors' battery and Ayers and Yaeger held up the Terrors' end.

Manager Denman, of the Westfields, has decided not to play any out-of-town games during the early part of the season and has canceled his date with the All-Plainfield management. The latter will probably open the mid-week season with one of the Metropolitan semi-professional teams.

"Warrie" McLaughlin occupied the box for the 'Phillies in their game with the Brooklyns, Thursday. He certainly made good according to the reports although he was outtwirled by Jones, the young California slab artist, who opposed him. McLaughlin is credited with allowing nine hits, giving five bases on balls and striking out the only man who fanned.

The baseball game which was to have been played this afternoon between the Morth Plainfield High School team and Rutgers College Preparatory School team has been postponed because the grounds of the local players have not been finished. Arrangements were under way to secure Neilson Field in New Brunswick for the game but another game will be played on that diamond today.

The consolidated 1906-'07 baseball team of the City High School was defeated yesterday afternoon by the Underwood Athletic Club by a score of 11 to 10. The game was played on Hope Common. The play at the start was in favor of the Underwoods, but in the ninth, the school boys had the score 10 to 10. A costly error in the field enabled the Underwoods to score the winning run. The batteries were, for the Underwoods, J. Douglass and W. Douglass and for the High School, Lounsbury and Munro, Bock and Anderson.

GUARANTEED.

That word means something, when it is backed by the $5,000,000 capital and surplus of the

FIDELITY TRUST COMPANY.

It means for you an easy mind if you have one of those guarantees covering the title to your premises.
The man, who does business the way it was done a generation ago, is surely on the road to failure. This is an age of progress. There has been progress in methods of conveyancing as well as in other lines. Out of the need for something less uncertain than a lawyer's certificate and a lawyer's responsibility, has grown up the system of policies of insurance, or guarantees of title by companies with large capital and a force, specially trained in the work.
There is none better in this line than

THE FIDELITY TRUST COMPANY OF NEWARK, N. J.

It has an agency at Elizabeth for conducting Union County business. Rates will be given on application at its office, No. 215 Broad Street, and an investigation of its resources and methods is invited.

PREDICAMENT OF SOMERSET

Hasn't Taken Care of Present Good Roads in Its Rush to Build New Ones.

NOW GOING TO PIECES

Demands for Good Roads From All Sections of the County—Applications for Eighty-Five Miles Filed—Present Roads Have Been Sadly Neglected.

(By a Special Correspondent.)

Somerville, April 27—The Somerset County Board of Chosen Freeholders is not living on "Easy street" as far as the stone road question is concerned at any rate. The fact that applications for more than eighty-five miles of stone roads have already been filed is only a phase of the trouble, for it is said on the very best of authority that the roads already built are not panning out as well as was expected. It is rumored that many hundreds of dollars will be needed to repair these roads, which are said to be in deplorable condition, considering the fact that it was only a short time ago that they were built. This is a condition of affairs that the board has to grapple with that is even more disturbing than the continual receipt of new applications for roads.

It is believed that this bad condition is due more to the method of construction than anything else. But eight inches of crushed stone were used and it is contended by experts that on Somerset soil nothing less than ten or twelve inches will answer. There is little doubt but that the latter would make a much more durable road, but doubtless the deterioration is due as much to lack of care as to faulty construction. It is said that this has been an experience common wherever stone roads have been built.

Now it is up to the Freeholders to look into this sad state of affairs. Unless this be done at once the greater part of the money already expended on stone roads will go to waste. Macadam roads require much care and supervision. This has been found to be a fact wherever they have been built.

But even after the board has cleaned up all the roads already constructed its troubles will not be at an end. Constant applications are being received and should the board build roads at the same rate that it has been doing it will take the whole of twelve years to complete the roads already applied for. At almost every meeting a delegation of taxpayers appears, urging the improvement of this or that road, and the board is thus kept in hot water all the time. Director Logan, whose ability as a speech maker consists solely in the statement, "I don't see how we can afford it, I don't see how we can afford it," loomed up as a black cloud against the hopeful ones, who believe in good roads and are willing to sacrifice something for the purpose of placing the county among the topnotchers along the line of this most worthy way of improvement. Improved roads attract the wealthy city people, who year by year are more than ever leaving the crowded cities and building homes in the country. For an instance of what good roads have done for Somerset county one has but to look at Bernardsville, where the palatial residences of millionaires have been erected rapidly one after another. The farmers in that section were enabled to sell their lands at fabulous prices to the wealthy people, who, attracted by the advantages of the roads and healthful climate of Bankers Mountain, wanted to build palaces there for country homes.

Below is a list of roads already applied for in Somerset county and their estimated cost:

Basking Ridge and Blazier's Corner, 3 miles, $13,500; Union avenue, Somerville to Raritan, 2 miles, $10,260; New Brunswick and Franklin Park, 2 miles, $13,062; Franklin Park and Kingston, 3 miles, $17,500; Plainfield and Morristown, 2 miles, $14,250; Dead River and Liberty Corner, 3 miles, $14,250; Rocky Hill and Mercer county line, 1 mile, $6,813; Stoutsburg and Plainville, 4 miles, $26,023; Basking Ridge and VanDoren Mills, 2 miles, $11,875; Woods Tavern and Neshanic, 6 miles, $35,650; Somerville and Wagoner's Corner, 1 mile, $4,750; Franklin Park and Middlebush, 5 miles, $23,750; Labaw's Corner and

GOLFERS OUT AT HILLSIDE

MUCH INTEREST TAKEN IN PLAY FOR GOLF COMMITTEE CUP.

Through a Misunderstanding the Standing Was Changed—C. Westley Abbott Low Man.

The delightful weather of Saturday attracted a large number of enthusiasts to the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course. While only a comparatively small number contested for the Golf Committee cup there were many more out enjoying the game. The contest for the cup is already attracting much attention and the fact that several players have already have scored points predicts a lively competition before the close of the season. There has been a change in the standing for the cup, Howard Wright being obliged to lose the five and one half points he made this season. This is through a misunderstanding and Mr. Wright accepts the change cheerfully.

Saturday C. Westley Abbott won first honors and H. W. Beebe won the next two points, while H. R. Stockton and Dudley H. Barrows divided the one remaining point between them. Augustus R. Fisk now leads for the cup with four points, while H. R. Stockton and C. Westley Abbott are tied with three points each for second honors.

The scores for the Golf Committee cup are as follows:

	Gross	Hand.	Net
C. Westley Abbott	80	6	74
H. W. Beebe	89	10	79
H. R. Stockton	87	6	81
Dudley H. Barrows	87	6	81

RESCUED HIS HORSES BUT BURNED HIMSELF

William Emmons Injured in Fire That Destroyed His Barn Last Night.

LOSS AMOUNTS TO $500

NOBODY SEEMS TO KNOW HOW THE FIRE ORIGINATED.

Believed to be the Work of An Incendiary—A Neighbor Saw It First—The Building and Its Contents Were Insured.

The fire department of the borough was called out last night at 11:30 o'clock to extinguish a blaze of mysterious origin in the barn of William Emmons. The barn was located in the rear of his house on Coddington and Watchung avenues. The alarm came from box 143, Grandview avenue and Somerset street.

No one seems to know how the blaze started. Mrs. Charles Wyckoff, of Stone and Dupont streets, got up at 11:30 to attend to a sick child when she happened to be looking out of the window and saw the barn, two blocks away, suddenly blaze up. She hurried to the stables of Stonewall Jackson where she spread the alarm to some men sleeping there and they turned in the alarm.

The barn was destroyed. There were two gray horses in the structure but Mr. Emmons was able to save them although he was burned severely about the face and hands while doing so. A large amount of hay had just been put in the loft. It and the building were insured. Several sets of harness were lost. Loss, $500 approximately.

The barn was almost adjoining the stable of Augustus Mobus and the fact that the wind was blowing from the east threatened that with destruction. Seeing that the first barn was doomed, Chief Stahl directed his men to bend all their efforts saving other property.

The barn will probably be rebuilt. It is believed that the fire was of incendiary origin.

Stored in the barn were some tools belonging to the borough, which were used in working on the streets and a large quantity of rope which measured about 400 feet. The loss to the borough is about $100.

The firemen had two thousand feet of hose stretched owing to the great distance between hydrants. A Siamese joint was attached to the end of a long stretch and a hose from Warren and another from the West End Company was attached and two streams were thus thrown upon the blazing structure continuously.

MRS. LOVE'S DEATH.

Wife of a Borough Official Passed Away Last Last Evening—Lived Here Many Years.

After several months' illness Mrs. Helen Leslie Love, wife of Andrew Love, president of the North Plainfield Board of Health, passed away last evening at about 10:30 o'clock at her home on Duer street. The end came quietly. Death was caused by heart failure superinduced by other ailments.

Born in Scotland she came to this country when she was a young woman and married Andrew Love. The marriage was solemnized by the late Rev. Dr. Robert Lowry, of this city. The wedding was performed in New York City.

For almost a year Mrs. Love had been in declining health but she still remained active until a short while ago when she took a severe cold which gradually developed into a more serious illness. She was seventy-one years of age and was a member and faithful attendant at the First Baptist church.

She is survived by her husband and four children, all of whom reside in this city. They are: Andrew Arthur, Jr.; James L., Robert and Margaret C. Love. The funeral arrangements have been partially completed and the services over the remains will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The interment will be in Hillside cemetery.

Stopped Milk Distribution.

Patrolman Charles Flynn accomplished a plucky capture of a runaway horse on East Front street, this morning. The animal belonged to F. C. Phillips, the Watchung milk dealer, and was working its way along at full gallop distributing milk cans as it went. The officer caught it by the bridle and although dragged a short distance stopped the horse before any damage resulted.

ATTACKED ON LONELY ROAD

ATTEMPTED HOLDUP OF JOHN BENNER, OF CRANFORD, ON TERRILL ROAD.

Ordered His Hands Up and Grabbed His Watch—Escaped After Struggle.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, April 27—Following on the heels of the daring hold-up on Front street near Terrill road, Friday evening, when three Plainfield men encountered a highwayman, another took place Saturday night almost in the same vicinity.

John Benner, of Cranford, was walking along Terrill road intending to take the trolley, when two men suddenly sprang into view and ordered him to throw up his hands. Before he could comply, one of the strangers grabbed for his watch but Benner put up a struggle and managed to escape. He returned to his father's home on South avenue and summoned assistance. A search was made in the vicinity but no trace of the highwaymen was discovered. Bennet's watch chain was found on the ground where it had been torn off during the excitement.

In the opinion of the local authorities the hold-ups are the work of Italians who reside in this section. A close watch will be kept on the unfrequented thoroughfares in the future.

SAFE WORKS' GOOD GAME

DEFEATED DUNELLEN'S NINE BY THE SCORE OF 8 TO 1.

Good Pitching by Both Sides, But Safe Works Field Was Much Superior.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, April 27—The team from the Manganese Steel Safe Company, of Plainfield opened the season with the locals Saturday afternoon and defeated them by the score of 8 to 1.

Bradley proved a stumbling block and the locals were unable to find him. Ettinger pitched a splendid game for Dunellen, but his support was, at times extremely ragged. The infield for the Safe Works was an iron clad proposition and fielded with but two errors. Dunellen's infield lacked two of their best men and the work was therefore not of the best. Giddes, in center field for the locals, made two hair raising catches for which he received much applause.

Allen's throwing to bases was fine for the visitors, only two bases being stolen on him during the game. Brown's throwing was away off. Lack of team work was apparent in the local boys playing, as was also a tendency to throw wild.

The line up:

Dunellen—Herlich, lf; Giddes, cf; Smith, 3b; Brown, c; Giles, ss; Smalley, rf; Ayres, 2b; Ben. Ettinger, 1b; J. Ettinger, p. Safe Works—Jackson, Gaston, lf; Fish, cf; Sigford, 3b; Allen, c; Enright, ss.; Coyne, Simmons, rf; Moore, 2b; Keene, 1b; Bradley p.

Safe Works	0	1	2	4	0	0	1	0	x	—8

Umpires, Mr. Messeroll and Mr. Creedon; struck out, by Ettinger, 11; by Bradley, 14; bases on balls, Ettinger, 3; Bradley, 6; earned runs, Safe Works, 4; Dunellen, 2; base hits, B. Ettinger, Ayres.

FUNERAL RITES FOR LATE ADAM DEALAMAN

Dunellen's Postmaster Laid at Rest With Many Friends to Mourn His Lose.

CHURCH SERVICE HELD

MASONS CONDUCTED THE FINAL SERVICES AT THE GRAVE.

Impressive Services Held at Dunellen Presbyterian Church Yesterday Afternoon—Fraternal Orders Largely Represented.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, April 27—Marked by an elaborate church service and ritualistic honors, all that was mortal of the late Adam Dealaman was consigned to its last resting place, yesterday afternoon. Sorrowing relatives and friends in large numbers gathered in the Presbyterian church where the obsequies were held and the remains were afterward followed to the grave by delegations from the fraternal orders to which he belonged. Among them were Anchor Lodge, F. and A. M., of Plainfield, William G. Holton Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., and Court Dunellen, I. O. F., of Dunellen.

Rev. N. J. Sproul was directly in charge and devoted some time to eulogistic remarks, in which he dwelt upon the Christian fortitude of the departed and the calm manner in which he awaited the end. He was followed by Rev. S. K. Doolittle who read scripture and Rev. A. F. Todd who offered prayer. During the service the Masonic quartette from Anchor Lodge composed by William Jeffery, Elmer D. Cutting, William N. Runyon and R. Wilson Derby rendered "Pass Me Not, O Gentle Saviour," "Nearer My God" and "Saved By Grace."

After being taken from the church, the body was escorted to Hillside cemetery where the Masonic ceremony was conducted by Anchor Lodge in charge of Worshipful Master Lewis I. VanAlstyne. The casket was borne by Blanchard Randolph, A. N. Randolph, Robert Giddes, Frank Wynkoop, Peter Emmons and Theodore Day.

DENOUNCED SUNDAY GAMES.

Rev. Dr. Schenck Expressed Himself on the Sabbath Observance.

In response to a request from the General Synod, of the Reformed church, Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, delivered an intensely interesting sermon yesterday morning on the subject of Sabbath observance. He took for his text, "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy."

In the course of his remarks the pastor vigorously denounced the publication and encouragement of the Sunday newspaper, unnecessary Sunday travel, Sunday visiting, the playing of golf and baseball and other games on the Lord's Day. He expressed his unqualified disapproval of these things, as well as all forms of Sabbath desecration.

Kind Word for Local Agent.

The following interesting item appears in this month's issue of The Railroad Employe: "One of the hustling young passenger men connected with the New Jersey Central is George A. Ballentyne, of the Plainfield office. Mr. Ballentyne is a young man of pleasing address and a hustler, who will some day make his mark in the service of the corporation he at present so faithfully serves."

Switching Tower at Westfield.

The New Jersey Central has just ordered a switching tower erected at the Central avenue crossing, Westfield. The operator in the tower will handle the gates and switches through a compressed air system and will give all orders to trains passing east and west. HOPES GATHERED IN BY COLORED PLAYERS

Cuban Giants Took Y. M. A. Nine Into Camp by the Score of 8 to 7.

MUCH LOOSE PLAYING

CLEVER FIELDING BY COLORED MEN WAS AN IMPORTANT FACTOR.

Neither Hewitt Nor Davis Was Very Effective—Misplays and Bungles Marked Hope's Fielding—200 People Watched Game.

Demoralization seemed to have invaded the camp of the Hope Y. M. A. baseball team, Saturday, when it went up against the Cuban Giants. The sable players defeated the West Enders by a score of 8 to 7 in a game that was marked by looseness. Something like 200 people witnessed the contest.

Hewitt was in the box for the Hopes and Davis did the twirling for the Cuban Giants. The former was in poor shape and the rest of the team seemed to pattern after him. In the early innings misplays and bungles were frequent with Dalley and Hardfelder outdoing the others. Stout, the Hope's new center fielder, did some clever base stealing that was meritorious and Shortman showed up well.

The Giants' battery wasn't anything exceptional but the field work was fine. A feature of the game was a triple play made by Second Baseman Johnson in the fourth inning. Davis managed to hold the opposing batsmen down until the sixth inning and after that they landed on him regularly.

The two teams lined up as follows: Cuban Giants—Nelson, c; Moore, 1b; Britton, lf; McClain, 3b; Davis, p; Johnson, 2b; Hatchett, rf; Simmons, ss; Hopkins, rf. Hope—Dalley, 1b; Martin, 2b; Shortman, ss; Howell, 3b; Hewitt, p; Hardfelder, c; Stout, cf; Gordon, lf; Evans, rf. The score by innings was,

Cuban Giants	0	0	0	2	1	5	0	0	0	—8
Hope Y. M. A.	0	0	0	0	0	2	0	1	4	—7

WARREN'S NEW HOME.

Purchased Lot at Watchung and Fairview Avenues for Warren Chapel's New Site.

Decisive steps have just been taken by a recently appointed committee towards securing a new commodious place of worship for the members of Warren chapel. Councilman Robert Clark, Jr., of the borough, has sold his lot corner of Watchung and Fairview avenues, to Warren chapel and a handsome stone church and Sunday-school will be erected thereon at a cost of between $12,000 and $15,000.

This lot just purchased is an ideal one and the location could not be improved upon. When the edifice is erected the members of Warren chapel will have a place to be proud of and it will meet the growing needs of this thriving congregation.

Moffett has exchanged his property corner of Duer street and Lincoln place, consisting of the grocery store and dwelling as well as the dwelling adjoining, with Levi Douglass Darby for a farm in Fanwood township and a hub factory in Rahway. The celebrated Sorosis shoe for men and women fit the feet comfortably, always look well and it does not cost an exorbitant price to own a pair of them. John H. Doane, of West Front street, is the exclusive agent and he carries a complete stock of these goods.

Smalley Brothers, of North avenue, are the only dealers in town who have a delivery system the acme of perfection. Orders are received and filled in the shortest possible time and they are delivered promptly. Another thing is that their meats are the best that can be procured.

W. W. Dunn, the Park grocer, makes a specialty this time of the year of vegetables. Due Notice is Served.

Due notice is hereby served on the public generally that DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is the only salve on the market that is made from the pure, unadulterated witch hazel. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve has cured thousands of cases of piles that would not yield to any other treatment, and this fact has brought out many worthless counterfeits. Those persons who get the genuine DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve are never disappointed, because it cures. L. W. Randolph.

THEATRICAL.

The seventy-seventh performance of "The Earl of Pawtucket" at the Manhattan Theatre Saturday night, April 18, closed the largest week in the history of the play. Is marked one of the greatest weeks ever known to the theatre, and decided Managers Harrison Grey Fiske and Kirke La Shelle as to the wisdom of continuing the play at its present quarters for months to come. The mere announcement of this fact has given the advance sale of seats a new impetus, and the public has made requisition as far as four weeks in advance, which is the limit for the takings in reserve. So quickly has the reputation of the play spread and so pronounced has been the verdict that its equal as a comedy has not been seen in New York for a decade that now amusement-goers whether belonging to the metropolis or to other cities or towns, recognizes as a happy necessity a visit to the Manhattan Theatre during a stay in New York. The matinees have become extraordinarily popular, the Wednesday afternoon performance having become a favorite with family parties residing in suburban districts.

The great patronage which has been bestowed on "Mr. Blue Beard" at the Knickerbocker Theatre in New York since its premiere in January, is the most effective and sincere public endorsement that any theatrical entertainment has ever received in this country, for none other has ever scored such an extraordinary record of attendance. At every performance it has been presented to nearly 2,000 people, and the capacity of the house. No higher commendation could possibly be accorded it, for it represents the verdict of fully 160,000 persons to date—people who recommend it to all their friends as a delightful entertainment, teaming with fun, music and novelty. "Mr. Blue Beard," notwithstanding its tremendous success in New York, is nearing the end of its run. As soon as warm weather sets in, although it will undoubtedly still be playing to the capacity of the Knickerbocker Theatre, Klaw & Erlanger will close its engagement, as they did "Ben-Hur" and "The Sleeping Beauty and the Beast" in the very height of their successes. This firm has always been opposed to continuing runs of attractions wherein hundreds of people are employed into the heated term because of the great strain on the company in giving performances in hot weather on a crowded stage.

Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

Largest Burial Parks in the State.

Transportation Facilities superior to those of any other cemetery, as to number of trains, railroad fare, time and distance.

These New Cemeteries, now being developed on the modern park plan, are attracting universal attention.

By Reason of Location Alone they are destined, in a very short time, to become the best-known Cemeteries in the country and, with their natural advantages, the most beautiful and desirable in which to purchase lots.

They are Accessible from every quarter and within easy reach of over 4,000,000 people, and, considering the steady and rapidly increasing growth of Greater New York and its tributary cities and towns, it is only the question of a short time before plots in Rosedale and Linden Park will equal in value those of our most noted cemeteries.

Popular Favor has already been shown to a marked degree in the sale of lots, several hundred having been sold to residents in Elizabeth, Linden, Rahway, Cranford, Jersey City, Orange, Paterson, Westfield, Newark and New York City, and a large number of interments have been made.

In the Days of Happiness we do not know what is to befall us or when the inevitable will occur; therefore, it is a wiser precaution to make provision for a final resting place during health and life than to force the painful duty on one's friends or relatives after death. A place of burial will be needed sooner or later by every one, and no one should neglect selecting a suitable and proper place until future postponement is impossible.

Linden Lodge is the largest, most modern and best equipped Cemetery Lodge in the country, and is provided with every requisite for the comfort and convenience of visitors who come to inspect the properties.

CUBANS OPPOSE TAX

Havana Threatens and Drug Stores Closed In Protest.

BIG DEMONSTRATION IN MATANZAS.

In That Province the Tax Has Been Placed Upon Necessities, and the Revolt Has the Backing of the Radical Press.

HAVANA, April 27.—Protests are being made throughout the entire island against the taxes imposed by the newly created provincial governments. The drug stores of Havana and its suburbs almost without exception are closed in protest against the stamp tax of 2 cents on every package of patent medicine sold. The druggists, following the example of the theater managers, have sought to have this tax rescinded, but the provincial council has refused their request.

It is almost impossible to procure medicine in Havana except at the free municipal dispensaries, of which there is one in every ward. Many of the druggists declare they are ready to remain closed until General Nunez, civil governor of Havana, or President Palma vetoes the tax.

General Nunez says that he approves of these taxes, which have been imposed where they were least burdensome—namely, upon amusements, gambling and the sale of patent medicines.

A big demonstration was held in the plaza at Matanzas last evening to protest against the imposition of these taxes in Matanzas province. Here the taxes are upon certain articles of necessity, and they are declared to be contrary to the purpose of the new provincial law. Some of the radical opposition newspapers are advocating the abolishment of the provincial governments.

Paris' Welcome to King Edward.

PARIS, April 27.—Elaborate arrangements are being carried out rapidly for the welcoming here of King Edward, who is expected to arrive Friday at 3 p. m. They are on a scale of truly royal splendor. The fetes will follow those held at the time of the visit to Paris of the czar of Russia and will include a number of events affording opportunities for brilliant spectacular effects. Government architects have provided a plan for the decoration of the streets by day and for illuminations by night. Private residents and shopkeepers have contributed large sums of money toward transforming the avenues and boulevards of the city into masses of color with floral arches, Venetian masts and loopings of flowers. A large force of troops is being assembled to add to the military pageantry of the event.

Vanderbilt-Rutherfurd Nuptials.

LONDON, April 27.—William K. Vanderbilt was quietly married here to Mrs. Lewis M. Rutherfurd. The bride and groom left at once for France, where they probably will remain for some time. Only eight persons, including Mrs. Rutherfurd and Mr. Vanderbilt, were present when the ceremony was performed. The arrangements by which the wedding was kept secret were most elaborate and cautious, and they were not relaxed even at the last moment. The wedding party entered the church through the vicarage and departed from the rear entrance.

Probable Bishop of Buffalo.

ROME, April 27.—The cardinals of the congregation of the propaganda have been informed that a meeting of the congregation will be held May 4 to choose a bishop of Buffalo. According to Cardinal Martinelli's reports on the subject, the Rev. Father Colton, rector of St. Stephen's church, New York, and the Very Rev. Michael P. Conmery, vicar general of Buffalo, have the best chances for the appointment, which, however, probably will go to Father Colton.

Yellow Dog Bites General Corbin.

ST. LOUIS, April 27.—While Major General Corbin was inspecting the world's fair grounds alone he was bitten in the leg by a common yellow dog, which persistently renewed the attack in spite of General Corbin's protests. Finally, outrunning the animal, the general reached the Emergency hospital, where Dr. Moore cauterized the wound, assuring General Corbin that it would not prove serious.

Miners Agree to Call Off Strike.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., April 27.—Work will be resumed at the colliery of the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal company at Sugar Notch and at the Baltimore colliery of the Delaware and Hudson company. Both mines have been idle for a few days on account of a strike. The officials and the miners came together and adjusted their differences in an amicable manner, and the several hundred hands agreed to return.

Missing New Yorker Found.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., April 27.—David H. Morton, a clerk in the office of Francis R. Master & Co., New York, who mysteriously disappeared on April 16, has been found in a house near here, where he secured lodging. His mind appears to be affected, and he is greatly exhausted, having, as he says, traveled here from New York on foot.

Waterville Has $10,000 Fire.

WORCESTER, Mass., April 27.—A fire destroyed the dry house of E. Murdock & Co.'s pail and tub factory at Waterville. The loss is estimated at $10,000, partly covered by insurance.

Boston Fireman Shot by Woman.

BOSTON, April 27.—Joseph A. Kelley, a lieutenant of engine No. 3, Boston fire department, was fatally shot by Mrs. Isabella Viola in defending her husband from Kelley's assaults.

ROOSEVELT'S TOUR.

President Passes a Quiet Sunday In Grand Island, Neb.

COWBOYS FORMED AS AN ESCORT.

Welcomed In Three States—Viewed Bucking Broncbos—Cavalry Salute With Drawn Sabers—Band Plays "Hail to the Chief!"

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., April 27.—President Roosevelt's Sunday in Grand Island was quiet. The president attended St. Stephen's Episcopal church in the morning. The sermon was preached by the rector, Rev. Louis A. Arthur. In the afternoon the president went for a horseback ride, accompanied by Senator Dietrich. They rode out about fifteen miles to Taylor's sheep ranch and then around to the Soldiers' home, where the president greeted the veterans.

The day was extremely disagreeable on account of a high wind, which blew clouds of dust in every direction. In order that the president and his party might be free from dust clouds while in the train the fire department stretched a hose around the cars and kept the ground sprinkled. The president made a short address before starting for Hastings. He will reach Omaha during the day and will spend the night there.

During Friday and Saturday the president traveled in three states and made a number of addresses both from the rear platform of his car and from stands erected for the purpose. A unique demonstration and the one that undoubtedly pleased the president most was the cowboy show at Edgemont, S. D.

After the president had made an address the boys began riding the bucking horses, and only horses that would buck were ridden. The only disappointment of the day was the failure of the prize bucking horse of that section to perform.

At the close of the exercises the cowboys formed an escort to the train, and after it had started they dashed alongside the president's car, and he shook hands with many of them from the window.

The president was welcomed at Crawford, Neb., by the Eighth cavalry, which saluted him with drawn sabers, while the regimental band played "Hail to the Chief!" He spoke a few words of greeting to the soldiers and also briefly addressed the large crowd that gathered about his car. Stops were also made at Gillette and Moorcroft, Wyo., and Ardmore, S. D. At each place the president spoke briefly.

W. W. Heffelfinger, a Yale athlete who was offered the place on the civil service commission made vacant by the retirement of Mr. Garfield, has informed the president that he will be unable to accept the offer.

Silver's Rise Excites Mexico.

CITY OF MEXICO, April 27.—The sudden rise in silver has created much interest and excitement. New York exchange has dropped in three days 31 points, from 151 to 120 premium, and drafts were settled at the latter figures. Bankers believe that the gold premium will go still lower. Local opinion attributes the rise in silver to various causes—to anticipations of war in the Balkans and over Manchuria and to pending negotiations for giving silver a more stable exchangeable value. The continual and violent fluctuations in the white metal cause much disturbance to business.

Who Will Be Tyner's Successor?

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Postmaster General Payne had a talk with Attorney General Knox about a suitable man to put in charge of the legal division of the post office department. As General Tyner, the assistant attorney general, has been removed and Mr. Christiancy, the officer temporarily in charge, is to remain away pending the investigation, it becomes imperative to have a new man in the place, at least temporarily. The question of the selection of some one to succeed General Tyner permanently will be taken up by Postmaster General Payne very soon.

Training Ship Hartford Arrives.

NEW YORK, April 27.—The United States training ship Hartford has arrived in port from Havana. The Hartford left Mobile March 26 for Pensacola, stayed in that port seventeen days and sailed for Havana, where she stopped four days. The Hartford will go to the navy yard, Brooklyn, thence to Gardiner's bay on May 5, where she will spend the summer for practice. The Hartford has a crew of 500 men all told.

American Wheat Disliked.

BERLIN, April 27.—Importers of American wheat are complaining of the quality of recent arrivals and are blaming the inadequacy of the American inspection. The importers say the New York inspection is better than that of Philadelphia and Baltimore, while that of Newport News is the worst. Wheat appearing to the inspectors to be of good quality develops heat during the voyage and is ruined.

Spanish Republicans Ahead.

MADRID, April 27.—The general elections are reported to have resulted favorably to the Republicans, who obtained victories in Madrid, Barcelona, Valencia and other large towns. Slight rioting occurred at Barcelona, Bilbao, Granada and elsewhere. At Barcelona several persons were wounded by revolver shots.

Child Burned In a Bonfire.

URGENT CONFERENCE

Russian Ambassador and Secretary Hay Meet Secretly.

CZAR'S OFFICIALS ASKED TO EXPLAIN

Our Representative at St. Petersburg to Present Note of Inquiry and Protest Regarding Manchurian Demand.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Russia's demands in Manchuria and their effect on American interests were the subject of a conference between Secretary Hay and Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, which occurred at Secretary Hay's house and lasted for nearly an hour. It is denied that the ambassador brought official advices from his government, but the fact that he is still suffering from an attack of lumbago which has confined him to the embassy for several weeks is evidence of the urgency of the call.

Steps have already been taken by the state department to ascertain the true inwardness of Russia's latest move. Ambassador McCormick at St. Petersburg has been instructed by cable to present to the Russian foreign office a note which while diplomatically known as one of inquiry is in substance a strong protest against Russia's demands. Cabled instructions also have been sent to Minister Conger at Peking to express to the Chinese authorities the dissatisfaction of the United States with Russia's demands and our hope that China will not accede to them. No answers have yet been received to either note, though unofficial assurances are still reaching the department that American interests in Manchuria will be protected.

In the department's note which Ambassador McCormick probably has presented already Russia's attention is called to the assurances which repeatedly have been given the United States relative to the preservation of the integrity of China and the continuance of the open door policy. Russia also is reminded of the severe blow to American trade which must follow the granting of the first two demands, that no more ports or towns in Manchuria be opened and that no additional foreign consuls be admitted.

Appreciating the fact that the interests of this country in Manchuria are those of trade and not territory, Russia, it is stated, is disposed to make certain trade concessions to the United States in Manchuria at the proper time.

RUSSIA PROFESSES SURPRISE.

They Say Americans Are Being Deceived by Japan.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 27.—Officials of the foreign office express intense surprise at the report that American public opinion was disturbed by the news regarding Manchuria. They declare the people of the United States were being misled by Japan and say that the improvements which are in progress in Manchuria certainly would benefit international commerce.

Russia desires an assurance that China will maintain a sufficient police force to repress local disorders, which are continuous throughout Manchuria, especially in the mountains. The detachments of Russian troops remaining in the country have no object but the maintenance of order locally until China is able to guarantee that order will be maintained.

The foreign office adds that the number of railroad guards ultimately will not exceed 20,000 unless under exceptional circumstances.

Japan Unites Against Russia.

YOKOHAMA, April 27.—Even those newspapers which previously have been moderate in tone now join in the opinion that the time has arrived for all powers interested in the integrity of China, her development and trade opportunities there, to show a firm front to Russia in the matter of her demands upon Manchuria.

Santo Domingo Revolution.

SANTO DOMINGO, April 27.—The government garrisons at Azua de Compostela, Bani and San Cristobal have joined the revolutionary movement, and the garrison at Barahona is expected to follow their example. The revolutionary gunboat Independencia has proceeded to San Pedro de Macoris for the purpose of obliging that port to surrender. It is rumored here that President Vasquez and his followers are in the northern part of the island. The misery is very great here.

Steel Lake Freighter Launched.

CHICAGO, April 27.—The steamer Charles M. Warner, built for the United States Transportation company of Syracuse, N. Y., by the Chicago Shipbuilding company at a cost of $250,000, has been launched. The Warner is one of the twelve steel freight steamers, six of which have been built. The steamer is 390 feet long. Its capacity is 5,500 tons of ore, 6,000 tons of coal and 200,000 bushels of grain.

Jewelry Clerk a Defaulter.

NEW YORK, April 27.—William J. Pick, a jewelry stock clerk, was arrested charged with stealing $20,000 worth of jewelry from his employers during the past four years. Pick's defalcations were discovered recently when he absented himself from the office, and he and his wife were traced to Pittsburg. Pick consented to return to New York.

Loubet's Farewell to Algeria.

BONA, Algeria, April 27.—President Loubet ended his visit to Algeria with a banquet at the municipality of Bona, after which he embarked on the French cruiser Jeanne d'Arc amid the enthusiastic ovations of the populace and steamed away in the direction of Tunis.

SOMERSET'S GOOD ROADS.

There is one peculiarity about a macadam road. It will not remain in good condition unless it is cared for. Therein it differs from those bottomless pits, called roads by courtesy, which are to be found in the rural districts of New Jersey. It costs money to build good macadam roads and it is economy to build them well. Even the best of them require frequent attention. If the construction happens to be cheap, more attention and more expense is required to keep the road in proper condition. Thus it is that the cheaper construction proves the more expensive in the end.

During the last few years, Somerset county has been building a number of good roads. After seeing Union and other neighboring counties grow and prosper with the aid of good roads, the Freeholders of Somerset awoke to the fact that they must join in the campaign or be left hopelessly behind. Somehow Somerset county has a habit of waiting until the last moment before it sees a good thing.

In their anxiety to rush the good work along, the Freeholders have apparently forgotten the fact that good roads have to be taken care of. Besides building cheap roads, they expected the roads to "stay put" without the expenditure of any more funds. When a road was completed, the Freeholders turned their attention to the next and the newcomer had to shift for itself as best it could. The foolishness of this policy is beginning to come home to the Somerset people.

In another column will be found some interesting facts concerning Somerset's good roads and their neglect as prepared by The Daily Press' special correspondent who is fully acquainted with the facts. They only go to show the antiquated and bungling methods of government over in Somerset county.

WORK TO DO.

With the knowledge that the Borough Board of Health was continually watching for any attempt to empty sewerage into Green brook and had several times called the attention of the City Board to the refuse from the gas works which was allowed to flow into the brook while repairs were being made at the works, the news, as exclusively told in Saturday's Daily Press, that there were drains emptying into Stony brook was a great surprise.

There can be no denying the facts, however. They have been investigated and there is no doubt about them. It now behooves the Borough Board to act without delay and to remedy the existing conditions as fast as possible. The fact that there are two of these drains make it seem quite possible that there should be still others and the Borough Board should make every possible effort to thoroughly investigate the neighborhood of that brook to eliminate any others that may exist.

Both of these drains were so covered up that it was only by accident that they were discovered. That they are a direct menace to the health of that quarter of the borough everyone will have to admit. With the installation of sewers, the possibility of such a state of affairs would cease to exist. The sooner the sewers can come, the better it will be for the community.

There has been considerable discussion as to the location for the new High School as selected by the City Board of Education. Objection has been found to it on the ground that it is not near enough to the geographical centre of the city, particularly after the city includes that portion of the community known as the borough. Wherever the board had decided the new school should go, there was sure to be some objection. Taking into consideration the cheap cost, the advantages and conveniences, it is reasonable to believe that the board would have a hard time in finding a more suitable site.

It can be authoritatively stated that the city auditor's report will not be filed away until the public knows its contents. It will be presented at the next Common Council meeting. There is nothing sensational in it and the city's accounts are correct but it contains some interesting recommendations which the public may care to read.

There has been a slight lull in the activity of the Board Trade of late but it is sincerely to be hoped that the members are not weary of well doing already. A live Board of Trade can do great things for a city and while Plainfield is on the boom, the Board of Trade has a large field in which to exercise its abilities.

While a brick pavement would do away with much of the mud at the trolley transfer station, the only proper way to adjust the troubles there is to build a transfer station on private property.

There are few churches of its size which can boast of the showing made by the Congregational church. There's not a penny of indebtedness of any kind and a balance still remains in the treasury.

This term of court sees an unusually large number of offenders before the Somerset county court. What can have happened in Somerset to bring about such a state of affairs.

SUBURBAN NEWS

A Department Devoted to the Minor Events in Greater Plainfield's Suburbs by Our Own Correspondents.

DUNELLEN.

An action has just been decided upon which will probably start one of the largest real estate booms in the history of this town. Stillman Sutphen, of New York, who owns a very large tract of land on what is known as South avenue, has sent word to Surveyor Alex. Vars to survey his property, preparatory to having it laid out in building lots. The land extends from New Market road or Washington avenue to Plainfield. There was formerly a road through the property but only a small part of it is now in use. The new road will extend straight into the heart of Plainfield and will lighten travel on North avenue. The property will be excellent for building purposes as the land is high, dry and fertile. The movement will prove of immense benefit to Dunellen as a superior class of houses will be put up.

The Watchung A. C. received its new suits Saturday. They are of dark grey with the name in white across the chest. The team will play the Triangle Club, of New Brunswick, on Saturday.

While watching the ball game between the local team and the Safe Works on Saturday, Miss Elsie Peters was struck in the face by a batted ball. She was, luckily, only slightly hurt.

The Dunellen A. C. will meet the Cuban Giants, of Plainfield, on the local diamond next Saturday. The locals will be materially strengthened.

The Ladies' Aid Society disposed of all their home-made cookery at the sale in the W. C. T. U. rooms Saturday at a good profit.

Charles Coriell, of Front street, returned home yesterday from Winchester, West Virginia, where he has been for some time past.

Herbert Richardson, of Stamford, Conn., spent Sunday at the home of James Craig.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bodine entertained out-of-town friends yesterday.

There was a good attendance at services in the Methodist church yesterday.

Walter Vliet and family entertained relatives from Elizabeth yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Craig, of Plainfield, spent Saturday in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Mattox, of Lincoln, are the parents of a baby girl.

Miss Edna Shiverley is ill at her home with diphtheria.

Hudson Wilcox, of Somerville, spent Saturday in town.

NEW MARKET.

The local baseball players defeated their old rivals of the Watchung A. C., of Dunellen, galloping away from them by the score of 11 to 3, Saturday afternoon. Whitley was in excellent form and had the opposing batters guessing all through the game. Moynihan, for the Watchungs, was effective at times but the locals found him for safe singles when they were needed. The score at the beginning of the ninth inning was 5 to 3 when the locals jumped on Moynihan's delivery assisted by errors, for six runs. The locals boys fielded and batted in splendid style while the Watchungs fielding was at times brilliant and again ragged. Peters and Craig played good ball for the Watchungs. The line-up was as follows: New Market—Whitley, p; A. Nelson, c; Dayton, 1b; W. Nelson, 2b; Waglow, ss; Lines, 3b; Piddington, lf; J. Nelson, cf; Ward, rf; Watchung A. C.—H. Moynihan, p; McMann, c; Lake, 1b; Churchill, 2b; Craig, ss; Peters, 3b; Brokaw, lf; M. Moynihan, cf; Gardner, rf.

The young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Morgan is ill at her home with an attack of diphtheria, under care of Dr. Whitford.

Louis Morgan, of this place, has resigned his position in the Pond Tool Works to accept a better one in Pennsylvania.

A large number from here attended the funeral services over the remains of Adam Dealaman at Dunellen yesterday.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

At the close of the morning service at the Baptist church Sunday, a short business meeting was held. The annual report of Treasurer A. D. Beekon was presented. The church letter to the association was also read. The financial report showed a decided deficit and a general discussion was held among the church members regarding the finances. Considerable enthusiasm was displayed and a number of generous subscriptions were pledged which will give the church a more encouraging financial outlook for the coming year.

The local fans were treated to an interesting game of baseball Saturday afternoon when the High School team defeated the Scrubs by a score of 10 to 8. The Scrubs were composed of some of the "has beens" at the game and several of Manager Johnston's colts. For five innings the Scrubs had everything their own way, leading by a score of 7 to 2, but the school boys settled down and turned what appeared certain defeat into victory.

L. VanDyke and family, of Westfield, were the guest yesterday of Mrs. VanDyke's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Nicholl, of Mountain avenue.

Some of the local lovers of the National game journeyed to Rahway yesterday afternoon to see the opening of the Sunday baseball season.

The High School team will go to Plainfield Wednesday afternoon to cross bats with the North Plainfield High School team.

is a never failing sign of a healthy stomach. When the breath is bad the stomach is out of order. There is no remedy in the world equal to Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for curing indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach disorders. Mrs. Mary S. Crick, of White Plains, Ky., writes: "I have been a dyspeptic for years—tried all kinds of remedies but continued to grow worse. By the use of Kodel I began to improve at once, and after taking a few bottles am fully restored in weight, health and strength and can eat whatever I like. WEDDED AT MOUNTAINSIDE

PRETTY CEREMONY AT WHICH MANY PLAINFIELDERS GATHERED.

Miss Mary MacMurray Became the Wife of Louis Geary, of New York.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, April 27—In the presence of many guests from New York, Elizabeth, South Amboy, Plainfield and this place, Miss Mary MacMurray, daughter of Mrs. Jane MacMurray, of Mountainside borough, was united in marriage, Saturday afternoon, to Louis Geary, of New York. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's mother and was one of the prettiest of the season.

Rev. Mr. Banforth, of Westfield, was the officiating clergyman. The bridal party was completed by Miss Belle MacMurray, a sister of the bride, and Dr. Miller, of New York, who acted as best man. The bride was dressed in a becoming gown of white crepe de chine and carried white roses. She was given away by her brother, Hugh MacMurray, of Plainfield, while J. T. MacMurray and Ralph Grote were the ushers.

While the ceremony was taking place, a quartette from the Mendelssohn Glee Club, with which the groom is connected, rendered the Lohengrin wedding march. The innovation was effective while the music was charming.

Following the happy event the guests sat down to an elaborate wedding supper after which Mr. and Mrs. Geary left on a wedding trip. On returning they will reside for the summer at Mrs. MacMurray's home in Mountainside after which they will begin housekeeping in New York. They were remembered with a handsome array of gifts.

New Engine Tested.

The new 500-horse-power compound engine recently installed at the Plainfield electric light station was tested Saturday afternoon and was found to work perfectly and to the satisfaction of all concerned. This makes the second engine of this type and horsepower placed at the station and it will be held in reserve in case the other engine breaks down at any time. The engine will be used for street lighting.

Headquarters for P. A. C.

The barn has been fitted up with gymnasium apparatus, including rings, trapeze, parallel bars and other accoutrements. A fair will be given shortly at the home of one of the members to complete the furnishing of the place.

Former Plainfielder Weds.

Cards have been received in this city announcing the marriage at Colorado Springs, Col., of Miss Alice Bemis, of that place, to Frederick M. P. Taylor, formerly of this city, a son of the late Morgan S. Taylor, of the borough. The ceremony was performed April 23.

To Attend Other Service.

The Christian Endeavor Society of Trinity Reformed church will meet at 7:30 o'clock tonight and after a short service will adjourn to attend the meeting at the First Baptist church to be held in the interest of Miss Sara Curry's fresh air work at Netherwood.

FIRE CAPTAIN KILLED.

Crushed by Falling Wall and Cremated—Loss, $600,000.

COLUMBUS, O., April 27.—Fire destroyed the Brunson and Union Clothing company buildings at High and Long streets and several smaller structures and damaged the Nicholas block an aggregate loss of about $600,000 Daniel Lewis, captain of a fire company was caught under a falling wall while carrying a hose and instantly killed His body was cremated in the ruins.

The fire was attended by many exciting incidents, the most thrilling being the rescue of Philip Nation, a grocer from his apartments on the fourth floor of the Brunson building, where he had been hemmed in by flames.

The fire started in the Brunson building, and its progress was fanned by a brisk wind from the north. This building was occupied on the ground floor by the Walkover Shoe company, Tallmadge Hardware company and Bott Bros.' saloon. The upper floors were occupied mainly as living apartments, the exceptions being the W. C. T. U. rest room and the art studios of Maurice Hague and E. P. Hayden.

The flames after clearing out the Brunson spread to the buildings south. The Union, Courtright and Whatshire buildings were destroyed.

HOLLAND ACCEPTS GIFT.

From Carnegie of $1,500,000 For Peace Tribunal Hall.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Baron Gevers, the minister from the Netherlands, has addressed to Andrew Carnegie the following letter expressive of the Netherland government's thanks for Mr. Carnegie's gift to the international court of arbitration:

"I have the honor to inform you that I have been instructed by cable to express to you the deep felt gratitude and profound admiration of her majesty's government for your munificent benefaction in favor of the permanent court of arbitration at The Hague.

"The Netherland government and the people of Holland, who consider themselves, as it were, the custodians of that great institution of peace which the nations jointly intrusted to their care, are deeply impressed by the high humanitarian sentiments which led you to connect your name in a lasting way with one of the noblest efforts man has ever made—the effort to substitute justice and good will among men for the horrors of war."

A Pony In the White House.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Archie Roosevelt, who is recovering from an attack of measles, had a visitor the other day whose call will do more to restore him to health than all the medicine the doctor can give him. Soon after he began to convalesce he begged to be allowed to see his spotted pony, Algonquin. It was too soon for Archie to leave his room, and Mrs. Roosevelt was compelled to decline the request. Charles, the groom, who looks after Algonquin and who also is a great chum of Archie, thought the matter over and concluded that if Archie wanted to see his pony he should do so. Without confiding his plan to any one he led the pony into the White House and along the corridor into the elevator. When the second floor was reached Charles led the pony to Archie's room and ushered it in. To say that Archie was delighted expresses it mildly, and the pony also seemed to enjoy the visit. This is the first time that a horse has ridden in a White House elevator.

Venezuelan Rebels Victorious.

WILLEMSTAD, Curacao, April 27.—News has reached here that the Venezuelan government Generals Gomez and Ferrer have been routed at El Guapo by revolutionists under the command of General Rolando. Gomez and Ferrer returned to Caracas with many wounded. Gomez owes his escape to the fact that he was well mounted. Forces of the government have also been defeated at Barquisimeto, San Felipe and Moron. Large numbers of wounded government soldiers have reached Valencia. Puerto Cabello and La Guayra. It is reported here that the entire Andes district is in revolt.

New Orleans Journalist Honored.

NEW ORLEANS, April 27.—Armand Capdevielle, editor of La Belle de la Nouvelle Orleans, has received from the French government a brevet of officier d'academie, a title and decoration of crossed palms, with violet ribbons, awarded by the minister of public instruction to Frenchmen or descendants of Frenchmen abroad for useful and meritorious services rendered the mother country. Mr. Capdevielle has been thirty years in active journalism on the oldest French daily newspaper in the United States.

Counterfeiters Arrested In Germany.

BERLIN, April 27.—A band of seven counterfeiters has been arrested at Posen. The counterfeiters imitated various coins and the coupons of government bonds. They also counterfeited foreign coins, including those of the United States, and are said to have had American connections. Direct inquiry to the court at Posen for information and details concerning this American connection brought the reply that the court could not answer the query for several days pending examination of the prisoners.

Gloucester Fishers' Long Trip.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., April 27.—The Gloucester schooners Talisman and Goldenrod, imprisoned all winter in the ice at Bay of Islands, Newfoundland, have arrived in port with cargoes of frozen herring. The schooners made their escape on April 17. They met heavy fields of drifting ice until they reached Cape St. George.

Weather Probabilities.

Fair; warmer; variable winds.

RELIANCE BEHAVES WELL.

Trial Trips Under Ideal Conditions Gave Satisfactory Results.

BRISTOL, R. I., April 27.—The yacht Reliance was taken out for another spin lasting two hours yesterday afternoon, and on the whole she proved, as she did Saturday, a stiff and powerful craft. She was very fast in beating and reaching.

The trial spin was under weather conditions that were almost ideal for a test of spars and canvas. The Reliance has been tried in Narragansett bay and at sea and has not been found wanting. She proved herself a worthy and successful representative of her designer and builder, Captain Nat Herreshoff. According to the judgment of those who saw the trial and are competent to gauge the abilities of modern racing craft, the Reliance is a fast and well balanced yacht, and she will, they say, undoubtedly prove a dangerous opponent to the Constitution and the Columbia.

For the first time in the history of initial trial spins for ninety foot yachts an opportunity was afforded to sail in a light and in a strong breeze, in smooth water and in rough, in windward work, in reaching and in running dead before the wind with spinnaker set. The Reliance proved to be very fast under all these conditions, but notably so when reaching and running.

The ability of the Reliance to "point," or lie close to the wind, was also clearly demonstrated when beating out in a fresh breeze through the narrow channel from Fort Adams, in Newport harbor, to the lightship off Brenton's reef. She not only went about quickly, averaging seventeen seconds from "full to full," but held her headway, and even with her new sails she seemed to lie as close to the wind as either the Columbia or Constitution would have done under like conditions.

Sunday Baseball.

NEW YORK, April 27.—Two games were played yesterday by National league teams. At Chicago the home players defeated Pittsburg by a score of 9 to 6. The attendance was 24,255. At Cincinnati the home team went down before St. Louis by the close score of 5 to 6. Only one American league game was played. This was at St. Louis, with the following result: St. Louis, 8; Chicago, 3.

Pole Vault Record Broken.

DES MOINES, Ia., April 27.—H. Thurman Chapman of Drake university, Des Moines, broke the world's pole vault record at the field meet here, making a vault of 12 feet. The world's record was 11 feet 10¼ inches, held by Clapp of Yale, who has been physical instructor at the Keokuk (Ia.) Y. M. C. A. for two years.

Detroit Bars Sunday Games.

DETROIT, Mich., April 27.—No baseball was played in Detroit yesterday. Owing to vigorous action on the part of ministers and laymen and the possibility of the sheriff enforcing the existing laws Sunday games scheduled for Detroit by the American league have been called off.

Prominent Sportsman Dead.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., April 27.—Eugene McCarthy, a well known business man and one of the most prominent sportsmen of the state, is dead at his home here, aged forty-six years. He was the author of several well known books on hunting and fishing.

Vanderbilt's Horse Second.

PARIS, April 27.—William K. Vanderbilt's Alpha was second in the race for the Prix Poule d'Essai des Poulains at Longchamps.

Good Road's Convention.

ST. LOUIS, April 27.—The national and international good roads convention has convened here for a session of three days. This meeting probably will be the most important since the organization of the association, whose purpose is the betterment of the highways of the country. Large delegations from nearly all the states are present. President W. H. Moore presided at the opening of the convention, and the address of welcome was delivered by Mayor Wells and Governor Dockery. Among the prominent men who will make addresses during the convention are President Roosevelt, General Miles, General Fitz Hugh Lee, Hon. Andrew Pattullo, member of the Canadian parliament; William J. Bryan, United States Senator John W. Daniel of Virginia, Hon. Winston Churchill, Hon. Carter H. Harrison and others.

Has Found Smallpox Germ.

BOSTON, April 27.—The Globe of this city announces that Dr. William Thomas Councilman, the Shattuck professor of pathological anatomy in the Harvard Medical school, has discovered the germ that causes smallpox. The discovery is pronounced by physicians who have been made aware of Dr. Councilman's achievements as one of the really great ones in medical history and the most important made in Boston, rivaling the discovery of ether as an anaesthetic.

Race Riot and Lynching at Thebes.

THEBES, Ill., April 27.—A negro was lynched for attempting to assault a farmer's daughter. A posse took the negro from the police authorities and hanged him to a tree, after which they riddled the body with bullets. The whites then charged down upon a settlement of negroes, and a race riot followed in which many negroes were shot and wounded. The tents in which the negroes lived were burned.

Stanford's Two New Typhoid Cases.

PALO ALTO, Cal., April 27.—But two new cases of typhoid fever have been reported in the past twenty-four hours. The health officers contend that the epidemic has about run its course. The number of cases to date is 131.

FANCY MATERIALS.

From Very Expensive to Simple Muslin All Are Sheer and Dainty.

Oriental satin, Japanese silk and point d'esprit net are very pretty for blouses, and all manner of pretty and expensive trimmings are being used for them. Then there are smart little coffee and theater jackets of net and lace, which effect a really marvelous transformation when required to conceal the defects of shabby evening bodice or blouse.

Many of the new fabrics show a lace effect. For instance, we have colored grass lawns as fine as chiffon. Lace striped silks in new designs show inlet bands of chine silk. Other materials appear to be composed of one strip of ribbon and one of lace, and fine silk foulards have printed lace stripes.

Green muslins are a novelty.

The new muslins fine as lisse, old world mull muslin, clear swiss, hand embroidered and ecru muslins in blue, pink, green and yellow are popular. Old laces attain fabulous prices and are being eagerly sought after by connoisseurs. The more transparent a dress can be made the more smart it will be.

The illustration shows a gown of soft ecru mull having embroidered flounces. The sleeves, hips and top of blouse are shirred. JUDIC CHOLLET.

SUMMER STYLES.

Smart White Costumes—Colored Embroideries on Silk.

For smart costumes cream and ivory white, together with that paler shade of mastic which is barely deeper than old ivory, are to be much adopted, and a little later on soft materials in silk and wool mixtures, such as crepe de chine, crepe de soie, with etamine and eolienne, will be generally worn. Gray was much seen during the winter, though it is quite a spring color, and now only the palest shades are favored, and there are invariably touches of bright color or of black.

Colored embroideries on silk and tasseled ornaments in silk passementerie are extremely popular, but the little separate tassels strewn aimlessly over a gown are things of the past, and only a few of the larger type of tassels are now used.

Handsome fringes are used on the more elaborate gowns, and these are most graceful on a deep pelerine or to border a sack coatee.

Very unique effects are obtained by a combination of panne, face cloth and silk passementerie all in one tone or with the panne just one shade deeper. The passementerie is used as detached medallions, laid on panne and appliqued on the cloth. Skillfully managed, the effect is delightful.

The picture shows a turban of rough red straw suitable for traveling and ordinary wear. JUDIC CHOLLET.

A Brief History of the Grange Organizations

As Given in a Paper Read by George W. Cary. From a Hard Struggle to Brilliant Success.

I SHALL not attempt to go into the details of the organization and development of the Patrons of Husbandry in an exhaustive manner, but rather in a superficial way, to give some ideas concerning the characters of the men who were its founders and of the manner of its development as well as its difficulties through which it has passed. The idea of this order originated in the head of a Minnesota farmer, O. H. Kelly by name.

The seasons of '62 and '63 were exceedingly dry in Minnesota, causing Mr. Kelly to turn his attention to other channels than farming for support. Accordingly, he laid down the shovel and hoe and took up the pen. His articles were received with favor in the newspapers, but he not being in harmony with this work, welcomed an appointment to a clerkship in the department of agriculture at Washington, where he spent the summer of 1864, returning to his Minnesota farm in the spring of 1865. In the fall of 1865 he was recalled to Washington and was appointed to a clerkship, the object of which was by investigation to regain the statistics relative to the agricultural and mineral resources of the south, which had been discontinued during the war. While traveling in the south he was greatly impressed with the lack of harmony which existed between the people of the north and south, and it was with the idea of establishing kindly feelings between the people that the formation of this organization first occurred to him. Mr. Kelly was a mason, and was greatly aided in this work by members of that fraternity. To some of these, as we shall presently see, he made known his plan, also to his niece, Miss C. A. Hall, of Boston, and on a visit to her in the spring of 1866 she proposed that if such an organization was formed women should be admitted to full membership. So we must give to woman the credit of inserting into the organization that feature which makes it preeminent among social organizations.

The following summer Mr. Kelly spent on his Itasca (Minn.) farm, but received an appointment to the post office department in January, 1867.

Thus far no real work had been done upon the order. It had merely been talked about, principally between a Rev. John Trible, Mr. Kelly and Miss Hall. During the following summer, Mr. Kelly made the acquaintance of W. M. Ireland, who was chief clerk of the finance office of the post office department and was also a prominent member of the masonic order.

The idea of the organization was broached to Mr. Ireland and was received with such encouraging effect that Mr. Kelly penciled out a plan for the ritual, which manuscript was forwarded to Miss Hall for her criticism.

During the summer a William Saunders, another mason, was taken into confidence, and from the position which he held in the department of agriculture and from the opportunity which soon came to him of attending a meeting of the United States Pomological society, where he in a quiet way advocated this organization, proved himself a valuable adjunct to those interested, and through his efforts Anson Bartlett, of Madison, O., still another mason, became interested and aided materially in its development.

So far the proposed term to be applied to the local organizations had been "lodges," but Mr. Bartlett objected to this term, as there exists in the minds of some a prejudice against anything under the name of "lodge," and he very wisely suggested that, as this was to be an organization of farmers, some name derived from or applied to the cultivation of the soil would be more appropriate, and suggested "garden" or "vineyard" for these local organizations, and Independent Farmers was the first name which he proposed for the order. From this a general discussion was opened relative to name, and in place of "lodges" such names were suggested as "fields," "farms," "beehives," "gardens," "grove," "arbor," etc., and we might suggest right here that perhaps the term "beehive" would be more appropriate for some of these modern "lodges."

Various names were also proposed for the order, among which were Independent Order of Progressive Farmers, Knights of the Plow, Knights of the Flail, Lords of the Soil, Brethren of the Vine, Temples of Industry, Companions of Labor, etc., etc.

About this time, with a view to ascertaining the views of some of the leading horticulturists in different parts of the country, 300 circulars were gotten out and forwarded to them. The result was some very encouraging replies and several more lively correspondents. At this period of its career, the idea of the founders was to make advancement through the different degrees a matter of study. The passing from one degree to another was to be something parallel with the advancement from one grade to another in school. Several months might perhaps be necessary to gain a thorough knowledge of the studies of one degree. But this idea did not obtain.

In November of this same year, 1867, Bro. Kelly proposed the name of "Lengue of Husbandry" for the order and "granges" instead of "lodges."

The word "grange," which means "farm," was taken from a novel advertised about that time. Anson Bartlett proposed the name of "Patrons of Industry" for the order, upon the receipt of which proposal Mr. Kelly substituted "husbandry" for "industry," thus evolving the terms "Patrons of Husbandry" and "Grange."

So far no organization had been made, but work on the ritual, ceremonies of installations and dedication of halls was progressing, and it was not until December 4, 1867, that the National Grange was organized, with W. M. Ireland as master. On January 7, 1868, a special meeting of this National Grange was called, to which the master and two members responded. Bro. Ireland was instructed to organize a subordinate grange, which was to be a school of instruction under the direct supervision of the National Grange. This grange was to be known as Potomac grange, No. 1, and every member was expected to make himself familiar with every part of the work, so that when called upon he could fill any position.

On the evening of January 8, 1868, the first meeting of this first subordinate grange was held in a room on Ninth street, Washington, D. C. Up to this time the idea of the founders of the order had been to have an order of three degrees, but this now was entirely changed, for a new plan consisting of seven degrees, as we now have it. The seventh degree (Demeter) was taken from an ancient association which once flourished in the east. This idea originated with Mr. McDowell, and he was accordingly accepted as its supreme head, with the title of High Priest of Demeter.

In February Mr. Kelly resigned his position in the post office department and gave his entire time to the completion of the work, and during this month and the next he was engaged in the development of the ritual and to the working up of his subordinate grange, which by this time had increased so there were 30 brothers and sisters present on February 19, and it was at this meeting that a Mr. Boardman received the first two degrees, he being the first person ever regularly initiated in due form in this order.

Mr. Kelly continued in his work until April 3, when, feeling that his work here was accomplished, he started out on his work of organizing new granges, and after buying his ticket to Harrisburg, Pa., he had put $2.50 in his pocket, intending to work his way by organizing granges from Washington to Minnesota. After two vain attempts the first regularly organized grange which ever lived, breathed and had a being, was instituted at Fredonia, N. Y.

Mr. Kelly continued his journey with more or less success, reaching Chicago April 23, and continued, meeting his first failure at Madison, Wis. He reached home about the first of May, and during that year continued in the work of organizing granges in his own state to supplement his usual farm work. The first person ever obligated and instructed in the ritual in Minnesota was Mr. Kelly's eldest daughter, Julia. She also officiated as Pomona in the state grange of Minnesota the first evening that the fifth degree was ever conferred. During the same season, a brother in St. Paul composed two songs for the order and the Miss Hall who was previously mentioned composed others from time to time until the first song book was issued.

Up to the present, the outlook for the order had at times been very dark, but now encouraging letters began to be received and six new granges were organized in January and February, 1869. On February 23 the state grange of Minnesota was organized. April 13, at two p. m., the first annual session of the National Grange was called to order, but no important business was transacted. During the spring of 1869, the fifth degree manual was completed and the fifth degree conferred for the first time at the Minnesota state grange that summer. Mr. Kelly, aided by a few deputies whom he had appointed, was pushing the work of establishing granges throughout the summer, with the result that August 1 found 25 subordinate granges firmly planted in the United States, but at the close of the year the number had increased to 49 and one state grange, that of Minnesota.

During the year 1870, 42 granges were organized, and the first attempt at cooperation was made by the Fredonia (N. Y.) grange proposing to buy seed at wholesale. July 4, 1871, the first grange in Vermont was organized. The year 1871 closed with 123 new granges organized and paid for, against 38 the previous year. The report at the close of the next year was much more encouraging, the secretary's report showing that during the year 1,105 granges had taken out dispensations. After five years of hard struggle this was the first really successful year. The work continued, and in the year 1873, 8,622 dispensations were granted, and in 1874, 11,941 granges were organized.

So the work continued to the present time. At times it has reached the zenith of hope and at others has fallen to the nadir of despair, but never in its history has it been more in favor than at the present day. Like many new enterprises, its promoters had much to learn before it could be placed upon a firm foundation.

GOUGH'S BRAVE FIGHT.

British Forced to Retire For Want of Ammunition.

LONDON, April 27.—A long official dispatch has been received here from Bohotle, Somaliland, to the effect that Major Gough's flying column, numbering about 200 men, attacked a large force of the enemy near Danop. The column formed in a square and resisted with success for several hours, receiving re-enforcements from Danop. Ammunition becoming scarce, the British forces retired slowly on Danop, bringing all their wounded with them. They were continually attacked en route. In addition to thirteen men killed, including two officers, there were twenty-eight men and four officers wounded.

Major Gough praises highly the conduct of his force under trying conditions and while fighting at close quarters. He recommends several for gallant behavior. He is now retiring on Bohotle and is expected to arrive there April 28. Supplies have been sent to meet him.

The British force in Somaliland has avenged the slaughter by the followers of the Mad Mollah of the detachment from Colonel Cobbe's flying column, when Colonel Plunkett, nine other officers and 174 men were killed by a horde of the mollah's Mohammedans. Brigadier General Manning, commanding the main column of the British troops, after a heavy engagement with the Mad Mollah's forces has relieved Colonel Cobbe near Gumburru, Somaliland. About 2,000 of the mollah's men were killed. The British loss is not known.

TO APPEAL TO KAISER WILHELM

Mormon Leader Will Ask the Emperor For Tolerance.

BERLIN, April 27.—Hugh J. Cannon, the Mormon missionary, intends to appeal to Emperor William for permission for the Mormons to remain in Germany, hoping that his majesty's policy of religious tolerance may include the Mormons.

In his petition Mr. Cannon sets forth the morality of Mormon doctrines and refers to the inability of his adversaries to cite any example where Mormon teachings have been subversive of the laws of the state or of orderly citizenship. He declares also that by the command of the supreme head of the church polygamy is not taught.

Mr. Cannon has sent to the emperor and the empress specially bound copies of the Book of Mormon in German. If no aid is extended to the Mormon missionaries by Emperor William and if the orders of expulsion are enforced all the missionaries will leave quietly.

Mr. Cannon expects the United States to intervene in cases where missionaries have been maltreated.

Italians Arm Against Mafia.

NEWARK, N. J., April 27.—Italians of this city have bought up all the second-hand revolvers and guns they could get during the past few days. The Italians, it is said, have armed themselves, fearing the Mafia, to which they refused to contribute for the defense fund for the men held in New York in connection with the barrel murder mystery. The pastors of the several Italian churches have addressed their congregations, urging them to compose themselves and not do anything rash. The Italian districts are being patrolled by a double force of policemen, who are under orders to arrest all suspicious looking persons.

North Pole Seeker Here.

NEW YORK, April 27.—Among the passengers who arrived per steamer St. Paul from Southampton and Cherbourg was Anthony Fiala, the leader of the new Ziegler north pole expedition. Mr. Fiala says he comes here to consult with Mr. Ziegler and will shortly return to Trondheim, where his vessel, the America, is hauled out on the dry dock for necessary repairs. The captain and crew of thirty-five men were on hand when he left the ship at Tromso. After he left she went to Trondheim to dock and have the bottom cleaned and other necessary repairs made. She will sail from Trondheim early in June.

China and Our Exposition.

PEKING, via San Francisco, April 27.—The commissioners of China to the St. Louis exposition, Prince Pao Lun, Taoti Wong and Francis A. Carl, have met in Peking for their first conference. The two first named have had audiences with the empress dowager and secured a liberal appropriation, 600,000 taels, equivalent to about $400,000, for the Chinese exhibit. The dowager first referred the matter to the provincial viceroys, with instructions to contribute whatever they were able for the purpose, whereupon they all pleaded poverty, and the dowager ordered this definite sum from the treasury of the imperial government.

Valuable Mail Stolen.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., April 27.—A canvas mail pouch containing twenty-four registered packages mysteriously disappeared from the Knoxville post office. The pouch had been turned over to Route Agent J. P. Boger, who runs from this city to Salisbury, N. C. Being called to the telephone, he dropped the pouch on the floor near a wire railing inside the post office. He was at the telephone only a minute, but when he returned the pouch was gone. Two strange men were seen in the office a few minutes before the robbery occurred.

American Ships to Honor Loubet.

BONA, Algeria, April 27.—When President Loubet arrived here he received a telegram from Foreign Minister Delcasse, who is at Tunis, informing him that the American squadron will proceed to Marseilles to greet the president when he arrives at that port on Wednesday and to salute him in honor of his return to France.

ON THE DIAMOND.

At St. Mary's baseball field, on Saturday, the West End Terrors were defeated in a ten-inning game by the Wide-Awakes by a score of 12 to 11.

The strong team of the Garwood Athletic Club has May 9 open and would like to close it with a Plainfield team, offering suitable inducements. Address Richard Watt, Garwood.

The Philadelphia National League Baseball team played the West New York team yesterday, defeating them by a score of 16 to 3. "Warry" McLoughlin pitched for the Phillies and he only gave the opposing team five hits.

Herbert Munro, '05, of the City High School, has been appointed captain of the baseball team in the vacancy caused by the resignation of Fred VanAuken, who withdrew on account of the death of his father. The change was made this morning.

Work on the baseball grounds on Myrtle avenue is going on very well and it is probable that by the end of the present week games will be played on the field. The diamond has been scraped and leveled and a top dressing of sand and clay has been spread on the surface. This makes an ideal diamond.

Wetumpkah Tribe of Red Men has sent to Miantonomo Tribe a challenge to play baseball and the latter organization has accepted. Last year it will be remembered the Miantonomos defeated the Wetumpkah Tribe one game but the other was postponed on account of rain. Wetumpkah Tribe is anxious to retrieve its lost laurels.

At a meeting of the Holy Cross church choir boys, Saturday afternoon, Clarence Hand was elected manager for the basbeall team and William Westphal was elected captain. The team would like to hear from teams whose members average 14 years and under. All communications should be addressed to Clarence Hand.

GIVES HOME TO FRESH AIR CAMP

A. C. Morgan, of New York, Announces Gift at Meeting in Interest of Camp.

TO CONTINUE THE WORK

Committees Appointed to Take Charge at Camp This Summer—Plans for Miss Curry and Her Little Tots at Netherwood Camp This Summer.

Under the auspices of the various Christian Endeavor Socities of Plainfield, a meeting was held in the First Baptist church, last evening, in the interest of the Netherwood Fresh-Air Camp, which is in charge of Miss Sara Curry, of New York. There was a generous response to the invitation extended for the Endeavorers to be present and renew their interest in this work. There were representatives present from the Little Missionary's Day Nursery, New York, and they made short addresses, as did also local Endeavorers.

L. H. Biglow, Jr., who last year took the initiative in this work in Plainfield, was in charge of the meeting and conducted the devotional exercises. Prayer was offered by Rev. E. M. Rodman, after which Mr. Biglow in a few words explained the object of the work at Netherwood and the object of the meeting. He told how the work was blessed last year and how it was possible to close the season with a balance in the treasury.

Miss Sara Curry made a short address, in which she told of the fresh-air work at Netherwood, relating many touching incidents about the parents and their children and told of the work being continued during the winter in New York with such excellent results and the conversions of many families. She said that at one time there were 125 children and mothers at the camp last year at one time and in all her eight years experience in fresh-air work she considered last year's effort the best and most productive of excellent results.

Mr. Biglow, in the absence of J. Wesley Johnson, treasurer, presented a brief financial report and mentioned a few of the many donations received during the past season. The total receipts for the work were $1,138.79 and the expenditures $880.71, leaving a balance of $250. Of the amounts received there was $43 15 which George A. Chapman collected while on a summer trip, while $188 was contributed by guests from the Hotel Netherwood. Through a baseball game arranged for the benefit of the camp $33.50 was realized and through The Daily Press $17.35 was received for the work.

Other items of interest include repair work by A. S. Runyon. J. Wesley Johnson donated the silverware used at the camp. G. J. Tobin gave a bath-tub and made the water connections free of charge, while the Plainfield Water Supply Company gave water free. There were gifts of useful articles from Hotel Netherwood guests. The W. C. T. U. loaned camp stools and W. A. Woodruff insured the camp property free of charge. Mr. Johnson also gave a quantity of coal and David Hand frequently gave the children and mothers free rides and supplied the camp with vegetables. Dr. Currie, visiting physician to the camp, made ninety-five visits to the camp and was instrumental in saving the lives of five children. Mr. Biglow stated that the camp was opened sixty-six days at an average cost of $13 a day.

Other short addresses were made by Miss Florence G. Hawkins and David M. Torrey, each telling of the great good results from the fresh-air work and the spirit of love exhibited by all who spent the summer there. This was followed with the singing of hymns by eight of the children from the Day Nursery on New York. There were also vocal solos by the little ones and one of the boys sang two hymns sweetly. Some of the children also gave recitations.

Good news was brought to the Endeavorers by A. C. Morgan, the New York banker, who is closely identified with this work, especially that of the nursery work in New York. Mr. Morgan stated that he had purchased the Netherwood property and is now making extensive repairs there, including the erection of a dormitory, new dining room and additional room

BOROUGH SCHOOL BOARD HAS BUSY SESSION

It Transacts Much Routine Business and Hears the Numerous Reports.

THE TRUANCY QUESTION

THE COMMITTEE DECLARES PARENTS WILL BE PUNISHED.

Resignation of Supt. Wightman Considered in Secret—The Park Clubhouse for Commencement Exercises—Other Matters.

The meeting of the Board of Education of North Plainfield, held last evening in the High School building, was an important one. Only routine business was transacted in the early part of the session but later the members went into executive session when the resignation of the principal, Homer J. Wightman was considered, the appointment of a school physician was discussed and matters relating to teachers and other employes of the school were brought up.

All the members were present. President Joy presided at the meeting and announced that John Valiant had tendered his resignation as chairman of the auditing committee. His place was filled by Murray Burtis. Dr. Cooley, as chairman of the building and grounds committee, reported that a woman had been secured to assist Janitor Richard McDonald afternoons at the school, and that repairs were necessary to the ceiling of two of the rooms of the Watchung School building. The plaster has become loosened from the marching of the pupils and needs repairing. He was appointed one of a committee with power to have the repairs made.

Samuel Townsend, of the truancy and grievance committee, stated that he had sent out notices to all the parents of pupils in the school notifying them that if truancy was not stopped the aid of the law would be invoked. As a result of this action thirty pupils have returned to school and Howard Carver, who had hitherto ignored the notices, had been arraigned before Judge Doud in the borough court and reprimanded. His children have been in regular attendance since. There are several others who have been notified and unless their children appear in school measures along this line will be taken against them. He stated that complaints have been received from the teacher in the cooking department about the condition in which the rooms are kept. This will receive attention at once. Miss French will be appointed assistant in the kindergarten class at the Watchung School, beginning May 1.

An application was read by Dr. Cooley from the committee on commencement of the alumni of the school asking for the use of the chapel for commencement exercises. Owing to the necessity of removing the seats and desks from the chapel, the request was denied. A subscription will be taken up among the members of the Board to assist in defraying the expense of renting the Park Clubhouse for the exercises. The use of the building was allowed them for a business meeting tomorrow evening.

Chairman Townsend, of the committee on rules, reported that he had caused to be typewritten, copies of the revised rules governing the school board meetings of the borough. Copies were distributed among the members and action will be taken at the May meeting.

Chairman Valiant, of the finance committee, requested that warrants be drawn by the president and clerk to pay bills amounting to $2,355.77, of which $2,140.20 will be taken from the general school fund and $215.56 will be taken from the manual training fund. Collector George F. Brown reported that there was $9,884 50 on hand, taxes amounted to $509.46 and the total amount on hand at the present time amounted to $10,719.90. Disbursements amount to $713.87, leaving a balance on hand of $1,006.03.

A resolution was proposed, which will be sent to the Common Council relative to the back taxes. An application was read from Dr. Albert Pittis asking for an appointment as school physician. This was laid upon the table until the executive session which was taken immediately afterwards.

Quarterly Conference.

The first quarterly conference of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church will be held tomorrow evening. Rev. Dr. Daniel Halleron will speak at the prayer meeting and preside at the conference session.

Y. M. C. A. GYMNASTS AT ANNUAL DINNER

Medals Won During Winter Were Presented After the Dinner Was Over.

THERE WERE SPEECHES

WALTER M'NAUGHTON WON THE FIRST PRIZES IN ALL THE CONTESTS.

President Stephen Cahoone Presided—Fifty-Four Were Present—A Pleasant Repast Was Served—The Speeches.

The annual gymnasium class dinner of the Y. M. C. A. was held last evening in the small hall of the association when there were over fifty present. Speeches were a feature of the evening and medals and badges were presented to the winners of the various championship contests.

The dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock in the rooms decorated with flags and colored lamps given by Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gavett. President Stephen Cahoone presided at the dinner. He made a few remarks followed by William D. Murray who told of athletics in the "70s." He told of the endurance tests which formed the principal features of the contests twenty years ago. He said that those who enter contests should do so with the sole intention of winning for an institution which is worth belonging to is worth representing.

Others who made addresses were General Secretary J. H. Manning and Boys' Secretary Kenneth Robbie. Medals and badges were distributed by Physical Director C. E. A. Heywood, to those winning the championship contests. A medal was presented to the champion in the athletic's class, Walter McNaughton, and to the second highest, Ray Smith, and the third, Paul Collier, silver and bronze medals, respectively, were presented. As champion of the gymnastic class, Walter McNaughton also won honors. He is accredited with being the champion of the association for the year 1902-3. A silver medal was presented to William E. Neal who came second in that contest and a bronz medal was presented to Wilbur Bentliff who stood third.

The supper was served by Mrs. J. W. Gavett, Mrs. L. M. French, Mrs. Stephen Cahoone, Mrs. T. F. Budlong and Mrs. C. E. A. Heywood, assisted by Miss C. Smith, Miss Cora Brokaw, Miss Florence Hughes and Miss Mary T. Draper. All the tables were trimmed with violets.

NEW ORGANIST.

J. Edmund Skiff Will Take Charge at Church of Holy Cross This Week.

J. Edmund Skiff, who will begin his duties as organist and choirmaster of the Church of the Holy Cross in the borough as successor to William E. MacClymont, takes charge of the work there this week. Mr. Skiff comes to this city with a high reputation, his specialty being voice training and singing. He has been identified with music in a professional way for the past fifteen years and has been eminently successful in his chosen work, having enjoyed the advantages of the best masters both in this country and in Europe, in voice, piano and organ.

He prefers, however, to devote time principally to voice and organ work. His name is somewhat familiar to readers of "The Etude" through his contributions to the columns of that magazine. He will undoubtedly prove a strong addition to Plainfield musical circles.

NOT WISELY, BUT TOO WELL.

"Conjunction" Jones' Love for Eggs Has Given Him More Trouble.

Professor Walter Jones, who used to glory in the sobriqent of "Conjunction," formed an attachment for a crate of eggs in the West End, this morning. Kussel Sacher, a Third street grocer, saw them going out of his store together and asked the police to bring the eggs back and arrest the professor as in his hurry he had forgotten to pay for them. Jones and the eggs were located by Patrolman Higgins and both were taken to police headquarters. The professor will be given a hearing this afternoon.

Heavy Freight Traffic.

The freight movement over the northern system of the Pennsylvania lines a week ago last Sunday was the heaviest ever known, 3,500 cars being forwarded from the Conway and Crestline yards alone.

SCHOOL BOARD WANTS WIGHTMAN TO REMAIN

Decides in Executive Session to Re-Engage Him For Another Year.

AND OTHER TEACHERS.

DR. ALBERT PITTIS GETS APPOINTMENT OF SCHOOL PHYSICIAN.

Dr. J. H. Buchanan Was Defeated for Re-Election—Mr. Wightman Has Another Offer—Hasn't Decided As Yet.

Most of the business discussed at the executive session of the North Plainfield Board of Education last evening was in relation to the resignation tendered by Homer J. Wightman, the supervising principal of the schools. It was decided to re-engage him for another term. This was the first executive session taken by the new board since its organization and many other matters in regard to the reappointment of teachers and the janitor were brought up for discussion. The session did not adjourn until a late hour.

Mr. Wightman said this morning when asked whether he would remain in North Plainfield, that he had made no plans so far as he had not received word from the board. Whether or not he will stay will depend entirely upon what terms he is offered.

Mr. Wightman has received a very tempting offer from a city about the size of Elizabeth, in Connecticut, as superintendent of the city schools. The renumeration will be much larger than he receives here and it is easy to see that whether or not he remains here depends upon the terms offered by the borough board.

Other teachers whose terms will expire shortly will be re-engaged and the matter of the janitor was settled by his being reappointed for another term.

The appointment of a school physician caused much discussion. Two applications were filed with the board.

One was an application of Dr. Albert Pittis and the other was one of Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan. Both offered very good reasons why they should be appointed but the board decided in favor of Dr. Pittis.

He was told to return to Mountainside and present his appeal at the town in which he lived. He went away much dejected.

The certificates will be issued at par, and the basis of exchange will be made on the following valuations for the surrendered stock: North Jersey, 40; Jersey City, Hoboken and Paterson, 35; Orange and Passaic Valley, Elizabeth and Plainfield and United Electric, 30 each.

NEW FACTORY BUSY.

The Rushmore Dynamo Company is Rushed With Orders and is Adding New Employes.

Matters at the Rushmore Dynamo Company's plant, which was recently located in the former carpet factory on South avenue, are already beginning to assume large porportions. Employes are being added every day and it is hoped to have the full force in operation within the next few weeks.

Orders have already been received which will require many months to fill and may mean considerable overtime. The company makes a specialty of dynamos, unique electric devices for advertising purposes and improved search-lights.

Will Sell Autos.

Andrew C. Thompson, of West Front street, a well-known local electrician, has recently organized an automobile concern in Elizabeth with Frederick Mackie, of that city. The name of the concern is to be the Mackie-Thompson Automobile Company with offices at 855 Magnolia avenue. The company will hold the sole agencies for a number of makes. Mr. Thompson has been working on some new ideas in automobiles in this city for some time and has been seen on the streets of the down town districts on many occasions testing his new machines.

Laying New Rails.

A gang of Italians employed by the New Jersey Central are now engaged in replacing old rails with new ones in this city. The work is now being done between the Park avenue bridge and Grant avenue, and was started last Sunday. Several months ago the eastbound tracks were replaced by new ones and the present work is a continuation of the improvement. The rails are much heavier than the old ones.

Went With Reprimand.

Martin McDermott, who was arrested Sunday night by Marshal Blaich, of the borough, for being drunk and disorderly, was arraigned last evening before Magistrate Doud. He pleaded guilty and after receiving a reprimand he was released under a suspended sentence.

No More Good Things.

BULLETS FLEW ON HIGHWAY

Alonzo Randolph, Colored, Opened Fire at Two Men on Front Street Last Night.

BUT NOBODY WAS HURT

Randolph Captured Later After a a Hard Chase—Hearing This Afternoon—Claims the Others Assaulted Him—They Were Apprehended This Morning.

Following an argument between Frank Drake, John Callahan and Alonzo Randolph, the latter named, colored, excitement ran high at the corner of Watchung avenue and East Front street, last evening at 8 o'clock. Randolph whipped out a revolver and blazed away but fortunately neither of the principals or passersby were hit. The pistol shots drew a crowd that blocked the street and in the confusion all three of the men made their escape. Randolph was captured later after a hot chase and the other two were taken in custody today. A charge of atrocious assault has been preferred against the colored man and he will be arraigned before Justice Huff this afternoon.

Just what caused the trouble the police have not yet been able to learn. Randolph says that Drake and Callahan were intoxicated and purposely jostled him. When he remonstrated they called him vile names and invited him to fight it out in the street. He agreed and was removing his coat when both attempted to strike him and acting in self defense, fired two shots. He declares he had no intention of hitting either one.

Callahan and Drake made their way over the Watchung avenue bridge immediately after the trouble but were found late last night. They admitted having a hand in the disturbance but their stories conflicted with Randolph's and with each other. Callahan declared the negro shot at Drake and Drake affirms that he intended hitting Callahan. Neither would throw any light on the cause of the trouble or who had been the instigator. They were not arrested last night but the police were ordered to do so this morning.

Randolph's capture was affected by Chief Kiely and Patrolman Myers at considerable risk to themselves. They traced him to the home of George Henry on East Third street and had the place surrounded by policemen while they entered by a rear door. The place was in utter darkness and they moved about with drawn revolvers.

After a search through the various rooms they finally located their quarry making an attempt to get out of a side window. The Chief grabbed him while Myers took away the still loaded revolver. He offered no resistance but the officers were taking no chances as Randolph is regarded as dangerous. He was recently released from State prison after serving nine years for criminal assault.

SAW LIGHT.

So the Policeman Turned in An Alarm of Fire.

A bright reflection in the sky at 11:10 last night led a Netherwood policeman to believe the fire was in that vicinity and turned in an alarm from Box No. 28. The department responded, but after going to Leland avenue learned it was out of the limits and returned. It was reported at headquarters this morning that the fire was on the Fanwood road, near Alton, and was a barn and outbuildings belonging to Wm. Calbot. All his implements, two horses and a cow were burned.

Stanley Voorhees; vice president, Mrs. Noble C. King; recording secretary, Miss May Voorhees; corresponding secretary, Clarence Sutphen; treasurer, Walter Sampson.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

One reason why Dobbins' Yara cigars have proved to be so popular is because they are made without any flavoring. One gets the true aroma of the tobacco and not the odor of sickening drugs.

Bears Brothers, of West Front street, are offering an attractive line of women's suits, shirt waists, skirts, as well as men's and boy's clothing and furnishings. This firm sells on the installment plan, making it easy for everyone to wear good clothes.

People are often heard to say "the proof of the pudding is the eating." Just so is the superiority of Rockdale print and creamery butter established by its use. Once tried it will never be superseded by another brand. Neuman Brothers are the sole handlers in this city.

As milk is one of the most important things used in the household it is essential that the quality be the best. If you trade with Wm. Lindsay & Son, of Mountain avenue, you will get the purest and best milk, produced under the most approved sanitary methods.

To "paint the town red" is an easy matter provided the people so doing are in "good spirits." To paint a house properly is another matter. James Hansen, who has been in the business for years, is confident he can do it. Drop a postal to the office on East Front street.

No matter how fine a watch may be nor how expensive it was, all timepieces are liable to get out of order. On Park avenue L. Moraller & Sons have been in business for years, are thoroughly reliable and make a specialty of repairing the most delicate watches and clocks.

This weather is exceptional for painting and papering and the New York Papering and Decorating Company, of Park avenue, is prepared to do your work in the best possible manner. Only the best materials are used and the latest wall-papers are sold. The firm will cheerfully give estimates on work.

THEATRICAL.

The management of Wallack's Theatre in New York is preparing a dainty souvenir to be presented to George Ade at the end of the coming week when "The Sultan of Sulu" will have completed the fourth month of its phenomenal success on Broadway. The object of the souvenir is to memorialize Mr. Ade, as it were, for having written the merry musical success that has given Wallack's the largest four-months business in its history. "The Sultan of Sulu" has repeatedly broken every record made at this historic playhouse and will enter its fifth month with no apparant sign of waning popularity. In "The Sultan of Sulu" Mr. Ade is said to have a piece that promises to earn royalties for the humorist several years to come.

It will be good news for the little patrons of Keith's Theatre, New York, that Burkes' troupe of trained dogs has been engaged for next week. These animals possess the keen canine sense to a marked degree, so much so in fact that they appear to have humane intelligence. Bellman and Moore will present their comedy sketch "Hester's Promise." This is perhaps as neat a piece of work as is done on the vaudeville stage today. To the old timers the announcement that John Kernell will appear will mean much, and to those who have never seen this sterling Irish comedian a treat is in store. Cole and Johnson, the colored pets of New York's "400," will do their colored aristocracy, introducing original songs and witticisms. Ward and Curran in "The Terrible Judge" will provoke many a laugh, while the neat dancing and comedy work of the Hoovers cannot fail to please. Another artist in the dancing line is John Ford, who in his style has no rival in the world. Funny sketches in crayon by Chalk Saunders; Clarice Vance, the southern singer; Brooks Bros., comedians; Charles Howard, in Hebrew characters, together with many others, complete a bill that is fully up to Mr. Keith's high standard.

Kindly take notice that Ely's Liquid Cream Balm is of great benefit to those sufferers from nasal catarrh who cannot inhale freely through the nose, but must treat themselves by spraying. Liquid Cream Balm differs in form, but not medicinally from the Cream Balm that has stood for years at the head of remedies for catarrh. It may be used in any nasal atomizer. The price, including a spraying tube, is 75 cts. Sold by druggists and mailed by Ely Brothers, 56 Warren street, New York.

COMFORTING WORDS.

Many a Plainfield Household Will Find Them So.

To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed; to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous disorders is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. To tell how this great change can be brought about will prove comforting words to hundreds of Plainfield readers.

Mrs. I. L. Holmes, of 442 West Second street says: "I used several boxes of Doan's Kindney Pills for backache and derived more benefits from them than anything else. Before I tried this remedy I was bothered almost constantly with a severe pain across the small of my back, so bad at times that I thought I must give up. If I sat down and got up or was lying down and attempted to rise quickly or retained one position for any length of time, sharp acute pain always followed. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised for such troubles and went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. They helped me from the first and I improved right along under the treatment."

Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries
Largest Burial Parks in the State.

Transportation Facilities superior to those of any other cemetery, as to number of trains, railroad fare, time and distance.

These New Cemeteries, now being developed on the modern park plan, are attracting universal attention.

By Reason of Location Alone they are destined, in a very short time, to become the best-known Cemeteries in the country and, with their natural advantages, the most beautiful and desirable in which to purchase lots.

They are Accessible from every quarter and within easy reach of over 4,000,000 people, and, considering the steady and rapidly increasing growth of Greater New York and its tributary cities and towns, it is only the question of a short time before plots in Rosedale and Linden Park will equal in value those of our most noted cemeteries.

Popular Favor has already been shown to a marked degree in the sale of lots, several hundred having been sold to residents in Elizabeth, Linden, Rahway, Cranford, Jersey City, Orange, Paterson, Westfield, Newark and New York City, and a large number of interments have been made.

In the Days of Happiness we do not know what is to befall us or when the inevitable will occur; therefore, it is a wiser precaution to make provision for a final resting place during health and life than to force the painful duty on one's friends or relatives after death. A place of burial will be needed sooner or later by every one, and no one should neglect selecting a suitable and proper place until future postponement is impossible.

Linden Lodge is the largest, most modern and best equipped Cemetery Lodge in the country, and is provided with every requisite for the comfort and convenience of visitors who come to inspect the properties.

PRESIDENT IN OMAHA

Fifty Thousand People Flock to See Roosevelt.

THE CITY ELABORATELY DECORATED

Windstorm Made the Day a Trying One Across the Prairies—Brief Stops Made at Several Nebraska Cities.

OMAHA, Neb., April 28.—Ten thousand people were gathered at the Coliseum to hear President Roosevelt.

The day was a trying one for the entire party, the wind blowing the entire day, and at Lincoln a smart rainstorm greeted the president on his arrival. The dust and sand which blew across the prairies added another unpleasant feature of the journey, which was of a circuitous route. Fairmont and Crete received short stops, and the train arrived at Lincoln at 1 o'clock. After brief stops at Wahoo and Fremont the journey was not again interrupted until Omaha was reached at 5:15 o'clock.

Much preparation had been made in this city for the president's coming, and he was greeted by probably 50,000 people, who lined the streets on both sides for a mile and a half along the route of the carriage drive. Elaborate decorations of bunting and flags were hung from every building, and from every flagstaff in the city Old Glory floated proudly. At the Union station the great western arch was festooned with bunting, which surrounded an immense painting of the president. Another painting, framed in the national tricolors, was placed over the carriage way through which the president's party passed. At the entrance to the train shed was hung a banner of welcome. The reception committee, which met the president, was composed of the board of governors of the Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben, with Senators Millard and Dietrich, Governor Mickey, Congressman Hitchcock, ex-Congressman Mercer, Mayor Moores and General Manderson.

The military escort was a large one, headed by a platoon of police. It was composed of the Thurston rifles, Omaha guards, Millard rifles, South Omaha troop of cavalry and six companies of the High school cadets. The drive through the city lasted half an hour. The entire distance was lined with thousands of people, who gave the president a most hearty welcome. The drive ended at the Omaha club, where a banquet was given to the presidential party.

After the banquet at the club the president and his party were escorted to the Coliseum. Thousands again turned out to cheer the president and catch a glimpse of his face. When he reached the big auditorium, it was crowded to its capacity. The building was elaborately decorated with national flags and colors. When the president and his party entered, a band struck up "Hail to the Chief," and he was accorded a tremendous ovation.

Palma Suspends Tax on Meat.

HAVANA, April 28.—A committee representing the mass meeting held in Matanzas to protest against the imposition of certain provincial taxes had an interview with President Palma, the result of which was that the president suspended the tax on the consumption of meat in Matanzas. The drug stores of Havana and its suburbs which closed in protest against the stamp tax of 2 cents on every package of patent medicine sold are still closed The claim is made that under the Spanish code the city is authorized to compel the drug stores to open should necessity arise.

Carnegie's $12,000 For Emerson Hall

BOSTON, April 28.—Andrew Carnegie has contributed $12,000 toward the amount needed for the erection of Emerson hall, the new philosophical building for which Harvard university hopes to lay the corner stone on May 25, the centennial anniversary of Ralph Waldo Emerson's birth. This gift was made through Professor Munsterburg, and it brings the total amount now subscribed for the building up to about $140,000, or within $10,000 of the total which the university corporation requires before it will permit the corner stone to be laid.

River Disaster Commemorated.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., April 28.—Several hundred people assembled at Everett's Grove, Blount county, near here, to commemorate the thirty-eighth anniversary of the disaster of the army transport Sultan, which was burned on the Mississippi river just above Memphis the night of April 27, 1865. Over 1,000 Federal soldiers en route home lost their lives. The reunion was of the survivors and their friends.

Strikers and Strike Breakers Clash.

LYNN, Mass., April 28.—After a period of comparative quiet among the shoe factory workers here a small sized riot occurred last night, during which revolver shots were exchanged between a body of strike breakers and a crowd of strike sympathizers. No one was hit, although the strike breakers in their retreat suffered injuries from flying bricks.

City's Telephone Plant Burned.

LITTLE FALLS, N. Y., April 28.—Fire last night gutted the plant of the Interstate Telephone company in this city. The loss is $10,000, with insurance of $7,000. The city is now practically without telephone service.

Civil Service For Philippine Teachers

WASHINGTON, April 28.—The civil service commission has issued an announcement that the president has included all the schoolteachers in the Philippine service within the classified civil service.

MILES RECOMMENDS

That Soldiers In Philippines Be Not Used as Navvies.

MOROS WEAK AND POORLY ARMED.

As Camp Life Is Monotonous Duties Should Be Light—Heavy Artillery Unnecessary—Convents Should Not Be Used as Barracks.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—The extended report of Lieutenant General Nelson A. Miles concerning his observations in the Philippines was made public by the war department. It is dated Feb. 19, 1903, and covers all features of his trip through the islands, together with his recommendations.

Of the Moros General Miles says:

"The problem of reducing or controlling these people in case of continued hostilities does not appear to be a difficult one. They are very poorly armed and have no means of withstanding our mountain artillery and field mortars. Their forts possess but slight resisting power and easily can be destroyed by modern artillery."

Of the roads to Lake Lanao he says:

"At the time of my visit there were 600 of our men at work on this road. The heat was intense, and there were at the time seventy men sick and some 200 men on sick report. Heavy timbers were being cut, and in every respect a road of a permanent character was being constructed. Unless there be some great military necessity—and I know of none—this work should not be performed by troops. I was informed that the Moros had made propositions to furnish the necessary men. There appeared to be very great dissatisfaction and just ground for complaint. I was informed that no men can be re-enlisted at this point. The performance of such labor by troops unless absolute military necessity exists for it is wrong and contrary to law."

The more important observations and recommendations of General Miles are as follows:

"The general condition of the troops in the archipelago was creditable to themselves and to the country. The officers and soldiers made a good appearance.

"The effect of the climate is a most serious detriment to the service. The men go there in perfect health and in the prime of manhood, but as a body are seriously affected in the course of two or three years' service. Very few escape. The majority are debilitated.

"As the military stations, with but few exceptions, are very remote and the troops are required to be in communities that are neither beneficial nor congenial to them, the service is depressing and to some extent has a demoralizing effect. There are scarcely any amusements or recreations for the soldiers, and life under such circumstances becomes very monotonous. During my visits to the garrisons it so happened that I did not see a single soldier under the influence of liquor. The following statement shows the exact conditions of the troops at 122 stations in the islands, being all but nineteen stations, on Nov. 27, 1902: Troops on duty, 17,574; sick, 1,415.

"As the result of my observations it is my judgment that the discontinuance of the liquor feature of the canteen has been beneficial to the army. Now that the temptation has been removed from the immediate presence of the young men of the army they are less likely to indulge in the use of liquor.

"The number of troops that will be required to occupy the Philippine Islands is still problematical. While it is claimed that the people are pacified, evidences of hostility toward American sovereignty are apparent. The newspapers published in both Spanish and English contain almost daily accounts of hostilities, depredations or disturbances of the peace. Against these armed bands the civil government is employing the constabulary, a force of about 6,000 men.

"In my judgment the heavy artillery troops now in the Philippine Islands should be withdrawn without delay, as there is not legitimate use for them in the archipelago.

"There is quite as much, if not more, need for cavalry in the Philippine Islands than in the United States, and as some of the cavalry regiments never have served in the Philippines I think it advisable that they should share their proportion of the duties in that country.

"I found a large proportion of the troops occupying church property, monasteries, colleges and convents. This I believe to be entirely wrong, and it should be discontinued without delay. It is a serious detriment to prosperity, and while it may prevent destruction by fire to some extent, yet the damage done to the buildings will be extensive, and it will simply result in claims for some millions of dollars being brought against the United States, which undoubtedly will have to be paid."

Of the supplies furnished troops he says:

"While the supplies as a rule have been abundant and of good quality, there is in my opinion too much cold storage meat used for the good of the troops. Its constant use becomes very distasteful, and in the opinion of many eminent physicians it is not the most healthful. In my opinion it would be advisable to send government steamers to Australia and have them loaded with live stock, which can be distributed in small quantities near the different garrisons so that they could at any time have fresh beef and mutton as a part of the ration."

Referring to alleged cruelties by American troops, General Miles says that in going from Calamba to Batangas in November last he noticed that the country appeared devastated and that the people were very much depressed. Stopping at Lipa, he says, a party of citizens, headed by the acting presidente, met him and stated that they desired to make complaint of harsh treatment of the people of that community, saying they had been concentrated in towns and had suffered great indignities, that fifteen of their people had been tortured by what is known as the water torture and that one man, a highly respected citizen, aged sixty-five years, named Vincente Luna, while suffering from the effects of the torture and unconscious, was dragged from his house, which had been set on fire, and burned to death.

A doctor of the party said he was ready to testify that 600 people had been crowded into one building and some of the number had died from suffocation. He asked for a written statement to be forwarded him at Manila, but says he never received it.

General Miles then refers to other cases, saying that on the island of Cebu it was reported and published in November, 1902, "that two officers, Captain Samuels, Forty-fourth infantry, United States volunteers, and Lieutenant Feeter, Nineteenth infantry, had committed similar atrocities against the people of that island. It was also reported that at Laoag, on the island of Luzon, two natives were whipped to death. At Tacloban, Leyte, it was reported that Major Glenn ordered Lieutenant Caulfield (Philippine scouts) to take eight prisoners out into the country and that if they did not guide him to the camp of the insurgent Quison he was not to bring them back. The men were said to have been cruelly murdered.

"At Calbayog, Samar, it was reported that several men in that district had been subjected to water torture. I saw three men who had been subjected to this treatment.

"These facts came to my notice in a casual way, and many others of similar character have been reported in different parts of the archipelago. It is, however, most gratifying to state that such atrocities have been condemned by such commanders as Generals Lawton, Wade, Sumner, Lee, Baldwin and others."

Pittsburg Heiress Becomes a Countess—A Brilliant Affair.

PITTSBURG, April 28.—Amid scenes as impressive as a lavish display of wealth, the dignity of society and the solemnity of the ritual of the Protestant Episcopal church could provide the marriage of George Francis Alexander Seymour, the earl of Yarmouth, of England and Alice Cornelia Thaw of Pittsburg, daughter of the late William Thaw, was solemnized in Calvary church.

The weather was beautifully bright and just cool enough to be pleasant. The church was magnificently decorated for the occasion with palms, white hydrangias, white lilies and other potted plants, and the audience the most brilliant ever seen at a wedding in Pittsburg. The bride wore a magnificent gown of ivory satin trimmed with duchesse lace made high necked and with a court train. She carried a bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley and wore the fine string of pearls that was her brother's wedding gift. The bridegroom wore the conventional frock coat and light trousers.

Josiah C. Thaw gave the bride away, and the Rev. Dr. W. L. McEwan, assisted by the Rev. Dr. John H. McIlvaine, were the officiating clergymen. The ceremony was Episcopal.

Mrs. George Lauder Carnegie was her sister's matron of honor, with Miss Nancy Carnegie, Miss Martha Ferguson, Lady Jane Seymour, Miss Isabel May, Miss Elinor Wilson and Miss Mary Thaw Thompson as bridesmaids.

Preceding the ceremony an elaborate organ recital was rendered while the 300 invited guests were being seated. When the scheduled time for the ceremonial—4 o'clock—arrived, the wedding march was begun, but the bridal party did not appear. For some reason the party was delayed and did not arrive at the church until 4:45. In the meantime the wedding march had been repeated several times, and the audience plainly showed its anxiety.

After the church ceremony there was a reception at Lyndhurst, the Thaw residence, for 150 people. The house was splendidly decorated and the collection of gifts was most magnificent.

The bride gave to her attendants diamond and amethyst bracelets. The newly wedded couple left for a brief honeymoon trip before sailing for England. Earl Yarmouth's father, the Marquis of Hertford, and his family, who came from England for the wedding, are to return to London at once.

Policy King Adams In Prison.

OSSINING, N. Y., April 28.—Al Adams, the policy king, convicted in New York city of having paraphernalia of the game in his possession and sentenced by Justice Scott to imprisonment in Sing Sing, has entered the state prison. When Adams reached the prison the usual search revealed between $3,000 and $4,000 in bills of large denominations on his person.

Florida Mills Resume Work.

BAGDAD, Fla., April 28.—Simpson & Co. have sold their entire plant, consisting of mills, steamers, barges and 160,000 acres of timbered land, to Stearns, Culver & Co., of Ludington, Mich. The mills will be started up immediately. They have been idle eleven months.

Odell and Party Off For St. Louis.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 28.—Governor Odell, the members of his staff, committees representing both branches of the legislature and a party of invited guests left for St. Louis on a special train to attend the dedication of the Louisiana Purchase exposition.

NEWSPAPER CHANGES.

Newspaper men throughout the State will see with regret the retirement of Charles C. McBride from the editorial chair of the Elizabeth Journal. Regardless of political affiliations, Mr. McBride has been greatly respected and thoroughly liked by all those who have been brought in contact with him. While a powerful writer, never hesitating to attack those to whom he was opposed, his writings were always characteristically clean.

To take Mr. McBride's place comes Joseph D. Lowden, for many years the city editor of that same paper. There is no doubt that Mr. Lowden will fill the place and fill it well. He has been tried and not found wanting. Unassuming and courteous, Mr. Lowden has won the friendship of every newspaper man with whom he has come in contact. We are glad to learn now of his deserved promotion. His place is to be filled by M. F. Elderton, who has served in the capacity of reporter for a Plainfield paper for many years. Conscientious to a fault, Mr. Elderton has done his work thoroughly and well. His advancement is a proper recognition for an able and trustworthy newspaper man.

In addition to these changes, there are several of lesser importance which will in a measure affect The Daily Press. May 1 will see the bulk of the changes made although others may follow at a later date.

Every citizen of the borough should be at Saengerbund Hall Wednesday night to hear the arguments for and against the establishment of a sewerage system for North Plainfield. The Borough Sewerage Commission decided that it would be well to get the public thoughts on the subject and so a public meeting has been arranged. The Commission has arranged to have facts and figures presented to the boroughites so they may get some idea of what can be done. An intelligent discussion should then be possible. If anybody has a plan which is reasonable, no one would be any better pleased to receive it than the Commission.

It is reported from Trenton that the political bosses have discovered a way to circumvent the few worthy provisions in the new primary law. Nobody is surprised. After the Legislature finished with that measure, there was general surprise that there was anything left of it. Some day perhaps a Legislature will wake to the necessity of conducting primaries as they should be.

May 1 will be an eventful day in industrial circles throughout the land. On that day it is expected that a number of important strikes will be inaugurated. From present appearances, however, Plainfield will be free of them. The present relations of capital and labor here are apparently satisfactory and there are no signs of discord which may end in a strike or lockout.

One of the greatest municipal errors ever made in Plainfield was that provision which did not compell the street railway companies to sprinkle the street until May 10. If ever the present company asks a favor, let the Common Council insist that a change be made in this direction. March is almost invariably one of the dustiest months in the year.

Despite the fact that the State treasury was never so full as at present, the Legislature neglected to take even decent care of a number of the most important of the State institutions. Just add that to the already long list of the mistakes made by the Legislature.

The agitation over the truancy question in North Plainfield has brought forth good fruit. There are a number of children who are now in attendance at the borough schools who never appeared in the class-rooms before.

If ever the citizens of the borough had a practical illustration of the need of a sewer system, it was when the discovery of those drains emptying into Stony brook was made public.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Manager Johnston, of the baseball team, has at last found a man to cover third base, and several weeks ago Gassmeyer, of Brooklyn, was signed, but as the Brooklyn Field Club had a prior claim on him Manager Johnston called the deal off and began looking for someone else. The new man is named Francis, hailing from Pennsylvania, where he has been playing with the best teams of that State. Francis comes well recommended and if he proves the right man in the right place in the game Saturday afternoon he will be given a chance to sign a contract for the season.

The local fans are anxiously awaiting Saturday afternoon when the local team opens the season with the Hope Y. M. A. team, of the Plainfield City League. There will be no brass band or unusual display of bunting but the lovers of the game will no doubt turn out in round numbers to give the team of 1903 a royal reception.

Manager Johnston, of the baseball team, has booked the Xavier Mutes' team for Saturday, May 31. The Mutes are said to be stronger than ever this season.

for bath-tubs. Mr. Morgan gives this Netherwood Home to the work free of rent and other expense, except the maintenance of the work. He said that he stood willing to co-operate with the Plainfield people in this fresh-air work which he believed would bring lasting benefit to all who are interested.

Following Mr. Morgan, there was a short address by L. B. Rolston, also of New York, who is similarly identified with the both the New York and Netherwood work. His words were full of encouragement and he promised his loyal support. He spoke of a plan now being considered to erect a place at the camp where occasionally fathers of the children can spend Sunday if they desire while the children and the mothers are at the camp.

Mr. Biglow stated that it was for the Endeavorers to decide whether they would divide their work between the Westfield and Netherwood camps, but personally he believed that they should lend their support to the Netherwood Home as that work is now well established. As additional articles would be needed this season and it would be necessary to have some one go ahead with the work, he said that Miss Hawkins would announce the chairman of the various committees decided upon. They are as follows:

House committee, F. E. Smith; religious work, Miss Ella C. Benedict; amusement, Phillip S. Suffern; music, Miss Carrie Dewey; financial, Miss Florence G. Hawkins. These chairmen will meet for conference and their assistants will be selected soon.

Before the meeting closed the children sang several hymns and gave a number of recitations. After the benediction by Rev. Mr. Rodman, several contributions of money were received for the work.

RUSSIA GIVES REPLY

A Feeling of Relief Is Felt at Washington.

PEKING NEWS FALSE OR MISLEADING

St. Petersburg Authorities So Declare—Nothing Directed In Any Manner Against the Interests of Other Powers.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Considerable interest is shown here in the dispatch from St. Petersburg giving a categorical answer by the Russian foreign office to inquiries regarding the eight demands which are said to have been made on China in connection with Manchuria. It was regarded as of great importance and if borne out by subsequent information through diplomatic channels will give general satisfaction and meet in a large degree the desires of our government. It was in relation to the first two demands that the United States was interested particularly, and it was these demands which prompted it to address notes of inquiry and protest to St. Petersburg and Peking. They invoved severe restrictions to American trade, and the United States, therefore, was prompt to protest. The assurance of the Russian foreign office contained in the St. Petersburg dispatch would seem to set at rest any serious menace in that respect. The replies of the Russians regarding the other demands also caused a feeling of relief here, and the hope of the officials is that Russia's position is fully and correctly set forth.

As cabled from Peking the Russian demands were said to be as follows:

First.—No more Manchurian ports or towns are to be opened.

Second.—No more foreign consuls are to be admitted into Manchuria.

Third.—No foreigners except Russians are to be employed in the public service of Manchuria.

Fourth.—The present status of the administration of Manchuria is to remain unchanged.

Fifth.—The customs receipts at the port of Newchwang are to be given to the Russo-Chinese bank.

Sixth.—A sanitary commission is to be organized under Russian control.

Seventh.—Russia is entitled to attach the telegraph wires and poles of all Chinese lines in Manchuria.

Eighth.—No territory in Manchuria is to be alienated to any other power.

Commenting on each point separately the foreign office at St. Petersburg answers:

First.—Absolutely false. Not our affair.

Second.—Depends upon China. Not mentioned in our pour parlers.

Third.—False.

Fourth.—Unimportant.

Fifth.—Such is the present arrangement.

Fifth.—Extremely important, since an English vessel in 1902 introduced the plague.

Seventh.—False.

Eighth.—The integrity of China is already adopted into the Russian programme. No need to discuss that now.

Regarding the whole negotiations, which have been dragging along since January, the foreign office says:

"There is nothing directed in any manner against the interests of the other powers or their commerce; others enjoy the same rights of commerce in the interior as we. Of the towns not opened to trade the railway will carry Russian and foreign goods alike through the country, but we or they cannot sell them in the unopened towns. If the towns are opened, all will benefit alike. It is in the railway's interests to demand the widest possible developments of trade. The pour parlers concern multitudinous detailed questions which were not foreseen when the evacuation was decided upon."

Count Cassini Not Able to Go.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, has decided on the advice of his physician not to go to St. Louis to attend the dedication ceremonies of the fair. The ambassador has been suffering from an attack of lumbago for several weeks.

Grounded Schooner Abandoned.

CHATHAM, Mass., April 28.—The schooner Albert T. Stearns, which grounded on the Shovelful shoal while on her way to the Delaware Breakwater with a load of ice from Bath, has been abandoned by her crew and will prove a total loss.

Grant's Birthday at Galena.

GALENA, Ill., April 28.—The eleventh successive celebration of Grant's birthday in Galena was held here. Many visitors from towns and cities within a hundred miles of Galena were present.

Weather Probabilities.

Partly cloudy; fresh to brisk winds, mostly east.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

The output of gold this year in the Klondike is estimated at $15,000,000.

The Dunn and Buxton blocks in Rutland, Vt., were burned; loss, $60,000.

One was killed and eleven were hurt by a collision of street cars in St. Louis.

Eleven persons were killed and twenty-five injured in a collision on the Missouri Pacific near Buffalo, Kan.

The New York and New England Steamship company, capital $3,000,000, was incorporated at Trenton, N. J.

Five men were badly burned by molten metal as the result of the explosion of a furnace at Marietta, Pa.

Judge Philips in the United States circuit court at Kansas City temporarily enjoined eight railroads from discriminating against small shippers.

EXPULSION RIOTS IN FRANCE.

Strong Force of Military Necessary to Subdue Peasantry.

PARIS, April 28.—The disturbance at Marseilles around the Capucin convent has broken out again, with much violence, owing to the attempt of a party of Oblate fathers to visit the barricaded convent. The sight of the visitors aroused the anger of the enemies of the congregations, and an attack was made. Clericals hastened to the assistance of the fathers, and a pitched battle between the two parties followed. The police finally rescued the Oblate fathers, and the fighting ceased. A crowd of 3,000 persons, however, remained in the neighborhood of the convent, expressing itself for and against the monks until dark, when the police at last succeeded in dispersing it.

The monks at La Roche-sur-Foron were arrested, and a strong force of infantry and cavalry surrounded the monastery and held the crowd of angry peasants in check while the door of the building was battered in. The monks offered no further resistance and were placed in prison at Bonneville.

At Nantes seven Capucins have been sentenced by the court to pay fines for refusing to close their convents. A crowd of 2,000 persons escorted the Capucins from the court, cheering them and shouting, "Long live the brothers!" and "Long live liberty!"

Three Months of Accidents.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—The interstate commerce commission has issued a bulletin on railroad accidents for the three months ended Dec. 31, 1902. It shows that during that period in train accidents 266 persons were killed and 2,788 injured. Accidents of other kinds, including those sustained by employees while at work and by passengers in getting on and off cars, etc., bring the total number of casualties up to 938 killed and 11,873 injured. The damage to cars and engines and road bed by these accidents amounted to $2,462,056.

Archie Roosevelt Out Again.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Archie Roosevelt, who has been confined to his rooms at the White House for several weeks with an attack of measles, went out for a drive yesterday with his mother, his first outing since taken sick.

COATS AND COSTUMES.

Short Coats—Three-quarter Coats. Plain Gored Skirts.

The little coats this year are remarkably smart. Many of them are built of glace silk or the still more serviceable peau de sole.

Boleros of every shape and all variations are with us still. Many of them are built with the long stole fronts, which afford a splendid opportunity for the display of choice embroidery.

Short sack coats are made of moire trimmed with lace, oriental embroidery, tassels, etc.

Biscuit and putty colored cloth three-quarter coats are lined with white satin and have watteau plaited backs and box plaited fronts.

The plain much gored skirt reigns supreme for most of the new woolen goods, while those who prefer variety will find an infinity of styles in the hip yoke box plaited or gathered skirts, but in all the skirts the front width is still quite narrow and usually kept plain.

The tailor made in the illustration is of blue cloth having a thread of white. The jacket has the effect of several layers, each layer being bordered with braid. The skirt has a plain front gore and the rest laid in layers edged with the braid. JUDIC CHOLLET.

CHANGES IN FASHION.

The Elbow Sleeve No Longer Used In Waists—Black Evening Gowns.

The elbow sleeve seems to be a thing of the past as far as the separate waist goes. All the new sleeves are long and have full puffs. Some of the prettiest blouses are shirred in bands across the bust and the tops of the arms, below which the fullness is allowed to flare.

Quaint old fashioned berthas of lace renovate many an old waist where the difficulty is tightness across the shoulders or a lack of length on the shoulder seam.

There is just at present a craze for all black, especially in thin stuffs for evening wear. Jet paillettes are used more than ever, and entire robes of this are fitted very closely as to skirt, with fluffy effects of chiffon on the waist and puffs to the sleeves.

Gowns of rose pink chiffon are worked in coral beads and present a charmingly dainty effect.

The coffee coat in the illustration is of pale blue mousseline de soie and ecru lace insertion with a wide edging for the frill at the bottom of the waist portion and sleeves. JUDIC CHOLLET.

Westlake's Gossip of Amateur and Professional Sports

BILLIARDS~

EDWARD C. REIN.

WITH a world's amateur record before him if he made the score of one button, Edward C. Rein, a Chicago board of trade man stood close to the billiard table while a big throng of merchants, professional men and enthusiastic billiardists watched with "bated breath."

"Oh, I never could take advantage of opportunities," said Mr. Rein, and he missed the shot. As it was he concluded his balk-line game an easy victor, with an average of 12½, better figures than any amateur ever made in competition before with the exception of the average of Wayman McCreery, the late billiardist of St. Louis. As a matter of fact Mr. McCreery was rated as a professional by nearly all critics because he played openly for stakes and occasionally refereed matches for compensation.

"How does it seem to have a chance to excel any other amateur's mark?" asked Mr. Rein after the game. "Well, to tell the truth, I did not think of that average. I don't think any player who is absorbed in a contest thinks of his average at the time he is playing. The spectators were more excited than I was. At the particular moment that I had to make that point to beat McCreery's record, no one could guess what I was thinking about. If you had 100 guesses you could not tell what was uppermost in my thoughts—what occupied my mind more than the draw shot I had to execute. I had a very important matter before the directory of the board of trade which I was going to attend to the following day, and that came up before my vision every time I shot. Strange that it did not affect my play. Finally it was ushered into the background of my mind, and the picture of a letter from my son who is at college, took its place. I saw the sentence in which he told me about joining a Greek letter fraternity society, and when I actually shot I muttered under my breath, 'When he gets as old as I am and wears that fraternity pin, he will live over again all the pleasant days spent at the University of Illinois whenever he meets a fraternity brother.' Then someone told me I had just missed making a world's record at amateur billiards.

"I have played the game a great many years. Perhaps if I had applied myself to business as earnestly as I have to mastering details of balk-line, I might have progressed much further in my calling. But as a matter of fact there is nothing like the game of billiards for mental recreation."

SKATING

Tandem Formation

FIGURE skating has gone out of vogue. The latest craze among skaters all over the country is the "tandem formation," and the parks in the cities and river surfaces in the country are merry sights with these groups of skaters their Tam o' Shanters and stocking caps of many colors and their white mittens, tacking from side to side as they glide along. The old style of forming into line—company front, so to speak, with the skaters taking hold of hands, seems to have become obsolete. And what a blessing it has been to the police who take care of the ice in the city parks! A dozen or more skaters sweeping down like this menaced the small boys who could not get out of their way.

"The rhythm of the tandem formation so much in vogue this winter," said a park superintendent, "is somewhat poetical. It makes the youthful skaters think there is a greater amount of fun to be gleaned from the sport than we even got in our young days, and presents the very poetry of motion that the writers have raved over. I think the Canadians were quickest to see the advantage of the tandem formation—tandem in style even if there are more than two in line—and in the parks of the big cities of the United States the style is all the go now. If the young man and his sweetheart want to speed around the park or on the river, they will find the tandem formation augments speed, produces a restful feeling, because of the ryhthmatic motion, and if the skates are sharp, enables the skaters to develop much more speed than under the old style of crossing arms and holding hands. Another way for two skaters to use the tandem is for the girl who stands in front, say, to put her arms back so that the young man may clutch them above the elbows."

That figure and fancy skating, so much the rage a few years ago, has gone by the board is palpable. The national figure skating championships have been discontinued. G. D. Phillips, for several years the speed and figure skating champion—he held either the speed or figure championship during the interval between 1867 and 1897, no less than 22 years—says that ice hockey has eliminated the desire to excel in figure skating. The figure skater uses a curved skate with a small pivot for the toe, whereas the skate in vogue now is the flat skate that gives a firm footing. It is difficult to execute curves with the hockey skate. With the rockered skate that presents one-third of the surface to the ice, the graceful skater may make all sorts of curly marks on the ice. Where hundreds of these skates were used five years ago the racing skate with a blade 18 inches long and only an eighth of an inch wide, seems to have crowded the old style skate out. Once the skater gets accustomed to the racing skate he forsakes the rockered skate for good.

Ugh, no more football

UNCLE SAM'S wards may be tempted to shake off the agency blanket to adopt the neat attire of the government school at Carlisle, Pa., by the promise of an education, but there is to be no glitter and glamor of fame gained in football togs. The commandant at the Indian school is said to be so opposed to gridiron and other strenuous athletic sports that there is little probability of Carlisle having its customary strong eleven this fall.

Indians who complete the school course may drift back to their respective tribes, become indolent, careless and even indifferent to educational advantages, but it will not be said of a Redwater, a Metoxen, a Standing Bear, etc., that football was the cause of his retrogression to his primal state. If the authorities at Carlisle carry out their intention to refrain from scheduling contests with Harvard, Yale, Pennsy—all the prominent colleges and universities of the east—the redmen who go to that school will suffer a hard blow. It is the opinion of countless numbers of the big eastern universities that the heydey of athletics at the Indian school brought great advantages to the redmen of the athletic squad that years of life spent on the reservation could not afford. The polish gained by the Indian who traveled with the Carlisle Indian football team, put up at good hotels and fraternized with the college boys, will be lost. Doubtless in the past the incentive gained by Indians of that school to pursue higher ideals and get into the business world, came originally from association with college men. At its best Carlisle ranks no higher than a high school in its educational merit, and to remove the football team will be to take away from some of the Indians opportunities for mental broadening that the school otherwise will not give them.

Carlisle has had some great teams—who does not recall Capt. Bemus Pierce and his brother Hawley Pierce—Wheelock, the giant linesman; Metoxen, the human battering ram, whose fullback work was never equaled by any plunger in college; Seneca and Quarterback Hudson, the only redman who ever mastered the drop kick? The Pierces made their appearance in the indoor football contests at New Year's in New York, but have retired to private life again. Metoxen, with his shaggy hair, his shoulders that were broader than those of Wisconsin's great halfback, Harry Cochems, is teaching school in California, and Hudson is still working in a bank in Pittsburg.

Metropolitan Jockey Club Opens.

NEW YORK, April 28.—The inaugural meeting of the new Metropolitan Jockey club was ushered in at Jamaica yesterday, and 15,000 persons saw William C. Whitney's bay colt Blackstock, ridden by Fuller and quoted at 8 to 1 in the betting, win the rich Excelsior handicap, the feature of the card. The favorite, Heno, admirably ridden by Martin, finished second. The new Metropolitan Jockey club could not have had a better day for its opening. The track was in first class condition, considering that it was a new one. Jockey Fuller carried off the riding honors, piloting three winners. Two favorites won.

Odell Signs Game Law.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 28.—Governor Odell has signed Senator Armstrong's bill forbidding the sale of grouse and woodcock taken within this state. The bill was passed upon the urgency of the organized sportsmen of the state and in spite of the opposition of many members of both houses who insisted that it was unjust to the natives of counties in which these birds are found and who shoot them for a living. The sportsmen contend that the market hunters are destroying the supply of these birds in this state.

St. Louis Races.

ST. LOUIS, April 28.—Sylvia Talbot, Glen Water and Sir Christopher were the winning favorites of a fair card at Kinloch park. Sylvia Talbot had to do her best to beat out Bridge a nose on the post. Glen Water had a rough passage down the stretch, being forced to plow his way through between Booster and Kitty Clyde, who had him nearly shut off. Sir Christopher had an easy thing in the closing event.

Oakland Races.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 28.—The best contested race at Oakland was the fourth, at a mile and seventy yards. Ishtar and Kenilworth set the pace the greater part of the way, but in the stretch the filly faltered. Byron Rose came with a rush and won by a head from Mocorito. Rose of May proved a surprise by taking the six furlong event at odds of 30 to 1; weather fine; track fast.

New Free Delivery Ordered.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—First Assistant Postmaster General Wynne has issued the following order: "Special delivery mail addressed to bona fide patrons on rural routes will be delivered by rural carriers at patron dwellings without regard to their distances from the routes. A bona fide patron of the rural service is one who has properly erected on a rural route a mail box which has received the approval of the post office department for use on such routes."

Alleged Bank Thief Taken.

TOLEDO, O., April 28.—The police have received word of the arrest of C. C. Delworth at Marion, Ind., on the charge that he was an accomplice in the $3,000 bank robbery at Portage, O., on Saturday. He has only one eye and other peculiarities that accord with the description given of one of the robbers.

SPORTING NEWS

ON THE DIAMOND.

The Alis Club will open the baseball season on Crescent Oval Saturday, May 9, with the Star Athletic Club team of Newark. This team is one of the strongest in the State.

A ball game had been arranged between the City High School and the High School team from Bloomfield for tomorrow afternoon. It has been postponed for several reasons and therefore the High School has an open date.

The American Field Club administered defeat to the National Juniors on Hope Common yesterday afternoon. The score was 22 to 15. Hurth and Conklin formed the battery for the Americans and Ayers and Stanbury for the Juniors.

Manager Cose's Y. M. A. colts, who were worsted by the Cuban Giants last Saturday, will have a try at the Scotch Plains' team, Saturday. In the meantime the team will be greatly strengthened and good, hard practice will be the order on every possible occasion.

A New York bluecoat the other day detected a man at the Polo grounds stealing off with an "over-the-fence" ball and placed him under arrest. He was fined in the police court. The matter might be borne in mind by local guardians of the peace attending the major games.

Westfield opens its home season, Saturday, when it will meet the crack Seventh Regiment team. The Westfield Standard says Company K, of Plainfield, will attend in full uniform Enthusiasm runs high in the town and the chances are good for a record breaking crowd. Recreation Park, where the games are held, has recently been enclosed with a high fence.

The Alis team will open the season, Saturday, by crossing bats with the St. Mary's on the latter's grounds. Under Manager McLaughlin the Alis men have gotten themselves in fine fettle and they may be expected to put up a fine article of ball. Dupee and Barnes will probably be their battery while Manager Comerford has an equally strong pair that may be counted upon for good work.

The City High School baseball team will meet the Khiani Club, of Princeton, a sophomore eating club, on Stillman Field tomorrow afternoon. The game will be called at 3:45.

Ira Guy Holly, recently signed as shortstop, Manager McLaughlin, of the Alis Club, thinks he has a cracker jack and a sure winner. He is a New York man and has played on many of the leading Metropolitan teams, all of which recommend him highly. He will make his appearance Saturday. Arthur Lederer, who was one of the most valuable men on the St. Mary team last season, will wear the Alis uniform. He is slated for left field but may swing over to second on occasions.

BASKET BALL.

The Y. M. C. L. team, of Elizabeth, will visit this city, tonight, and play a game with the Hope Y. M. A. in its gymnasium. The contest will start at 8:30 and ample accommodation has been made for visitors. In the first game, the Y. M. C. L. was defeated.

ANNUAL MUSICALE.

At the Seventh-Day Baptist Church Thursday Evening.

The ninth annual musicale of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Seventh-Day Baptist church will be held in that church Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

The many friends of Mrs. Alice Holmes Faxon will be disappointed to learn that she will be unable to keep her engagement to sing at this time on account of illness in her family. The committee has been fortunate, however, in securing Mrs. E. M. Milke, of Jersey City, who is a popular soloist for the New York Rubenstein Club and whose voice is most pleasing.

Spring Time in Washington.

Washington is a typical spring resort and its bustle is purely social and political. There are gathered in the Capital representatives of every nation and country, and their comings and goings are of no little interest. Then the doings of the Senate and House are features which every tourist delights in following, and these features together with the visits to the numerous public buildings keep one busy all the while one is in Washington. The Royal Blue Line of which the New Jersey Central is the initial road is going to operate an excursion to Washington on May 7, and cost of tickets for the three days' excursion including all expenses is $12. Train leaves New York at 1 p. m., and arrives in Washington at 6:10 p. m. If you want to know about the trip drop a postal to C. M. Burt, general passenger agent, New York City, for tour book. Free for the asking.

GUARANTEED.

That word means something, when it is backed by the $5,000,000 capital and surplus of the

FIDELITY TRUST COMPANY.

It means for you an easy mind if you have one of those guarantees covering the title to your premises.
The man, who does business the way it was done a generation ago, is surely on the road to failure. This is an age of progress. There has been progress in methods of conveyancing as well as in other lines. Out of the need for something less uncertain than a lawyer's certificate and a lawyer's responsibility, has grown up the system of policies of insurance, or guarantees of title by companies with large capital and a force, specially trained in the work.
There is none better in this line than

THE FIDELITY TRUST COMPANY OF NEWARK, N. J.

It has an agency at Elizabeth for conducting Union County business. Rates will be given on application at its office, No. 215 Broad Street, and an investigation of its resources and methods is invited.

SOMETHING FOR NOTHING

DESIRE TO GET IT CAUSES IMMORALITY IN BUSINESS.

First of Series of Special Sermons by Dr. Hall at Crescent Avenue Church.

Rev. Dr. Thomas C. Hall, of Union Theological Seminary, preached Sunday at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church on the "Redemption of Business Life," it being one of a series of sermons which he will preach each Sunday evening at that church. The two themes for the remainder of the sermons are "The Redemption of the Political Life" and the "Redemption of a Life Lived for Pleasure."

Taking his text from the Book of Romans, chapter 12, Dr. Hall led his hearers up to his points by comparing the times when the book was written to the present. He said that as early as the foundation of the Roman Empire men traded and bartered. It seems to be natural to buy and sell and to try to get something for which they paid nothing. Drawing down to the present time he said that commercialism of today means something entirely foreign to what it really is. Commerce is the pulse of the world he said and it will some day be the forerunner of the new Kingdom.

In speaking of business and business men he said that no man had any private business. What they have, are and do are all related to God very directly. A man's business, he said, may be private as far as the public interest is best attained. Business is a trust, the speaker affirmed, placed in a man to lift up the condition of those with whom he comes in contact and if a man would best transact his private business he would do well to try to lift up business methods and the body politic by pursuing fair means and honest.

Opportunity is given to people in order to better serve Jesus Christ and the public, Dr. Hall declared. "We are not here to exploit our fellow men but to uplift him."

The speaker asked what was wrong in gambling and answered his question by saying it was the desire to get something without paying something for it, of trading something equivalent in value. Business to be redeemed must be lifted up above the desire to best the man with whom one is trading and to get something for nothing.

The desire to get something without giving something in return is the great soure of immorality in business. The speaker said that the best way to gain redemption in business was to lift business to a higher plane and to transact it, not as though it was a private affair but as a trust given by God.

FAILED TO PROVE.

The Charge of Bigamy Against George Jones Was Dismissed.

The case of Mrs. Jones against her husband, George Jones, on a charge of bigamy, was called before Justice Mosher last evening at 7:30 o'clock. As the plaintiff was unable to prove her charge the case was dismissed. James Brooks and Mrs. Caradona Brown were the only two witnesses for the plaintiff and they knew very little. Mr. Jones was represented by Lawyer H. C. Runyon, while Lawyer W. G. DeMeza represented the plaintiff.

Fell Off Horse.

Edward Allen, son of Mrs. Christine Allen, of 18 Lincoln place, was injured yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock by falling from the back of a horse on Somerset street. The animal was a gentle one or the boy would have been trampled. The lad lost his balance and fell beneath the horses's hoofs. His ankle was sprained.

Collided With Carriage.

The young son of DeWitt Brokaw, of Sycamore avenue, was injured Saturday evening while riding his bicycle. He collided with a carriage and was thrown off sustaining injuries to his head and hands. The wheel was wrecked.

TO CONTROL THE PRIMARIES

PLAN OF REPUBLICAN BOSSES UNDER THE NEW LAW.

Claimed They Will Circumvent Its Objects by the Use of a Blanket Petition.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, April 28—A plan has been evolved by the Republican county bosses by which it is believed the control of primaries and nominations can be successfully retained by the machines without difficulty under the new primary law. The act provides for nominations of candidates to be voted upon at the primaries for nomination or delegates honors by the filing of petitions with the county clerks ten days before the date of the primary election.

The idea of the plan was to allow independent candidates to be placed in nomination for the party nominations and to have these names placed on the official primary ballots, giving them the same chance as machine candidates. Theoretically, this plan will be put into practice. Practically, the bosses think they have found a means of circumventing any domination of their primaries by independent voters.

The scheme by which this is to be accomplished is a blanket petition. Instead of having each delegate or candidate indorsed for a place on the primary ticket by a separate petition and a separate set of petitioners, the machine's slate is to be made up as usual, and all the candidates for nomination from an election district are to be named on one petition. With the assistance of the county clerk, it is planned, the names on the machine slate are to be printed at the head of the list of nominations for their respective officers on the official ballot. Then the official ballots will be purchased beforehand by the machine in sufficient numbers and far enough ahead to allow the proper candidates to be checked on the tickets before they are put in the hands of voters.

When the district is doubtful and deals or purchase of votes is necessary to carry through any one or more candidates, certain combinations of checks on the candidates for various offices will be arranged to enable the machine leaders to keep tabs on the result from the votes cast, and to ascertain whether the prearranged deals have been carried out according to agreement.

DOINGS AT SEA GIRT.

Camp Grounds Are Being Made Ready for National Rifle Matches —New Church Erected.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Sea Girt, April 28—Sea Girt is not far behind the neighboring resorts in the way of improvements and development.

The new Episcopal church, St. Uriel, has just been opened for services. The camp grounds are in course of preparation for the reception of the State troops and look more beautiful than ever. The rifle ranges are already well patronized, and the targets will soon experience an almost ceaseless fire by aspiring marksmen. Notices are already posted announcing the national match to be shot September 8 and 9.

The drives and roadways are in excellent condition, a number of cottages are already in evidence, and the hotels are rapidly being renovated and made ready for the usual crowd of summer patrons.

Life Insured for $2,000,000.

The Prudential Insurance Company, through its Philadelphia agents, has insured L. Rodman Wanamaker, son of John Wanamaker, for $1,000,000. The premium on the insurance is over $30,000 a year. This makes Mr. Wanamaker one of the most heavily insured private individuals in the world, as he carries policies for $3,000,000. His insurance is said to be exceeded only by that of King Edward VII. John Wanamaker, his father, carries policies aggreating $1,500,000, and John M. Mack carries $1,250,000, of which $1,000,000 was placed recently.

Settled With Central.

Claims Agent John K. Large, of the New Jersey Central, yesterday settled with Miss Carrie J. Drake, of 118 North avenue, for personal injuries sustained in the wreck at Westfield in January. The settlement was very satisfactory to Miss Drake.

WANT DRAWS CLOSED.

Attempt to Have Them Closed During Rush Hours.

A special board of engineers is to meet tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock at the Army building in New York City for the purpose of considering the matter of closing the drawbridges over Newark Bay and the Passaic and Hackensack rivers during the rush hours of the morning and evening. The delay and consequent annoyance to commuters from New Jersey resulting from the opening of the drawbridges at these times caused the Merchants' Association of New York to register a complaint with the War Department and the result is tomorrow's meeting. It is expected that the desired change will be a gain in time and money both to employers and employes.

KNITTING MILL BURNED.

New Brunswick Has Another Big Fire With $20,000.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, April 28—Fire destroyed the Marsh Knitting and Hosiery Company on Hardenburgh street, yesterday afternoon, entailing a loss of almost $20,000. The building and contents were insured.

No one seems to know just how the fire started but it is believed that it was caused by a hot box on a shafting beneath the flooring. All the fire companies in the city were called out but owing to the oily condition of the floors and walls the fire gained considerable headway and the building was soon burned to the ground. Adjoining buildings were saved.

"CELLAR GANG" READY FOR FIRST SHOVEL

Mayor Smalley Will Wield It at the Sound of the Borough Fire Bell at 7 o'Clock.

WITH MUCH CEREMONY

"CELLAR GANG" MAKES GREAT PLANS FOR STARTING NEW ENGINE HOUSE.

After the First Shovel Full of Earth is Lifted, the Members Will Enjoy An Entertainment at the Old Engine House.

The fire bell on the Warren engine house will be rung tomorrow evening but instead of it being for a fire it will serve as the signal for the digging of the first shovelful of earth for the new fire engine house on Somerset street. Mayor Newton B. Smalley, whose untiring efforts on behalf of the firemen has resulted after over a year's delay in securing a headquarters for the borough department, will ply the shovel and it will be the signal, in turn, for all the members of the "cellar gang" to start the work which will be finished in about two weeks by Mobus Brothers, to whom the "cellar gang" has given the contract for excavating for the foundation.

The bell will sound at about 7 o'clock and after the work has been fairly started the members of the company and West End Hose Company will repair to the rooms over the Warren engine house where a social and entertainment will be enjoyed. A smoker will be a feature of the evening and it is probable that speeches will be made by borough officials and members of the company. Refreshments will be served.

The contract for the digging of the foundations was let Friday evening and the cost of the work will be about $175. The exact amount will not be known until after the work is completed as the work was given out at a price per square yard. A carload of brick is on the way here from Elizabeth and Contractor J. H. Snyder, the mason, has ordered a carload of cement which will probably arrive next week.

A feature of the evening will be a parade which will be held by the members of the Warren and West End Hose Companies, headed by the Independent Fife and Drum Corps. In the parade will be nearly all the borough officials and each member of the "cellar gang" will carry a pick or shovel.

The conference was opened by the Bishop in a few well-chosen words. This was followed by the roll-call.

WANTED TO SQUARE THINGS.

"Conjunction" Jones Appropriated Crate of Eggs to Square Accounts.

Professor Walter H. Jones, who refuses to listen when he's called "Conjunction," pleaded not guilty before Justice Huff, this morning, to stealing a crate of eggs from Kussel Sacher's grocery store. He simply took them, he said, to square accounts, because Kussel owed him $1.50 for kalsomining a room. Justice Huff didn't look at it in the same way and the professor was held in $250 bail for the Grand Jury.

Committee for Dance.

A meeting of the dance committee of the Independent Gun Club was held Monday evening when arrangements were finally completed for the ball which will be given at Saengerbund Hall, Monday evening, May 4. Maher, James White, Michael Quinn, Horace J. Martin, J. E. Flannery, George Sipp, Jeremiah Connors, W. L. Sharkey and Joseph Carver. The new scheme will go into effect this coming Saturday. It was done with a view to allowing the employes of these shops to attend the baseball games.

A distinguished party of State officials, including State Treasurer F. O. Briggs, Col. Samuel Dickinson, of Jersey City; Dr. Clark, Medical Director Evans and Warden M. K. Everitt, of the State Hospital, Morris Plains; Daniel Voorhees, county clerk of Morris county; State Senator Welch of German Valley, Benjamin V. Leigh, cashier Clinton National Bank; City Clerk James T. MacMurray, accompanied by Dr. J. Zeglio, president; Fred Sandford, vice president; Clarence Teel, secretary; J. A. Staats, treasurer; A. I. Smalley, S. B. Wheeler, B. G. H. Leonard and Craig A. Marsh, of the Watchung Spring Water Company, and Mayor N. B. Smalley, Rev. Father Egan, H. C. VanEmburgh and Assemblyman William Newcorn, met at the Hotel Kensington yesterday afternoon from which place they drove to the springs of the Watchung Spring Water Company. There an inspection of the springs was made. All expressed themselves as being exceedingly well pleased with the plant and the quality of the water produced.

After the inspection the party adjourned to Pedeflous' Hotel, where a mushroom dinner was enjoyed at the expense of the Watchung Spring Water Company. As the water from this spring is used in the State Capitol, as well as at the State Hospital, Morris Plains, the representatives were desirous of learning more about it. They expressed themselves as being thoroughly satisfied with the water and much praise was bestowed upon the company's plant, as being a model one.

EQUAL SUFFRAGISTS.

No Election but Listen to Reports at Annual Meeting Yesterday Afternoon.

At the annual meeting of the Equal Suffrage League, of Plainfield and North Plainfield, yesterday afternoon, the affairs of the association were reported in a flourishing condition. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, who was visiting in Orange, Mrs. Isaac L. Miller, the vice president and auditor, presided.

According to the constitution of the league, the officers are elected for two years and consequently the present incumbents hold over for another year as follows: Mrs. Florence H. Hall, president; Mrs. Isaac L. Miller, vice president and auditor; Mrs. Samuel Huntington, treasurer; Mrs. William Patton, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Harold Duras, recording secretary. The reports of the officers were read, that of Mrs. Huntington, the treasurer, being read in her absence, as she was unable to attend owing to the death of her brother.

It was announced that the membership of the organization had increased largely during the year. Four meetings were held, two of them informal parlor meetings which were of much service in increasing the interest and adding to the membership. Many exmembers have resumed their allegiance to the club and the outlook in general is most encouraging.

The last meeting of the season is to be held May 13 at Mrs. Isaac L. Miller's. The members will entertain more guests than is customary and the occasion will be of unusual interest.

New Business Quarters.

Owing to the great increase in their business the wholesale clothing firm of T. & G. Mantz will move from the present quarters, 232 West Front street, to the Schepflin building, where they have rented larger rooms. Mantz Brothers have been located at their present place of business for over ten years, during which time their business has been increasing steadily until they have outgrown their quarters.

HOPE'S LATEST ENTERPRISE

PLANNING AN INDEPENDENCE DAY OUTING TO LAKE HOPATCONG.

Will Take the Place of the County Fair—To Spend the Day at the Lake Instead.

At a special meeting of the Board of Governors of the Hope Y. M. A., held last evening, the members unanimously agreed upon a plan to give the friends of the association a mid-summer's day outing and at the same time add to its revenue. It will be to conduct an excursion at a popular rate to Lake Hopatcong on July 4, the event to take the place of another county fair.

The members have had the idea in embryo ever since returning from last fall's camping trip to the beautiful inland water sheet. All were so fascinated with its many attractions that they resolved to assist their friends and others in viewing them. The excursion plan was decided upon and it is hoped to make arrangements with the New Jersey Central whereby the trip can be taken cheaply and at the same time give the association a profit.

A committee, composed of John H. Cose, William N. Runyon, Thomas Muir and George E. Firstbrook, was appointed to confer with the railroad officials and report at the next regular meeting.

ALMOST A MAY WEDDING

MARRIAGE OF MISS BESSIE BULLMAN AND JOHN HUMMER.

Ceremony Performed at the Bride's Home on East Fifth Street Last Evening.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bullman, of East Fifth street, was the scene, last evening of a very pretty home wedding when their daughter, Bessie, was united in marriage to John Hummer, of Flemington.

The bride was handsomely attired in a costume of white swiss trimmed with lace while the bridemaid, her sister, Miss Caroline Bullman, wore a gown of tan colored material trimmed with pink. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of which the bride is a member. The groom was attended by Charles Palmer.

The wedding was a quiet one. Only near friends of the contracting parties were present. The ceremony was performed in the front parlor where flowers and greens were arranged in an attractive manner. White carnations were distributed tastefully about the room.

The wedding march from "Lohengrin" was played by Miss Elsie Tucker. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Hummer were driven to their new home on Arlington avenue where a reception will be given later.

As the coach left the house someone tied a rope to the rear of the carriage and to the rope was attached a number of tin cans, while a sign read, "Reward if returned to 1077 Arlington avenue."

TRIED TO LIVE UPRIGHT LIFE

So Randolph's Freedom With Revolver Was Forgiven, and He Was Set Free.

PROVOKED BY OTHERS

Admitted His Blame in Drawing the Revolver, But Shot Only to Frighten—Out From State Prison on Parole, and, If Guilty He Would Have to Serve Full Term.

Brought into court this morning to answer to a charge of atrocious assault, Alonzo Randolph, colored, was not only triumphantly acquitted from the charge, but was in addition highly eulogized by Chief Kiely and City Judge Runyon.

The case was remarkable in many of its features. The prisoner, Randolph, went upon the stand to testify in his own behalf and by his direct, simple statement of the case and the unconscious eloquence of his words not only won the sympathy of a crowded court but drew tears from the eyes of many present, including even the young men whom he was charged with assaulting. It was a crisis in the prisoner's life, for had the verdict gone against him he would have been forced to return to State prison to serve out a sentence of six years on a previous offense. Of this sentence he had already served nine years, when in consideration of good behavior, he was released on parole. Since his release, he has, according to all reports, lived a clean life and an adverse decision in the case against him this morning would have set at naught the effects of years of conscientious endeavor to lead an upright life.

The court room was crowded to the extent of its capacity at about 9 o'clock this morning when, before Justice Huff, Randolph pleaded not guilty to a charge of atrocious assault. Monday evening at 8 o'clock, following an encounter between Randolph and two white men, Frank Drake and John Callahan, Randolph, apparently angered beyond endurance by the words and actions of his antagonists, fired a revolver two or three times into the ground, injuring nobody, but causing the wildest excitement and eventually landing him in the custody of the law.

The facts of the case as brought out in the testimony were something as follows: Randolph in passing Callahan and Drake, at the corner of Watchung avenue and East Front street, slightly jostled one of them, both men agreeing that the action was apparently accidental. Hot words followed, Drake seizing the negro by the arms and threatening him. Randolph drew back at this, ordered his assailant to desist and fired the shots into the ground, all of the testimony agreeing on this latter most important point.

Following B. G. H. Leonard, who asserted that Randolph fired at no one in particular, James Conway, Thomas Caulfield, Peter Benford, Drake and Callahan agreed on the essential facts as stated above.

Randolph, in taking the stand, asserted that vile and abusive language was used against him and that, after having been roughly handled, he drew back, provoked beyond endurance, and fired the shots in his own defense. He was in the habit of carrying a revolver, he said, for protection while employed in driving a van to New York City, although he had not received a permit for so doing. He was about to engage in his occupation as van driver when assaulted Monday evening.

Judge Runyon and Chief Kiely testified to Randolph's good conduct, since released from State prison. The verdict of not guilty was returned to the evident delight of all present.

The case against Callahan and Drake will come up for trial in the city court, Friday morning, Callahan having made his disappearance after the announcement of the verdict, under the impression that he was summoned as a witness only. They are charged with disorderly conduct.

Little Blaze in Store.

Fire, caused by spontaneous combustion, threatened to destroy the store of Herman Keller, tobacconist, and Adolphus Emery, bicycle repairer, of Somerset street, last evening at 7 o'clock. Luckily it was discovered just in time and was extinguished before any serious damage was done. The walls were scorched.

THE BURNETT-RALLI WEDDING

A BIG SURPRISE FOR PLAINFIELDERS WHO KNEW THEM BOTH.

Former Residents of This City Married in New York Very Quietly Yesterday Afternoon.

Many Plainfield society people will be interested in the announcement of the marriage of Mrs. Julia Townsend Burnett, daughter of the late Edward A. Lawrence, of Bayside, L. I., and widow of Major Robert L. Burnett, formerly of Plainfield, to Constantine P. Ralli, formerly of Netherwood. The marriage was celebrated yesterday afternoon at the Church of the Transfiguration, New York, and was a very quiet affair, there being present only about a half dozen friends of the couple.

Mr. Ralli is a member of the Greek family of that name, who for years have been prominent in banking circles in England and the United States. He was for many years managing clerk in the house of Brown Brothers, of New York and Philadelphia. He is a cousin of the late Stephen Ralli and of Hon. Richard Moreton, master of the ceremonies of King Edward VII, and also a brother of Theodore Ralli, now of London. Mr. and Mrs. Ralli left at once for a wedding trip.

Mrs. Burnett was a resident of Plainfield for some time and was prominent in society affairs.

HORSE KNOCKED HER DOWN

MRS. GEO. F. BROWN SERIOUSLY INJURED ON WATCHUNG AVENUE.

Horse, Frightened at Trolley Car, Began to Plunge—Knocked Her Down, Trampled On Her.

Mrs. George F. Brown, wife of the borough tax collector and real estate dealer of Grove street, was thrown down and severely injured yesterday afternoon at the corner of East Fifth street and Watchung avenue in front of Neuman Brothers grocery store, by a horse attached to a two-wheel cart driven by Miss Margaret Lowe, daughter of W. E. Lowe, of Park avenue. The injured woman was taken into the Woman's Exchange on the corner where Dr. D. C. Adams was called in and dressed her injuries. Mrs. Brown was later taken to her home in North Plainfield in a cab.

The accident was caused by a trolley car. Miss Lowe was driving the rig with the coachman sitting beside her. As the carriage passed the store a car started to turn into Watchung avenue. The grating of the wheels on the track frightened the animal which stepped aside and reared suddenly knocking Mrs. Brown, who was standing on the cross walk, to the ground. The horse, more frightened than ever, began to trample on the woman until the coachman took the lines and guided the animal to one side.

Several gashes were sustained by Mrs. Brown on the head and her body was somewhat bruised. She is suffering from the shock although she is not dangerously injured.

MISHAPS AND MISFITS.

Lecture by Rev. G. C. Wilding at Monroe Avenue M. E. Church Last Evening.

Under the auspices of the literary committee of the Monroe Avenue church Epworth League, Rev. George B. Wilding, of Elizabeth, delivered his humorous lecture, last evening, styled "Mishaps and Misfits." It was enjoyed and laughed at by a large audience. Previous to the talk piano selections were given by Clifford Braider and solos by Wilson Derby.

Doctor Wilding was at one time a presiding elder in West Virginia and pastor of several of the churches. His lecture was a synopsis of his experiences during that time with the Virginian mountaineers and as may be surmised were comical at times. Practically shut out from the rest of the world their innocence furnished many an amusing incident and Dr. Wilding has selected the best.

Walter M. McGee presided during the evening and introduced the speaker.

Public Meeting.

All property owners in the borough are urged to be present this evening in Saengerbund Hall, where the sewer commission will give a public hearing to all those who have reasons why the sewer system should or should not be put through. The commission comprises: B. A. Hegeman, Jr., Elston M. French, C. Smith and David T. Kenney.

Mrs. George A. Chapman, of Stelle avenue, has gone south on a trip of some length.

COLLAPSED AT WORK.

Miss Cutter, Injured in the Westfield Disaster, Taken Ill in New York.

Miss Lizzie Cutter, of Sandford avenue, who was seriously injured about the head in the Westfield disaster, and who recently returned to her position with the Bank of Manhattan Company, of New York, was taken ill at her desk yesterday and was accompanied to her home and her physician, Dr. Zeglio, summoned. Miss Cutter was too anxious to return to her position before she was sufficiently strong enough and yesterday's collapse will probably set her back for a long time.

VISITORS NEVER SCORED

HOPE BOYS BURIED TEAM FROM ELIZABETHPORT LAST EVENING.

Despite Their Rough Tactics the Visitors Were Completely Outclassed—Beaten 47 to 0.

A farce comedy in two acts was presented at the Hope Y. M. A. gymnasium, last evening, by the Hope basket ball team and the team from the Elizabeth Y. M. C. L. At the end of the first act the score was 33 to 0 in favor of Hope and the final score was 47 to 0 in favor of the home team.

The visitors were simply outplayed at every point and not once during the game did they have the slightest show of winning. The most phenomenal playing was done by Dilks in the first half, when he threw eleven goals from the field. He practically had no opposition and placed the ball in the basket without any trouble. This so demoralized the visitors that they could not recover. There was considerable rough playing. Several times during the game the referee was obliged to call fouls on the Elizabeth players for talking when they showed a decided inclination to find fault with the some of the decisions.

The second half was not so productive of goals, the play being a decided improvement over the first half. It was this same team that the Hope five defeated at Elizabeth last week by a score of 29 to 19

The line-up was as follows:

Hope.		Y. M. C. L.
Porter	rf	H. O'Brien
Dilks	lf	Bradley
Whitley	c	Kannab
McCombe	rg	Noonan
Chamberlain	lg	J. O'Brien

Score—Hope, 47; Y. M. C. L., 0. Goals from the field—Dilks (12), Porter (3), Whitley (2), Chamberlain (2), McCombe (2). Goals on foul—Whitley (2), McCombe (2), Porter (1). Fouls—Hope, 6; Y. M. C. L., 12. Referee—Charles Burdette Morse. Umpires—Dr. W. K. Browning and Thomas Earl. Timekeeper—Thomas O'Donnell. Scorer—W. C. Dobbins and G. E. Firstbrook.

CLOSING DANCE.

Members and Friends of the Lenox Euchre Club Spent Pleasant Evening at the Casino.

Seventy couples enjoyed the evening last night at the Casino where the Lenox Euchre Club closed its season with a dance. The music was provided by Westervelt's orchestra from Newark. Many of the members were present with friends from Westfield, Somerville and other nearby places.

The members of the club wore carnations, the men wearing white carnations and the women wearing red. The members of the committee wore pink carnations. During the intermission refreshments of cake and ice cream were served. In order to assure a pleasant evening to all those who attended card games were arranged by the committee for the benefit of those who did not care for dancing and many took advantage of this form of amusement.

The dance was a success in every way and the committee, which had the arrangements in charge, comprised Armstrong Mulford, Harry W. Leek, Mrs. I. M. Tillapaugh, Mrs. Harry W. Leek and Miss Amy Hodges and Henry Piker, of Westfield.

WORKING ON ASBURY PARK'S BOARD WALK

Improvements Now Under Way at That Jersey Coast Summer Resort.

LOSING NO TIME NOW

A NEW SYSTEM OF BATH HOUSES WILL RECEIVE CONSIDERATION.

A New Music Pavillion This Spring—Other Minor Details to be Completed June 1—Bigger Plans Contemplated for the Future.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Asbury Park, April 29—Work has been started on a new esplanade. This is one of the improvements which have been contemplated for some time and the zeal with which the new beach commissioners have pushed forward to actualities the suggestions of the committee which was appointed recently to look into the details of certain improvements, has even surprised the people of that place who little realized that the plans set forth would be taken up with practical operations so soon.

Among other improvements it is planned to widen the boardwalk so that at its narrowest point it will be thirty-two feet in width. Former Assemblyman Kirkbride is serving as superintendent of construction and he has placed orders in the south for many thousand feet of Georgia pine which will be used in planking the new boardwalk.

Plans for a handsome new music pavilion have been looked over and will probably be adopted. All the pavilions, bath houses and sun-parlors are to be freshly painted and Mr. Bradley's signs and curios will be removed from the beach. The beach sunshades will be retained.

The commissioners have decided to erect lamp-posts for the electric lights which will be installed along the walk and beach front. The commissioners will bend all their efforts to have the improvements completed by June 1.

Plans for the erection of the casino, which has been proposed will not be considered just yet, a new system of bath houses being of pressing importance. These larger improvements will go over until next fall by which time the commission will have decided upon the entire plan for the beach improvements.

The new esplanade will extend sixteen feet east of the present east line of the walk at Fifth avenue, to the point where the east line of the present walk connects with the Asbury avenue pavilion. The depressions at Fourth and Third avenues and the nooks at various places will be obliterated and the walk will be much wider than it is at present. There will be a considerable depression at Fifth avenue and it is probable that bathers will pass to and from the beach under the walk thus doing away with the wet track of sand across the walk during bathing hours.

An artistic galvanized iron railing will be installed along the eastern side of the walk like that at Atlantic City. Georgia planks two inches thick and six inches wide running lengthwise of the walk will be used for flooring with a quarter of an inch between each board to prevent decay and to give ventilation. Among other changes which the widening of the walk will necessitate will be the removal from the beach entirely of the lion cages which will be placed at Crows Nest.

When the work, already laid out for the coming season has been completed, Asbury Park will take on some of the appearance of what the commissioners have in mind—that is, to make of Asbury Park the finest seaside resort in the world.

Endeavor Meeting.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist church will hold its weekly prayer-meeting Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. The topic will be "What does the parable of the Prodigal Son teach us?" Miss Velma Oakley will be the leader. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Increase in Coal.

The coal operators have notified all local dealers that on June 1 there will be an increase of 50 cents in the price of coal, and the chances are that the present price of $6 per ton will be the lowest this year. Many dealers are now receiving orders for the coming year's supply.

THEATRICAL.

The varied kinds of applause which the "Song of the Cities" in "The Prince of Pilsen" receives at the Broadway theatre is a subject for study. In almost every audience in a New York theatre there are persons from several of the eight principal cities that are represented by as many young women in "The Song of the Cities." When the St. Louis verse is sung the St. Louisans in the audience applaud vigorously; when the Boston verse is sung the applause is reserved and dignified; when reference to Chicago is made the stamping of feet is frequently heard and when Miss Donner, as the New Orleans girl dances to the tune of Dixie sometimes a "Rebel yell" is heard. "The Prince of Pilsen" will begin its seventh week Monday.

Beginning with the vaudeville season of next fall, another variety house will be added to the Keith circuit, making an even half dozen in this country. Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

Largest Burial Parks in the State.

Transportation Facilities superior to those of any other cemetery, as to number of trains, railroad fare, time and distance.

These New Cemeteries, now being developed on the modern park plan, are attracting universal attention.

By Reason of Location Alone they are destined, in a very short time, to become the best-known Cemeteries in the country and, with their natural advantages, the most beautiful and desirable in which to purchase lots.

They are Accessible from every quarter and within easy reach of over 4,000,000 people, and, considering the steady and rapidly increasing growth of Greater New York and its tributary cities and towns, it is only the question of a short time before plots in Rosedale and Linden Park will equal in value those of our most noted cemeteries.

Popular Favor has already been shown to a marked degree in the sale of lots, several hundred having been sold to residents in Elizabeth, Linden, Rahway, Cranford, Jersey City, Orange, Paterson, Westfield, Newark and New York City, and a large number of interments have been made.

In the Days of Happiness we do not know what is to befall us or when the inevitable will occur; therefore, it is a wiser precaution to make provision for a final resting place during health and life than to force the painful duty on one's friends or relatives after death. A place of burial will be needed sooner or later by every one, and no one should neglect selecting a suitable and proper place until future postponement is impossible.

Linden Lodge is the largest, most modern and best equipped Cemetery Lodge in the country, and is provided with every requisite for the comfort and convenience of visitors who come to inspect the properties.

ROOSEVELT IN IOWA

He Praises Secretary Wilson's Good Work.

PRESIDENTIAL KISSES FOR BABIES.

Crosses the State Amid Enthusiastic Thousands and at the Capital Exhorts Americans to Good Citizenship.

OTTUMWA, Ia., April 29.—President Roosevelt dashed across the state of Iowa yesterday and was everywhere met by large and enthusiastic crowds. His speechmaking began at 7 o'clock in the morning, when he made a brief stop at Shenandoah, and his last speech was delivered here shortly after 8 o'clock at night before thousands of people.

His speech here was preceded by a short drive through the city, although his train was late and did not arrive until after dark. He spoke of the good work Secretary Wilson has done in the field of agriculture.

The president had as his guests during the day Governor Cummins and Secretary Shaw and for a part of the day Congressmen Hull and Hepburn. He spent the night here, leaving at 4:30 o'clock this morning for Keokuk, and will arrive at St. Louis this afternoon shortly after 4 o'clock.

One of the largest crowds that has greeted the president since his trip began was waiting for him at Des Moines in the afternoon. He was taken for a long drive through the city and stopped for a moment to address the Mystic Shriners, who were holding a convention there. He then was driven to the capitol, where he made an extended address on good citizenship, incidentally paying a tribute to Congressman Hull for his efforts in securing the new militia law. At Des Moines the president kissed a number of babies. During the drive four mothers, each with a baby in her arms, approached his carriage and handed him bouquets of flowers. They then held the babies up to be kissed, and the president did not disappoint them.

One of the features of the day was the large number of school children that greeted the president. At every place he stopped and at many places where the train did not stop the little people were congregated, waving small American flags. This feature pleased the president very much, and he referred to the children several times.

Stops were made at Shenandoah, Clarinda, Sharpsburg, Van Wert, Osceola, Des Moines, Oskaloosa and Ottumwa. The president is bearing the strain of the trip splendidly, and his face has not yet lost the tan it acquired during his two weeks in Yellowstone park.

Harvester Works' Strike.

CHICAGO, April 29.—Thirty-five hundred men are on strike at the Deering Harvester works. The 2,000 metal workers who quit were joined by 1,500 recruits from other departments. Less than 2,000 men remain at work. Of these the majority are well organized and are said to be waiting for official orders from their unions to walk out. The strikers claim that unless a speedy settlement shall be arranged the entire plant will be tied up.

Strongest Man In College World.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 29.—Kred Foster, Harvard's strong man, has just made a remarkable record under Dr. Sargent's new strength test, his figures being 100,000 foot pounds more than the old record. D. Tyng, the intercollegiate strong man of last year, tried to equal Foster's figures, but failed, so that the latter is undoubtedly the strongest man in the college world. His grand total was 330,213 foot pounds.

OPEN NOTE TO MILES

Major Glenn's Relative Comes to His Defense.

PHILIPPINE REPORT IS CRITICISED.

St. Paul Attorney Says It Is a Remarkable Spectacle That Army's Commander Should Try to Besmirch Brother Officers.

ST. PAUL, April 29.—George C. Squires, an attorney of this city and a brother-in-law of Major Edwin F. Glenn, has written an open letter addressed to General Nelson A. Miles, in which he replies to the strictures upon Major Glenn in General Miles' report upon alleged atrocities in the Philippines. The letter follows:

"Major Glenn, as you are doubtless aware, was tried something over a year ago for administering the so called 'water cure' to a traitorous Filipino. While he was convicted and given a most absurd sentence (a month's suspension from duty, with pay, and a fine of $50), it is an open secret that the court which tried him on the first ballot voted unanimously for acquittal and then, on the suggestion of some member of the court, reconsidered the vote on the theory that an acquittal would be construed in the United States as an official approval of the water cure, but every member of the court signed and attached to the findings a paper in which Major Glenn's conduct in Panay was highly commended and the reviewing authority was requested to exercise clemency.

"On the trial of Major Glenn last January for issuing orders which, it was claimed, resulted in the killing of seven natives, the court after a patient hearing lasting eighteen days unanimously acquitted him, such result being reached within five minutes after the trial was concluded.

"It is a remarkable spectacle that the commanding general of the army of the United States should attempt to besmirch the good names and records of his own brother officers and hold them up to the world as unfit for the positions which they hold.

"If instead of listening to the unsupported statements of irresponsible natives you had taken the trouble to read the sworn testimony in the last trial of Major Glenn, I think even you would have been convinced that the charges of atrocities which you so recklessly lay upon our officers are as nothing compared to the hideous cruelties committed by the Filipinos.

"In conclusion let me suggest that not even your prejudice against the administration or the well founded impression that you went to the Philippines to find fault with existing conditions is a sufficient justification for the general of a great army which has gone through untold hardships and privations to announce to the world upon hearsay and unsworn testimony that his brother officers, graduates of the finest of all military schools, are unworthy of the uniforms which they wear."

The Cause of Smallpox.

BOSTON, April 29.—The announcement of the discovery of the cause of smallpox has been made by Dr. William T. Councilman, professor of pathology in the Harvard medical school, at a meeting of the Boston Society of Medical Science. The announcement is the outcome of the investigations conducted by Dr. Councilman, Dr. George Burgess McGrath and Dr. Walter Remsen Brinckerhoff, with the cooperation of the Boston board of health, during the recent epidemic of the disease in this city. It has been determined that smallpox is caused by a micro organism representative of the lowest form of animal life. This fact serves to relate the disease with malaria and to distinguish it from many other infectious diseases caused by minute forms of vegetable life known as bacteria.

King Edward In Rome.

ROME, April 29.—King Edward and the king of Italy drove yesterday to the Coliseum, the arch of Titus, the Palatine forum and the monument of Victor Emmanuel. King Edward expressed his great admiration of what he saw. Wherever they went the two kings were loudly cheered and received a continuous ovation. A court dinner at which 104 covers were laid was held in the evening. The grand gala theatrical performance in honor of King Edward was attended by the kings of Italy and Great Britain, the royal princes, members of the diplomatic corps, court officials and the elite of Roman society. The house presented a brilliant spectacle. This afternoon at half past 4 King Edward will go to the Vatican.

FRANCHISE TAX LAW

The Act Upheld by Court of Appeals.

APPELLATE DECISION IS REVERSED.

Judge Vann Writes Opinion, Which Was Unanimous—Home Rule Is Not Violated—New York Corporations Must Pay.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 29.—The special franchise tax law has been declared constitutional by the court of appeals by a unanimous vote. Judge Vann wrote the opinion. The court reverses the decision of the appellate division.

This decision is on the appeal of Attorney General Cunneen from the decision of the appellate division of the supreme court of the third department, handed down on Jan. 20 last, declaring the special franchise tax law to be invalid.

The court of appeals sustains the constitutionality of the law as a whole. The appellate division decided that the law was unconstitutional in that it gave the state tax commission instead of the local assessors authority to assess the local franchises.

The court of appeals holds in brief that the legislature in creating a new system of taxation, embracing a new kind of property never taxed before, had the right to intrust the power of making the assessment to state officers and that tangible property, such as rails and poles, which had been formerly taxed by local assessors, was merely incidental to the special franchises and hence that there was no infringement upon local self government.

In his opinion Judge Vann reviews the enactment of the special franchise tax law and the litigation which has followed in the efforts of the corporations to declare this law unconstitutional or unworkable. He also reviews the various constitutions of the state regarding the home rule principle.

This decision means that the corporations will have to pay this tax for four years back, and it has been estimated that it would raise anywhere from $3,000,000 to $4,500,000 annually, so that in back taxes anywhere from $12,000,000 to $18,000,000 is due from the corporations. None of the revenue from the franchise tax go to the state treasury, but all go to the localities in which they are raised.

The cases before the court involved the constitutionality of the so called Ford law of 1899, which imposed a tax on special franchises or the right granted by the state to lay railroad tracks or to erect telegraph and telephone lines in the public highways. The power to make the assessment was conferred upon the state board of tax commissioners instead of upon local assessors, and this was alleged to violate the principle of home rule as intrenched in the constitution. This contention was overruled by Judge Earl, who, acting as referee, decided the cases in the first instance. The appellate division, however, reversed and held by a divided court that the act infringed the home rule provision of the constitution.

European Squadron's Movements.

VILLEFRANCHE, France, April 29.—Rear Admiral Cotton, commander in chief of the United States European squadron, arrived here at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Officers from the Chicago met him at the railroad station and escorted him on board the ship. The admiral hoisted his flag on the Chicago, and salutes were fired by the flagship and the other vessels of the squadron. The squadron, with the exception of the auxiliary cruiser Buffalo, which remains here, sailed at 6 o'clock in the evening for Marseilles.

Providence Man a Suicide.

BOSTON, April 29.—Captain Hopkins of the steamer Admiral Farragut reports that when the steamer was off Highland light, on her way to this city from Port Antonio, Jamaica, one of the passengers, listed as C. Seabury of Providence, R. I., dashed out of his stateroom and, uttering a yell, plunged overboard. Efforts were made to rescue the man, but they were of no avail. His actions were peculiar throughout the passage.

Irish League Wants Sinews of War.

LONDON, April 29.—An appeal has been issued by the United Irish league to Irishmen throughout the world asking them to start immediate subscriptions for the parliamentary fund of 1903. A generous response is necessary to enable the regular attendance of the Irish members and in view of the likelihood of the Irish party gaining control of the destinies of whatever ministry is in power.

FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

Efforts to reform the present generation are right and proper but it is with the rising generation that the greatest efforts should be made. Brought up in the proper manner, the youth of the land will some day exert a mighty influence for good through the land. It is right along this line that the efforts of Miss Curry at her day nursery in New York and her summer fresh-air camp at Netherwood are directed. This movement, which she is carrying forward so bravely with the help of her friends, is therefore entitled to particularly generous treatment at the hands of the Plainfield public.

It is assured that Miss Curry and her little ones from the East Side of New York will be in Netherwood again this summer and that they will be there under much more advantageous conditions than ever before. The scope of the work is gradually being widened and this noble woman is enabled to extend her labors to a greater field. It devolves on the people of Plainfield to assist her. If this is done on as generous scale as before, then the plans for the betterment of the camp will be carried to a successful culmination.

An appeal is made to the local Christian Endeavor Societies to give their support to the camp this summer and it should receive a general response. When Miss Curry was in charge of the Westfield camp, she had the assistance of many of the local societies. Now that the camp is located right within the limits of the city, she should have even more united support.

This does not mean that the other local charities should be neglected in order to aid the Netherwood camp. Miss Curry would be the last one to desire such a thing. There is room, however, for both. Prosperity is smiling on many these days and there should be something which could gladly be given to the home and the gift never felt.

During the time that Homer J. Wightman has been at the head of the borough public schools, he has served that municipality well. Under his direction some great improvements have been made in the borough schools. He has been a valuable man and the members of the North Plainfield Board of Education realize that fact. Other cities have recognized his worth but it is now hoped that the borough educational authorities will be able to retain him at the head of the schools for another year at least.

Somerset county is to have another murder trial. Joseph Erner, the accused, may rest content in the thought that he has one of the ablest lawyers of Somerset county as his counsel. Justice Garretson assigned Former Prosecutor Nelson Y. Dungan as his counsel and the choice could not have been a better one. Those who remember the creditable way Mr. Dungan handled the State's case in the Fingerhuth murder trial will realize that the prisoner in this case will get every possible chance.

The Daily Press has received several communications regarding the new telephone company which lack the signatures of the authors. The articles would be published if we knew the writers but it is a rule of this office never to publish a communication, the author of which is unknown. The letter may have an anonymous name signed to it but, for our own personal knowledge, we require the name of the writer

Honors at the Young Men's Christian Association this season seem to have fallen largely to one young man. Walter McNaughton won the first place in both gymnastic and indoor athletic contests. He is comparatively a newcomer in that work and his rapid development speaks well for the excellent work done at the gymnasium of the local association.

Now that it is assured that the trolley merger will be carried through successfully, everybody is wondering what the effect will be on the local system. As the Plainfield line becomes a part of a larger and larger corporation, the attention that this city receives at the hands of the trolley magnates is appreciably less.

North Plainfield is going to profit by this campaign against truancy in the North Plainfield public schools.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

In a recent number of the Newark Evening News the following praise is given H. S. Barnes, of Rahway, a resident of Plainfield some years ago:

"A gently and steadily shining star in New Jersey's poetry firmament is H. S. Barnes, of Rahway. There are poets in the State who have greater hold on the magazines, but none has a greater hold on Jersey hearts than Mr. Barnes." * * * * * *

"Mr. Barnes writes about the birds, the brooks, the fishing and the children. He writes because he can no more help it than a boy can help shouting. Mr. Barnes is a boy at heart." * * * * * *

"The sweet homey verses from his pen are well known throughout New Jersey. They don't pretend. They echo the every day thoughts the highest and the lowliest of men may feel, and that's enough for any poetry."

Here is a handful of Eastertide blossoms from Mr. Barnes' verse garden:

SO MUCH TO DO.

Awful busy man;
Don't know how to turn;
Lots of things on hand;
Business to burn.
Forty thousand teams
Tearing up the ground:
Armies on the jump;
Shavings flying 'round.
Up since peep o'day,
Working all the while;
Hurrying away,
Hardly time to smile;
Got no time to talk;
Fingers getting cold;
Awful busy man,
Little Four-year old.

LISTEN.

Yes, the world is filled with music:
Full of melody and song.
List! It falls upon the pathway
Of our lives the whole day long.
We may hear it in the dawning
Of the fragrant summer morn,
And again at shade of even'
In the rustle of the corn.
We may hear it in the sighing
Of the maple leaves that rest
'Mid the drooping of the shadows
In the golden tinted west.
We may hear it in the patter
Of the raindrops on the plain,
'Mid the flutter and the waving
Of the ripened fields of grain.
Yes, the world is filled with music,
Full of melody and song.
List! It falls upon the pathway
Of our lives, the whole day long.

HURRY UP.

Never mind about the sweepin'
Off the promenadin' floor,
You can hang your bow an' fiddle
Up behind the kitchen door.
Bring along your bait an' tackle,
Fetch an extra hook an' line,
For the schools of fish are runnin',
An' they're mighty big and fine.
So we'll drap adown the river,
Where the willows sway an' swish,
An' won't do a thing all summer
But jest fish,
An' fish,
An' fish.

THINK OF THIS

The deeper is the shadow
Upon the valley fair,
The brighter is the sunshine
That cast the shading there.
And should there be no cloudings
Upon the path we tread,
There'd be no golden sunshine
In the depths of overhead.

NOVELTIES OF THE SEASON

Waists Are Elaborately Trimmed, Pelerine Effects Smart.

Bodices are elaborately trimmed, much crossed, fichu style, and on the whole less pouched than of yore. Pelerine effects are introduced whenever possible, and with many of the new costumes a pretty detachable little pelerine edged with fringe and with long stole ends is made to wear with the frock, or else it is made with lace and net or chiffon with frills and long ends. As a timely hint a round, deep lace collar provides an excellent foundation for a pelerine cape.

Waistcoats are a novelty. They are made in fancy velvet or panne with embroidered silk and suede kid, and enameled or hand painted bits of old brocade are cut diamond shaped to form waistcoats over kilted chiffon fronts, each point being buttoned with a jeweled button.

The new bordered delaines are charming to make up into blouses and blouse slips.

The illustration shows a modish gown of gray veiling. The waist is made with the fashionable cape effect and loose hanging sleeves. It is trimmed with bands of taffeta strapping. The skirt has a pointed double yoke effect, and the rest is laid in perpendicular tucks. JUDIC CHOLLET.

FASHION HINTS.

Much Embroidered Wedding Dresses, Waists of All Over Lace.

Wedding dresses are much embroidered in floss silk, mother of pearl scales, silver and dewdrop beads.

In evening dress we see hanging hat wing sleeves, berthas, tassels, flowers, floral fringes and bouillone flounces. Gauging is used extensively on both waists and skirts. The trimmings are elaborate. Black and white lace are seen side by side on the same dress. Hand painted satins and embroidered velvets are bejeweled or powdered with gold and silver spangles.

CARRIAGE COAT.

Waists of heavy all over lace are very smart to wear with fancy crepe de chine skirts. When a large black or all white hat is added to this and the costume finished by the addition of a black silk three-quarter length coat, the effect is very smart.

Large black hats made of shirred malines are very popular.

The illustration shows a carriage coat of gray peau de soie, with a facing of burned orange silk. The hat is of pearl gray chiffon, with a white ostrich feather. JUDIC CHOLLET.

GENERAL BELL DENIES CRUELTY

Conduct of Soldiery Was Not Characterized by Inhumanity.

SOUTHAMPTON, England, April 29.—General J. Franklin Bell, U. S. A., who is on his way home from the Philippines and who sails for New York on the North German Lloyd steamer Kronprinz Wilhelm, when shown the cabled digests of the report of Lieutenant General Miles said all complaints made to General Miles while he was in the Philippines have been thoroughly investigated by order of the war department.

"I would very greatly regret to have the American people believe," said General Bell, "that any American officers or soldiers had been wantonly cruel or inhuman in their treatment of natives. I do not believe that anything I can say unofficially will change any one's opinion. Nothing certainly would make any one who served creditably in the Philippines think that the conduct of the American army has been characterized by cruelty."

When shown editorial articles from papers commenting upon the brutality of the American army in the Philippines, General Bell said:

"The press comments are evidently inspired by misapprehension, and I trust that the American army may not long rest under such a stigma in the eyes of foreign nations. Truth is powerful, and it must finally prevail."

Booker Washington on the Negro.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., April 29.—In the presence of a distinguished assemblage, including Robert C. Ogden and a number of his associates of the southern education conference, Dr. Arthur T. Hadley, president of Yale university; Mrs. Collis P. Huntington and several personages of prominence in the world of letters, the Huntington library was formally presented to the trustees of the Hampton Normal and Agricultural institute. During the proceedings Booker T. Washington of Tuskegee institute spoke on the solution of the great race problem and argued that it is not in the abuse of the south by the north, not the abuse of the north by the south, not in condemning the negro or in the negroes cursing the white man, not in colonization, not in deportation, not in amalgamation or education, but it is in honest, sympathetic co-operation between the races.

Brazil In Acre Territory.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—In a dispatch from Petropolis United States Minister Thompson says that the Brazilian government has been undergoing great expenses in sending troops and ships for the temporary military occupation of the Acre territory. All of the revenues now collected there under the temporary arrangement are to be divided equally between Brazil and Bolivia. In place of the tedious mail communication by steam launch the Brazilian government has provided for a telegraph line to cost $37,000 running from the mouth of the Acre to Cape Caquat, the center of federal government of the territory.

W. R. Hearst Married.

NEW YORK, April 29.—Congressman elect William Randolph Hearst, proprietor of the New York American, New York Evening Journal, Chicago American and the San Francisco Examiner, has been married here to Miss Millicent Willson, daughter of George H. Willson, president of the Advance Music company of this city. The bride, as Miss Willson, one of the Willson sisters, was well known in stageland, having appeared in the chorus of a number of light operas. The bridal party sailed for Europe on the Kaiser Wilhelm II.

Loubet Invites the Bey to Paris.

TUNIS, April 29.—At a dinner here while responding to a toast proposed by the bey President Loubet expressed the hope that the bey would give him the pleasure of seeing him and his family in Paris. To this invitation the bey bowed assentingly. After the dinner the guests viewed President Loubet's presents to the bey, which consisted of three large Sevres vases. The bey presented M. Loubet with a large album of water color views of Tunis.

Unlawfully Sold Herrings For Bait.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., April 29.—It is reported here that three of the American herring vessels that were icebound at Bay of Islands during the winter have visited St. Pierre, Miquelon, and sold their cargoes to the French fishermen for bait. Such action would be in defiance of the law, and all American fishing vessels give the customs department of Newfoundland a cash bond of $1,000 not to violate this regulation.

Colombia and the Canal.

COLON, Colombia, April 29.—The deputies of the department assembly of Cartagena by a vote of 9 to 8 have rejected a petition to address a memorial to the coming congress praying that body to reject the canal treaty. The assembly declared it possessed full confidence in whatever action congress may take. The date for the meeting of congress has not yet been fixed.

Safe Blowers Get $3,500.

RALEIGH, N. C., April 29.—The safe of Rouse Bros., bankers, at Lagrange, N. C., was blown open and about $3,500 taken by burglars who effected their escape. While the operations were in progress Prentiss Wooten, who looms across the street, put his head out of the window, but a bullet from the burglars forced him to take cover.

Carpenters Threaten Strike.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 29.—A strike of the 1,100 union carpenters in this city and vicinity, it is announced, is likely to occur on May 1 unless the demands of the men for an eight hour day, with a minimum wage rate of 35 cents an hour, are conceded by the master carpenters.

Metropolitan Jockey Club Races.

NEW YORK, April 29.—A. L. Aste's Plater, with Michaels up, won the Columbus stakes for three-year-olds at Jamaica. He was a 1 to 2 favorite and just galloped all the way, winning in the remarkably fast time of 1m. 12 4-5s. for six furlongs. Only a fair field of three-year-olds faced the starter for this race, with Plater always the choice. Michaels got him off in front and, steadily increasing his lead to the finish, won easily by five lengths. Grand Opera at 1 to 3 won the one mile and seventy yard race handily from the 50 to 1 shot Colonsay. Three favorites won.

Last Work on the Reliance.

BRISTOL, R. I., April 29.—It was expected that the cup defender Reliance would formally go into commission yesterday after being turned over by her builders, the Herreshoffs, to the syndicate, but the workmen did not finish putting the final touches on the boat, and the yacht was towed to Newport about sunset. The Reliance, however, was delivered to the syndicate during the day, and it is expected that Mr. Iselin will hoist his private signal on her off Newport today.

Chicago Racing.

CHICAGO, April 29.—Yesterday was the closing day of the spring meeting at Lakeside. The Worth meeting opens today, with the Worth handicap as the feature. Lingo, the third choice in the betting, proved easily the best of the field of five in the mile handicap, the feature of the card at Lakeside. Lingo won unextended, with two lengths to spare. Albula secured second place by a short head from Omdurman, the 7 to 5 favorite.

Results at St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, April 29.—Dolly Hayman, a moderate first choice in the fifth race, was the only one to reach the wire first at Kinloch. The upset of the day came in the two-year-old event when the heavily played favorite, Aransas Pass, was beaten by Gus Heidorn and Ben Adkins. Judge Murphy has suspended Jockey Howell pending an investigation of his ride on Sambo last Saturday.

O'Keefe Wins Light Weight Fight.

BOSTON, April 29.—Jack O'Keefe of Chicago and George McFadden of New York fought for the white light weight championship of the country before the Criterion Athletic club, and on points the decision was given to O'Keefe. The decision did not suit the majority of spectators, as McFadden was not only the favorite in the betting, but appeared to be a better ring general.

Salvator's Son Won.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 29.—Savable, John A. Drake's Futurity winner, showed his class at Cumberland park. The son of Salvator was big and fat, and the books laid 20 to 1 against him. He came from the rear and bested J. Sidney Walker in a pretty contest through the stretch. The day was ideal, the crowd large and the betting lively.

Tom Sharkey Victor at Wrestling.

HARTFORD, Conn., April 29.—Tom Sharkey won his wrestling match with F. C. Quinn at the Coliseum. Quinn won the Greco-Roman bout in 13m. 35s., and Sharkey won the catch as

SPORTING NEWS

ON THE DIAMOND.

The Safe Works team goes to Garwood, Saturday, for a try at the Garwood A. C. Manager Muir says it's a sure thing—for Plainfield, of course.

The new uniforms for the Hope team are to be delivered Saturday. They are being made by E. B. Ryder, of this city, at his New York factory.

Manager Steiner, of the Y. M. C. A., has not yet made any arrangements for Saturday. He would like to close with some good team to be played on local grounds.

A baseball game is being played this afternoon between the North Plainfield baseball team and the team from the Westfield High School. The game is being played at Westfield.

Captain Baglin, of the West End Hose Company, had his team out for practice Saturday afternoon and all the men did good work. The box is being filled by Perry who made such a hit last year, while Baglin fills the catcher's place. Good work is expected by the captain this year.

A local crank declares with enthusiasm that 1903 is going to be a banner year for the national sport. He bases his opinion on the fact that New York is baseball mad and the remainder of the country generally follows suit. Perusal of past statistics shows that whenever Gotham made preparation for a big season, baseball was popular in every State and territory. It looks as if Plainfield was going to be in fashion.

It's remarkable how many Plainfielders are able to keep score and give credit to whom credit is due—to hear them tell it. It's also remarkable that the official scorers selected by the management of the big teams are so sadly deficient in the rules of the game. Which is to say, that no matter what tabulated score is furnished for publication some one seated in the grandstand and with mind on something else knows that it is wrong and could do better himself. Last season The Daily Press was continually annoyed by just such know-it-alls who wanted something changed because, "they had a pool on the result." It has started already and for their benefit it may be said that The Daily Press will print only official scores as furnished and no change will be made, no matter who it affects.

Westfield will christen its up-to-date enclosed Recreation Park, Saturday with the Seventh Regiment team, of New York, as the attraction. Their season opened last Saturday, the West End A. C., of Bayonne, with Hickey and Hopper as the battery, going down before them 9 to 7. The changes in the team were made with the idea of increasing hitting material and the new men, Mulhaul, Goldberger and Courtenay seem to have the goods. "Smiling Jimmy" Montross is a fixture with Westfield and goes in Saturday to show his mettle in fast company. Company K, of this city, will attend the game as citizens. Congressman Chas. N. Fowler is expected to toss the ball into play. There will be a gathering of notables from all over Union county. The game should be good as the soldier boys defeated the Crescent A. C., of Brooklyn, last Saturday and are putting on steam for their Decoration Day game at West Point.

Fred Armstrong, of the North Plainfield High School team, has been forbidden to play again this season. Arthur Humble, the second baseman who sprained his ankle in the Pennington Seminary game two weeks ago, is expected to be out for today's game with Westfield High School. Ovens has returned to the High School squad after undergoing surgical treatment.

The North Plainfield Athletic Club defeated the St. Nicholas Club by a score of 8 to 0 yesterday afternoon at Crescent Oval. Nischwitz and Ovens were the battery for the Athletic Club. Nischwitz distinguished himself by striking out seventeen men, allowing no hits and no bases on balls.

The management of the Safe Works nine has put the North Plainfield High School diamond in condition for play and the field will be occupied Saturday in the game between the High School and ex-High School nines. A grandstand will probably be erected in the near future.

Herbert H. Moore, second baseman on the Safe Works team, narrowly escaped serious injury in the Dunellen game Saturday. He was accidentally spiked by a baserunner, his face being severely bruised about a quarter of an inch below his left eye.

The North Plainfield High School nine will play an ex-High School team on the High School grounds Saturday afternoon. Farlee and Conover will constitute the battery for the ex-High School players and George and Ovens for the High School.

The baseball game, which was scheduled for this afternoon between the Park A. C. and the Arlington team, has been postponed on account of a meeting of the club which will be held this afternoon.

TOLD OF ITALY.

Entertaining Illustrated Given at Park Club.

An event of exceptional interest was the illustrated lecture given last evening by J. B. Betts and S. St. John McCutchen at the Park Club, for the benefit of the building fund. Mr. Betts operated the lantern and displayed a large number of fine views of Italy. While these were thrown on the canvas, Mr. McCutchen gave a descriptive talk on the country. The views are probably the finest ever taken. They belong to the State Department of Education with which Mr. Betts is connected. It is believed that the net profits from the lecture will be about $50.

Shuffle Board Tourney.

John Doughty was defeated by Wilbur Smalley and Kenneth Robbie was defeated by A. L. Denton in the second meet of the shuffle board tournament at the Y. M. C. A., last evening. All the players scheduled did not put in an appearance. The individual scores were Doughty, 10-4, Smalley, 21-21; Denton, 21-21 and Robbie, 19-7.

Due Notice is Served.

Due notice is hereby served on the public generally that DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is the only salve on the market that is made from the pure, unadulterated witch hazel. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve has cured thousands of cases of piles that would not yield to any other treatment, and this fact has brought out many worthless counterfeits. Those persons who get the genuine DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve are never disappointed, because it cures. L. W. Randolph.

JERSEYMEN AT ANTIETAM

THE SURVIVORS PREPARING FOR A TRIP TO THE BATTLEFIELD.

Plans of the State Commission for Monuments to Mark Jersey's Participation.

The renewed and increased appropriation for the Antietam Battlefield Monument Commission carries with it a provision for taking all survivors of New Jersey regiments, batteries or companies that participated in that action to Antietam and return at the expense of the State, to participate in the dedicatory services of the State monument, which ceremony will take place September 15, the anniversary of the battle.

The commission has provided for a general State monument, two small monuments for the New Jersey brigade, which included the First, Second, Third and Fourth Regiments of New Jersey Infantry. One of these monuments will be erected at Crampton's Pass, some seven miles from Antietam field. It was at Crampton's Pass that the New Jersey brigade distinguished itself September 14 by a brilliant charge, which drove the Confederates from their position and opened the way to the Federal army to and over the mountain range to Antietam Valley.

Small "markers" have been arranged for to mark the several positions occupied by the New Jersey troops on the field of action. It is a problem with the commission having charge of the patriotic work for the State to determine how many of the New Jersey soldiers are still alive to participate in this trip to the dedication ceremonies. They would be pleased to have the several organizations, through their officers, canvass their membership and advise the commission at an early date how many men each will muster for this occasion.

The route to the battlefield will probably be over the Pennsylvania system, via Gettysburg, and tickets will be good for September 16 to 19, inclusive. Special trains will carry the excursionists and friends of the old soldiers will be taken at the rate of $7.70 for the round trip.

The commissioners are James O. Smith, Newark; Joseph E. Crowell, Paterson, and Colonel J. J. Toffey, Jersey City.

MANY RESPONDED.

Knights Who Couldn't Answer Roll Call in Person, Sent Some Word to Castle.

One of the pleasantest meetings ever held by Freedom Castle, Knights of the Golden Eagle, was that of last evening. One hunderd members responded to roll call and communications were read from people who were formerly members of the lodge but who now reside in distant places.

Grand Chief Runyon presided at the meeting and among the guests were grand past chief, John Risley, of Atlantic City; grand vice chief, F. C. Gano, of Long Branch; past chief, Lippingott, of Long Branch; grand master of records, A. L. Clark, of Trenton, and past chief, John Kulp, of Trenton.

A regular meeting was held after which a social time, smoker and entertainment was enjoyed. Instrumental renditions were given by Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan and L. A. Hummer. Bert Tallamy gave some vocal selections. Refreshments were served during the evening.

Reception to Pastor Bean.

The members of the Mt. Zion A. M. E. church attended a reception which was given to their pastor, Rev. J. H. Bean, at the church on West Fourth street, last evening. The reception was given under the management of the minister's steward, E. B. Maynard, assisted by many members of the church. It was a great success socially and financially. Refreshments were served during the evening by the members of the committee.

Toastmaster at Glee Club Banquet.

City Judge William N. Runyon left this afternoon for New Haven, Conn., where he will act as toastmaster at a dinner to be given this evening by the Yale and Glee Club. The affair will mark the retirement of Thomas Shepard, who has been a director of the organization for thirty years.

Death of Henry S. Ohl.

The death of Henry S. Ohl, a former well known resident of this city, occurred at his home in Camden, last week, at the age of eighty-four years. He was the father of Percy Ohl, of this city, and three other sons. He was a grandson of the late Governor Jones, of Rhode Island.

with the deep, hoarse bark, grimly called "a grave-yard cough." It is the cry of the tortured lungs for mercy. Give them mercy in the form of Allen's Lung Balsam, a remedy for pulmonary trouble, so highly esteemed that it is recommended even in the earlier stages of consumption. In the later stages mortal skill is unavailing. Nobody can afford to neglect a cold.

SCHOOL OF METHODS.

Programme Announced for Meetings to be Held in the Methodist Church, Dunellen.

The Union County W. C. T. U. School of Methods will be held tomorrow morning, afternoon and evening in the Methodist church, Dunellen, and an excellent programme has been prepared.

In the morning, among other business, there will be an address by Mrs. Elizabeth A. Parse, of this city, on the "Effects of Alcohol Upon the Human System." In the afternoon there will be several addresses by Mrs. Schenck, of Dunellen; Miss Emma L. Starr, of Westfield; Mrs. D. D. Irving, of Cranford, and a lecture on polygamy by Mrs. J. Fowler Willing, of New York City, who is the National evangelist for the W. C. T. U.

The afternoon session will conclude with a question box conducted by Mrs. Emma Bourne, State president of the W. C. T. U. The evening session will include devotions by Rev. S. K. Doolittle and an address by Mrs. Cora E. Seberry, of Brooklyn, Y. organizer and lecturer.

LITERARY.

Nineteen stories and articles and one hundred and twelve illustrations form the contents of the May Cosmopolitan. J. Henniker Heaton, M. P., contributes an article on the British Parcel Post—particularly timely, in view of the plan, about which the entire mercantile world is showing so wide an interest, to introduce into this country the system of carrying parcels in the mail. Ella Adelia Fletcher is the author of a charmingly illustrated essay on "The Power and Beauty of Woman's Eyes." The wonderful possibilities of scientific corn culture are explained in an illustrated paper, by A. D. Shamel, of the Illinois Experiment Station, entitled "The Marvels of Corn Culture," illustrated with a series of exemplifying photographs. Sir Edwin Arnold has written for this number of The Cosmopolitan an entertaining essay on a strange subject for him to treat—the tying of knots, with many practical illustrations. The May Cosmopolitan is remarkably strong in fiction. Among the contributors are Henry Seton Merriman, Olivier Henry Frank R. Robinson, Julia Valentine Bond and Tom Masson.

Church Officers.

The official board meeting of the Grace M. E. church was held last evening in the church parlors when the church officers for the year were elected. The election resulted as follows: President, Dr. Edwin L. Earp; secretary, Charles W. Harden, and treasurer, E. E. Winckler. Other matters of a routine nature were discussed.

CENTRAL'S NEW STEAMER

ASBURY PARK WILL BE FASTEST OF HER CLASS IN NEW YORK BAY.

Will Run Between New York and Atlantic Highlands—Trial Trip Soon.

The fastest steamship of her class in New York bay this summer will be the Asbury Park, just about completed for the Central Railroad of New Jersey, to run between New York and Atlantic Highlands.

The vessel is constructed on yacht lines and is the counterpart of the Monmouth and Sandy Hook in the same service, but is ten feet longer. She will make the trip between Pier 8 and the Highlands in an hour, ten minutes faster than the best time heretofore made.

The Asbury Park will have her trial trip about May 14 and be placed in service June 27. Her capacity is 3,000 passengers. She is thoroughly up-to-date. The hull is of steel, with watertight compartments. She will be steered by steam and lighted by electricity.

On the main deck will be the purser's office, baggage-room, barber shop, five staterooms and officers' quarters, with ample seating capacity for passengers. The woodwork is naturally-finished ash. Above is the saloon deck, on which are twenty-three staterooms. The general finish of this deck is oak. All the staterooms on the Asbury Park are already engaged for the season by wealthy New Yorkers, who take this pleasant way of reaching their summer homes in New Jersey.

On the promenade deck, above the saloon deck, are the dome skylight, life-boats, pilot-house, three staterooms and captain's and pilot's quarters. Below the main deck forward are the crew's quarters and the cafe. Aft are the kitchen, storerooms and dining-room.

The Asbury Park will make three round trips each day, and will materially relieve the congestion in this traffic which was noticeable last season.

The exact dimensions of the new boat are: Length, 306 feet; width, 51 feet 4 inches. She was launched at Cramps' Philadelphia shipyard on March 28 last.

LOSS TO SCIENCE.

The Fire in the Experimental Station Building Causes Some Irreparable Losses.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, April 29—Irreparable as the loss resulting from the partial destruction of the New Jersey State Experimental Station by fire on Thursday, it is realized that it might have been much greater. The effective work that was done by the volunteer salvage corps of students, under the able direction of Prof. E. B. Voorhees, the director of the station, and I. S. Upson, registrar of the college, saved many valuable specimens.

Probably the severest loss falls upon Prof. Julius Nelson, the State Biologist. His collection, representing years of work, was entirely destroyed. He lost among other things the manuscript of a textbook on which he had been working for two years, and he had a contract with a publisher to receive $1,200 when the first volume was issued.

No less serious was the loss sustained by Prof. John B. Smith, the State Entomologist and mosquito expert. The Hulst collection of moths, one of the most valuable of his collections, was burned, and he lost many notebooks containing scientific data representing months of tiresome research. In like manner, the records of the State Weather Bureau, under the management of Prof. E. W. McGann, were destroyed, and they went back for close to fifty years.

Had No License.

Frank Block was fined $3 in the city court this morning for peddling without a license.

WANT SEWERS FOR BOROUGH

Sentiment of Public Meeting to Discuss Sewer Question in the Borough.

DISCUSSED PRO AND CON

Pass Resolution by Unanimous Vote That Efficient Sewerage System is Desirable for Borough—The Various Methods to Accomplish the Desired End.

Arguments for and against the adoption of a system of sewerage for North Plainfield were heard last evening at a public hearing on the sewage question given by the Borough Sewage Commission in Saengerbund Hall. The result of the meeting was an expression of those present through a resolution, which was carried without a dissenting vote, setting forth that "it is the sense of this assemblage that an efficient sewerage system is desirable in the borough as soon as the best system for this locality has been decided upon." The resolution was offered by Former Mayor William L. Saunders, of Rockview avenue, one of the heaviest property owners in the borough.

The meeting was attended by representative property owners in North Plainfield, as well as by many interested residents in this city who have real estate interests across the brook. Chairman of the Commission B. A. Hegeman, Jr., presided at the meeting and with him upon the platform were Elston M. French, W. C. Smith, Mayor N. B. Smalley, Fred. P. Smith, representing the Municipal Sewage Disposal Works, of New York, and Joseph O. Osgood, a civil engineer, of the borough, who had much to do with the construction of the local disposal beds.

When the meeting was called to order by Mr. Hegeman he said that he regretted that there were not more of the people of the borough present as the meeting was held for the purpose of giving all a hearing on the matter. He stated that the commission has done all it could do with the question in examining the workings of the Plainfield system of disposal beds, studying the possibilities of tidewater drainage and ascertaining the approximate cost of arranging with this city to use its plant near Dunellen. He stated that the commission had arrived at the conclusion that tidewater drainage was the ideal method of disposing of the borough sewage but the cost was almost prohibitive. It would probably cost in the neighborhood of $250,000 which at 4 per cent. interest would bring the amount to about $4,000 a year which would also mean that the running expenses would run up to about $16,000. This would mean an increase in the tax rate of 64 points. A septic plant as Plainfield now uses would cost about $90,000 approximately, if it would comply with the requirements of the State Sewage Commission. The least expensive plan would effect an arrangement with Plainfield whereby North Plainfield could use the disposal plant of this city. This would cost about $15,000, including the cost of raising the sewerage matter by means of an electric pump, four feet to overcome the grade. The most desirable plan was to build a trunk sewer to tidewater with Dunellen, Plainfield and North Plainfield sharing the cost.

Some interesting points in regard to the working of a disposal bed were given by Mr. Smith, of New York. He said the chief objection to tidewater drainage was the great distance over which it would be necessary to run piping. He told of the functions of the septic tank. He said that there could be no objection to emptying the effluent into such a stream as Green brook if a proper septic tank and disposal bed were used. He cited the system now in use at Morris Plains where the effluent empties into the stream which furnishes the water supply to Jersey City. That water, he said, was very pure and was of a high standard. He said that in order to further guarantee a perfect system a tall chimney could be built to carry off the gases but this would necessitate heat. This could be secured by a garbage crematory which could be fed by organic matter secured from the bottom of the septic tanks and the other refuse matters from the city. The crematory would pay the entire

I. C. T. CLUB GAVE A STAG

ONE OF MOST SUCCESSFUL ENTERTAINMENTS GIVEN BY THAT CLUB.

Musical Selections and Boxing Bouts by Local Celebrities—Refreshments Served.

Strictly speaking, it was a "stag" the I. C. T. Club tendered its members and friends, last evening, but in reality it was one of the most enjoyable affairs the organization has ever conducted. The attendance was so large as to fill the large hall and the fun did not lax for a moment.

A feature of the lengthy programme which had been prepared was a number of boxing bouts by local celebrities. Some of the teams were the Mullen Brothers, Tommy and Willie, Buckley and Brown, McCray and Wilson and McDonough and Johnson. All are expert with the mits and the contests were close and exciting.

Other numbers on the programme were the Black Diamond quartette, composed of John Taylor, Oscar Green, Walter Britton and William Wilson, in vocal and instrumental selections and fancy dancing, piano selections by William Harsell, vocal solos by Fred Bowden and phonograph selections by Joseph Mills. It was midnight before the affair was concluded by serving refreshments.

The committee which had charge of the affair consisted of Leonce Texier, chairman; Howard Drake and George L. Apgar.

SENIORS PLAN CLASS BOOK

WILL APPEAR AS THE JUNE NUMBER OF THE ORACLE.

Innovation at the Plainfield High School—It Will be of An Artistic Merit.

Arrangements were completed for the publication of the June number of the Plainfield High School Oracle as a 1908 Class Year Book and Commencement number.

A committee, consisting of Miss Dorothy Waldo, Miss Harriet C. Randall, Arthur F. Conant, Ralph S. Lane and Alden E. Moore, six members of the senior class, has made arrangements with the board of governors of the Oracle for the enlargement of the last number of the school year to thirty-two pages.

The cover will be of special design, executed in green and white and the design of the senior class pin will take the place of the P. H. S. shield.

The book itself will be of especial merit from a literary standpoint. It will contain the valadictory and salutatory speeches and the prize-winning essay of the year. There will be two half-tone cuts, one of the school faculty and the other of the class.

The number will be published at the annual commencement exercises at the First Baptist church on the evening of Thursday, June 18, instead of Wednesday, June 3, the regular publication day.

PICTURED MISSION FIELDS.

Interesting Illustrated Lecture at Trinity Reformed Church.

A beautifully illustrated lecture on the mission fields of the Dutch Reformed church in Indian, Japan, China and Arabia was given in Trinity Reformed church last evening by Rev. John W. Conklin, a former missionary, now field secretary of the Foreign Board of Missions. The purpose of the lecture was to increase the interest in the field among the men and women of Plainfield.

Following a brief service of hymn and prayer, Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph.D., introduced the speaker. Mr. Conklin gave his attention to the people of the countries named rather than the scenery. His illustrations, many of them beautifully colored and all extremely interesting, revealed the manner in which the Chinese, Japanese, Hindus and Arabs live, work, travel, eat and worship. Mr. Conklin's comment on the pictures was most entertaining and instructive. The illustrations showing the industrial conditions and methods of worship were particularly valuable, proving the need for the admirable work which the Dutch Reformed church is doing through its foreign missions. John Neagle operated the stereopticon.

MILLIONS SPENT IN BUILDING UP COAST

A Remarkable Growth Since Last Season of Some of Jersey's Coast Resorts.

MUCH BUILDING NOTED

ALLENHURST AND DEAL HAVE SEEN A SPECIAL BOOM.

Long Branch Railroad Will Join the March of Progress—Asbury Park Will be the Centre of the Several Shore Resorts.

The changes that have been wrought on the north Jersey coast during the last winter and the march of progress in the pretty summer resorts are more pronounced and noticeable south of Elberon than in the towns north of Long Branch. In the development of this wonderful chain of summer resorts there is much variety in plan and detail, but a singleness of purpose which is too marked to be regarded as purely accidental. While the boroughs of Deal and Allenhurst are without any physical lines of separation, they are equally favored by the wealthy class, which has been making extraordinary inroads on the wide and ample area which only a few years ago was the substance of a few Jersey farmers who long ago were gathered to their fathers.

During the last year Allenhurst and Deal have witnessed the upbuilding of many stately structures and the manifest tendency of the times is in the direction of vast expenditure. The new clubhouse at Allenhurst, grand and massive though it is, and representing the acme of architectural aspiration on the Jersey coast, is but the type of still greater and more imposing effort of the architects who have designs and plans in active incubation for the ensuing fall.

There is, also, noticed in the development of the shore towns a desire on the part of the summer residents to build costly casinos, around which the several cottage contingents may cluster and form their social centres of summer entertainment.

With the purchase of the beach at Asbury Park, and the expressed intention of that ambitious and populous coast centre to become a winter resort, has come also a significant promise of the railroad companies to work hand in hand with the people for the upbuilding of the entire north Jersey shore.

It is said that the New York and Long Branch Railroad Company will expend $3,000,000 in straightening its tracks and providing means for quick transit between New York and Asbury Park.

That Asbury Park is to become the centre of this great system of summer resorts is regarded there as practically conceded. Asbury Park is ready to accept and prepare for her future greatness, and the purchase of the beach, its improvement and development is but the prelude of the Greater Asbury Park.

It is conservatively estimated that upward of $3,000,000 has been expended on the north Jersey coast since last summer. This vast sum represents only the individual construction of summer homes and public buildings, and does not include the important network of municipal improvement, which has been carried forward with remarkable liberality. More than $180,000 has been expended for the construction of sewers, extension of gas mains, the introduction of new water systems, the grading of streets and the protection of the sea front.

Under depressing conditions, with labor dissatisfied and menacing, and with the precipitation of local strikes which helped to retard the work and dampen the enthusiasm of prospective builders there have been constructed between South Elberon and Sea Girt nearly 100 new buildings since last summer—almost a town in a few months.

Plainfield Safe on Coal.

The largest pile of coal for miles around can be seen at McDonough Brothers' yard, corner Madison avenue and Third street, where there are five thousand tons of it in stock. It is gratifying to know that if there should be a strike again this year, Plainfield will be better fixed with coal than any town in New Jersey. See advertisement in this paper.

To Entertain Her Class.

Mrs. Frank W. Jones, of Mountain avenue, will entertain her Sunday-school class of the First Baptist church at her home, this afternoon.

GRIP WAS FATAL.

Martin L. Heubner, Former Plainfielder, Died at Elizabeth Yesterday—Interment Here.

Martin L. Heubner, formerly a resident and an employe at the Pond Tool and Potter shops, died at his home in Elizabeth, yesterday morning from heart trouble. He had previously been ill for twelve weeks with grip. He was fifty-six years old.

Heubner was a member of Court Plainfield, No. 1144, I. O. F., and the local Gesang and Turn Verein of which he was once chaplain. He leaves a widow and one son, Martin, Jr., aged twelve years.

The funeral services will be held at Saengerbund Hall Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and will be in charge of the Gesang and Turn Verein of which he was chaplain. Interment will be made in the Plainfield avenue cemetery.

POWER HOUSE READY TO OPEN THIS WEEK

Big Structure of Trolley Company at Cranford Has Now Been Completed.

TO HAVE LOTS OF POWER

EXCELLENT MODERN EQUIPMENT OF ENGINES AND GENERATORS.

Building is White, Built of Cement, and Absolutely Fireproof—The Chimney is 150 Feet High—The Other Details.

The new power house of the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Railway Company at Cranford is practically completed and, it is expected, will begin to operate the last of this week. The structure is admirably equipped in every way and promises to free the patrons of the road from the annoying delays which have been so frequent of late. The power will be sufficient for all the needs of the company and a delay of one to two hours from a failure of power such as occurred Tuesday afternoon will be an impossibility.

The equipment of the building which is absolutely fire-proof is modern in every device. It includes the highest priced engines, boilers and other essentials that the market affords, the architect, W. V. McKee having been instructed to spare no expense in obtaining the best of everything.

The building is an imposing structure in white, 127 feet in length and seventy-five feet in breadth. It is built of concrete with floors also of concrete. The main portion is fifty feet in height, the boiler room in the rear thirty-five feet. The height of the smoke flue is 150 feet and its diameter at the top measures eight feet. The base of the chimney is twenty-five feet square, and its weight is 168 tons.

The engines are powerful affairs, with all the newest improvements. They are cross-compound, condensing machines of 1,250 nominal horse power and 1,800 maximum horse power. Two have been installed already and two more will be included at once, provided the proposed railroad merger goes into effect. They are the Williams vertical engine, built by the Quincy Engine Works of Quincy, Ill.

The power is generated by direct current generators (kilowats, 800, electro-motor force, 600; amperes, 1,334; speed, 120;, manufactured by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, of Pittsburg, Pa. The switchboard is of marble, having automatic circuit breakers for each circuit with latest improved instruments for each machine. A pair of twin vertical air pumps and condensers of the latest marine type and a pair of admiralty type boiler feed pumps add to the excellent equipment. Horizontal, tubular boilers, six feet in diameter and twenty-one feet long, carry 175 pounds pressure. They are properly set in brick work with flue, steam main, etc.

The building and equipment throughout impress the visitor with their completeness in detail and the probability is that the street railway service of Plainfield and vicinity will be equal to the best, as soon as the power house is in operation.

The annual banquet under the auspices of the business men's gymnasium class of the Y. M. C. A., was enjoyed last evening in the small hall at the association building. In all twenty men sat down to dinner.

After the dinner there was some speech-making. Charles Lyman was the toast-master and after making a few pleasant remarks, he called upon the others. The chief thought in all the speeches was that of sociability and good fellowship in the class work, as well as that of friendly rivalry.

NO DIVORCE.

Announcement Made in the Papers Regarding Foote Case Premature.

The Daily Press, in accordance with its invariable custom, took the precaution to inquire at headquarters as to the truth of the reports published in New York newspapers and elsewhere, to the effect that the Chancellor had decided the Foote divorce case. In this way, it was discovered that the reports referred to were premature. It is true that the Special Master, who heard the case, has filed his report, which is in favor of Mrs. Foote, but the whole case is now before the Chancellor, who on Tuesday, heard additional evidence at Trenton, and listened to arguments by Frank Bergen, Ex-Governor Voorhees and Craig A. Marsh. The case, therefore, is still undecided.

ON MAIN TRACK.

Passengers on 5:45 in Panic When It Kept on Main Track but There was no Trouble.

For the first time since it was wrecked with such disastrous results on the night of January 27, the 5:45 train from New York failed to take the siding at Cranford, last night, and continued to this city on the main track. It was noticed by all of the commutors and resulted in a sort of panic before the train reacehd Westfield.

Those in the rear cars were in a nervous state and, when they noticed the headlight of the express approaching, all jumped up and either went ahead to the other cars or else stood trembling in the aisles.

The engineer of the rear train was aware of the obstruction ahead and there was not the slightest danger. It was not until the local drew into the North Avenue station that the frightened ones felt relieved. The local was kept to the main track on account of repairs being made to the other.

GOVERNORS READY.

Three Former Chief Executives of State Will Begin Investigation of Canal Abandonment.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, April 30—Governor Murphy has received from former Governor Griggs his acceptance of his appointment as a member of the Commission formed by the last Legislature to make a full and complete investigation of the conditions of the old Morris Canal, abandonment of which is sought to be legalized. The other two members of the Commission, former Governors Werts and Voorhees, had already sent their acceptances, so that the body is now complete, and may proceed with its work.

This is regarded as the most remarkable commission in this State, since it is composed of three able lawyers and former Governors of the State. They will have a vast amount of work to do before the assembling of the next Legislature, to which they must submit a report of their findings and recommendations. The proposed abandonment of the canal has been one of the questions of the day at every session of the Legislature for years, and it is believed that the Commission will reach some basis of final settlement of the matter. Whatever the result, there is sure to be a great controversy at the next session of the Legislature.

GIFT TO SCHOOL.

Seniors and Juniors Will Give the City High School Picture and Cast.

The members of the senior class of the City High School have purchased a carbon photogravure of Robert VanVorst Sewell's recent painting "The Canterbury Pilgrimage." The picture is in three sections, each separately framed, a large centre section and two smaller panel sections. The picture will be presented to the school at the May day exercises Friday morning and will be placed in a prominent place in the school study hall.

The junior class of the school has purchased a handsome plaster cast of Michael Angelo's "Moses" with the profits of their recent class entertainment. The cast is about forty inches in height and will be presented on a handsome pedestal. The original of the work is in the Church of San Pietro Vincolo at Rome. The cast will be presented at the exercises Friday morning.

GIFTED SPEAKER.

Hugh R. Monro Will be at Y. M. C. A. Meeting Sunday.

Hugh R. Monro, vice president of the Niagara Lithograph Company, of Buffalo, will address the Y. M. C. A. meeting Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Charles L. Lewis, baritone of the famous Lotus Glee Club, will render two solos. Mr. Monro, who is a successful young business man and a gifted speaker, has addressed the meeting of the local association more frequently than any other speaker during the present year. The quartette, of which Mr. Lewis is baritone, is advertised by Major J. B. Pond as the finest male quartette in existence.

Trying for Annapolis.

Fred T. VanAuken, of the City High School, is preparing to take a competitive examination for Annapolis. Under the new Naval Appropriation law an appointment to Annapolis every two years is granted instead of one every four years. This allows for the extra competitive examination which will be taken at Pingry School in Elizabeth on May 9. Richard L. Lovell, of this city, will be another contestant in the examinations.

Frank Stiglitz, of this city, left yesterday for New York, where he will enlist in the regular army for three years.

Kindly take notice that Ely's Liquid Cream Balm is of great benefit to those sufferers from nasal catarrh who cannot inhale freely through the nose, but must treat themselves by spraying. Liquid Cream Balm differs in form, but not medicinally from the Cream Balm that has stood for years at the head of remedies for catarrh. It may be used in any nasal atomizer. The price, including a spraying tube, is 75 cts. Sold by druggists and mailed by Ely Brothers, 56 Warren street, New York.

THEATRICAL.

All reports from Buffalo, Utica and other cities up-State where "There and Back" was presented agree that the Messrs. Shubert have the laughing success of the decade in this play by George Arliss. Chas. E. Evans and Chas. H. Hopper have roles which seem to have been specially moulded for them and the laughs come so fast that the audiences are in continual roar while the curtain is up. During the engagement of "There and Back," at the Princess, which begun Monday, April 20, Aubrey Boucicault appears in a delightfully sentimental creation, a twenty-minute curtain raiser entitled "The Man Who Stole the Castle."

Klaw and Erlanger's spring production this season will be George V. Hobart and Edward E. Rose's new American farce, "John Henry," in which Dan Daly will play the title role. It will receive its premiere in Philadelphia, May 11, and, after two weeks in that city, will be presented at the Herald Square Theatre in New York for a run, opening Monday evening, May 25. The foundation of the story of the new laugh-maker is comic incidents from Mr. Hobart's humorous sketches of the same title, which published in four small volumes, have made the record-breaking sale of 265,000 copies. Mr. Hobart and Mr. Rose have translated "John Henry" with all his strong individuality and merry revel in original extravagance of speech, to the stage in an attractive story, into which they have interwoven his most comic adventures and the characters who have most interested the hundreds of thousands of readers who have laughed to the limit of human endurance in their perusal of these sketches. This role is one peculiarly suited to Mr. Daly, who will make his first appearance in years in a comedy part outside a musical production. In personality, natural drollery of speech and stage methods he is exactly suited to it.

Spring Time in Washington.

Washington is a typical spring resort and its bustle is purely social and political. There are gathered in the Capital representatives of every nation and country, and their comings and goings are of no little interest. Then the doings of the Senate and House are features which every tourist delights in following, and these features together with the visits to the numerous public buildings keep one busy all the while one is in Washington. The Royal Blue Line of which the New Jersey Central is the initial road is going to operate an excursion to Washington on May 7, and cost of tickets for the three days' excursion including all expenses is $12. Train leaves New York at 1 p. m., and arrives in Washington at 6:10 p. m. If you want to know about the trip drop a postal to O. M. Burt, general passenger agent, New York City, for tour book. Transportation Facilities superior to those of any other cemetery, as to number of trains, railroad fare, time and distance.

These New Cemeteries, now being developed on the modern park plan, are attracting universal attention.

By Reason of Location Alone they are destined, in a very short time, to become the best-known Cemeteries in the country and, with their natural advantages, the most beautiful and desirable in which to purchase lots.

They are Accessible from every quarter and within easy reach of over 4,000,000 people, and, considering the steady and rapidly increasing growth of Greater New York and its tributary cities and towns, it is only the question of a short time before plots in Rosedale and Linden Park will equal in value those of our most noted cemeteries.

Popular Favor has already been shown to a marked degree in the sale of lots, several hundred having been sold to residents in Elizabeth, Linden, Rahway, Cranford, Jersey City, Orange, Paterson, Westfield, Newark and New York City, and a large number of interments have been made.

In the Days of Happiness we do not know what is to befall us or when the inevitable will occur; therefore, it is a wiser precaution to make provision for a final resting place during health and life than to force the painful duty on one's friends or relatives after death. A place of burial will be needed sooner or later by every one, and no one should neglect selecting a suitable and proper place until future postponement is impossible.

Mountain Bursts and Falls Upon a Town.

DEATH LIST OF 140 REPORTED.

Town of Frank, N. W. T., Suddenly Overwhelmed—People Crushed In Their Houses—Miners Entombed—The Earth Opens Wide.

VANCOUVER, B. C., April 30.—By an unexpected and unprecedented disaster the little town of Frank, Alberta, has been plunged into mourning. There are at least 140 dead, and further details may increase the number of victims.

About 4 o'clock in the morning, after the night shift was preparing to come from work, either an earthquake or a volcanic eruption occurred on the top of Turtle mountain, which overlooks the town of Frank. There was a tremendous upheaval which awoke all sleepers, who believed that the end of the world had come.

The entire side of the mountain was removed by the disturbance and millions of tons of rock scattered like chaff over the town. The mine buildings and mine entrances were buried under a pile of debris hundreds of feet deep. Nine houses in the village are buried under the rocks. Their roofs were crushed in like eggshells, and every one inside the houses perished.

All those working at the mine on outside jobs were instantly killed. It is supposed that 120 men were thus killed, although the exact number is not known. The records of the office and the pay roll are buried under the immense pile of broken rock. The men who worked in the shaft are probably twenty-eight or thirty. These are now imprisoned by the debris, and they are undoubtedly dead. It will take days to dig down through the pile of rock, and it will be impossible to rescue them. It is not likely that even their dead bodies will be recovered for two or three weeks. No attempt to compile a list has yet been made.

The people of the town are panic stricken, as the mountain is still scattering rock, and no one knows how soon the disaster may be duplicated. The uninjured inhabitants are divided between a desire to stay and bury the dead and an impulse to seek a place of safety before they are overwhelmed by a greater calamity.

The little town of Frank is situated at the foothills on the eastern slope of the Rocky mountains. Its destruction was apparently caused by a volcanic eruption on the top of Turtle mountain, overlooking the town, which scattered an immense quantity of rock and debris over the town, stopping a mine, imprisoning the miners, crushing a number of houses and killing the people. The telegraph lines all went down, and news of the disaster obtainable have been meager. The entire top of Turtle mountain was scattered over the sleeping village. Immense pieces of rock were thrown high in the air and, descending, crushed in the roofs of houses and stopped up the mouth of the Frank mine. Most of the buildings in the town were destroyed and their inhabitants instantly killed.

The earth was opened by a gigantic fissure three-quarters of a mile long. The Old Man river, which runs through the town, was completely dammed up, and the railroad track was rendered impassable for a distance of two miles.

Latest reports from Frank are that masses of rock and lava are still being thrown from Turtle mountain.

Eighteen men were imprisoned in the mine, twelve miners working outside the mine were killed by flying debris, and eighty-two men, women and children were crushed to death by the flying rock as they lay asleep in their beds. The survivors at Frank are in a state of panic and are preparing for flight and expecting a further eruption.

An appeal has been made from Frank to the government, and mounted police are being hurried to the unfortunate village. Aid is also being sent from neighboring towns, but owing to the interruption of the train service and the mountainous country it will be several hours before help can reach the stricken community.

An Appeal For Help.

OTTAWA, April 30.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier has just received the following telegram from S. W. Chambers, president of the board of trade of Frank, N. W. T.: "Terrible disaster here. The eruption Turtle mountain devastated miles of territory. One hundred killed. Must have government aid at once to clear passage of river, which is dammed a hundred feet high, and danger to life and property from the flood most imminent. Not one day distant."

French President at Biserta.

BISERTA, Tunis, April 30.—President Loubet has arrived on the French cruiser Jeanne d'Arc. The bey and his suit joined the presidential party here and spent the day in visiting the arsenal and other local institutions. The French president everywhere received ovations from the populace. After taking a cordial farewell of the bey President Loubet returned to the Jeanne d'Arc, and the cruiser sailed for Marseilles.

Three Killed In Railway Wreck.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., April 30.—Three persons were killed, two fatally and a dozen seriously injured in a wreck in the railroad yards here. A west bound Vandalia passenger train struck a switch engine and two cars near the Highland Steel mill.

EDWARD VISITS LEO

England's King at the Papal Court of the Eternal City.

A BRIEF STAY WITH THE PONTIFF.

King and Pope Clasp Hands, While Kindly Words of Greeting Are Exchanged In the Reception Hall of Vatican.

ROME, April 30.—King Edward has visited the Vatican, perhaps the most ceremonious court of Europe and undoubtedly one of the most picturesque.

As King Edward's carriages, at twenty minutes past 4, entered the court of San Damaso, surrounded by the well known loggie of Raphael and which has been trodden by the feet of every sovereign who visited Rome with the exception of the present shah of Persia, his majesty was saluted by a battalion of the Palatine guards in full uniform. Tattoo was given on the drumheads. There was no music.

When the royal party reached the grand staircase leading to the papal apartment, King Edward was greeted by the Marquis Sacchetti, who acted for Prince Ruspoli, the introducer of sovereigns, who is ill; Mgr. Merry del Val and Prince Antici-Mattei. At the upper landing there was grouped in imposing array a number of other ecclesiastics, who formed a characteristic and magnificent assembly. Behind this group, attired in brilliant uniforms, were the Knights of the Cape and chamberlains in black velvet breeches, blouses with stiff white ruffs and gorgeously jeweled chains about their necks, giving a touch of brilliant color to the scene.

King Edward addressed a few words of kindly thanks in return for the hearty greetings offered him. The royal party then proceeded between ranks of the Swiss guards, whose halberds gleamed in the sunlight that streamed through the wide windows. The hum of the busy city alone broke the deep silence that reigned within the Vatican. At the Clementine hall the party was met by the papal master of the chamber, Mgr. Bisleti, who was attended by personages of the secret antechamber.

Upon arriving before the private apartment of the pope the noble guard rendered military honors to the British sovereign. At the conclusion of this ceremony the door of the pope's apartment was immediately opened, and the aged pontiff was revealed standing at the threshold. His hand was extended awaiting his guest. His holiness was dressed in robes of white and a red velvet cap bordered with ermine. Even King Edward paused a moment upon seeing the pontiff in his white garments. The pope's face was the color of ivory, but he moved without aid and without apparent difficulty. The king and the head of the church clasped hands and exchanged a few words in French. King Edward passed within the papal apartment, the door was closed, and the pope and his guest were left alone.

King Edward remained with the pontiff for twenty minutes. A bell was then rung, and King Edward's suit was admitted and presented to the pope. This little ceremony seemed to please the pope immensely. At its conclusion King Edward took his leave, the pope crossing the room at his side and saying his last words at the door.

From the Vatican King Edward passed through the piazza of St. Peter, where he was warmly greeted in English by a number of Scotch pilgrims now in Rome, who shouted, "Hurrah for the king!" Had King Edward looked up at that moment he would have seen a figure in a window of the second story of the palace. It was Pope Leo. Contrasted with the British sovereign, who stood below in the sunlight and the center of the animation of the immense plaza, the solitary white figure in the palace window seemed to further the idea of the pope as a prisoner.

Instead of returning to the British embassy the king drove directly to the Quirinal.

One of the pope's chaplains called at the British embassy in the evening with a portrait of the pontiff for King Edward upon which was a dedication in the pope's hand and his autograph.

Last night the British ambassador gave an official dinner to King Edward, at which the king and queen of Italy, the royal princes, the ministers and other dignitaries were present. This was followed by a reception to which 600 invitations had been sent out. All the approaches to the embassy were kept clear by cordons of troops, behind which the crowds were massed. All the public and many private buildings in Rome were illuminated.

King Edward left at 9 o'clock this morning for Paris. King Victor Emmanuel and the ministers accompanied the British sovereign to the railroad station.

Two Centenarians Dead.

CARTERSVILLE, Ga., April 30.—Perry Edwards, a negro woman born in 1794, died at her home, seven miles north of here. Mrs. Marsylia Keith of Montgomery, Ala., the oldest person in Alabama, is dead. She celebrated her one hundred and sixteenth birthday March 7 last. She retained her intellectual faculties till death. She had 18 children, 44 living grandchildren, 29 great-grandchildren and 2 great-great-grandchildren.

CASSINI EXPLAINS.

Russia Misrepresented—Will Protect Trade Interests In China.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Russia's part in what has come to be known as the Manchurian incident has been explained by Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, and because of the conflicting reports which have come to Washington regarding the Russian-Chinese negotiations at Peking Count Cassini has consented to the publication of an interview. For five years Russian minister to China, Count Cassini is a recognized authority on conditions there.

Since the ambassador's call on Secretary Hay last Sunday afternoon, when he could give only unofficial assurances of Russia's intentions in Manchuria, he has received instructions from his government and again called on the secretary to confirm officially the assurances he had given already.

Of the Manchurian incident and more especially of its relation to the United States and Russia the ambassador said:

"Acting under instructions from my government, I have officially assured the secretary of state not only that American interests in Manchuria, trade and industrial, will be thoroughly safeguarded so far as Rissia is concerned, but also of the unfortunate erroneousness contained in Minister Conger's dispatches several days ago from Peking relative to the course of Russia in Manchuria.

"It is a matter of the keenest regret to my government that unreliable parties should have informed your minister at Peking on a matter of which they were evidently grossly ignorant. And simultaneously with my call upon Secretary Hay the foreign office at St. Petersburg gave similar assurances to your ambassador there, Mr. McCormick.

"Russia, who is doing all she can to develop Manchuria, will be the last to stand in the way of an increase in American trade. We need American steel, lumber, cotton goods and construction material of all kinds, and this fact, together with the traditional good relations prevailing between Russia and the United States, is sufficient assurance that American trade interests in Manchuria will be protected."

Dewey Commands the Squadron.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., April 30.—The Mayflower, with Admiral Dewey, Rear Admiral Taylor, chief of the bureau of navigation; Captains Swift and Pillsbury, Commander Sargent and Lieutenant Marble aboard, has passed out the capes bound for the drill ground. Count von Oriola, commanding the German cruiser Gazelle, which is here for repairs, will go out as a guest.

Admiral Cotton at Marseilles.

MARSEILLES, April 30.—Rear Admiral Cotton, commander in chief of the United States European squadron, accompanied by two naval officers and Consul General Skinner, called upon General Mathis, commander of the Fifteenth army corps; Admiral Rouvier, commander of this naval district; the prefect of the department and the mayor of Marseilles, all of whom received their American visitors most cordially.

ST. LOUIS WELCOMES

Roosevelt, With Governor Dockery, at Mound City.

GOOD ROADS IS THE COUNTERSIGN.

Iron Mountain Staters In Convention at Odeon Hall Acclaim His Excellency, Who Speaks on Improved National Highways.

ST. LOUIS, April 30.—When President Roosevelt arrived to participate in the dedication ceremonies of the world's fair, it was expected generally that he would leave his train at Union station, and a dense throng had congregated there. But to avoid just such an assemblage arrangements were made to have him leave the train at Forsythe Junction, three miles from the center of the city.

His train arrived at Forsythe Junction at 4:20 p. m., where he was met and escorted to the good roads convention in Odeon hall for a brief address. Members of the national commission of the world's fair, a reception committee headed by President Francis and a crowd of spectators were present to welcome him. For an hour before his train arrived troops of militia and squadrons of police were stationed about the point of disembarkation to prevent a crush. As the presidential train arrived President Roosevelt, accompanied by Governor Dockery of Missouri, who had joined the train at Keokuk, stepped off the rear end.

President Francis of the Louisiana Purchase exposition seized the hand of the president and gave him an informal welcome to St. Louis. Mayor Wells, President Carter of the national commission and other members of that body, the reception committee of the world's fair and military officers shook hands with the president, and after this brief and informal reception he was escorted to the carriage in waiting. Mayor Wells, with two prominent officials, accompanied the president in the carriage, which was at once driven off to the good roads convention.

Just as the carriage started a middle aged woman rushed through the line of officers, wildly waving her handkerchief and vociferously cheering the president. She attempted to reach in and seize his hand, but the quickening pace of the horses prevented, and, although she ran after the vehicle, still cheering and waving her handkerchief, for the distance of half a block, she was finally distanced and lost in the crowd.

The military companies and a platoon of police had been waiting two blocks away, and as soon as the line of carriages appeared a slower march was taken up to cover the three miles to Odeon hall. People were congregated along the streets and wildly cheered as the president passed. He continually doffed his hat in acknowledgment. The hall was packed with a crowd which had been waiting patiently for hours. The president spoke of good roads in tones which showed, as well as his words, that he was thoroughly in earnest.

"Roads," he declared, "tell the greatness of a nation. The influence of the nations which have not been road builders has been evanescent. Rome, the most powerful of the older civilizations, left her impress on literature and speech; she changed the boundaries of nations, but plainer than anything else left to remind us of the Roman civilization are the Roman roads."

At this point in the president's speech the crowd rose and cheered, waving handkerchiefs and hats.

"Merely from historical analogy," the president continued, "this country, which, we believe, will reach a position of leadership never equaled—this country, I say, should so act that posterity will justly say when speaking of us, 'That nation built good roads.'"

The president declared that good roads probably were the greatest agency for regulating the flow from the country to the city of young men and young women.

"A long line of liquid morass is not pleasant," the president continued. "It means in many instances practical isolation to the farmer. When the girl or the boy can't take a turn on a 'bike' even to a neighbor's because of the roads—well, it is a situation not likely to make farm life attractive."

In conclusion he spoke of the benefits to the country districts of the trolley line, the telephone and the rural free delivery and closed with the assertion that good roads were proving the greatest benefit of all.

From Odeon hall the president was driven to St. Louis university. A few minutes were spent here, after which the president and other guests repaired to the home of President Francis for dinner.

Ex-President Cleveland arrived by the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern at 5:50 o'clock, and a large reception committee was waiting for him. The committeemen were not allowed to be idle, however, for the train from Washington bearing the members of the diplomatic corps, which was not expected until 5:15 o'clock, came in thirty minutes before the committee had looked for it. The diplomats were promptly taken in hand by the committee and escorted to the quarters assigned them.

A portion of the committee remained to greet Mr. Cleveland, whose train came in shortly after the diplomats had driven away in their carriages. As he alighted from the train he was warmly greeted by President Francis, who had driven rapidly to the depot after greeting President Roosevelt at Forsythe Junction. The members of the committee crowded around, and Mr. Cleveland was unable to proceed for some time, so thick was the throng about him.

THE JERSEY COAST.

Prosperity seems to have visited the Jersey coast, coming in giant strides. Millions of dollars have been and are being expended for the improvement and elaboration of the various resorts that line the coast from its most northern point, Sandy Hook, down as far south as the beginning of Barnegat Bay. The bulk of it is confined, however, to those places comparatively close to the Twin Cities, Asbury Park and Ocean Grove.

Compared with other shore resorts of the land, it will have to be admitted that the resorts which line the north Jersey coast were not, up to this year, the greatest in magnificence and variety of attractions. The Jersey coast resorts were pleasant places, it is true, but they lacked much which made their rivals to the north and south popular in the eyes of many patrons. This fact seems to have dawned on the Jerseyites and the coming year promises to see this State well up in the van.

To many, Asbury Park has appeared as a huge Sunday-school picnic ground. The fact that Ocean Grove is the property of the camp-meeting association and that the Twin Cities are the destination for hundreds of Sunday-school excursions every year is largely responsible for that idea. Nevertheless Asbury Park has been an attractive place to many who have considered it particularly satisfactory as being free from certain undesirable elements to be found at the other more fashionable places. Now, Asbury Park is planning to offer superior attractions and try to still eliminate the undesirable features.

There is a great future ahead of Asbury Park if it is not spoiled in the making. With improved railway service which is now promised, it is going to be the most prominent resort within easy reach of New York. Its progressive campaign should build up a wonderful patronage for the city and its hotels. At the same time its neighbors, which are now putting forth every effort to become desirable spots to gather during the heated months, seem in a fair way to make the Jersey coast the most attractive of all the series of resorts that border on the Atlantic.

During the dry weather of the last week, the progress of each trolley car has been marked by clouds of dust that made one wonder if a bit of the Sahara hadn't been dropped over in Jersey just for the time being. All that might have been stopped if the members of the Common Council, who granted the present franchise to the trolley company, had only considered a moment. If the trolley company really loved the public as President Tom McCarter of the new trolley merger would have us believe, what a clear evidence of it could be shown in the watering of the streets before the ordinance makes it compulsory.

It is welcome news that the new power station of the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Street Railway Company is practically completed and soon will begin its work of supplying power to all the lines of that company. There have been many delays of late and the trolley folk have comforted us with the assurance that there will be no more trouble when the new power house is in operation.

Once a year the young people of the Seventh-Day Baptist church prepare a musical treat for their friends. So popular have these musicales become that there is always a great demand for invitations to them. This year's affair takes place tonight and the programme arranged promises that it will be fully the equal of those of past years.

That's a rather misleading title which the organizers of the new trolley merger have sprung on the public. "The Public Utilities of New Jersey" is the title of the huge corporation. The trouble is that the title isn't continued far enough. It ought to have something like this tacked on: "Controlled by a Trust." That would be specific.

A Philadelphia barber was the first of his trade to adopt printing methods of advertising, relates the Philadelphia Record. He got out an interesting booklet. It is a Chicago barber who is the first to insert regularly in a leading newspaper bright, catchy advertising paragraphs. That it pays is evident from the fact that he keeps it up.

One of Plainfield's strongest clubs, the Monday Afternoon Club, celebrates its anniversary today.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

The Boston Fur and Cloak Store is offering an attractive line of spring and summer suitings for women, including fancy dress shirt waists and separate skirts, also silk coats in the latest styles.

Harper, of 411 Park avenue, has made a new departure by putting in a full line of the leading weekly and monthly periodicals. His advertisement in another part of The Daily Press will tell you all about them.

Putnam & DeGraw have received a new shipment of spring and summer goods at their dry goods store and they will surely attract the women of Plainfield. The quality is of the best, while the prices are reasonable

T. S. Armstrong, the apothecary at the corner of Park avenue and North avenue, has one of the finest blood purifying tonics to be found in this city. His pepto-manganate of iron builds up the system and puts new blood into the veins.

"Making both ends meet" is sometimes a difficult task but not if Van Sickle's North avenue market is visited. To buy meat there will help both ends meet and there you are. VanSickle always sells at the lowest market prices for cash.

The purest drugs and medicines, and the best toilet articles are specialties at L. W. Randolph's pharmacy on West Front street. Besides Mr. Randolph makes a feature of soda water with all the latest drinks. He uses only the pure fruit syrups.

Oysters R no longer in season after today but fresh fish continues to arrive at Jerry Foss' market. It's brought direct from the nets and is the best to be had in the city. Orders may be sent by telephone and they will receive careful attention.

A drink of nice soda water on a warm day is refreshing. Nagle, the West Front street druggist, makes a specialty of good soda and uses only pure fruit juices in its makeup. All the popular flavors can be called for. Nagle's ice cream soda is delicious.

When, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary to buy a new spring bonnet, or trimmings for last year's hat, the best place to go to in this city is to Lederer's on Front street. There the most complete assortments are displayed and there is always obliging clerks to cater to the tastes of the most fastidious.

Now is the time when the warm afternoon shopper likes to drop into a cool drug store there to find refreshment and rest in a glass of soda water. Few druggists pay as much attention to their soda water syrups as does B. J. Schreiner at the corner of Park avenue and Second street. He is also an agent for Lowney's famous bon bons and chocolates.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning May 3—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—What does the parable of the prodigal son teach us?—Luke xv, 11-32.

It is strange that no playwright has ever dramatized this pearl of parables. It contains a "plot" of surpassing interest, which would be always true in every age and exceedingly realistic. It has four scenes—the departure from the old home, the fast life in a far country, the sudden fall and poverty and the joyous return to the father's house.

The Saviour, I believe, had three lessons to teach from this parable. These are embodied in the three prominent characters—the elder brother, the prodigal son and the father.

First Lesson.—The story was told that Christians who are in the Father's house might take warning from the selfishness and jealousy and anger of the elder brother. There is danger that, like the elder brother, we are in the Father's house simply for what we can get out of it. He showed himself to be unkind, devoid of sympathy and charity and intensely selfish. It is possible that we may act in such a manner to the wayward men and women who are out in the world, far from our Heavenly Father's house. There is too much of the elder brother's spirit in the church of today. We should eradicate it.

Second Lesson.—The prodigal himself teaches the evil of sin, but the possibility of forgiveness and pardon. This is shown in six steps.

First Step, Alienation.—The father with his two sons was living pleasantly in the home. This is a picture of the ideal relation between God and his human children—protection on one side and obedience on the other. Some evil spirit crept into this younger son's heart and alienated his affection and obedience. How frequently it happens that we begin to get cold and indifferent to God and the church, and this feeling grows until we are alienated from our Heavenly Father. We should nip these feelings in the bud.

Second Step. Degeneration.—Evil thoughts cannot remain in the heart without producing evil deeds. "He went into a far country." We think we can get away from God and then be free to do evil. "He spent his substance in riotous living." He gambled, drank, drove fine horses, attended theaters and card parties, played billiards, treated his friends and got to the bottom of his pocket in a short time.

Third Step, Degradation.—"He began to be in want." Sin is the most expensive thing possible. Everything goes—virtue, honor, character, even his gay friends. "There arose a mighty famine in the land." Of course! Did you ever know it to fail? So long as you had plenty of money everybody else had plenty. Wake up some morning without a dollar and try to borrow, and you will find a money famine.

Fourth Step, Reflection.—Poverty, want and hunger lead a man to reflect. Sin is insanity. Reflection restores sanity. He came back to his former self. Reflection is the first step to repentance.

Fifth Step, Resolution.—"I will arise and go to my father." The "I will" was the taproot of his resolution. His will had taken him away from home; now it must bring him back.

Sixth Step, Reconciliation.—The boy acknowledged his sin and took the blame on himself. His father gladly received him and forgave him, and a complete reconciliation was made. In this story hope is held up for all.

Third Lesson.—This parable was told that we might fasten our eyes upon the Father and in Him get a glimpse of a loving, tender and compassionate God. The sweetest, grandest character of the parable is the father, and he is a picture of our Heavenly Father.

BIBLE READINGS.

Ps. cxix, 59, 60; Ps. li, 4; Ps. ciii, 2, 3; Eph. ii, 1; Ps. ciii, 13; Eph. v, 14; Acts ii, 39; Eph. ii, 13.

A Christian Endeavor Creed.

The late Rev. Dr. John Henry Barrows at one time stated the following, characterizing it as his "Christian Endeavor creed:"

That the ironclad pledge is the sheet anchor of success and the essential element of continued prosperity. It is a great pleasure to go to a prayer meeting and find the people there.

I believe that the society changes what is many a pastor's chief burden and anxiety—the Christian training of the young—into his chiefest joy.

I believe that it augments his knowledge and love of his young people and their knowledge and love of him beyond any other known means of securing such results.

I believe that under its happy workings I can hear my young people grow in grace as you can hear the corn grow on the Illinois prairies.

Christian Endeavorers In India.

Rev. F. S. Hatch, secretary for the United Society of Christian Endeavor for Burma, India, and Ceylon, formerly of Monson, Mass., has now completed his first year of service in that capacity, involving 15,000 miles of travel up and down the empire in every kind of conveyance and recently visiting the Telegu country. Mr. Hatch writes that in three months 10,000 have presented themselves for baptism.

57. H. S. Lester, N. Y.—We should regard our pastor's wishes as law.

58. K. B. L., Iron Mountain, Mich.—Try the plan as followed by the Broome County (N. Y.) union and hold a rally with every society in your county. If you are interested in the details, write again, inclosing a stamp for reply, and get the information by mail.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning May 3, "Confidence In God"—Text, I Cor. iii, 21-23; I Tim. vi, 17; II Tim. i, 12.

"I am persuaded that He is able to guard that which I have committed unto Him against that day."

Distrust is paralyzing to effort. This is especially true in Christian living. There is a certain kind of doubting which is akin to expectancy, which anticipates new discoveries of truth, which eagerly awaits enlargement of opportunity, which outgrows old experiences as it thrills with deeper emotions and enters with fuller devotion into the work of God. Such doubting is incident to expansion of nature and is a surrendering of the less that the larger life may be grasped. This is a questioning after larger truth and warmer life.

Distrust is of different parentage. It questions the truth of the old, suspecting it to be false. It yields the present opportunity because it has lost heart in the cause.

Impulses have grown cold. Passionate love and heroic courage have died because confidence in the object of devotion has been overthrown.

The nerve of all high achievement lies in perfect trust in some object of devotion. The supreme object of attachment is personal, because we are persons. And of all personalities the chiefest among men is the Lord Jesus Christ. From whatever point of view He may be regarded, He attracts all that is noblest in human nature and gives an aim and a goal worthy of our highest efforts, our entire devotion. The more we consider the life which Jesus calls us to live, the nobler and more attractive it becomes. The more we think of Him in His love for us and His work on earth and now in heaven for us the more completely does He satisfy and fill all the soul's needs and longings for a worthy object of love. No element of our nature is deeper seated or more characteristic than the craving for a worthy object of devotion—some one whom we may serve and for whose sake we may sacrifice ourselves; one to whom we may give all and from whom we may receive all in return. The highest blessedness of being is to find Him who answers all the soul's cravings of goodness and affection and to rest in unshaken confidence in His favor and guidance.

In love, if love be love,
If love be ours,
Faith and unfaith can ne'er be equal powers.
Unfaith in aught is lack of faith in all;
Then trust me all in all
Or not at all.

Paul had found the basal truth of the spiritual life—entire confidence in Christ for this world and for that which is to come.

Like precious faith is needful for us if we would be and do and endure for the right.

The Last Evil to Overcome.

The love of self in our natural good is the last evil that is overcome, and when the Lord would tell us this He wrote in His great book of the soul that only Og, king of Bashan, remained of the remnants of giants. St. Paul expressed the same truth when he wrote, "The last enemy that shall be destroyed is death." For the love of self is essential death and is the last of the race of giants to be destroyed. But it is the loving purpose of the Lord to regenerate the whole natural mind. Not only to teach its intellectual side to look up to Him and His word as the source of all intelligence, but to destroy the reign of the Og of self love in the good inheritance of the natural mind, and thus to bring the whole region of the natural affections to look to Him as the source of all good.—Helper.

Confessing a Wrong.

One of the most difficult of all things is for a man openly to confess that he has been wrong and make just reparation for injury done, whether ignorantly or willfully. It is such a rare thing to see, that people are filled with astonishment when they find one so conscientious and honorable as to do it and do it freely. One will say to another, "I could not have done that," or "I would have died before I would have done that." They only show by such remarks how much inferior they are. For there is nothing more honorable in God's sight than the confession, open, honest confession, of sin one to another and to the courts of God's house. It is the dogged persistence in a conscious wrong that God hates.—Christian Instructor.

The Christian Outlook.

The Christian outlook is always hopeful. Christianity is conquering because it is divinely alive. It is the thought of Christ steadily growing into form by the power of Christ. It is Christ in human hearts, creating ideals and institutions. It conquers error by light, selfishness by love, despair by faith, the native downward tendency of human nature by an infinitely mightier upward tendency resulting from the incarnation.—Northern Christian Advocate.

The Eye of Faith.

Between us and His visible presence—between us and that glorified Redeemer who now sitteth at the right hand of God—that cloud still rolls. But the eye of faith can pierce it; the incense of true prayer can rise above it; through it the dews of blessing can descend.—Farrar.

Whatever the Temptation.

Be honest with yourself, whatever the temptation; say nothing to others that you do not think and play no tricks with your own mind. Of all the evil spirits abroad at this hour in the world insincerity is the most dangerous.—James Anthony Froude.

FOR PLEASANT WEATHER.

Transparent Hats of Lace—Colored Straw Trimmed With Tulle.

In millinery transparent hats of lace are adorned with ribbon, velvet and plumes. Colored straws in hyacinth blue or parma mauve, champagne or bright yellow straws are fashionable trimmed with tulle or the season's flowers. Transparent tulle toques with long drooping paradise plumes or shaded ospreys are very smart. Colored veils are once more in the fashion, not only in brown, red and blue, but in mauve, pink and green.

Reseda or mignonette green has superseded the crude emerald green of millinery. The pork pie model of early Victorian days is a favorite shape, as also is the Spanish turban. Lace is again much used for draping brims of hats, and lovely long ostrich plumes form the sole adornment on many of the latest hats.

Tiny button roses are arranged in wreaths to wear as an evening headdress.

Gray veiling gowns trimmed with taffeta applique are among the smartest things this spring. The applications represent berries and their leaves rather than flowers. Acorns with oak leaves are the newest. The acorns are made over a raised frame so that they stand out in bold relief.

The illustration shows a particularly smart model of light weight coffee colored cloth. The costume has a cape of the same material with diamond shaped strappings. JUDIC CHOLLET.

WHAT IS WORN.

Craze For Bordered Materials—Blurred Designs Fashionable.

There is quite a craze for bordered materials. Sometimes it is a flowered band or a simple branch of roses run across the selvage. Blurred designs and cashmere patterns are most fashionable, after which we can mention quite a new series of glace, alpaca, mohair and canvas in the new supple make which is required this season to meet the new clinging style in dress.

Trimmings are inset with mother of pearl scales, gold platinum and steel. Greek lace insertions and Russian embroideries are very smart and much used on white silk or cloth costlets. Hanging ornaments, fringe and frogging appear on the three-quarter coats, many of which are of black cloth or black silk. Buttons, too, are a prominent feature on skirts and bodices.

Black chantilly lace is very fashionable, and some fine imitation is being sold in the guise of capes, round or pointed.

The illustration shows a picture hat of cream straw. It is trimmed with a large bow of pale blue ribbon and a knot of rosebuds under the brim. JUDIC CHOLLET.

GREAT YACHTING SENSATION.

English Sailmakers Have Orders For Sails For Reliance.

LONDON, April 30.—The sensation caused in British yachting circles by the announcement that Ratsey & Lapthorn, the English sailmakers, who have an establishment at City Island, N. Y., have been given orders for suits of sails for the Reliance, the Constitution and the Columbia, can be best judged by an editorial article which appears in the Yachting World today under the heading "An International (?) Contest." This article says:

"Anglo-Saxon yachtsmen will regret to hear that the forthcoming contest for the America's cup has practically lost its international character owing to the acceptance of an order for a new suit of sails for one of the defenders by Ratsey & Lapthorn of Cowes and City Island. Since they happen to be the only individuals other than the actual designer and owner of the challenger who possessed the actual measurements of her sail plate, they have data unsurpassed in the history of sport."

Continuing, the paper admits that the challenger's outfit at present includes blocks of American manufacture, but points out that these neither increase nor decrease a yacht's speed, while the sails are so important that one of the leading American yacht clubs estimates them to be more important than the hull.

"What would American yachtsmen think," the Yachting World goes on, "if the owner of the Shamrock III. approached Herreshoff to obtain a design for a challenger, which he is at perfect liberty to do?"

In conclusion the paper says it trusts that "those responsible for the sailing of the defender will abandon their intention of using anything in the defense of the cup which can be identified with Great Britain."

When Sir Thomas Lipton was spoken to concerning the reports that Ratsey & Lapthorn were making sails for the American yachts, he expressed his incredulity and said, "Under the circumstances I have no opinion to express at present."

From other sources it has been learned that Mr. Ratsey promised never to make sails for the defender while Sir Thomas was challenging for the cup.

The Somaliland Expedition.

ADEN, Arabia, April 30.—In consequence of the recent British reverses in Somaliland it is reported here that the advance of the British expedition has been suspended indefinitely. Major General Egerton is mentioned as the successor of Brigadier General Manning. Information here indicates that the complete organization of the executive heads of the expedition would be considered advantageous. It is feared that the recent victory will embolden the forces of the Mad Mollah to attack isolated posts. The force at the disposal of General Manning is insufficient for offensive purposes, and it is expected that he will strengthen his posts and remain inactive until after the hot weather.

Italians Fear the Mafia.

BOSTON, April 30.—Seven Boston Italians have called at police headquarters to beg for protection against the dreaded Mafia, by which they claimed to have been ordered to contribute to the defense fund in the New York barrel murder case. Each of the foreigners showed a letter from New York. They were thoroughly frightened even when they were in the secure shelter of Chief Watts' private office. The letters told them that everywhere they went they were marked men; that the eye of Mafia was on them always; that they were as good as dead if they did not send the required money immediately. The letters were signed with a Latin name.

Iron Workers Want Increased Pay.

BOSTON, April 30.—The boiler manufacturers and iron shipbuilders of Boston and vicinity have refused the request of the men's union for a 10 per cent advance in wages, stating that the competition is so sharp and the margin of profit so narrow that they cannot afford to grant the demand. If the union can secure the consent of one big shipbuilding firm to do likewise, the manufacturers express a willingness to agree to comply with the men's request for an eight hour day on all repair work.

Canadian Buys Cuban Property.

SANTIAGO, Cuba, April 30.—Sir William Van Horne has purchased the well known Casa Grande hotel and certain adjoining properties. He will at once remove the building and begin the construction of a very large hotel, which probably will be completed next winter. He will also inaugurate a steamship service with Jamaica in connection with the Havana railroad, thus giving Cuba connection with the tourist routes in Florida, Nassau and Jamaica.

Binghamton Light Plant Tied Up.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., April 30.—Because of the discharge of two electric light linemen sixty-six linemen employed by the Binghamton Light, Heat and Power company went on strike. This is the entire force engaged in the construction of the local light and power system. Several circuits were open when the men quit, and part of the city was left in darkness.

Paris Salon Opened.

PARIS, April 30.—Today is varnishing day at the national salon. Many pictures of high order are on exhibition, and Chartran's portrait of President Roosevelt occupies a prominent place. Opposite the portrait of the American president is hung one of the sensational pictures of the exhibition. This is Ferrier's representation of Christ after the crucifixion.

COMFORTING WORDS.

Many a Plainfield Household Will Find Them So.

To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed; to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous disorders is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. To tell how this great change can be brought about will prove comforting words to hundreds of Plainfield readers.

Mrs. I. L. Holmes, of 442 West Second street says: "I used several boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills for backache and derived more benefits from them than anything else. Before I tried this remedy I was bothered almost constantly with a severe pain across the small of my back, so bad at times that I thought I must give up. If I sat down and got up or was lying down and attempted to rise quickly or retained one position for any length of time, sharp acute pain always followed. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised for such troubles and went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. They helped me from the first and I improved right along under the treatment."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

Fine Racing at Chicago.

CHICAGO, April 30.—Favored by summer weather, the Worth spring meeting opened with 15,000 persons in attendance. The Worth handicap, one and one-sixteenth miles, for three-year-olds and up, was won by Nitrate, with Paul Whitney second and Thane third. Owenton, the favorite, was never prominent during the entire journey, finishing fifth. Sanctum, a two-year-old, broke the track record for four and a half furlongs in the second race, covering the distance in 55 seconds flat, clipping off one-fifth of a second from the old mark. The bookmakers were hard hit in this race. At the opening Sanctum was 30 to 1 and was backed steadily down to 11 to 5 at post time, making him equal choice with Arnold K. The track was lightning fast.

Races at Jamaica.

NEW YORK, April 30.—The Rosedale stakes for filly two-year-olds, the feature of the card at Jamaica, was won in a gallop by W. B. Leeds' Julia M., an added starter. She was second choice in the betting and, getting off in front and making her pace, won eased up by five lengths. The fight for the place was a hot one, Petunia beating the western horse Mordella a head. W. B. Leeds just before the race was run purchased the winner, Julia M., for the reported price of $7,000. Rosetint at 1 to 4 galloped home an easy winner in the second race.

Reliance Takes a Spin.

NEWPORT, R. I., April 30.—After having been formally placed in commission in the harbor here yesterday afternoon the cup yacht Reliance was taken out for another trial spin, and during the two hours of sailing she was brought into conditions of winds and sea which gave her the most severe test she has yet had. That she proved herself to be a stanch, strong craft was the opinion of every one who saw her struggle in the nasty sea.

Good Racing at Oakland.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 30.—The six furlong event at Oakland resulted in one of the best finishes of the season. Sad Sam opened up a gap on his field, but quit when E. M. Brattain caught him. Princess Titania came with a rush and won by a head from E. M. Brattain, her stable companion, while Annie Max was third, a nose away. Weather fine; track fast.

Robson, the Actor, Dies Suddenly.

NEW YORK, April 30.—Stuart Robson, the veteran comedian, is dead of heart disease at the Hotel Savoy. He was sixty-seven years old and had been on the stage for fifty-one years. Mr. Robson was taken ill early in March and was obliged to rest completely for two weeks. He resumed his engagement on March 19 and after playing in New York and Brooklyn appeared in various towns in the upper part of the state. A few days ago he was taken ill in Auburn, N. Y., and was then brought to this city. The interment will take place at Cohasset, Mass., tomorrow.

WHIST.

This evening the Park Club and Camera Club whist teams will meet at the Park Club and play for the Metropolitan challenge trophy. It was several weeks ago when these two teams met for the first time and the Camera Club team lost. Since that time the Parks have not lost a match. Upon tonight's match much will depend. Last week the Cosmopolitan Club defaulted and it will be some time before that club will have another chance to play for the trophy. If the Parks win tonight it will give them nine wins and they will be a close second to the Brooklyn Club with eleven wins.

Another Tourney.

Another shuffle board tournament started yesterday afternoon among the members of the junior department of the Y. M. C. A. The entries are grouped into three teams which will play afternoons commencing yesterday, continuing today and finishing on Monday. Those who will play are Denton, Wilcox, Ward and VanArsdale; Stutman, Laughton, Burr and Freeman; Caldwell, Nash, Simons and Webster.

GUARANTEED.

That word means something, when it is backed by the $5,000,000 capital and surplus of the

FIDELITY TRUST COMPANY.

It means for you an easy mind if you have one of those guarantees covering the title to your premises.
The man, who does business the way it was done a generation ago, is surely on the road to failure. This is an age of progress. There has been progress in methods of conveyancing as well as in other lines. Out of the need for something less uncertain than a lawyer's certificate and a lawyer's responsibility, has grown up the system of policies of insurance, or guarantees of title by companies with large capital and a force, specially trained in the work.
There is none better in this line than

THE FIDELITY TRUST COMPANY OF NEWARK, N. J.

It has an agency at Elizabeth for conducting Union County business. Rates will be given on application at its office, No. 215 Broad Street, and an investigation of its resources and methods is invited.

WANT SEWERS FOR BOROUGH

cost of the maintainance of the disposal plant.

Joseph O. Osgood told of the workings of the local system. He stated that many erroneous articles have appeared in regard to that system and that few people have a clear idea of the workings of the plant. He explained clearly what the functions of the plant were and told why it did not work satisfactorily in the first place, ascribing the reason to poor quality of sand through which the material was filtered. He said that in some places the purification of the sewage matter was secured through the use of chemicals, but, in his opinion, the best way was to have a system of a combination of septic tanks and contact beds. He said that in this manner 60 per cent. of the organic matter was purified in the tanks and 30 per cent. of purification was obtained in the contact beds. The rest of the complete purification was secured by oxygen as the effluent passed from the contact beds to and in the streams into which it emptied. This gives 90 per cent. of purification in the plant and the other 10 per cent. in the stream making the effluent perfectly pure. The State analysis of the effluent from the local beds is 80 per cent. purification.

Borough Counsel Charles A. Reed gave his opinion in regard to the law bearing on any action which might be taken by the meeting in writing and said that a petition must be signed by at least ten property owners; that said property owners must give their consent to the proposed measure in writing; that a majority of the voters of the borough would have to agree to it and that the Mayor and Council could issue bonds to install the system in case there are funds to put the system in working order.

A few remarks were made by Mayor Newton B. Smalley who said that in his mind it was only a short time before that matter would be settled whether or not sewers would be installed in the borough and that the meeting was called for the purpose of having the public spirited citizens of the borough express an opinion as to whether they wanted such a system or not. He said that he believed that the borough was ready for some system as the present method is very crude and that he hoped the improvement would eventually come about. During the course of his remarks he said that within a radius of a block there were no less than twenty-five cesspools, many of which are constantly emitting a stench which, at night, is almost unendurable He said that such a system was a menace to the public health.

The meeting was then thrown open to the property owners represented.

Dr. H. K. Carroll was the first one to speak. He said he did not want to see an experimental system installed but, if one must come, he wanted one which had been tried and had not been found wanting. He thought the findings of the commission should be put in print so that all could study the facts at their leisure. Tidewater drainage, in his opinion, was the only way out of the difficulty but he was opposed to taking any action which might be binding, at present.

From the real estate dealer's standpoint, Charles H. Lyman, of Washington avenue, gave arguments why sewers should be installed, and the sooner the better. He stated that in his opinion it was not any more expensive to have the tax rate go up a few points than to spend large amounts each year cleaning out vile smelling cesspools. He told of some cases, a few of many with which he daily comes in contact, of persons settling and purchasing property in Plainfield because North Plainfield was not equipped with a system of sewers.

"Look at the tax rate in Plainfield and then look at it in North Plainfield," he said. "Have we sewers in North Plainfield? No. Have we sewers in Plainfield? Yes. Then look at the valuation of property in Plainfield, some land in the residential section of the town sells for $75 per foot, while I have trouble in getting rid of property in the borough for $20 per foot."

W. W. Howland was one of those who objected to the proposed improvement, saying: "I do not think we need sewers in the borough at present. The subject is a very important one and we have learned a great deal here this evening. The only system before us is the Plainfield one and whether that one is the best of its kind or not we do not know. It seems to me that it would be wiser not to take any action at this time but give the commission an opportunity of looking further into the matter."

William J. Buttfield, of Rockview Heights, said that the question before the meeting was, is a sewer needed and what would be the cost. He said that Plainfield has experimented but North Plainfield should benefit by the experience of her neighbor and secure the best system. He was in favor of the scheme.

Senator Charles Reed said that if no sewer is necessary it is not necessary to decide which system was the best. He said that it would be a good thing to have some kind of a system in North Plainfield so as to do away with cesspools. He did not believe in the theory of years ago that anything was good enough. He said that just as soon as the borough gets sewers the value of property would rise.

John Goodwin spoke against the plan because he thought it would increase the tax rate while Dr. J. H. Cooley argued: "I believe we want some system of sewers in the borough but I do not believe that we want to try any experiments. I am in favor of a sewerage system in the borough. I have found that overflow cesspools have done excellent work but the day of the sewer in North Plainfield can not come too soon."

Mayor of Plainfield Olin L. Jenkins was present and said that as he was a property owner in the borough he was prompted to attend the meeting to urge some kind of a sewerage system. He told of how he had to pay $20 a year to have cesspools cleaned and further said that the tax rate for sewers in the borough would never amount to that per year. He said that as soon as the sewerage was carried off in some kind of a system property would increase in value.

From the tenure of the remarks made at the meeting last evening it is very plain that the bulk of the property owners of the borough are heartily in favor of having some kind of a sewerage system installed in the borough and the fact that the resolution offered by Mr. Saunders was carried without a dissenting vote shows that they are tired of the crude methods now in vogue and that they desire a change as soon as it can be brought about.

COLLEGE BOYS WON GAME

KHIANI CLUB, OF PRINCETON, DEFEATED CITY HIGH SCHOOL.

The First Inning Decided the Game—The Final Score Was 12 to 2.

The Khiani Club, of Princeton University, had no trouble in defeating the City High School baseball team yesterday afternoon on Stillman field. The score was 12 to 2. At no stage of the game was the outcome uncertain as the visitors pulled up a good lead at the start by scoring five runs in the first inning.

McGinley was tried as catcher at the start but was unable to hold VanAuken and his place was taken in the second by Munro, McGinley leaving the game and Walters taking Munro's place at third. Walters afterwards gave place to Smith in the seventh. VanAuken's pitching was not up to its usual form as he has had little practice recently. The school boys' fielding was also loose and eight errors were tallied against them. The visitors were in excellent form in the field, Bradfield, at second being star man. Newman pitched a good game, striking out eleven men.

The hitting on both sides was confined to singles, with the exception of Thompson's two bagger in the sixth. In the ninth, with a man on first, Craig made a neat double play, catching a liner at short and playing it to Thompson at first.
